

Ink Slings.

Our exchanges record the first snow storm of the season.

The French have been gaining a couple of victories lately. Anything for variety.

An exchange says that the divorce person in Indiana has set in with unusual severity.

Its all up with GRANT. The Tyron Herald is out for him for President in 1872.

The young ladies of Clarion put their "back hair" up in a pillow-case. How's that for high?

The Georgian Radicals want GRANT to visit that State. Better have one of the plagues of Egypt.

The mission to England is not yet filled. It is not known yet whether SISK will accept or not.

The result of the New York election troubles GRANT greatly. The voters didn't do him any good.

There are rumors of more cabinet changes. FISH or CROSSWELL is expected to go next. Let 'em wait!

STRONG, of Iowa, wants to be speaker of the next House. His aspirations had better be strong like his name.

The hogs in the north ward threaten to become Radical politicians, because one of their number edits a paper there.

There will be five negroes in the next Congress: one from Louisiana, one from Alabama, and three from South Carolina.

BONNAY, of the Juniata Democrat, has gone South for his health. We hope, if he is there now, he'll not be bones all when he comes back.

The editor of the Republican has been "among the hogs again." The only place where he has been "perfectly at home" for the past twenty years.

The editor of the Republican's new hat cost him twenty-five dollars in Philadelphia, according to his own rates for local notices! Cheap hat, that!

Mrs. President GRANT and Mrs. Secretary COX, have not spoken for some time. They "fought" about the spawls between their respective husbands.

A couple of Bedford sports paid $10.00 for mistaking a flock of tame turkeys for wild ones. They have since commenced the study of turkey thology.

DAVE WAGNER says that although his clerks are very talkative during the day, they are always ready to shut up at night. We should think they would be.

The editors of the Lycoming Standard and Mauch Chunk Times are hitting about their connections and misconnections between Williamsport and Elmira. Better stop it.

A Kentucky paper published a first-class obituary notice of a man before he was dead, and now the supposed corpse wants the editor to pay $10,000 for lying about it.

The devil of the Raftmen's Journal has graduated, and accepted an appointment as clerk in a horse stable. We suppose the poor boy thought any thing was better than the Journal of lice.

To ask a Radical editor to tell the truth would, perhaps, be as impertinent as to ask a young lady if she would like a beau, or a young man to take a drink, or a lawyer if he ever told a lie?

FRANCIS CHAPIN, of Enfield, Connecticut, has sued a neighbor for $10,000 for running against his wife with his team. If he gets the money he will be a chap in luck; if he don't he will be a chap out.

We do wish the editor of the Huntingdon Monitor would send us a decent copy of his paper two or three times a year. We would be ashamed to send such an apple butter affair to any of our exchanges as he sends to us.

GRANT'S attempt to terrify the Democracy of New York with his military, didn't succeed. He accomplished about as much as that other personage of whom it is recorded: "The king of France with twice ten thousand men. Marched up a hill and then marched down again."

The East Brady Independent mailed a couple of papers to somebody in England last week, and now brags about it. When we tell him that the Empress EUGENIE is a regular subscriber to the Democratic Watchman and that we mail a copy regularly to St. Petersburg, Russia, we guess it will take the conceit out of him.

"STATE RIGHTS AND FEDERAL UNION"

VOL. 15.

BELLEFONTE, PA., FRIDAY, NOV. 18, 1870.

NO. 45

"Thou God Seest Me!"

In the political, as well as in the moral world, the above should be the guiding thought. "Thou God seest me." What one of our politicians, with this solemn thought in his heart, but would strive to perform his duty with fear and trembling? But the trouble is, our politicians and public men forget God, and do not recognize the overruling and watchful Power, in whose hands they are but as puppets, and beneath whose feet kingdoms and empires are as nothing.

Hence, the fearful corruption and wickedness that everywhere obtains in Government circles. Our rulers act as though no moral responsibility rested upon them. They act as though they were never to be held accountable for the mis-use of their opportunities.

And this irreverence or neglect of Christian duty in high places, has resulted among the people. It leads to infidelity, recklessness, and defiance of the power of the Almighty. Hence, the unutterable wickedness of our great cities, and the crimes of robbery, rapine and murder that so generally everywhere prevail.

It is because of the wrongness of our public men, that so much official dishonesty and looseness prevail. Because of this it is that we hear of so much robbery and peculation in positions of trust and honor.

