- A Western correspondent says In a district in the Far' West-we had a gentleman teacher who thought it advisable to give some lessons in politeness. Among other things he told the boys in addressing a gentleman they should always say "Sir," and gave them examples, and made quite a lesson of it. One boy was particularly delighted, and took occasion to speak to his teacher often, to show he profited by his teachings. When he went home to dine, his father said . "Tom, Lave some meat?" "Yes, sir, I thank you." The next thing the child knew, the father's hand came whack on his ear, and his father's voice thundered forth: "I'll teach you to sass your dad!" Tom gave up being polite. - Ex.

---One very cold night a docter was aroused from his slumber by a very loud knocking at his door. After some hesitation he went to the window, and asked "Who's thers?" "A friend," was the answer. "What do you want?" "Want to stay here all night." "Stay there, then," was the benevolent reply.
