

The Democratic Watchman.

BELLEFONTA, PA.

Friday Morning, February 13, 1870.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

The Evangelical Association of Hahersburg is having a protracted meeting.

Mr. James Jack succeeds Mr. Hunter as mail carrier from this place to Pine Grove Mills.

The Republican indulges in a joke this week at the expense of Father Gould, of the National.

Centra Hill indulging in the luxury of a religious revival. No doubt much good will be done.

About seven hundred dollars were raised at the Lutheran church on Sunday last at the dedication services.

A recent cold taking fire was the cause of severe burns to Mr. Reesman, of Centre Hill, the other day.

Rev. Mr. Shoemaker will preach in the Reformed church, on Linn street, at half past ten o'clock on Sunday morning.

T. P. Ryder of Lock Haven has completed musical instrument and piano work as a visit yesterday.

Were indebted to H. N. Malster, Esq., for a copy of the annual report of the trustees of the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania.

Rev. Mr. Wray, beloved Rev. Mr. Harkenberg preached before the Presbyterian congregation in the court house, on Sunday night last.

Reveries still continue in a high range, but houses seem to be plentiful than usual. We hope to see the rents come down to a decent figure.

Rev. W. S. Foss, pastor of the Lutheran congregation at Hahersburg, expects to leave in April.

How J. G. Metz, Representative from this county at the State Capital, will accept our thanks for a copy of the report of the Auditor General.

The sleighing is all played out again. The mild weather has been death to the snow, and losers of sleigh rides are once more growling.

A new theology is current among some of the "truly godly" ring. That those in authority have become so wicked that they are no longer responsible for what they do.

J. Miles Kappert, Esq., left here on Tuesday for Philadelphia, with the intention of going to San Francisco, by way of Omaha and Salt Lake, in June next.

The slow coaches of the Republican not being along with the enterprising party that discovered the great cave at Alexandria, affect to disbelieve the whole story.

Mr. James D. Turner, Esq., an old and respected citizen, expired at his residence in this place yesterday morning.

The Tyler'sville "folk" are rejoicing over a literary society, which has decided that Columbus should have received more honor for discovering America than Washington for "freeing" it.

Some one wants to know whether "Elk Creek" didn't get its name from being the place where an Indian chief by the name of "Elk" told his squaw to get water in which to hold gold-poor tea.

Dr. Armstrong was formerly a citizen of Bellefonte.

Our friends, Messrs. John Powers and Frank M'Clain, have opened a new boot and shoe store in the M'Clain building just opposite the Bush House.

Dr. Armstrong died very suddenly of heart disease on the 7th inst., at Princeton, N. J.

Coal.—In this week's issue of the Republic a correspondent, signing himself "Cooperator," suggests the formation of a company to buy coal at the mines.

ABOUT BELLFONTE.—In reply to an article on "Popular Amusements," that appeared in the National, a correspondent of ours takes up the subject after the following style:

EDMUND WATKINS.—In last week's issue of the National, in the column devoted to the Sabbath School interest, edited by James A. Decey, an article appeared under the caption of "Popular Amusements," to which we desire to call attention through the medium of your paper.

The article in the National is a very interesting and well-written one, and we are glad to see that you have taken up the subject of the National, a correspondent of ours takes up the subject after the following style:

Now, we believe in patronizing home men and home institutions, but we do not believe in imposition, and unless you can show us a reasonable figure, we shall not patronize the very plan proposed by "Cooperator," which is to club together, and place funds in the hands of some responsible person whose duty it shall be to purchase coal for the community at the mines.

ESAY SAYS.—In the matter of legislation, the people of our county seem to be easily satisfied the present winter, or at least we should judge so from the limited amount they have asked of the present session.

It is a conceded fact that those children who are subjected to unnatural restraints, during their minority, indulge in the largest license when they have become masters of their own fortunes.

The human mind is not naturally inclined to virtue. If the young are compelled to exhibit in their outward demeanor, that which they do not feel in their hearts, the very nature of religion becomes odious, and its laws a mockery.

Will the editor of the National School Column please send the editors of our church and school papers, a copy of the National School Column, which do take enough exercise in these matters to insure a healthy state of mind and body, in what amusements, if any, they indulge in.

We have the unhappiness to chronicle the continued absence of our friend "Gander Legs," alias "Cracken," alias "Brainder," of the National.

The Philadelphia Sunday Mercury says that the condition of the State House pavement is disgraceful, and that the walling of a loose brick the other day ruined a $75 dress.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the election of officers and all proceedings of the board shall since the organization of the company are hereby confirmed and made valid to all intents and purposes.

Section 2. That hereafter the number of directors shall be seven instead of twelve, and that the annual election shall take place on the second Tuesday of June instead of second Monday.

Section 3. That the part of the railroad now completed from Lewisport, in Union county, to the intersection with the Philadelphia and Erie railroad, in Northumberland county, including the bridge, shall be counted as not exceeding five miles and that charges for freight and passengers may be made accordingly.

Attract our friend, Sheriff Linghe, does not deny that he is a first class chequer-player, he deprecates the idea of the championship, and begs to decline the honor of playing a match game with anybody.

The Harrisburg Progress of Liberty this speaks of our former esteemed friend and townsman, Prof. Alfred Armstrong, who has lately been delivering a series of lectures on descriptive and physical geography, in this city.

We have had, for the first time, an opportunity of listening to one of Prof. Armstrong's lectures, on descriptive and Physical Geography, which, with great pleasure and advantage, we had formed an admiration for the study almost beyond that for any other branch of literature.

The railroad meeting at Boalsburg, on the 11th inst., was addressed by A. B. Hutchison, Geo. F. Miller and John G. Love, Esq.

A meeting was also held at Centre Hall on the 12th inst., at which Edmund Blanchard, Geo. F. Miller and Wm. P. Wilson, Esq. spoke.

Our friends, Messrs. John Powers and Frank M'Clain, have opened a new boot and shoe store in the M'Clain building just opposite the Bush House.

A LOVE LETTER.—We publish the following original epistle, verbatim et literatim et punctatim et apudatum. It is from a fifteen months widower to a maiden lady of an uncertain age, and was handed to us in the original manuscript by a friend on yesterday morning. It will explain itself.

Dear Friend, I take up my pencil to inform you, that I am busy but have a very weak back. I hope these few lines will find you in good health.

But you will please send your old friend a letter soon and let me hear from you. I will please look at 1 Corinthians they say "Chapter 13." But you will please send your old friend a letter soon and let me hear from you.
