

The Democratic Watchman.

BELEFONTE, PA.
Friday Morning, March 11, 1870.

ANNA E. DICKINSON!

The undersigned have the pleasure to announce to the public an engagement with Miss ANNA DICKINSON, by which she agrees to deliver a lecture in Bellefonte.

ON MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 22ND.

The subject of which will be announced in due time. Miss DICKINSON is widely celebrated throughout the country, and is really a most eloquent and entertaining speaker. Possessing a finely educated intellect, and having the advantage of an attractive person and graceful address, she may be expected to fill any hall to its fullest extent, and cannot fail to please. As this will be the first visit of this young and talented lady to Bellefonte, and may, perhaps also be the last one, our advice to everybody is to go and hear her.

Owing to the fact that we are obliged to pay Miss Dickinson fifty dollars more than we paid Mr. Greeley, the price of admission will be as follows:

RESERVED SEATS - - - - - $1.00
ALL OTHER SEATS - - - - - 50 CTS.

As on the former occasion, we shall endeavor to make everybody as comfortable as possible, and none need stay away on account of want of room.

W. H. H. BRANIERI,
JOE W. FREY.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—The Republican "caves" this week on the coal question. "Nuf sed."

PERSONAL.—T. C. Hipple, Esq., of Lock Haven, dropped into our sanctum last evening.

—A valuable farm of 116 acres, situated in Lattin township, Clinton county, and owned by H. L. Dillenbach, Esq., is offered for sale. See advertisement.

—And now we have the Republican pitching into L. A. Mackey, Esq. What has the Colonel done that he should thus become the target for Brown's malignant arrows?

—Wendell Phillips' lecture in Lock Haven is spoken of very highly by those of our citizens who went down to hear it. The subject was Daniel O'Connell—one that would, no doubt, give Wendell an opportunity to air his magnificent oratory.

—H. W. Gramley and K. K. Spangler, Esqs., of Sugar and Brush valleys, left this place on Wednesday afternoon last for the great West. Their destination was Kanville, Kane county, Illinois, which they expect to make their future home. They came into our sanctum, subscribed and paid for the DEMOCRATIC WATCHMAN, and left in fine spirits. May good luck go with them.

—A party of 66 persons, ladies and gentlemen, left here on Tuesday evening in a special train, for Lock Haven, to attend the lecture of Wendell Phillips, at the Oper House. Well our Lock Haven friends send us a large delegation when Miss Dickinson lectures here on the 28th instant? Some of the fairest and sweetest of our Bellefonte girls were along.

—Who is there that will not appreciate the following as a reminiscence of his school-boy days?
Old master Brown brought his ferret down. His face was grumpy and red.
"Anthony Blair, so sit you there,
Among the boys," he said.
So Anthony Blair with a mumbled air,
And lay in at him down on his head,
Went right off and sat all day.
By the girl who loved him best.

—A handful of something that was called coffee was shown us the other day by a friend of ours, which contained 17 good grains, 19 bad ones, 17 black ones, and three sticks. It was purchased at a store up town, and sells for 30 cents a pound. It was really not fit for use. In good old Democratic times the best Rio coffee could be bought for 11 cents a pound, but now in these days of Rational insanity we are compelled to pay 30 cents for a pound of coffee, two thirds of which is composed of black and defective grains and sticks. These are lessons that we trust will open the eyes of the people to their true interests.

A CONCERT OF SWEET SOUNDS.—Mrs. D. S. Dunham, the accomplished music teacher, with her pupils, and assisted by other volunteer talent, embracing a number of our best singers and players, will give a concert of vocal and instrumental music in Reynolds's Hall to-morrow (Saturday) evening. We hope to see an overflowing house, as we are assured the entertainment will be worth hearing. Mrs. Dunham has been preparing for this occasion for some time, and having secured the best musical talent in the country to assist her, she proposes to make this concert one long to be remembered for its genuine worth and enjoyment. Herself a fine musician, there is every reason to believe that her expectations will be completely fulfilled. Let everybody attend, and thus show the appreciation of our citizens for deserving local entertainments. Tickets for the concert at Frank Green's drug store and at the bookstore of J. D. Miller, Esq., in the post office building.

