The Democratic Watchman.

BELLEFONTE, PA

Friday Morning, November 19, 1869.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—— Court begins on Monday, the 22d instant.

——The editors of the WATCHMAN return their thanks for Thanksgiving turkeys.

The first snow of the season fell here on Saturday night last to the depth of about two inches.

——Daniel Condo, of Gregg township, has lost three children by typhoid fever, inside of as many weeks.

——Brainerd, of the National, went to Pennsvalley to spend his Thanksgiving. He wanted a square meal.

——We had the pleasure of a call from Rev. Joseph H. Barnard, of Waukesha, Wisconsin, on Wednesday.

——Gen. Jonathan Wolf and H. H. Weaver, of Brush Valley, have gone South to seek a home in the land of flowers.

——We understand that a house belonging to a Mrs. Grassmire, in the neighborhood of Curtin's works, was destroyed by fire the other day.

——Fred. Kurtz says the Reporter has now reached a circulation of eight hundred copies, and is bragging it up as an advertising medium. All right.

——Messrs. Anthony Geary and Thomas Geary, of Unionville, with Dr. Belford, left here on Monday morning last for a hunt on the Alleganies.

——Col. R. D. Cummings, of the Eagle Hotel, Philadelphia, was in town this week. The Colonel looks as if hotel keeping in the city agreed with him.

——Mr. C. B. Gould, senior editor of the National, was presented a new hat the other day by the Zimmerman firm. The speeches on the occasion were truly eloquent.

——Rev. W. T. Wylie, the newly elected Presbyterian minister has arrived, and will immediately enter upon his pastoral duties. Mr. Wylie is from New Castle, Lawrence county.

——Joseph Gilliland of Centre Hill, accidentally shot himself in the hand while hunting deer in the Seven mountains. One of his fingers was amputated by Dr. Mosser, of Potters Mills.

Mr. Boyce, the lecturer employed by the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Pennsylvania, lectured in the Good Templar hall here on Monday night last. The attendance was small.

——J. F. Peeling, Esq., the genial and funny Lock Haven marble man, was in town a few days ago looking up the graveyard business. He was accompanied by Capt. C. W. Walker, of Renovo.

——The Presbyterian prayer meetings are hereafter to be held in the room lately occupied as Radical headquarters. This is done, we suppose, for the purpose of purifying it. But it will take lots of prayers to do it.

——A board walk has been laid from High street to the Gymnasium and Roman's restaurant. This is a great improvement, and renders the walk to those fashionable resorts altogether agreeable. Tipple and Roman have an eye to enterprise.

——A little child of Mr. Abraham Weaver, of Cold Stream, near Philipsburg, was burned to death, on Sunday week last. The accident was caused by its clothes catching while playing with fire during the temporary absence of its mother from the house.

A party of hunters from Pennsylvania passed through here on the 1st instant, to the Black Moshannon, on a hunting excursion, and returned on the 12th. They stopped at the Commercial House, and had in their possession seventeen deer, one of which was a buck weighing eight hornes, which weighed, when skinned, two hundred pounds. The names of the party were Daniel Gentz, Jacob Gentz, Jacob Emerick, John Myers, D. A. Musser, Andrew Stover, C. W. Stover, H. J. Smith, M. Carstetter and Jonas Fry, the latter gentleman from Lewisburg.

——Rev. Jos. H. Barnard, of Waukesha, Wisconsin, to whom we have alluded in another place, will lecture this (Friday) evening, before the Young Men's Christian Association, in the Court House, by special invitation. His subject will be "THE BEAUTIFUL AND THE TRUE." We think the announcement that Mr. Barnard is to lecture will be sufficient to fill the house to overflowing, but as it ought to, we say the subject is one which, of all men Mr. Barnard is generally fitted to exemplify. The purity of his own noble life, the eloquent power with which he advocates the truth, as revealed in the Word of God in imagery and poetry of his organ of speech, his learning and his eloquence all constitute him the particular expounder of everything that is beautiful and true. Go and hear him. All men are invited. The house will be crowded.

