Some Hope.

The ramp has met. The black thieves, strumpets, and traitors have gathered together again in Washington. Strong minded women, stronger scented niggers, drunken vagabonds, profane gamblers, as usual, traitors, despisers of the Constitution, advocates of Monarchy intermingled with a few decent representatives have congregated at the Capitol to make laws, and attend to public matters generally for the people of the different States. That any good can come of the meeting of this United States—but few have any hopes. We have a few brave men, a few fanatical blackguardism, infidelity, and other isms enough in that body, to crop out and stand boldly forth, in all its naked deformity, as the real, substantial, undeniable, representative of the ideas and principles of mongrelism—to show itself to the people, just as it is, in all its hideous, and devilish, and revolting, and without respect to devotion to the Union of the States—without any of the deceptions, as it wrapped itself in since it became a political organization—undiscovered and naked, embodying all that is disgusting, that is dreaded, that is infamous and outrageous, and they will flee from it as from the jaws of Hell. In place of numbering its supporters by thousands, it will count them by tens, in place of being a controlling power in the land, it will sink into insignificance and disgrace so deep, that there will be none so poor as to do it honor.

All that is wanted, to restore our country to its wonted prosperity and peace, is for the people to get their eyes opened, to see who are now representing and unking law for them. The poor fools, who, calling themselves Congressmen would follow THOMAS STEVENS into his grave, would find a smile from his negro concubine, will do it. They will carry their madness so far, that the blindest bigot, who has hitherto supported and encouraged them, will, to save himself, be compelled to turn upon them and help to crush them. There will be no blinking or striking of questions, because despair will control their actions. They know that it is too late to hope to succeed longer by deception, and they will throw aside the hypocrisy that has had their real designs from view, and let the people see who and what they are. It will open the eyes of the masses, and their will be hope then. It will show them that the Democracy has told them but the simple, naked truth, when it has asserted, that the Mongrel party was controlled by the black traitors, and the vilest miscreants, whose chief designs were the overturning of the Government of our fathers, to erect in its stead a monarchy to be controlled by niggers and themselves.

Impachment.

ANDREW JOHNSON has the pluck to resist the usurpations of the fanatical and revolutionary body calling itself the Congress of the United States, there may be lively times in this country before long. We do not desire war, and would be as sorry to see a violent outbreak at Washington as any one, but if the President is to be impeached and superseded in office, because he has stood firmly against the assaults upon our constitution and government, then why say it is high time that a downright fight be struck somewhere for the preservation of our institutions. Elections do well enough when men and parties are willing to abide the result, and to wait for and obey the lawfully expressed will of the people. But freemen must let all usurpers know that they have the will and the power to enforce their desires when they are utterly disregarded by those who pretend to be the popular branch of the government. There is no use in voting for a principle if we allow the miserable minority we have beaten to trample in the dust after we have endorsed it. The issue between the great political parties of the North in this Fall's election was, more than anything else, the propriety or impropriety of the course of Congress since the close of the war. The people have decided the question against them, and yet they boast in their papers and public speeches that they have control of affairs now, and will carry out their schemes of revolution and tyranny before they can be reached by the people. It is but a little while since they professed such reverence for the will of the majority, and now they turn their back upon it in disgust. They threatened impeachment of the President, if carried out, will bring things to an issue if JOHNSON stands firmly for his rights and the people, and the fanatics in Congress and will find that the people have a way of dealing with those of their kind, short, sharp, but very decisive and effectual. To impeachment Committee has reported in favor of impeachment, and if the House of Representatives sustains them, the question will arise whether the president can hold office during his trial. It would not be a very safe thing for the fragment of a Congress to attempt to remove him, or to force him to retire before a Senate from which twenty Senators are absent. It is impossible at this time to tell exactly what is meant by the movements at Washington. A few days will show, but we doubt whether Congress, fanatical as it is, will dare to carry things to the extreme threatened. If they do, the people ought to be prepared to sustain JOHNSON in treating them as CROMWELL did the Parliament.

Another God.

Mongrel politicians have let go their hold on office. The late elections proved that we have a heavy load to carry and they have dropped him. They have turned their attention now to other mat-

The Bond and National Bank Swindle.

The masses of the people are awfully groaning under the load of taxation and cost of living imposed upon them. Still thousands on thousands of letters are written to explain or understand the cause of their troubles. We can tell them it is the Bond and National Bank swindle that is crushing them. There are at least one hundred million dollars worth of U. S. Bonds that pay no taxes. Rich men whose money and other property was formerly taxed by the Government, have put their property into Bonds to get rid of taxes. Of course this crowd all the taxes upon the shoulders of those who live while by one upon two pieces of real estate. A proposition to sell out, to take the deed and pay over the money $100,000, and live while by one upon two pieces of real estate. A proposition to sell out, to take the deed and pay over the money $100,000, and live while by one upon two pieces of real estate.