OBITUARY.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Laurimore, at Pleasant Gap, on Sunday last, was one of the largest we ever attended. The people gathered from all parts of the surrounding country, and many of the citizens of this place went out to attend the obsequies. Some sixty vehicles were in line. At the house the funeral sermon was preached by Mr. Rev. Hackenberg, who also officiated at the grave. The deceased was interred in the new Lutheran cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Laurimore was in the 72d year of her age. She was born near Boalsburg, in this county, and, throughout her whole life, was a consistent and humble Christian. At an early period she became a member of the Presbyterian Church, remaining a communicant of that faith until death came for her to join the glorified church of her Father in Heaven. For her the grave had no terrors, the grim monster no sting. He came, rather, in the guise of a friend, and bore her away from her troubles and trials to a participation in the unutterable joys prepared for the chosen of the Father from the beginning of the world. She was a kind neighbor, a faithful, earnest friend. She gave liberally to the poor, and no one that ever came to her door for charity was turned empty handed away. She was a dear, noble, blessed old lady, and the tears that are falling for her today bear testimony of her virtues and her goodness.

From the Harrisburg Patriot of the 8th instant, we clip the following tribute to the memory of Mrs. Laurimore from the graceful pen of Wren Forney, a gentleman who, at one period of his life, experienced to the full her Christian kindness, and who now gratefully adds his voice to the many in praise of the gentle-hearted, kind old lady:

The loss of a mother, under any circumstances, always carries more sorrow with it than the death of a father, who, after all, because around a mother ever cluster our fondest affections and noblest hopes. The loss of a good mother has a doubly poignant sorrow, and she is responsible to the regret from all the eyes which were wont to view the loving object mourned in death. Mrs. Laurimore, as it were, to a distinctive character, and she is responsible to the regret from all the eyes which were wont to view the loving object mourned in death. Mrs. Laurimore, as it were, to a distinctive character, and she is responsible to the regret from all the eyes which were wont to view the loving object mourned in death. Mrs. Laurimore, as it were, to a distinctive character, and she is responsible to the regret from all the eyes which were wont to view the loving object mourned in death.

The funeral of Samuel L. Barr, Esq., Justice of the Peace, on Sunday afternoon last, was an occasion on which our citizens manifested their sincere respect for the deceased gentleman. The remains were attended to the grave by a very large concourse of people, who thus testified the deep sense of this community at the loss of a valuable and upright citizen. Mr. Barr died of consumption, a disease that had long been preying upon his vital. Some weeks ago he was attacked by hemorrhage of the lungs, and he afterwards regained his strength. Last fall he was the Republican candidate for Prothonotary, and it gives us pleasure now to remember that we were disappointed in him as an enemy and proud of him as the best man in that tick. Mr. Barr was an old friend of the late war and lost an arm in the service. From this it is thought partly came the hemorrhage. His remains were followed to the tomb by all his comrades in arms in town. He was a good man. May the turf rest lightly upon his bier.

SILVER, SILVER.—Our friend George O. Bryan, Esq., appreciating the necessity of something else than a paper currency, has made up his mind to return to specie payments, and, therefore, on Saturday, the 12th instant, (to-morrow) he begs to announce that he will begin paying out silver change. Those, therefore, who desire to handle specie hereafter, can do so by going to Mr. O. Bryan's store to purchase their books, stationery, &c. It has been a long time since silver was paid out in change in Bellefonte, and this determination of Mr. O. Bryan to give us hard money is worthy of all praise.

A good old lady of Rebersburg says the one who furnished that "full report" of the S. S. Association's proceedings, forgot to mention Ben. Doininger's eloquent speech in his "mother tongue." This was a grievous error on the part of the "full report"—or, as a certain admirer of St. Chrysostom thinks Ben. comes nearest of any to the "golden" euphony of that celebrated pulpit orator.

SOMETHING.—The meetings of the Presbyterian Congregational Temperance Society are held in the Court House, we believe, every Wednesday evening. —Bush's Hall, we understand, is about to be re-rodeled and beautified into a regular Opera House, with two galleries, and numerous other improvements.

—Sunday night last covered old Mother Earth with another mantle to the depth of about two inches.

—Rev. Nathan J. Mitchell looked in upon us last week.

—The Zoo troupe drew good houses last Friday and Saturday.

—The man who don't take the WATCHMAN was in town day before yesterday. He wondered if John Wilkes Booth had been caught yet, and said it was rumored out his way that Grant had been nominated for President by a Chicago convention.

—The dials of the town clock have not yet been painted. Won't the town council attend to this?

—A great musical treat to-morrow night at Reynolds's Hall, in the shape of Mrs. Dunham's concert.

—Copies of the Pennsylvania School Report have been left at the Register's office in this place, where directors are invited to call and get them.

—Our good-natured friend, Mr. Frederick Smith, one of the finest violinists in the country, will play at Mrs. Dunham's concert to-morrow night.

—Our good friend, Michael Bogan Esq., a whole-souled, true-hearted Irish gentleman, was in town yesterday.

