

The Democratic Watchman.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

An Illinois Elopement—A Faithless Husband and a Pursuing Wife.

The Sandy Hill Herald gives the following account of an elopement from that neighborhood, which had a very unsatisfactory result for two of the parties concerned:

"Last week our village was the scene of an attempted elopement, which has caused considerable talk hereabout. The parties immediately interested were a married man, L. W. Foote, and Miss Eliza Smith. The course of true love did not run smooth in this instance, owing to an unforeseen mishap. Wednesday night a letter was placed on the window sill of this foolish young girl miscarried; said letter contained all the little preliminaries necessary for the successful carrying out of the contemplated programme. Thursday morning the letter was placed in the hands of those who afterward cruelly spoiled the little game, so nicely arranged beforehand. Thursday morning, according to appointment, the gay young cavalier was at the station at Fort Edward, where his adored inamorata was to meet him, whither they were to fly, on the wings of love to the setting sun—Chicago or beyond. The fair one was on her feet, a telegram at Sandy Hill bore her hurry up, which she did, and left here on the next train going South. The same train (unknown to the girl), contained the lawful wife of Foote and an officer. Arriving at Fort Edward, the guilty pair soon met, and were congratulating each other on the fortunate turn of affairs and the happy future in store for them. A scene was the result. The injured lady upbraided her unfaithful lord for his conduct, and asked 'why was this thus?' He stood there, or rather sat, and by his side was she who had alienated his plighted faith from his lawful wife. A war rant in the hands of an officer against Miss Smith for obtaining goods under false pretences was the means of bringing her back to Sandy Hill, whither all parties repaired, Foote included. We paid all damages. Footing the bills has undoubtedly prevented any further attempts at elopement, at least for the present. We are free to say that this is a most disgraceful affair for the principals. For a man to desert his deerswing wife and to leave her in misery at a want, no punishment is too much. Instead of being allowed to walk in the streets unmolested, as if nothing had happened, the strong arm of the law should interpose and teach him his duties as a husband.

Sal and Jake.

"Gut out, you nasty, puppy! Let me alone or I'll tell your ma!" cried Sal to his lover, Jake, who sat about ten feet from her, pulling dirt from the chimney jam.

"I ain't touchin' you, Sal," responded Jake.

"Well, perhaps you don't mean to, nuther—do yer?"

"No, I don't."

"Cause your ternal scarry! you long legged, lantern jawed, slab-sided, piggon eyed, gangle owl, you I you haven't got a lot of sense! gut along home with you."

"Now, Sal, I love you, and can't help it, and if you don't let me stay and court you my pap will sue you'n for that cow he sold him 'tother day. By jingo, he said he'd do it."

"Well, look here, Jake, if you want to court me, you'd better do it as a white man does that thing, and not set off there as if you thought I was pizen."

"How on earth is that, Sal?"

"Why ride right up here and hug and kiss me, as if you had some of the bone and sinner of a man about you. Do you suppose a woman's only made to look at, you fool you?"

"Well, and Jake, drawing a long breath, 'if I must, I 'spose I must, fer I love you, Sal' and so Jake commenced sliding up to her. Laying his arm gracefully upon Sal's shoulder, and placing himself in a theatrical attitude, we thought we heard Sal exclaim in alvery tones, like those of a dying swan.

"That's the way to do it, old hoss! that's it!" "Oh, Jerusalem and pau cakes!" said Jake, drawing the back of his hand across his mouth, "Buck wheat cakes, slap-jacks and lasses ain't nohwar, 'longside of you, Sal!" Here their lips came together, and the report which followed was like pulling a horse's hoot out of the mud.

A NEW ARITHMETIC.—Suk gent (walking into a whiskey shop) "Well, I believe I will spend my dime in crackers, this morning."

Bar-keeper hands him crackers which he tastes.

"I cannot stand them; give me some brandy for the crackers."

Bar-keeper gives him some brandy; he pours it out, smells it, shakes his head.

"Don't think I can go that; give me some whisky for the brandy."

Bar-keeper hands him out the whisky; he turns out a full glass, drinks it down and starts out.

Bar-keeper—"Hold on there! you have not paid me for that whisky."

Suk gent—"I gave you the brandy for the whisky, sir."

"Well, you ain't paid me for the crackers, sir."

"Well, sir, you have the crackers yet."

Bar-keeper said no more.

A wag passing by a grocery store, and seeing him measuring out molasses, called out to him, "Sir, you have a sweet run of business."

Unearthing Villany.

The N. Y. Sun, which never has kind words for Democrats nor a pleasant one for Republicans, is nevertheless quoted as among the leading journals of the present dominant party. We accept its good intentions when commenting upon the divisions in its own household. In a recent number it remarks:

Disclosures follow thick and fast, involving men high in place in every degree of turpitude, and yet they bring no punishment; nor is there any shock to the moral sense of the country. In Washington the thing had become so flagrant that Congress raised a joint Committee on Retrenchment. Generally such Committees uncover nothing, their proceedings are a farce, and they travel about the country at the cost of the people, whitewashing everybody's knaveries they pretend to investigate.