THE SCHOOLS AGAIN.—A few weeks since we gave a short sketch of our public schools, their teachers, &c., in a somewhat imperfect manner. Prof. Magee, however, who has been visiting these schools, furnishes us with some facts which enable us to speak of them more at length. There are two public school buildings in this borough, one of which, for white pupils, is entirely new, and a credit to the enterprise of our people. It is built after the modern idea, and is a handsome, convenient, well ventilated edifice. It should be well taken care of, and penalties ought to be enforced against any and every one defacing the walls or furniture, inside or out. The grounds about this building are spacious, but unimproved as yet. In time they will furnish an excellent play-ground. Eight of the rooms are supplied with good furniture, but Mr. Magee thinks they are too crowded, and that there is not enough blackboard space. There is but one set of apparatus in the building.

The number of public schools in the borough, including the colored school, is nine, eight of which are graded, two of these having been graded the present year. The books are uniform, and the Bible is read in all the schools. Singing is practiced daily. The superintendent suggests that singing be taught in the higher grades by note.

There are three male teachers and six female in the schools. Four of these have had over five years experience, and one is teaching now for the first time. Eight of them attend the district Institute.

The highest grade is the Boys' High school, taught by Mr. D. H. Hastings. In this school there are 37 pupils, and the branches taught are reading, writing, arithmetic, English and Latin grammar, history, geometry, ~~algebra~~, geography and composition.

The next grade is the Girls' High school, taught by Mr. M. W. Herr. In this grade there are 36 pupils. The same branches are taught in this school as in the first grade, with the exception of geometry and Latin. The attendance during the first month, was 85 per cent.

The third grade is the Senior Grammar school, under the direction of Miss Sallie J. Keller. Here are 40 pupils. The branches taught are spelling, reading, grammar, geography, composition, writing and arithmetic. The attendance is 83 per cent.

The fourth grade is the Junior Grammar school, taught by Miss Rachel Davis. The pupils here number 55, of which number, however, only 48 can be comfortably seated. Spelling, reading, geography, writing and arithmetic are the branches of study taught. The attendance is 85 per cent.

The fifth grade is the Intermediate school, consisting of 47 pupils, under the care of Miss Rebecca J. M'Ginley. The branches taught are spelling, reading, geography and arithmetic. The attendance is 84 per cent.

The sixth grade is the First Primary school taught by Miss Mattie Weaver. Here are 50 pupils, studying spelling, reading, primary geography and arithmetic. The attendance is 92 per cent.

The Second Primary school constitutes the seventh grade, Miss Sallie C. Caldwell, teacher. In this school there are 40 pupils. Spelling and reading are the only branches taught. The per cent of attendance is 92.

The eighth grade is constituted by the Third Primary school, under charge of Miss Mary Weaver. This school has just been opened, and the alphabet and spelling are the branches taught.

The colored school, taught by Mr. Augustus G. Wilson (colored,) has 35 pupils, being an attendance of 58 per cent. It is the purpose here to teach all the branches of education, but the superintendent tells us that there is a general want of books and a very imperfect classification. He also says that the old log house in which the school is held, is unfit for use. The furniture is very poor and extremely uncomfortable, and there is no play ground attached. A better building should be furnished for the school, and the furniture should be renewed and modernized.

The superintendent thinks that in the two higher grades the Standard is too low, there being too many small scholars in them. He suggests the use of school records or class registers. He also recommends that physiology be taught. The practice of snowballing, which seems to be allowed on the school grounds is greatly deprecated by the superintendent, who states that small boys and girls frequently complain of being hit by them, and the citizens are apprehensive all the time of having their windows broken. He thinks it would be well, to prohibit snowballing on the school premises.

There is one other matter to which the superintendent has requested us to call attention, and that is the condition of the out-house attached to the new school building. He says it is in a horrible state. This matter ought to be remedied by regulations and penalties, and also by locks and bolts. Everything about that building and about all school buildings should be kept in good order. Let it be done.

