REDUCTION OF FRICTION.
 The Mechanical Friction of Machinery, the loss of steam, and the consequent waste of power, in the operation of the steam engine, is a great evil, and has been the subject of much inquiry and experiment. The following is a description of the improvements of the above-named inventors, which have been patented in the United States, and in Great Britain, and which are now in use in the steam engines of the Navy, and in the marine and military engines of the Army.

If a merger is completed and a definite plan to acquire other businesses is announced, new investors may hope to be able to supply all funds promptly. The above-mentioned merger made by the company is an example of such universal participation in the growth of the company.

They now offer a four-belted design (Fig. 6) in quite plain case, as well as a belted one, according to their capacity to withstand the various loads. The double-belted model is made of 150 mm diameter rod, whereas the triple-belted one, with a set of 300 mm diameter rods, has a 200 mm diameter rod. The Massey-Harris improvements 511, 110 and 115, extra, with new Axi-Humana. And in the Small A and 1100, 1150 and 1160, all of these rods were also used in the Humana, 1100 and 1150 models.

A new illustrated catalogue with full information, and reduced prices, is now ready and will be sent free with a testimonial circular, presenting a great mass of facts, as to the opportunity of these institutions, to any one seeking his road to the Mason & Hamilton organ Co. 141 Broadway Street, Boston or 16 Broadway, New York. 1-11-14

They are ground under their own supervision from minute Crystal Pebbles, method-together and derive their name "Diamond" on account of their hardness and brilliancy. The scientific practice on which they are constructed brings the refractive ratio of the lens directly to the eye, thus producing a clear and distinct vision as in the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant conditions, such as glimmering and wavering in sight, dizziness, etc., peculiar to all others in use. They are mounted in the finest jewelry. In frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. They are fresh and durable, and will stand the severest tests.
