A MARKIAGE .- From the Charokee Gootgian, published at Delton, Whitfield county, tia., we extract the following notice:

MARRIED.—In West Point, Ga., on the 26th-unst, at the residence of Mr. T. R. Cherry, by the Rev. Mr. Ho. tan, Mr. J. H. Fiern, of Dal-ton, and Mirs L. A. Harris, of the former place. Accompanying the above notice was a basket of delictions cake, for which the fair bride will please accept our thanks -- Editor.

The above announcement may not attract more than ordinary notice in this part of the country, but to us it is suggestive of much that is pleasant to remember in the past. We knew the fair bride well, in Mabama, and for a year was an inmate of the same family. She had the kindest heart in the world, and we believe wasthe purest character we have ever met. We should be dereliet in duty did we fail to record her narriage, and wish her all the happings this happy and sometimes unhappy world an afford Sie is now the wife of a brave ('onfederate soldier, and, together, we hope they may journey pleasantly, peacefully and quietly ever life's great thore fare. We had a kind invitation to be present at the wedding, but, much as we should have delighted to join our Southern friends in the festivities of that occasion, we found it not possiwe shall never forget this fair Southern girl, with all her goodness and kindness. We wish her great joy, and now, ay we write the closing lines of this paragrap lift our hat from our head and lervently say, "God bless 'Miss Lou' and her brave, no ble husband."
