Bush Megring .- A bush meeting has been in progress up Buffalo Run, near Benner Waddel's, for two or three weeks. We learn that it has been meeting with considerable encouragement, some fifteen or sixteen persons having professed religion. It will be continued for some time yet should the weather permit.

SUDDEN DEATH .- On Sunday night last Mr. William Murray, of Milesburg, died very suddenly of cramp colic. Mr. Murray was at church in the evening, and went to hed apparently well. Before morning, he was dead. Mr. Murray was subject to fits of cramp, and was discharged from the army on that account. We learn that he very unwisely indulged in a mess of green corn at dinner on Sunday.

Figur. - A little muss occurred on Bishop street, the other day, in which Merty Hays rather severely handled a man named Miller, frem the neighborhood of Milesburg. Miller was just drunk enough to be insulting, and after abusing Mr. Baum, who was not disposed to quarrel with him, he tried than it takes us to tell it, knocked him on the broad of his back on the pavement. In the scuffle which afterwards ensued, Miller's lip "was badly injured, but he can only blame himself for his misfortune. Mr. Hays is not a quarrelsome man, but when invulted is always able take care of him-

A CASE OF POISON .-- The people of this county have been startled by the reported poisoning of a man named Nestlerode, livpoisoning of a man named Nestlerode, living near Beech Creek, in Biberty township, by his wife. Mrs. Nestlerode is now in pall at this place. A writ of habeas corpus was applied for in her case, but the judge stated that a hearing could not be had until the first Monday in September, on account of the difficulty of getting the witheases together before that time. In the meantime, the lady remains under the care of the sheriff. The stomach of the deceased man has been sent to Pfilladelphia for analyzation. We hope that the charge may prove unfounded.

Death of Mr. Harris.—We are pained to record the death of Samuel Harris, esq., one of the oldest and most respectable and Gespected citizens of this town. His death took place on Monday morning last, about four o'clook. Last week we chronicled the ing near Beech Creek, in Diberty township, of the case, put them in the form of an affi-davit, and then it would be published.

A better statement than the one I gave four o'clock. - Last week we chronicled the ead accident which threw him from his wagon, breaking both his leg and arm, and otherwise injuring him, from the effects of the given, and were I to make another in the which calamity he has died. Mr. Harris's funeral took place on Wednesday, and the large concourse which attended his remains to the grave bore testimony to the eminent worth of the deceased, and to the high esteem in which he was held by this community. His loss will be deeply felt among us. May he rest in peace.

STABBING APPRAY .- At the camp meeting near Rebersburg, on Saturday night last, a dispute arose between a man named Moyer and a returned soldier by the name of Beck, which resulted in the alleged stabbing of Beck by Moyer. The circumstances whose husbands were absent, and who were able to provide for themselves; when it would have been far better had be given his spare change in liquidation of the enormous war debt that is depriving the honest laborer of his just dues. Republicans, no doubt, will be slow to censure this man, but the evidence is here; and, Democrats, let me say to you that when this man coines to assess your incomes, obey the mandates of that great human imperfection, the law; but remember that the law does not require you to extend any hospitality toward him. Send him to those of his own stamp. of the case, as we have been able to glean them, appear to be these: Semetime prior to the close of the war, Moyer was setting in the capacity of provost marshal. Beck, Who was at that time in active service, came home on furlough; and, remaining a couple of days oven his leave, Moyer became sucpictous that he wanted to desert, and had him arrested and seat back to his regiment. It was an allusion to this affair by Beck that caused the disturbance at the camp meeting. It is said that Book raised his arm to strike Mover with his fat, but the latter pareled the blow, and, it is alleged/ pluaged a dich, into Berk's side. Whether the railroad company have the power to refuse payment for what they destroy or of making other men compensate them for smash-ups and acoidents, we are not well enough versed in the privileges granted them by the Legislature, to upon the subject, we submit it to our reaanswer; but, if it be so, railroad companies can boast of more privileges than fall to the lot of most corporations. We know that a ratirond is a great public convenience, and we know also that the public pay well for that convenience. When the company purchased the right; if they purchased it at all, to make a road along the Bald Eagle Valley. they did not purchase the whole valley, neither did they acquire the right to kill the cattle, hogs, and sheep that were turned out to pasture along the route. If a farmer has a field of grain, junguarded by a fence. destroyed by cattle running at large, he must suffer the loss; if he kill or cripple any of the animals trespossing upon his property, under suche circumstances, he is responsible for the damage done, to the owner. Why should not a railroad company be held in the same manner ? The road is their property; if they wish it protected why do they not fence it? If the road is left as public ground, has not the stock pas turing upon public property a right upon the road? And if it be killed, should not the company be responsible? For years the wilds of the bald Eagle Valley have been public pasture grounds, not only for the farmers of the valley itself, but also for those of the adjacent valleys, and by this means they have been enabled to raise almost double the amount of stock they would had they been compelled to have kept it inclosed upon their cultivated lands. Shall this method of adding to the wealth of our county by lands that yield scarcely any taxes, be stopped, simply because a mamthe ir nor so that you have a wite and moth corporation, for the sake of making children is it not a pleasant thought that money, has built a railroad through them? This is a question of considerable importance, and we hope that the member from this county in the next Legislature will see to it that there is an act passed, if there is not now one, compelling railroad companies is this section to place good fances on each side of their road and onttle-guards, at every crossing. It would be nothing more than act of justice to our farmers who raise stock, and to the poor men of our county who have no pasturage of their own.