Not satisfied with holding their twenty-five hundred million dollars of Bonds, they are now making still further investments in the most prominent industry of the world. No wonder at the necessities of the laboring masses. But the laboring man is not obliged to work hard and live poor on the interest of the Bonds. He is obliged to work hard and live poor on the interest of the Bonds. He is obliged to work hard and live poor on the interest of the Bonds.

THE FINANCES.—The financial condition of the country has terrified the Radicals exceeding, and they would gladly escape from the work of their hands if they could. THOMAS STEVENS, who was chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means throughout the war, has written a long letter to show that he is not responsible for the system of finance established by CHASE & Co. When old THOMAS sits down under, there must be strong indications of a coming crash. The Monarchs can no longer escape responsibility by blaming our condition on Providence, for the crops were never so good as this year. The Radical party alone is responsible for all that the people suffer on account of the financial condition of the country, and for all that they are still to suffer in the future. Let the people remember this.

Some of our mongrel exchanges are already asserting, that the negro vote of the South will be counted in the Presidential election, next fall. While we have no doubt that negroes will vote at every election poll throughout the South, at that time yet we have faith in believing, that before the votes cast by those protgers of Abolitionists, will be counted, in order to decide who shall be our next president, there will be a little the biggest mass and about the roughest time ever mongrelism saw.

THE OLD GUY.—It has always seemed strange to us that any number of abolition negroes could be supported in this country, while democratic politicians can scarcely be sustained at all. It is not because Democrats are not able to support the right kind of literature, but because they do not properly appreciate the advantage it is to any party to control the reading of the public. We have been taught a lesson by the past seven years which we will do well to profit by, and the Democratic press of the country is receiving much more encouragement from the people than formerly in the most gloomy days of the war, when the time had themselves to sink into a camp of despair, and a magazine was started in the city of New York, under most unfavorable auspices, for the propagation of sound doctrine as understood by Jefferson and his co-workers, and for the improvement and elevation of Democratic literature. The readers of the WATCHMAN are familiar with the political literature of the Old Guard, for we have from time to time published its articles over since it was first issued. To those who know its political status we need only say that every other department shows equal ability, and that it is behind no magazine in the country in a purely literary point of view. We believe that it is the duty of every Democrat who can spare the subscription price at all to subscribe for the Old Guard, and thus assist in correcting the many evils which have followed the wide circulation of the books and magazines of the Abolitionists. It is published by Van Evrie, Horton & Co., at only three dollars per annum, and at that price ought to have at least five hundred subscribers in Centre county.

Reconstruction and Taxes.

The expenses of our government before the war, was about $70,000,000 per year under democratic rule, and the interest on our present public debt is about $100,000,000 per year. With a tariff properly adjusted, this sum could all be collected from foreign and domestic sources. No interest on the bonded debt, and the thousands of collectors and assessors dispensed with. Only think of the change when we get back under a democratic government. No interest on the bonded debt, and the thousands of collectors and assessors dispensed with. Only think of the change when we get back under a democratic government. No interest on the bonded debt, and the thousands of collectors and assessors dispensed with.

The Sombre "Pail."

The New York Herald has the following comments on the result of the late election in Georgia, following hard upon the same shameless race in Virginia. It is gratifying to know that "the white wretches" who lead this movement in the South, begin to be appreciated according to their merit. The Herald says: "Another State has been enshrouded with the same 'pail' of Georgia, following her in Georgia, following hard upon the same shameless race in Virginia. It is gratifying to know that 'the white wretches' who lead this movement in the South, begin to be appreciated according to their merit.

The Romans, in the height of their triumph, banded the government of conquered kings over to the white race who then never retrograde. It appears that the radicals are receding from the condition of civilization which marked the era of their rule. The Romans were a great conquering race, and their interest of that section of the country, but overturn all the established safeguards of the Republic, and lead to utter barbarism; to implant upon the soil of our own South the civilization seen in the interior of Africa—human slaughter, slavery in its most heinous shape, mental ignorance and paganism.

THE HERO OF THE STORY had had part in the last grand battle, stormed Lee's lines, earned every step by desperate and heroic deeds, and was found, found Lee still firm, defiant, desperate. No one so well knew the incomparable skill and bravery of that now waning army of North Carolina. He had fought in the hour of its supreme disaster, were graduating it to powder rather than forcing its surrender; and he had fought in the hour of its supreme disaster, were graduating it to powder rather than forcing its surrender; and he had fought in the hour of its supreme disaster, were graduating it to powder rather than forcing its surrender.

The Poor Man's Soliloquy.

I have no more crusts, my poor dog, I give you the last one, and my God knows I could die, but you can't die. Don't look so wretchedly, don't look as if you pined me, for it makes me ashamed of men when a dog is the better friend. I will tell you, a few things, but perhaps you cannot understand them. I must go to work in a few moments—my morning is nearly over. That wagon must be finished, and I have to get all the good dinner my good wife put up for me, and my little child brought me, and I must work for more.

I have my tin dinner-pail, my poor faithful dog, and they say you eat all your supper, and my little child brought me, and I must work for more. I have my tin dinner-pail, my poor faithful dog, and they say you eat all your supper, and my little child brought me, and I must work for more.