But a fraud seems to have been perpetrated on a railroad company in Ohio, so glaring that something had to be done about it. The case clearly involved complicity on the part of some one holding a very important position in the Treasury Department. It seems to have been managed with uncommon ingenuity. A drawback not due, amounting to several thousand dollars, was obtained by forging an interlineation which the officers of the road refused to insert in a certificate signed by them. The connivance of some persons in the Treasury Department was secured by a woman, who received $700 therefor. A detective was sent to Chicago, where he found the woman, but nothing could be made out of her, and her accomplices could not be discovered.

The case could not be worked up without this link in the chain of evidence. The fact was proven, but the woman would make no disclosures, and the committee was baffled. The chair man, Senator Patterson, found the woman in Chicago, and she made a clean breast of it. He has returned to Washington surprised and alarmed at the extent of villany which disgraces our Government. He says there are mysteries unsafe to disclose; and he adds that the woman in Chicago gave him to understand that the half had not been told.

HARD ON GRANT.—The Alta is a queer journal and its "Notists" have a queer way of punishing men by abusing their friends. The Alta sees the future destruction of the Radical party, and is preparing to leave the sinking ship by falling out with the President, whose friends it abuses by way of provocation. Hear what it says of Mr. Fisk, who has the reputation of having done some fancy operating for the President.

"Those who seem troubled at the unevenness of a Providence which keeps worthy men poor, and confers riches and plenty upon such worthless villains as James Fisk, may possibly content themselves with the reflection that it is quite possible that this bad man has been raised up to show the world how utterly ineffective is wealth to make a gentleman of a natural clown and vulgarian. We read of this fellow riding at Long Branch with cyprians, pumps and gamblers, reveling in costly splendors and living like Heloga lulu on his dishonest gains, and are simply shocked at his profligacy.

If there is anything that has been accused of besides his railroad and gold speculations, it was of a friendship for General Grant, and that fondness has generally been considered mutual. There may have been some rivalry between them at Long Branch, caused by horses and dogs, but about the worst thing Fisk has been accused of this summer is associating with Grant, which being known to the Alta, that journal proceeds to castigate Grant over the shoulders of his fellow sport, Fisk. We hope, however, for the credit of the White House that the Alta has no reference to Grant when mentioning the peculiar association of Mr. Fisk.—Los Angeles (Cal.) News.

A MYSTERIOUS WOMAN.—The New Albany Ledger says: Some excitement has been created in a certain locality in this city by the strange conduct of a woman who has in her possession a female child, about ten years of age. At times the woman acts strangely, walking the floor for together, in a state of apparent deep thought as though some act or thing weighed heavily upon her mind. At times she treats the child very roughly, but at no time will she permit it to go out at play with other children with her knowledge, nor will she allow it to go into the sunshine unprotected, for fear, she alleges, that its skin will become sun burnt or tanned. She never leaves the child with another person, but when she goes from home always takes it with her, never permitting it to walk out unless she has it by the hand. The woman is unmarried, and boards. She says the child is not her own, but that it is the daughter of an ex-Governor of the State of Ohio. She has several times stated that the little one was stolen from its mother when it was but a month old; and that she has sworn never to let it pass out of her sight while she lives. She dresses the little girl in the richest and most costly raiment, and the child is represented as very pretty and quite intelligent, the woman teaching it such lessons as it is competent to study with great ease. The woman herself is apparently quite poor, of good descent, but not very communicative to those with whom she boards. During her occasional fits of ill-humor and bad treatment to the child, she ducts herself in an unbecomable manner.

"Jim, I believe Sambo has got no truth in him." "You don't know, dere am more truth in that nigger than all the rest on the plantation." "How do you make dat out?" "Wha, he never lets any out."

TO THE NERVOUS.—The natural result of exhaustion of strength by excessive labor or action, is a feeling of weakness, dizziness, nervousness, languor, of body or mind. Persons of a weak constitution, or whose habits are sedentary, frequently complain of this relaxed condition of the vital energies, and when persons of a nervous temperament are thus weakened and debilitated, these ineffectual, follows, unless it is at once checked and removed. All who suffer from these causes alike require a remedy which will strengthen the system without exciting it, and awake a feeling of true enjoyment, as SHELL'S HERB BIPPETTES has won its way into the confidence of thousands of this class of persons, who warmly endorse it as the best invigorating agent, and the most potent and gentle of all tonics and alteratives for strengthening and restoring the physical constitution. 15-34-4t

ADDRESS

TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED, WHOSE SUFFERINGS HAVE BEEN PROTRACTED FROM HIDDEN CAUSES, AND WHOSE CASES REQUIRE PROMPT TREATMENT, TO RENDER EXISTENCE DESIRABLE

If you are suffering, or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Do your liver, urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or frothy, or is it ropy or settling? Or does it attack skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rush of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, mooping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the luster of your eyes as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal disease badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man, did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never heard such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business, they don't become sad and discouraged, they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. Those will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about the state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—diphthery, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to—and the cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

DISEASE OF THESE ORGANS REQUIRE THE USE OF A DIURETIC HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great diuretic and is a certain cure for diseases of the BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the urinary organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of our posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.