THE CAPERS OF A REVENUE OFFICER -The letter which we publish below is the second we have received on the same subject from the same correspondent. The first we declined to publish on account of the rather indelicate manner in which it was expressed. It seems that a certain assistant revenue assessor, whose name is in our posses. sion, and which we will publish, should it become necessary, grossly insulted a highly respectable married lady of the Loop, in this county, by attempting to seduce her from had hidelity to her absent husband. It is said that the amorous assessor's proposition embraced three points, to wit:

1. To come late a bight!
2. To go away early in the morning!
3. To pay her five dollars for—the privi-lege of coming late and going away early! These points the lady "could'ut see" and dismissed the infamous scoundrel with scorn and indignation. We would respectfully inquire of Judge Boal, the United his impudence on Merty, who, in less time States Revenue Assessor, whether he will continue in office such a miserable abortion of a man-a man who neglects his duty as au assessor of property to assess the virtue of respectable married women at the base aum of five dollars? If the judge don't know the name of this precious devotes of Cupid, who would blush to own such a disciple, he can be accommodated with the

Another argument that makes against him. He points us to our great statesmen, says a majority of them are from the couth, some from the north. He argues that they some from the north. He argues that they have been men equitining in office for a long period. We know some of them nave been leading men, but whether they were great statesmen. We don't feel like admitting. But we do believe that some of them were continued too long in office, and that, our country to day would be in a more prosperous condition and very likely have evaded the calamity, that befell us, had changes taken place both north and south. In the language of the Constitution they grew "independent of the will of the peomle."

Our doctrine is, a more frequent change

Our doctrine is, a more frequent change in the officers of wast, and less change in governmental policy.

The only preventative of change of policy, is to change the cause. When men are too long in power, they grow wise in their own conceit, and they try to think that their predecessors were neither skilled in organization, nor wise in legislation.

you in my other communication could not be given, and were I to make another in the same phraseology it would again be rejected. However, as there are numbers in the county who do not exactly "see the point," let me explain. An elongated revenue assessor called at the bouse of a respectable citizen, who was at Oil City at the time, and attempted to purchase of his wife her fidelity to him. New, it is a remarkable fact that this assessor's arm was decorated with a badge of mourning in memory of the late President. If I would belong to the same party with such a man, and be would prove so unworthy of respect, I would tear the badge from him, and tell him not to insult the memory of the dead President. Another remarkable feature in the character of this would-be "philanthropiat" was that he seemed very asxious to provide for those whose husbands were absent, and who were able to provide for themselves; when it EAST FOUND .- A woman out west, desoribing her runaway husband, says: Daniel may be known by a sear on his nose. where I scratched him.,' The way to find a sensible man is to ask him where he buys his Boots and Shoes, if he suswers at Burnsides, you may mark it down that he is all right, for that is the place they keep the largest, cheapest and best assortment of coverings for the "understanding" in