When, then, is our duty? Plainly, to elect men to office in whose breasts the germs of religion, implanted there by early teachings, have budded and blossomed into matured and healthful Christian feeling-men, whose hearts are full of reverence, of godly fear, of justice, kindness and charity.

The State Treasuryship.

We may be obtuse - slow of comprehension, and difficult of understanding. We don't know. It's for others to say. But we do know that we are unable to understand what particular blessing is to be meted out to the State or the Democratic party by the success of the plan proposed by our friends of the Harrisburg Patriot, in reference to the election of a State Treasurer.

If the Curtis Radicals of this State are in favor of reform in the Treasury Department, and as bitterly opposed to the CAMERON faction controlling it as they pretend, why can they not furnish six votes to a Democratic candidate for State Treasurer?

Whether the advice of the Patriot or the Post will be taken, we suppose will hardly be known until the result is recorded and the Treasurer chosen. We imagine, however, that in either event, the Democratic members will have good sense enough not to be "sold."

We may be wrong, but if we are, it is an honest kind of a wrong that induces us to believe that the Democratic members had better try to elect some competent, honest, worthy Democrat to the State Treasuryship, and let CAMERON and CURTIS fight out their own quarrels.

One of the Results of Radicalism.

Five negroes in Congress! Five kinky haired, long heeled, thick lipped semi-barbarians to sit in the halls of Congress and enact laws to govern thirty millions of intelligent Caucasians!

Five negroes, who, abolitionists told us, five years ago were not allowed to learn the alphabet, not permitted to attend church - not suffered to know any thing but drudgery and degradation, now the law making power of the land. Verily the world moves! Yes, verily! Verily the people "progress" but it's down, down, down!

Mrs. Monday, of East Brimingham, died from the effects of drinking whisky, the other day. When discovered, she had been furnishing high living for a colony of rats for some time.

Among our Exchanges.

The organization of the next Legislature is beginning to trouble the minds not only of the Radical but of the Democratic press of the State. The State Treasurer seems to be the great matter, and while the CAMERON and anti CAMERON radicals are vilifying and abusing in the roughest manner, some of our Democratic exchanges seem equally troubled about the result.

Already, says the Pittsburg Post, some of the Radical leaders are making the possible election of the Legislature of this State, which meets in January next, it is asserted that the Democratic vote is up at auction and to be delivered to a faction of the Republican party for sale.

Speaking of being "sold" brings up the little story which we get from the New York Democrat of how rarely Jim Fisk, the Erie railroad king, and open house boss was "sold" by a Radical manipulator of barkey votes on the day of the New York election.

"The Prince of Epicureans" and "handed to three of his colored coachmen" - straight from the carol by the "pinks" - the paper did not give the names of their butlers and told them they were working for Jim.

In order to save the falling fortunes of the Radical party, BEN BUTLER advises a war with England. No doubt, the "Beast" sees in this another opportunity to steal spoons and silver ware, as well as the salvation of the party whose cause he espouses.

Five B. F. Butler of whom we have not seen it to speak for some time, has spoken for himself. He heads a movement and says that in some things he has well said. He thinks the Republican party is going to press so it is. He thinks it is important to examine the question of public policy.

The New York Democrat gives a description of the "blasting of Hell Gate," now going on near that city. Just as if the gate of that place wasn't open all the time for New Yorkers, without either blasting or knocking.

An Eye Opener.

Senator GEORGE CONSELL, of Philadelphia, is already in the field with a bill providing for a Constitutional Convention. Senator CONSELL is a learned lawyer, and the bill is a learning light in the loyal League, and his bill may therefore be looked upon as the official work of that organization.

We are glad that CONSELL has given his bill to the public. It will have the effect of showing to the controllers of the Democratic press throughout the State, the folly of entrusting to a Radical majority as important a measure as the formation of a new Constitution.

The above item we find going the rounds of the Radical papers. It is simply another of the many lies which the Radicals are so fond of telling about "Brick," when the fact is, POMEROY was never more prosperous in his life than he is at present.

Minister MOTLEY has been recalled from England, and instructed to turn over his papers to Mr. MORAN, the Secretary of the Legation, who will act as minister ad interim. GRANT has a great deal of trouble with the English Mission. It is the hardest kind of work to get a man into it, and then it is just as hard to get him out of it.