In fact of schools, we wish to call the attention of school boards and the people generally to the following resolution passed at the twenty-second annual session of the Centre County Teachers' Institute:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Institute that lady teachers should receive the same salary as gentlemen teachers when performing the same service.

Has that resolution been insisted on? We think not. Until it is insisted on, however, it never will never be carried into effect. We can see no reason why a lady teacher, holding as good or perhaps a better certificate than a male teacher, should receive less wages. And we know of some lady teachers who to-day hold superior certificates who are receiving inferior compensation. Why a great big strong man, with an ordinary education, should receive a hundred dollars while a delicate lady, with a superior education, receives only thirty or forty, is a matter that seems to need looking into. Let all our teachers, lady and gentlemen alike, unite in demanding equal wages, and the thing will be accomplished. The gentleman will lose nothing, but the ladies will gain much.

STAY AWAY FROM BELLEFONTE.—In view of the enormous rents which tenants in Bellefonte have to pay for houses, we feel it to be a journalistic duty to advise all persons who anticipate coming to this place in the spring, to STAY AWAY. Rents and taxes in this town eat a man up. Our landlords are regular land sharks, both greedy and avaricious, and exact the last cent they can possibly obtain. Little huts of frame houses, only about capacious enough for an ordinary pig-sty, rent for $100 or $150 per annum, while houses that are larger and more comfortable bring enormous prices. We tell our country friends to stay in the country and not come here to be robbed! It may be very nice to live in town, but when it takes every cent of a man's profits to pay his rent, the niceness of the matter is not so nice. Stay away everybody! Let our landlords go a begging for tenants once, and probably we shall see a fall in rents. This is the age of Shylocks and men who have houses to rent go about with hideous countenances asking for their pound of flesh. Let their houses stand empty—let them rot down—let us all live in hovels, rather than surrender our substance into the grasping, greedy paws of such avaracious property owners. We repeat, then, stay away from Bellefonte till rents get down to a reasonable figure.

——Rev. Joseph Barnard, Presbyterian minister, formerly of this place, but now of Waukesha, Wisconsin, preached in the court house here, on Sunday morning and evening last, to large audiences. Mr. Barnard always was and always will be a favorite with this people. This has been attested by the eagerness with which our citizens have flocked to hear him on each occasion of his return to this place. The Presbyterians have not had so good or so eloquent a minister since Mr. Barnard's departure. We are pleased to be able to announce that by particular invitation of the Young Men's Christian Association of this place, Mr. Barnard will lecture before that body this (Friday) evening. We have no doubt that there will be a full house. Mr. B. was a member of the old school General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, which met in Pittsburg, on the 10th instant, in conjunction with that of the new school, for the purpose of consummating the union of those two branches of the church, so auspiciously begun in New York.

JUST THE FIT.—Our friend * * * * is manufacturing his reputation as a first class boot and shoe. He employs four experienced work men who are not usually excelled. The establishment is turning out the very best quality of stitched boots, pegged boots, superior ladies work to order, also mens gaiters, laced boots and Spanish sole kip boots. Very fine Mending and repairing done at * * * in the best style and cheap.—National.

Just so. We have no doubt of it. But thereby hangs a tale. After writing the above item, the National man went out to the race course, to see the trotting on Thursday afternoon of last week, wearing a new pair of boots that had just been made to order at the establishment alluded to above. We are told that he stood on one leg all the time. When asked why he had adopted so unusual a mode of standing, he answered, gruffly, "boots!" He was afterwards noticed in the act of drawing one of them off, casting a tearful look at his injured pedal, and enjoyed the balance of the race in his stocking foot. He afterwards limped home in the same way. The trouble was he had too much of a fit. The establishment he recommends so highly, no doubt made the boots according to order, but then they made them for feet. We don't suppose they even dreamed that anybody would attempt to wear them over a pair of spades. But "M'Cracken" did crowd his enormous understandings into them. The consequence was he has since been "lighting" around his anctum in the dirtiest pair of socks we have ever seen. His senior says the odor is villainous.

