"Free Labor."

Lunatios, ignoramuses, and, worse still, nsincere and distonest writers and there, have an immensity of discussion just now on the subject of "Free Labor," meaning by this term the labor of negroes, when forced from their normal condition and natural relation to the white people. they are left to their own volition and guidance. The ne-gro has tweny por cont. less brain, and rro thes twenty per cent, less hind, and the negro (as now in the interior of Hayti) with an organize structure of grosser and more insperfect development: is faculties are, of contract, of corresponding infariority multiply and prebaush the earth, though, --in a word, he is a child-a perpetual mi-nor, an unchanging and changless subordi-not, an unchanging and changless subordi-nate, who as maturally and hecessarily sub-caste, who as maturally and hecessarily sub-nate, who as maturally and hecessarily and hecessarily and here for in juxtanostion with the superior race, as in the bouth. child does to its parents, or the wife to her husband. This rule and guidance of the white man over the negro is inherent, or-game, everlasting, for it is fixed forever in the organic structure by the hand of Gol, and no human power, fraud of durning, can see it aside, of "abolish" it, and the whole combined force of human kind, deting tother for rillions of years, can shaa ge or modily it lu any respect whattural order; but without this they are of course blindly and monstrously their own heads and smashing brains against the "proclamations" of Jehovah.

With an army of three bundred thousand mon they have beaten down the will, and foreibly, for the time being, removed the natural control and guidance of the white people, while snother hundred thousand. as the "freedmonts Burgan" concern, is called, are busy as been in Cornoring and perstring the negroes, so as to reinfor them incircable of restoration do their normal condition bereafter.

Like the conquerors of Napoleon, we have only to learn this from them, and practice it, and then march to the Waterloo where their standard- will go down forever. If they are fanatics, we claim to be patriots and philanthropists. Surely patriotism and philauth: opy are more than a match for fanaticism, that low and vulgar relic of the superstition which burned the witches a century or two ago in New England. Their principles are death to American institutions, ours is the only party which can gather up the fragments of the Great Republic from the mire where they have cast them and saye our country from a dark reign of despotism. Democrats of Centre county; an effort will ere long be made to organize our party as thoroughly as it should be. Let every one be prepared to enter into the work with a will, and in a year from this time, no power on earth can successfully stand against us. -----We have been informed, though not officially, that those representing 'the Government'' saw fit at the last paper, lut those of a community who session of the C.