Heavy WITTEN, of Lancaster, this state, one of the proprietors of HERRICK & WILSON'S circus, was killed at Ravenna, Louisiana, by a bear who mistook an entering of the circus, without paying.

Spawls from the Keystone.

The obelisk monument at Milltown was dedicated yesterday. Piper's livery stable in Hollidaysburg has become food for flames.

Parker's Landing has had a $100,000 fire. Forty buildings were destroyed.

The hands in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops now work nine hours a day.

Treasurer KEMBLE has purchased the study House in Harrisburg for $15,000.

Harrisburg contains 685 more females than males. Good place for bachelors.

Col. MORRISON of Huntingdon, whose injuries he noticed week before last is dead.

Susan B. ANTHONY lectured in Ullman's Opera house, in Williamsport, yesterday evening.

Two men and a woman were drowned in Youghiogheny river on Saturday night by the capsizing of a skiff.

The city of Erie is now lighted by natural gas obtained from the earth by means of wells sunk in the ground.

Hon. James GAMBLE, President Judge of the Lycoming district, has purchased a residence in Williamsport for $11,150.

A lad ten years of age, a son of Isaac Hammond of Snyder's Co., was last week killed in the neck by a Colt and so badly hurt that he died a few hours.

Calvin Ames, of Lewisport delivered a lecture in that place last week for the benefit of the Lewisport Library Association, which voted the Association $50.

Joseph Young, a resident of Indiana, Pa., and son of a President Judge of that judicial district, accidentally shot himself through the heart while out hunting on the 28th ult.

A gentleman of Reading has invented a machine for deep fating poultry, that should be commended to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. His operation is certain and merciful.

Dr. Thomas HEWITT of Pittsburg, has been sentenced to three years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for procuring an abortion upon Mrs. Isabella WEMER, from the effects of which she died.

Per y county wild cats chased everybody who has to go through the woods after dark. "Country" "gittin'" is about played out there, and as a consequence the greatest indignation exists among the young people.

Mrs. JOHNSON, watchmaker in the Altoona railroad yard fell suddenly dead, while working about the track on Monday afternoon last. Her mother of the illness is supposed to have been the cause. He leaves a wife and two children.

Last week Columbia was excited over a "ghost" which threw coal and stones through windows. The editor of the Herald wrote an article about it, and just as he had finished he was informed that the ghost had been caught. It proved to be a twelve year old female woolly head.

The contract on the line of the Pittsburgh and Combsville Railroad have been notified to finish their sections, ready for the ground by the 10th of December. The company will take charge of all unfinished work on that day, and put large numbers of men to work. It is now the intention to run through from Pittsburg to Cumberland by the holidays.

First Account - Matthew STOTT, an old respected citizen of Woodward township, Clearfield county, while tearing down an old log barn on his premises, on Monday morning, accidentally missed his footing and fell from the girders to the ground, sustaining fatal injuries which resulted in his death at five o'clock on Wednesday morning. His remains were interred at Sunbon on Thursday afternoon.

The deceased was widely known as a just man upright in his dealings with the world, and his loss is deeply felt by the community. He leaves a wife, but no children. - Journal.

THE BIRDS - Thanks to the excellent law, the birds of the Keystone State have some protection offered them. But the State of Maine, we are inclined to think, is very much behind the age in this matter, from an item in the Bangor Democrat, we learn that 100 silver trappers were sent out from a town in that section, who killed "in a few hours, 1,872 birds."

A singular coincidence in this case, is the fact that her husband, James MATHERS, was found dead some eleven years ago, near the same place, and a jury returned a similar verdict in his case, as was returned in hers. - Regator.

The Williamsport Standard of last week has the following: "While excavating, a few days ago, for a new school house, on the farm of Mr. Thomas EPIGRAM situated about four miles from our public square - the workmen found the skeleton of a man, about two feet from the surface of the ground. The bones and teeth are perfect. No one living in the neighborhood knows of the burial of any one at that place.

The discovery suggests a volume of recollections. Who was the man? By whom, and for what, was he murdered? Had he a family, and if so, how did they account for not having heard from him? Those who feel interested, and have the leisure, can solve these speculations by writing, and send them published. As the sensational is not of our aim, we leave the mystery with those who may wish to unravel it.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, though defeated for Governor of Massachusetts, is elected a member of the Legislature from Cape Cod for JOHN.