We can only account for the above puff on the supposition that it was written impulsively, before he had tried the boots on, and under the mistaken impression that what looked so well would ——The entertainment given to the Press of Bellefonte at the opening of the Gymnasium, on Thursday night last, was quite a recherche affair. The supper was prepared by our friend Roman, proprietor of the restaurant, and that prince of caterers, Mr. H. W. Ruble, and consisted of everything that was good. There were turkeys and chickens, with all the necessary condiments, the finest of "murphys," cabbage, elegant coffee, superb butter, mince pies, and a numerous host of things, the names of which we cannot now remember. Seven persons sat down to the table, namely: Brown and Hutchinson, of the Republican, Brainard, of the National, Tobias, ex officio, whilom of the Berwick Gazette, Meek and Furey of the WATCHMAN, and Dr. R. D. Tipple. Captain Hutchinson presided and did the carving, and it was remarked that he handled the separators well as if he was used to them. At his right sat P. G. M., at his left "Mc'racken." The senior of the Republican and the Berwick Gazette, faced each other, while at the lower end of the table, with an enormous dish of killed fowl between them, sat the Doctor and the other part of the WATCHMAN. Wit and humor of course prevailed, the passes being chiefly between the Republican and "M'Cracken." The others, more decorous, listened, wrapped in wonder and admiring amazement. The fun, however, was spasmodical, as Brown couldn't get his mouth empty long enough to make an extended remark and "M'Cracken" was fearful he wouldn't get enough "stuffin." But, amid fun and frolic, the greatest justice was done to the viands, the universal verdict being that they were elegant. The best of friends must part, however, and the most bountiful stomachs will sometimes get full. Even Brown was satisfied, and after devouring half a dozen pieces of mince pie, by way of finishing up, he declared himself ready to go, when all rose from the table, giving their thanks and farewells at the same time. It was a jolly occasion in truth, and was hugely enjoyed.

And now we have but to say that Roman knows how to keep a restaurant, and anybody who wants a warm meal, gotten up in first class style, should go up to the big spring and see him. There is the gymnasium, the bowling ally and the shooting gallery. Amusement for both body and stomach. Go up and see by all means.

——Cold Boreas has already given us a few breathings of his icy breath, and will soon be upon us in all his fierceness. The coming winter, it has been predicted, will be a long and a hard one. God help the poor and incline the hearts of those who are beyond the reach of want to think of their needy and proverty stricken neighbors.

——William L. Dennis, Esq., of Philadelphia, will deliver two lectures in this place, next week, for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. The first lecture will be given on Wednesday evening, the 24th instant, the subject being "Dr. Dipps, of Ponyville." The second lecture on Thursday evening, with the "Social Fossils of Ponyville," as the subject. These two lectures are a portion of that series called the Ponyville lectures, each one of which is so designed to show up some popular folly. They are, of course, all humorous, but convey an instructive moral. Mr. Dennis has a high reputation as a man of rare humor and eminent ability. The Newport (R. I.) Journal, thus alludes to the lecture entitled "Dr. Dipps:"

"Dr. Dipps," the chief character of the lecture is an imaginary personage who left the tallow chandler's business and became a quack doctor, and his career in his new profession is described with great wit and multifulness. Mr. Dennis with a quiet and racy satire exposed one of the leading follies of the day which is the inordinate manufacture and use of patent medicines. The audience seemed to enjoy with keen relish the laughable career of the redoutable Dr. Dipps and to see pictured in his history many of those strange incidents which real life furnishes. Our want of space forbids that we should attempt to trace even a mere outline of the lecture for to reproduce its sparkling salties of wit, but of the many lyceum lectures we have heard we do not hesitate to pronounce this one of the best and most enjoyable.

