Music Stone .- We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of .Mr. T. P. Rynder, of Lock Haven." Mr. Rynder has a large and extensive music store in that borough, which embraces musical instruments of all kinds. Chickering's, and other selebrated planos and melodeous, orgame, &c., &c., can be obtained at his ceed. The attempt is lame and impotent. s as reasgnable as can be had in the cities. Mr. Rynder ja an obliging gentleman, and we would heartily recommend his establishment to those who desire to purchase good musical instruments.-Sheet music of the latest issues, can always be had at Rynder's.

THE following paragraph occurs in the letter of a private correspondent. It contains a deal of truth :

We hear inquiries occasionally as to who this Dr. Gunn is. He is an old practicing physician, of over forty years standing, and has devoted his life to the investigation of disease, and the remidies furnished by Nature. His old work, (of which the present one is a revision ) has been known in this county for over thirty years, and is highly recommended by those who have profited by its use. The present work is the result of his experience and learning since issuing the old one. We are in possession of a copy ourselves, but have not yet given it a thorough examination; yet we have heard it so highly recommended by those whom we know to be capable of appreciating such a work that we do not heritate to advise our rea dere who are able, to procure it. The language is so plain, and simple, and the diseases to which children and women are oculiarly liable and their causes, so clearly laid down, that no mother who is able to read can fail to understand it, and he such mother should be without it. We have heard it said that this work attacks the physicians as a class. This is a mistake. It is only attacks quackery, and it is only quacks who attack it. Dr. Gunn is filmself an able physician, and like a true man, is willing to give humanity the benefit of his long experience. The only manner in which the "doctors" can suffer by the extensive sale of this work, is by people learning how to prevent diseases, for it very frequently directs the employment of a physician in cases where the cause of diseases i beyond the reach of ordinary people; and surely a physician who truly fulfills bis important mission, cannot complain of the loss of a few dollars in fees, when the result is the preservation of human life, and the alleviation of human -pain.

We would say to all, subscribe for the work, pay for it, read it carefully, and in one year you will save more than the price of it in doctor bills.

THE LECTURE COURSE.-The lecture cours closed on last Friday night, last, but an addi tional lecture was thrown in by Gen. Frazer, on Monday evening, on education. We had the good fortune to hear the last four lectures of the regular course, but missed the first two, and the last one on education. which we were particularly desirous to hear. Under those circumstances, we do not feel justified nor competent to enter into a criticism of the lecturer or his, subject, To us, the theme was a most interesting one, and we really thought the lecturer did it ample justice. Possibly, we may know nothing about it, but we will run the risk of being called a "Jenkins," and say that we considered his conceptions grand, his ideas luminous, and his logic irresistable. He took no position that he failed to establish, and he suvanced no theory that he did not prove by the light of reason and common sense. Our oritical friend of the Press seems to differ with us somewhat, but we really cannot see wherein his distatisfaction consists. It may, probably, be in the fact that Gen. Frazer unsettled some of the old ideas that he learned at school, and taught him that even a number of the old standard works, which he poured over with so much wonder, contain a mass of "imponderable nonsense," which he has all along considered the very quintessence of truth and learning. Upon this hypothesis, we do nut wonder at our critic's efforts to establish the fact of his own belief upon the ruins of Gen. Frazer's grand and beautiful theory in regard to "matter." But he cannot suc He is behind the age. Science is far abea of him. He must wake up, open his eyes, and rid himself of the consequences of a defective education, or he will find himself
