

The Democratic Watchman.

Bellefonte, Pa. Friday Morning, May 21, 1889.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

A heavy hail storm rattled round Boalsburg and vicinity on last Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Barnard, preached two very excellent sermons, to crowded houses in the Court House on Sunday last.

We have been enjoying a "cold spell" this week, a refreshment which may have been borrowed from her weeping sister April.

A cow was run over and killed on Tuesday last. Several persons badly injured, and one killed.

Mr. J. S. Barnhart and family, of this place, will leave here for Iowa and other parts of the West, on Monday morning, to be absent some months.

We noticed our good-natured friend, who goes to the water works, shaved off the pavement in front of Reynolds' bank by a dark day.

The 30th of the present month has been named by the Grand Army of the Republic as the day for the annual decoration of the soldiers' graves.

We are unavoidably a little late this week, owing to the fact that we have been out within a day or so, short of a hen.

The new public school building, we understand, is now ready for the use of the common work having been completed.

It is quite a goodly number of the Spring crops, and we are quite sure that they will be a success.

Our friends who have put up a fine lot of hay for the cows, are to be commended.

present remonstrances thrown upon them.

The Republican of this place, in a late issue, places the ladies in a false light before the community, and it is to be desired that a fair and proper responsibility where it properly belongs, that they have taken this opportunity to set themselves right.

The Republican, both of whose editors are lawyers and one a Good Templar, lacks common courtesy when it attempts to throw the burden of this matter on the shoulders of the ladies.

Why didn't some of the legal gentlemen, belonging to the Good Templar organization, and who could not have been ignorant of Judge Mayer's court rules, attend to a subject of such vital importance to the temperance cause?

It is unmanly as well as ungenerous to hold the ladies responsible for the lukewarmness of their gentlemen advocates. But here is the communication to the ladies.

Our ladies not having employed an attorney, there was no one there to represent them.

From what I can understand, they had no money to employ an attorney, those ladies were selected, and appointed by the ex-committee of the Union Temperance Society, to represent the different churches, they were just acting in accordance with the orders received from the secretary of this society.

A copy of the remonstrance was sent them with a notice that they were expected to get as many signatures as possible, also to power to appoint sub-committees, to assist them.

Five was the original number, they made it eight, three Presbyterians, three Methodists and two Episcopalians engaged in the work of conducting the different districts, and they were very successful, with a list of 1,000 names.

They were not aware of the change in the court rules. The work being done by a member of the Bar, that the ladies would not be granted until the last of the week, or the following Monday.

What right had the ladies to employ an attorney, when two of the most prominent members of the Bellefonte bar were there, one a vice-president of the society, and the other a member of the ex. co., and the promoter in drawing up the remonstrance, and requesting it placed in the hands of the ladies?

It would have been an open insult to those gentlemen, the very best counsel in the county, were on the ground, invested with the right to support the society, and sustain the cause.

It was not the intention of the ladies to put in the remonstrance to the court, but unless the gentlemen refused to do so, the ladies had a choice, and they were not to be blamed.

will find the "Brockerhoff" a most elegant and attractive stopping place.

By reference to the programmes enclosed in our issue this week, it will be seen that we are to have Byron's circus and menagerie in Bellefonte on the 31st instant.

This stock was got up with special reference to the country trade, and W. B. A. are now "going for" the customers from out of town.

But they need not trouble themselves, for the country people of these parts, with an eye to their own interests, are already "going for" the good clothes at low prices at 6th and Market streets.

As will be noticed by his card, Dr. James P. Glenn has located in Snowshoe, where he is prepared to do his best for the suffering citizens of that locality.

Dr. Glenn is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, one of the best medical colleges in the world, and we feel confident, will be able to give general satisfaction to those needing his professional services.

Going for them—Messrs. Wauwauker & Brown having spent the past few months in getting up the largest and best stock of spring and summer garments ever offered in Philadelphia, are now busy as bees in disposing of it at prices so low that every now and then an astonished customer has to turn to his salesman to say, "You ain't fooling with me, are you?"

THE SECRET OF HAPPINESS. Well friends I've been thinking and mulling up my mind To say a few things for the good of mankind And if you take my advice in what I shall say, I'll explain your troubles are ended today.

Just see the crowd passing by in parade. All hurrying around for the sake of a trade. Where do you go for your sorrowing and wailing? Why should you go for sorrowing and wailing?

Old Mr. Jenkins spoke these words to me, And when he spoke he had a smile on his face. A smile of delight and contentment, and he said, "I've been to the 'Old Home'."

A sparkle of gladness is seen in each eye, As the people in hundreds go hurrying by. To think of the joys and the sorrows that's flown Since they've invested a little in the famous "Old Home."

Now home that was the secret of my life, And that that was the secret of my life, And that that was the secret of my life, And that that was the secret of my life.

And the children exulted in the joyful tone, And the children exulted in the joyful tone, And the children exulted in the joyful tone, And the children exulted in the joyful tone.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.

And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high, And the young and the old the bow and the high.