The Republican states that a joint stock company is to be formed with the object of macadamizing the Wykoff pavement, where it is fordable, and bridging the balance. A good idea. The mud is now deeper on the Wykoff than anywhere else in town.

—As Mr. Barr was taken from among us somewhat unexpectedly, we are requested to say, in reference to the business of his office, that all claims in process of adjustment will be promptly attended to by Mr. E. H. Kinsloe. The business of the office will not be interfered with, and persons having pension certificates in the office can receive them by calling upon Mr. Kinsloe and receipting for the same.

A lecture will be delivered before the "St. Patrick's Sons of Temperance Society," in this place, on the 17th instant, by a gentleman from Pittsburgh, whose name we have not yet learned. His name, however, will be announced in due season by posters and otherwise.

FOUND.—On the steps leading to the prayer meeting room over Blanchard's office, a small pocket, containing a lock of gray hair. The owner can have it by calling at this office.

Rev. James Mullen, pastor of the M. E. Church, in this place, delivered a lecture on Wednesday evening, in the basement of that edifice, on "Men, Manners and Customs." The lecture was well attended, and is spoken of as a creditable production.

A certain lady charmed by the eloquence of a certain Principal of a certain academy at a certain S. S. Association, desires to know whether he is related to Krumpholtz or to D. S. Barr.

A plain farmer, who heard the drab philosopher and "punkin" deliver a lecture in Bellefonte, declares that he never heard as much child talk in so short a time, and from as old a philosopher as he, listening to the "Kitchen" babble of the white-nigger school.

A certain individual, desiring to be "elite," promises to fight the editor of that "elite" paper if he will give an "elite" and lucid explanation of his "elite" compliment to the churches of Brush Valley, contained in the last number of that "elite" hunting.

At times we have a forecastle of Spring, but the fact that March came in more like a lamb than a lion, would seem to indicate boisterous weather yet before we are rid of old Winter. The old fellow fond of Spring himself, and often lingers a long time in her lap before he can make up his mind to depart. Should he be in this loving mood this time, we of course will have to exercise our patience and all other goodly virtues.

Among our efficient, capable railroad men, probably none are more noted for active business energy and ability than Daniel Rhoads, Esq., the able and gentlemanly superintendent of the Snowshoe railroad. Mr. Rhoads is one of our own citizens, and we record with pleasure the fact that he has built up for himself a railroad reputation that is known and quoted among first-class railroads along the lines of some of our greatest monopolies. In a larger sphere of operations, Superintendent Rhoads would prove himself second to no man, but the Snowshoe road is one of the most important arteries of the great Pennsylvania Central, and, under his direction and oversight, has worked like a charm.

The Bush House is being fettered, which will add greatly to its appearance.

SCARLET FEVER.—As we have recently had a couple of cases of scarlet fever in our midst, and it is now raging in Philadelphia, it may be the part of wisdom to derive all the information we can in regard to it from the hints of others. The Philadelphia Sunday Mercury on this subject, speaks as follows:

THE SCOURGE OF CHILDHOOD.
The extensive prevalence of scarlet fever is causing anxious apprehension all over the city. This apprehension is sufficiently serious when death is impending. It is only second in painfulness, which we consider the frequency with which the dread malady, even when cured, leaves some mercurial organic derangement in its track.

We know a father and mother who last week lost no less than five children by this blasting disease, they themselves are at this moment in an asylum, hopelessly insane. The fever may be communicated by the garments of a physician, of a school child, of a domestic servant, or anybody. Where the contagion comes from, no one can certainly tell. It is as likely to fasten upon the most robust children as upon the most puny. But that the medical faculty better understand its management than they used to do, the mortality, this season, would be literally fearful. The "Home" public school has been especially successful in managing the malady. The responsibility of recommending either school as better than the other, is the very last thing we undertake. A business neighbor of ours, Mr. Mitchell, in Walnut street, had five children lying with the fever, side by side. The recent French remedy was, in their case, entirely successful.

We know of people who are now keeping their children from school, through fear of their being infected by the disease. Unless cut off from entire communication with the outer world, there seems to be little efficacy in precaution. The malady requires more or less time for its development. The scarlet red hue of the tongue and painful tonsils tell the story about the third day after imbibing the contagion.

What fever disease awake at every step To hurry mortals home?

—A woman in Vineland, N. J., is manufacturing three thousand straw hats a week for Philadelphia firms. She employs four hundred women, and has work enough for two hundred more.

—The Committee on Roads and Canals agreed to report a bill, authorizing the construction of a railroad from Norfolk to St. Louis, via Louisville, with a capital stock of $40,000,000.
