General Lee.

The announcement that General R. E. Lee has been struck down by paralysis, and not expected to recover, will be received, even at his crisis, with universal interest, and will everywhere excite a sympathy and regret which testify to the deep impression made on the world at large by his character and achievements. Few are the generals who have earned, since history began, a greater military reputation; still fewer are the men of similar eminence, civil or military, whose personal qualities would bear comparison with his. The bitterest enemies of his country hardly dared to whisper a word against the character of her most distinguished general, while neutrals rewarded him with an admiration for his lofty, and unselfish nature which almost grew into veneration, and his own countrymen learned to look up to him with as much confidence and esteem as they felt for Washington, and with an affection which the cold demeanor and self-control of Washington could never inspire. The death of such a man, even at a moment so exciting as the present, when all thoughts are absorbed by a mightier and present conflict, would be felt as a misfortune by all who can retain any recollection of the courage with which they followed The Virginia commander, and by those who have almost learned to look upon the Confederate cause as identified with his name. Of public life and exceptional gifts, yet free from the taint of cant and fanaticism, and so dear and congenial to the Cavalier, the fearless stonewall of Jackson was made, but ready to accept all at the call of duty, devoted to the cause, yet never moved by it to go beyond the line prescribed by his judgment; never prompted by just resentment to punish wanton cruelty, or exceed which would lower the character of needless savagery to which both North and South too often have resorted. Unconquered in battle, when both will be equally proud of it. And well the man, for his character and his life afford a complete answer to the reproaches commonly cast on modern civilization, mechanical America. A country which has given birth to men like hers, and those who follow them, may look the chivalry of Europe in the face without shame, for the others have but a feeble, flat Parrot, beaux and a fiddle-sodden soldier, gentleman, a la Confederate with General Roi-fe-ant.—London Standard.

A Tale of Horror.

[From Sturgeon's Medical and Republican.]

It has been well known for some time to all, that a dirty, wretched old man lived outside the city about a mile or so, in a filthy little cabin, entirely alone, and that he was a hermit. No one ever went near him, for it was said he was a negro.

His only companion was a skeleton looking dog. He came into the city occasionally to beg, and would piteously implore for money, saying that he was starving. Sometimes he would gather rags or scraps of paper and sell them. Every one supposed him to be wretchedly poor. He had an evil look, and mothers would remove their children when they saw him coming. One day last week, however, a child, the son of Mr. Abraham Skinner, went out alone to fish in the stream, and happened to wander on until before he knew it, he came to the hovel of the old man. At first he was frightened, but seeing no one around, he plucked up courage and went nearer. Everything was still. He went and peeped through a crack in the side of the hut.

He almost screamed at what he saw, for he beheld the old man bending over a heap of money that he was counting. There were other bags beside him containing large quantities of money. Mr. Skinner's son was so terrified that when he attempted to move he stumbled. Like lightning the old man rushed out and seized him. "Ha!" he screamed, I've caught you, have I? You saw me, did you? Well, now you'll pay for it." And before Mr. Skinner's son could say a word, the old monster, with an awful laugh, drew out a knife, and (oh horror!) cut the child's tongue out. Then he chopped off his fingers. "Now he said," "now you can go, for you can't tell." The poor boy ran off overcome with agony, and ran to his father's house only to fill them with consternation. What was the matter with their child? He could not write for his fingers were cut.

Still the poor boy, after efforts of the most horrible pain, managed to fix a pencil between his bloody stumps of fingers, and wrote the awful tale! A party was immediately organized, and hastened to the miser's den. He was at the door as they approached, and fired a revolver six times at them, wounding two of the party seriously. Mr Skinner returned the fire, and the aged villain fell, with a piercing yell, mortally wounded. "My money, my money," he moaned, "my beautiful money," and he crawled to his bags of gold and sank upon them—a corpse! over ten thousand dollars were discovered, which were presented to the poor house and other charitable institutions. The event will never be forgotten by our citizens. The child is slowly recovering. The miser was buried the day after, and the hut was torn down.

