

THE PURC. Beside the church door, aweary and load A blind woman sat on the cold door stone; The wind was bitter, the snow fell fast, And a mocking voice in the fiful blast, Seemed ever to echo ber moaning ery, Have pity on me, have pity, I pray ; fy back is bent and my head is gray."

The hells were ringing the hout of prayer, And many good people were gathering there, But, covered with furs and manther warm, They burned past through the wintry storm.

Some were hoping their sonts to fave, Some were thinking of death and the grave, And alas' they had no time to heed The poor soul asking for charitie's med, And some were blooming with beauty's grace But closely muffled in vells of lace; They asw notthesorrow, nor heard not the moan Of her who sat on the cold door stone.

At last onme one of a puble name, By the city counted the wealthiest dame And the pearls that o'er her neck were She proudly there to the beggar flung

Then followed a maiden young and fair, Adorned with clusters of golden har; But her dress was thin, and scanty, and Not even the beggar sceneed more forlorn ! With a teartul look, and pittying sigh, Sho whispered soft, "No jewels have I, But give you my prayors, good friend," "And surely I know God listens to me."

On her poor weak hand, so skrunken and small The blod woman felt a test-drop fall. Then kissed it, and said to the weeping girl, "It is you that have given the purest pearl" — Exchange

THE NEGRO AT HOME.

By consent of the Society for the Advancement of Science and Art, and at the invitation of the Travelers' Club of New York city, P B Du Chaillu, a few evenings since, dolivered an instructive and interesting lecture at their rooms, 222 Fifth Avenne, on "Explorations in Africa." before a very select audience of ladies and gentlemen comprising members of the association and their friedds.

The lecture was received with applause, and spoke as follows :

Mr. President, Ladics and Gentlemen came to day from Putman County, in the State of New York, little thinking of the reception which awnited me this night. I told Mr Dunbar, a few days ago, I should be happy to come and talk here, but I had no idea that ladies would be admitted, and besides I was not prepared to give a full lecture' I have been in the country on purpose to be quiet, staying with friends, in order to write three lectures I have to deliver here and attend to my diagrams, to do the best I can to give an account of what I have done during the the years while I explored Africa. I find it very difficult now to do this During those ten years I have collected a great amount of material I have studied as much as I could the habits of the peoplin their customs and their religion. I have studied the natural histo ry of the country, especially insects, birds, quadrupeds, gorillas, chimpanzes, and the astronomy and geography of the country And I have put them all in two lectures find it very hard, I assure you. But as always soy, it is far more difficult to pu down your thoughts from your ownjournals of travels, than to go and travel in those foreign countries. During those tes year I staid there I made large collections. I succeeded in collecting twenty nine goril-lars, every skin of which I have either here or in England I obtained twenty one du ring the first journey I succeeded in collecting fifteen chimpanzes, the skins and skeletons of which I have I have more than two thousand insects and shells; I succeeded also in collecting one hundred and twenty skulls of negroes. I bring the negro, not for pleasure, but as a matter of science [Laughter ] The negro could not understand what I meant at first. [had to be very careful in obtaining the skulls They thought I was crazy they said, and they kill several of his relatives, because of jealousy. The datate there consists alto would ask "What does that man want ? He gether of women and wives, but principally is always hunting the woods. He is wild, of wives. [Laughter ] Jealously is the cause of the murder of the relatives The and always speaks of buying the skulls of property which consists of wives and weour forefathers " They were very shy at first about it, and always cameat night with
