Public Schools.

BOGGS TOWNSHIP.

Whole number of schools 12. The two at Central City are graded. Number of male teachers 6, female 6. Length of term four months. The salaries of teachers range from $25 to $42 per month; graded according to the size of the schools. We would suggest that a better way would be to grade the salaries according to the grade of the certificates and ability in teaching, as by the present mode sparsely settled sub-districts or those in which the schools are small are put off with teachers of less experience and ability; besides, experienced teachers make teaching a business for life and devote their whole time to it, and should not be placed upon a common level with mere beginners and such as teach only because they have nothing else to do; unless we wish to break down the profession. Five of the teachers have taught over five years. Three hold professional certificates. Ten attended the annual county institute. In this Township the "District Institute" is sustained and we understand is pretty well attended. Teachers should attend regularly, for if rightly conducted much good can be accomplished by it, and by the spirit manifested by the teachers at the session we attended, we are inclined to think that the Board has acted wisely in instituting it.

Cleanliness, taste, and perfect order prevail in some of the schools; others can be improved in these respects. About one-half are supplied with class registers and class bells, a few with writing charts and outline maps. All are supplied with artificial globes; these are used daily in most of the schools. The typical method is not generally pursued, though frequently recommended, and by all acknowledged to be superior. In general the schools deport themselves well, and show much respect for teachers and school officers. In one or two schools only did we find symptoms of disobedience. Teachers should require implicit obedience, for a school can not prosper where there are two masters. The teacher's word must be law in the school room, with out any questioning or quibbling.

The Directors have, during the year, built one new house and supplied several others with new and modern furniture.

Outbuildings have also been erected during the year at nearly all. We trust that the good work will continue to go on, until all are thus supplied, and the few remaining, unfit for use, have disappeared, and been supplied by better ones. The Superintendent was accompanied by Directors Wolf, Taylor and Yarnell, besides fifteen patrons, in visiting these schools. At the Marsh Creek school house an evening educational meeting was held, and some of the most prominent wants of the school discussed.

BURNSIDE TOWNSHIP.

This district has four schools, two of which are open in winter and two in summer. Preparations are being made for the erection of a new house to take the place of the two known as "Summit," and "Laurel Run;" the term to be eight months instead of four, as at present. The "Germania school" has been supplied with new and modern seats during the year. All are supplied with outline maps and globes. Suitable out-buildings are yet wanted, though we are informed this will soon be attended to. Both the winter schools are in good condition, order good, teaching thorough, (topical method pursued), and all seemingly much interested in the work. Both rooms are tastefully decorated with wreaths, mottoes, &c. The books are uniform, (except the copy-books), the Bible is read and singing practiced daily. Map Drawing, Phonetic Spelling and Physiology are taught in both. Directors M. Stewart and J. K. Book accompanied the Superintendent in visiting the schools.

SNOW SHOES TOWNSHIP.

Number of schools four, the "Cato" school having been discontinued. The one at Snow Shoes has been quite too large for the capacity of the house, as well as for one teacher to attend to, until recently the opening of a Catholic school has relieved the teachers of from thirty to forty pupils.

There appears to be a lack of interest on the part of many of the people. Teachers complain that parents will not furnish the necessary books for their children. As an evidence of this, we would cite the fact that in one school the teacher reports forty-five studying a certain branch from five books. If parents could see how much they are losing by such a course and how much the teacher is crippled in his work, the remedy would certainly be applied at once. Another teacher reports "no visits except by one director." If parents really love their children, why is this so? The order in some of the schools is very good, in others it can be improved. Pupils should not be allowed to talk or whisper without permission obtained from the teacher. All the schools are supplied with outline maps and globes—all have a uniform series of books, (copy-books excepted.) The Bible is read daily, and singing practiced in all. Some of the school-rooms are tastefully decorated, and are clean and neat. Bare, smoked and dirty walls have certainly a demoralizing influence on children. A little paint could be used to advantage on the black boards of the Askey's, Gray's and Mohannon. The directors propose erecting a new house at Snow Shoes during the present year, to take place of the old one now in use. A graded school is needed here. Directors Weaver and Wolf accompanied the Superintendent in visiting the schools.

