MY FIRST PROPOSAL.

At last, the long day's haying done,
I turned to leave the fragrant meadow,
Where, on the grass, the setting sun
Before me cast my lengthened shadow.

I struck a narrow path that ran
By Lovell's farm, a crooked byeway,
Which somewhere thereabout began,
And ended on the dusty highway.

It reached their barn-yard first of all,
Then wandered through a wooded hollow,
And darted past an old stone wall.
As if inviting you to follow.

It climbed a hill where all the day
The crows rehearsed a mimic Babel;
It crossed a brook which flowed that way,
Then slid beneath one barn's brown gable.

A shorter cut it was that led
To our own homestead from the meadow,
And so I followed it instead,
And on before me went my shadow.

Then nearing Lovell's farm I heard
The white-horned cattle faintly lowing,
While, bubbling in the bright pails stirred
The milk from well filled udders flowing.

I glanced beyond the barn-yard wall,
And there sat Katy milking "Speckle,"
The favorite cow among them all,
Her fine coat flecked with many a freckle.

Then up got Katy—so by that
I knew her milking done—and straightway,
While my own heart went pit-a-pat,
Came toward me through the open gateway.

The sun dropped down from out the sky,
And left the west with rich gold laden,
As awkward country lad was I,
And Katy was a simple maiden.

Her eyes met mine as if by chance,
Not knowing who it was, then shyly,
'Neath drooping lids, with down cast glance,
Then back again to mine stole shyly.

With that fair look my courage grew,
I said—it may have been I swore it—
She was the sweetest girl I knew,
And told her how I loved her for it.

Perhaps she gave me no reply,
Perhaps it was the night's gray curtain,
Slow-falling from the twilight sky,
Which left her answer so uncertain

Then winding homeward, torn with doubt,
The tree-toads thrilled their fife conviction,
The patriarch frogs, with deep bass shout,
Grew horse and loud in contradiction

The katydids pronounced both ways,
But ere the moon was one hour older,
I sat beneath its silvery rays
With Katy's head upon my shoulder.

A Young Man Takes a Two Years' Nap, Awakens, and Asks, "Is Breakfast Ready?"

We are informed that a young man living in the lower part of this county was taken sick about two years ago, and fell into a deep sleep, from which he only awoke about two weeks since. The first expression he made use of on coming to was, "Is breakfast ready?" just as though he had been asleep but one night. A physician had been attending on him all the time, and happened in just after he awoke. On walking up to the bed, he called the patient by name, remarking that "You must feel better, as your cheeks have more color," to which he replied by asking, "Who are you?" On being informed that he was a physician who had been attending him constantly for two years, he could hardly believe his senses. During his sleep he was fed regularly with spoon victuals, as though he was conscious. He is now up, enjoying good health, and busily engaged in trying to get the events of the last two years posted up in his mind, that he may unite them with the past and present. He has a distinct recollection of everything up to the time of his going to sleep. We have heard no explanation of this case of Rip Van Winkleism.—Madison (Ind.) Courier, 28th

The Chinese Giant—His Personal and Antecedents.

All the men of stature did not perish in the flood, although that forty days rain swept off the most of them. A veritable Brobdingnag is in our midst to-day. Chang, the huge Chinaman, is here, and is suffering the inconvenience of his bulky greatness. The cars afford no room for him to deposit his ample lumbar regions in. Chairs are shaky props, beds there are none to support him, and altogether he finds New York city as bare of conveniences for his comfort as Timbuctoo. Yesterday orders were given for a chair of stout strength and immense size, and a bed fit for the reception of his monstrous limbs will be ready for the giant to-night.

Chang is a monster of flesh and a giant in height, and has exhibited himself in England and Paris. While in England, at the request of the Prince and Princess of Wales, he visited the Marlborough House and last year he was a guest at the Tuileries.

The giant is eight feet eight inches in height, and is about twenty-five years of age. He is good-looking and quite intelligent, speaks English fluently and is quite gallant in his way. His pet extravagance is dress. He devotes all his energies and the most of his business time to the careful investiture of his cumbrous body in store clothes. Massive chains make arcs all about his body; what would [illegible] to the earth, hang like silken threads about his chest and girdle. His feet are exaggerated beetle-crushers, and the rest of his body is of proportionate immensity.

Chang has a wife and two children, and is said to be great in his affection towards them. He calls his spouse his "pretty Kin-Foo," and though he flirts and philanders with all the ladies, Kin-Foo is in no way jealous, believing that a man of such inordinate size is excusable if he does overrun with affection for another.

Chang's father is even taller than his son, and there is a sister who exceeds him in height a few inches. The sister is married, and her husband will not suffer her to become the object of rude gaze. Chang has been well educated, and belongs to a fine family. His father is a wealthy tea merchant in Fu-Chau. The Russian giant Anak is the only man who has ever appeared that approaches Chang in height. Both Anak and Chang were exhibited on the Continent together, and though Anak wore a helmet with feathers, which made him seem of extraordinary height, Chang, without any such illusive accessory, appeared the taller man.

Mr. Wood, of the museum, has affected an arrangement with the Chinese giant, and will soon introduce him to the public.

Medicines & Restoratives.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.—The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this diseases and when it part of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous form either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs, or pulmonary [illegible] formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations, on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no acting symtoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this Sarsaparilla: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This Sarsaparilla is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.—A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Neither can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which render [illegible] generally gross and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm [illegible] nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