——Under our regular obituary head we this week announce the death of Thomas Caldwell, Esq., an old and respected citizen of this borough. Mr. Caldwell was a resident of Bellefonte for many years and filled many honorable positions in public life. Politically, he affiliated with the Democratic party, and was one of its most honored members. But he was a popular man with both parties, and never elected other than the kindest expressions and good feeling from all. Mr. Caldwell had nearly lived out a man's allotted time on earth, and went to his final rest full of days. He was over sixty-seven years of age. May he rest in peace.

——When we have good balls in town, why is it necessary to give the court house for public lectures and exhibitions? This question is pertinent at the present time, and is submitted for the commissioners to answer. The people of this county do not desire to have the court house abused nor to pay for the gas and coal consumed in this way. Henceforth the court room must be left nothing can be done.

——The local editor of the Doylestown Democrat discourses eloquently of pumpkin pies. Pumpkin Pies! We are glad to know that they are plenty this winter, for if there is any blessing greater than another, it certainly is pumpkin pies. We endorse every word of the Democrat's eulogy. Thusly he speaketh:

If you have tasted them this autumn, then you have realized the height of epicurean enjoyment — if, unfortunately not, then you may realize what a luxury you have lost. Our fields are full of these sweet and substantial golden orbs—the most delicious of all vegetables—or finest of fruit—whichever class they come under. Perhaps they are of the grain kind—like sweet potatoes, according to the great decision of the Infernal Revenue—but these pure, perfect, peerless pumpkin pastry pets are our fall fashion, and well we remember that juvenile refrain—Never, never pie can be, as good as mother made for me! Paltry poets prate of lays, fawns, flower, but forget to figure up thy virtues, proud pumpkin! high old hero of a thousand corn fields! Why the only rhyme which sings their praise that we can now remember, relates to the poverty-stricken incident in the unfortunate life of one "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater — Had a wife and couldn't keep her."

——We would call the attention of our citizens to the Arcade Restaurant, kept by Mr. G. M. Peck. Travellers and others can here obtain meals at all hours, and equally as good as those served up at first-class hotels. Those who favour him with a call will get the best cup, plate, knife and fork, and receive the best of everything, in the way of eating, that his Restaurant affords.

——Our friend, W. A. Tobias, Esq., left town the other day to assume his duties as pedagogue in a country school. William was formerly a local editor, but left that thankless calling for the more congenial occupation of teaching the young idea how to shoot. B-a-k-e-r! "Thomas Emanuel, stop that squinting at Aramanta Jones, immediately. First class in algometry!"

——Thanksgiving was partly observed and partly not observed in this place yesterday. A union sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Mullen.

For Circulars of the Iron City College, giving full particulars of the course of study, method of instruction, qualifications for entering, time of commencing, necessary expenses, &c., address the principals, Smith & Cowley, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Business Notices.

——WANAMAKER & BROWN, the celebrated clothing dealers at 6th & Market streets, Philadelphia, have opened another magnificent establishment on Chestnut street, near the Continental. This is the first clothing house in the city, as it is also the best and cheapest. It is not a slop shop establishment, but it is in every respect, in prices and in the quality of the goods sold, infinitely cheaper and better. Their work is made in the firmest and most substantial style and fits are guaranteed, or suits may be returned. The whole force of the establishment and more men are employed than in any other house in the city. All gentlemen always polite and agreeable and willing to exhibit their goods, whether purchases are made or not. But no person who goes in to look at the goods, will come out without buying, if he is really in want of anything, because such a stock is seen nowhere else in the city. When asked to recommend any house for clothing in the city, and we often are, we should say and always do say go to WANAMAKER & BROWN.

——If you want a good cigar, a pure meerschaum pipe or any other article usually kept by a tobacconist go to Frank Mullins, in the Bush House corner. There you can get anything from a penny grab to a bunch of tobacco. Frank is a daisy fellow, and deserves the patronage of the people. Give him a call.

——A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat requires immediate attention as neglect often results in an incurable Lung Disease. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES will most invariably give instant relief. For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Consumptive and Throat Diseases, they have a world-wide effect. Singers and public speakers use them to clear and strengthen the voice. Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches many worthless and cheap imitations are offered which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. 14-45-6m