Boggs Township Teachers' Monthly Institute.

The teachers of Boggs township, met at the Central City school house, on Saturday, the 20th of January, 1870, at 9 o'clock, a. m. The President and Vice President being absent, W. A. Tobias, was called to the chair. The following were present and responded with sentiments: Messrs Nesbit, Irwin and Smith; Messrs Campbell, Meyer, Rockey and Tobias. Devotional exercises by the President. On motion, Directors Linn and Yarnell were elected honorary members. W. A. Tobias then read a report on some of the parts pertaining to elocution, viz: cadence, tone of voice and gesture. The report was discussed very ably, by all the teachers present—subject indefinitely postponed. Cases of Grammar, by F. W. Campbell were next introduced. Whole Institute formed into a class. A lively time ensued, showing that the teachers were very much interested in cases hard or soft. The possessive case was more particularly discussed. Adjourned until 1 o'clock, p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—Miss Taylor excused from a class drill on Descriptive Geography. On motion, Dr. Hall was elected an honorary member. H. E. Meyer then took up the subject of Phonetic Spelling. A class was formed and drilled. The subject was handled by Mr. Meyer in a manner showing that he is entire master of the subject. A number of words were spelled orally and phonetically, eliciting some merriment. Quite a lively discussion took place—subject indefinitely postponed. Miss Irwin took up the subject of Fractions. A number of questions were asked, and answered satisfactorily—subject postponed. Miss Rachael Smith drilled a class in Mental Arithmetic. Superintendent Magee was announced and elected a member. He then gave his views on Mental Arithmetic, which were very interesting and edifying. Subject postponed. W. B. Rockey drilled a class in Mathematical Geography. He took the globe and explained the daily and yearly motions of the earth. A variety of questions were asked in reference to mathematical geography, atmosphere, volcanoes, geyzers, &c., and the answers were very satisfactory. Superintendent Magee's remarks were of a nature showing that he is perfectly at home on this subject. He thinks that if parents would study and enlighten themselves on this subject, their prejudices would, in a great measure, subside. Remarks by Dr. Hall and Director G. R. Wolf were to the point, showing that they are well "booked" up. Subject indefinitely postponed. A committee was appointed to prepare programme for next meeting. During the absence of this committee, the Superintendent addressed the Institute. His remarks were listened to with great attention. He said that the teacher must be wide-awake; enforce discipline and attention to studies, and dwell upon the branches of map drawing, physiology, and phonetic spelling. He then made chart letters on the blackboard, and drilled the teachers. His remarks were very instructive and amusing. He thinks it one of the important branches most neglected in our schools, and urged upon the teachers to teach it in every reading or spelling lesson. Quite a number of citizens were in attendance the entire session, the directors taking an interest in thus showing their appreciation of the endeavors of the teachers to elevate the profession. The committee on programme now reported, viz: Reading, W. A. Tobias; United States History, W. B. Rockey; Mental Arithmetic, F. W. Campbell; Spelling, Miss Mollie Nesbit; Grammar, H. E. Meyer; Essay, Miss Clara Irwin; Select Reading, Miss Mattie Taylor; Essay, Miss Rachel Smith.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, by the members of this Institute, that Physical Geography be taught either separately or combined, and special attention paid to the same, in each respective school of the district of Boggs. Resolved, by the aid and suggestion of Supt. Magee, that the subject of Physiology be taught orally, in form of lectures, as often as convenient in our respective schools. Institute adjourned to meet February 12th, 1870, at Central City school house, at 9 o'clock, A. M.

Chick in the Egg.

The hen has scarcely set on the egg twelve hours when we begin already to discover in it some lineaments of the head and body of the chicken that is to be born. The heart appears to beat at the end of the day; at the end of forty-eight hours two vesicles of blood can be distinguished, the pulsation of which are very visible.