A NEW NATIONAL FLAG. The La Cross Democrat is responsible for the following:

"Saturday last, a gentleman who for several years past has been engaged in the Vermillion gold regions, returned to this city, and at the American House discovered a Prussian flag. 'What is that?' says he, turning to a friend. 'That is the Prussian flag,' was the answer. 'Bless the Lord!' says the pioneer. This remark created an intense interest in the stranger, who was questioned as to his enthusiasm over the colors of an European kingdom. 'Oh,' says he, 'it is not that I care anything for Prussia, but I have been beyond civilization some time, and when I saw that rag, (red, white and black,) I——n me if I didn't think the Radicals had destroyed the Stars and Stripes and got up a new flag, with the red for the Indian, black for the nigger, and the white for the rest of us."

An ignorant but conceited fellow got aboard a steamer on Lake Huron. After standing on the deck a while among the crowd, and seeing the captain approach, he inquired: "What is the name of this lake?" "The Lake Huron," 'Yes sir,' replied the man. But the captain going no further, the stranger said: "Well, what is the name of the lake?" "The Lake Huron," again answered the captain. "I want to know the lake I'm on—what's its name?" "Well, sir," said the captain, "the name of the lake you're on is Lake Huron. Does that satisfy you?" The crowd was smiling quite audible and the man walked on, muttering to himself:

"The Lake I'm on is the Lake I'm on. That is a positive outrage, and—I

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & Co., New York,

Which are now offered to the public, are announced by all the celebrated Opticians of the world to be the natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.

They are ground under their own supervision from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name "Diamond" on account of their hardness and brilliancy. The scientific principle on which they are constructed brings the centre of centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision as by the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use. They are mounted in the finest manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their finish and durability cannot be surpassed.

SEASON OF 1870-71.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS.

Patented June 21st and August 23d, 1870.

REDUCTION OF PRICES.

The Mason & Hamlin Organ Co. have the pleasure to announce important improvements in their Cabinet Organs, for which Patents were granted to them in June and August last. These improvements not only greatly enhance the musical excellence of the instruments, but also enable the manufacturers to offer them at greatly reduced prices.

They are also enabled by increased facilities for manufacture, to make, from this date, a further reduction of prices on several leading styles.

Having completed and added to their former premises a large and new manufactory, they hope hereafter to supply all orders promptly.

The Cabinet Organs made by the company are of such universal reputation as not only throughout America, but also in Europe, that few will need assurance of their superiority.

They now offer four octave cabinet organs, in quite plain cases, but equal according to their capacity to anything they have made, for $60 each. The same, double reed, $65. Five octave, double reed organs, five stops, with several of the Mason & Hamlin improvements, $115. The same extra, with new Vox Humana, Automatic Swell &c. $100. Five octaves, three sets reeds, seven stops with Euphone, a splendid instrument, $225.

A new illustrated Catalogue with full information, and reduced prices, is now ready, and will be sent free, with a testimonial circular, presenting a great mass of evidence as to the superiority of these instruments to any one seeking his address to the Mason & Hamlin organ Co., 145 Tremont Street, Boston, or 596 Broadway, New York. 15:41 4w

PLAIN FACTS

WORTH READING

A large, well established and successful business, with an experience of more than twenty five years, enable us to offer inducements to all who are about to become purchasers of second to no establishment in the country. Our garments are all made of the best materials, carefully selected, nothing unsound or in any way inferior is made up at all, even in the lowest grades of goods. It is a well established fact among clothiers, that our Ready-Made Clothing, in every thing that goes to make a superior garment, is unequalled by any stock of goods in Philadelphia.

Our assortment is so large and varied that every one can be fitted at once, without delay. Our prices are always guaranteed as low, or lower than the lowest elsewhere. We have also a large assortment of