At the fiftieth hour an auricle of the heart appears, and resembles a lace or noose folded down upon itself. At the end of seventy hours we distinguish wings, and on the head two bubbles for the brain, one for the bill and two others—one for the fore part and the other for the hind part of the head. The liver appears towards the fifth day.

At the end of one hundred and thirty-one hours the first voluntary motion is observed. At the end of one hundred and thirty-eight hours the lungs and stomach become visible; at the end of one hundred and forty-two the intestines, the loins, and the upper jaw.

The seventh day that which was slimy begins to have consistence. At the one hundred and ninetieth hour of incubation the bill opens and the flesh appears in the breast. At the one hundred and ninety-fourth the sternum is seen; that is to say, the breast bone.

At the two hundred and tenth the ribs come out of the back; the bill is very visible as well as the gull bladder. The bill becomes green at the end of two hundred and thirty-six hours, and if the chick is taken out of its covering it evidently moves. The teachers begin towards the two hundred and fortieth hour, and the skull becomes brittle.

At the two hundred and forty-sixth hour the eyes appear. At the two hundred and eighty-eighth the ribs are perfect. At the three hundred and thirty-first, the spleen draws near to the stomach, and the lungs to the chest.

At the end of three hundred and thirty-five hours, the bill frequently opens and shuts; and at the end of four hundred and fifty-one hours, or the eighth day, the first cry of the chick is already heard—it afterwards gets more strength, and grows continually, till at last it sets itself at liberty by opening the prison in which it was shut up. Adorable wisdom of God! it is by so many different degrees these creatures are brought into life. All these progressions are made by rule! and there is not one of them without sufficient reason. No part of its body could appear sooner or later, without the whole embryo suffering, and each of its limbs appear at the most proper moment. This ordination so wise, and so invariable in the production of the animal, is manifested in the work of a Supreme Being.

Half Minutes With Our Best Authors. Mark Lemon wrote "Up and Down the London Streets." Well, after that, Mark Lemon can write anywhere. Selena Bunbury wrote "Our Own Story." Very kind of her; but if she did, why did we not get the proofs for correction. Author of "Cousin Stella" wrote "Who Breaks Pays." A perusal of this we would strongly recommend to all cooks and house-waives. Somebody wrote "The Handwriting on the Wall." Oh yes! somebody always does, but nobody will ever confess to the act. James Grant wrote "Second to None." Only in his own estimation, we should imagine. Author of "Mabel" wrote "Wondrous Strange." But there is nothing either strange or wondrous now-a-days. Somebody has written "True to Nature." Excellent person that! Why don't more people follow so good an example. Mrs. Gaskell wrote "Right at Last." Both first and last we think. Mrs. Craik wrote "The Unkind Word." Did she? Shame, shame! we didn't expect it of you, Mrs. Craik. Mrs. Brock wrote "Broad Shadows on Life's Pathway." Did she, now? She must be a large woman. Somebody has written "The Book that will Suit You." Well, considering how many we have had that don't suit, we must order this book at once. Annie Thomas wrote "On Guard." Ah! ah! Annie Thomas had caught it from the critics, we suppose. W. H. Russell wrote "North and South," but you needn't infer from this that he's given to extremes. An Essayist has written "Tangled Paths;" that, however, is nothing new for an essayist. Somebody has written a three-volume novel "All for the Best." This is more than we can say for the generality of three volumes. Somebody wrote "All Round Ireland on Foot." A wonderful creature this. Did he ever sit down while engaged on his literary labors? Anthony Trollope asked, "Can You Forgive Her?" but what reply the public made we never have heard.

WORDS FOR BOYS TO REMEMBER.—Liberty is the right to do whatever you wish, without interfering with the rights of others. Save your money, and you will find it one of the most useful friends. Never give trouble to your father or mother. Intemperance is the cause of nearly all the trouble in the world; beware of strong drink. Take care of your pennies, and they will grow to be dollars. The poorest boy, if he be industrious, honest and saving, may reach the highest honor in the land. Never be cruel to a dumb animal; remember it has no power to tell how it suffers.
