

Ink Slings.

'Seward is roaming around Rome.' Perhaps he is telling the Pope that story about the "little bell."

The "season" at Cape May has closed. The pocket-books of the patrician families are well glad of it, we guess.

The Republican of this place and the Huntingdon Globe are out for ANDREW G. CURTIN for Vice President on the ticket with GRANT.

Capt. LITTLE has declined to stand as Radical candidate for district attorney. The gallant captain don't care about being sacrificed for nothing.

Within the last four weeks nearly five hundred people have been killed in this country by railroad accidents, explosions, &c. "Mein Gott, vot a beeples!"

The newspapers have had the hardest kind of work trying to kill off Dr. LIVINGSTONE, but, at the latest date, have not succeeded. We wish they would finish up the job or quit lying.

Hon. JAMES R. DOOLITTLE, of Wisconsin, is the Democratic candidate for Governor of that State. DOOLITTLE has done much for the Democracy and the people, and will do much more.

It is likely to be quite windy about town for the next week or two. KINSLEY, the insurance man is at home again, and we have always noticed that whenever he comes, we are sure to have a small blow.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of GEORGE O. EVANS, the great embezzler, but the gentlemen can't be found. We guess GOV GRAY and Attorney General BREWSTER don't want any one to find him. They are as deep in the mud as he is in the mire.

Beggars are about as thick as hops. Just think of three of them asking us to give them something in one morning. Somehow they all seem to be far away from home, and all trying to get back. We hope to goodness they'll succeed, and then stay there.

"Gen. Sherman," says The Four Quarters, "passed through town on Wednesday. Yes, and he passed through the south once on his 'march to the sea.' Like death, he left desolation in his track, and men shuddered and women wept as they looked after him.

The Huntingdon Journal refers to the removal of Deputy Attorney General McCURTIN, and innocently asks: "Does the Attorney General countenance the course of EVANS?" Oh, of course; but only he wanted to be the first man to discover the embezzlement himself—so he did.

The Huntingdon Globe says that it is now pretty generally admitted that the Republicans will carry this State by a handsome majority. Who admits it, pray? Down this way any man admitting such a proposition is a fit subject for a lunatic asylum.

A very old printer was in our office the other morning, "strapped," as usual. He wanted work, and of course didn't drink any. We gave him a quarter that we borrowed from the boys, and about an hour afterwards saw him feeling up for the ground. That's the way the money goes.

Under the new Constitution of Nebraska you've got to be educated whether you will or no. The women can vote, too, and the towns can stop the liquor traffic. Won't the Radicals get out of that State in a hurry, now? There will be nothing left there but intelligence, temperance and Democratic majorities.

Next week we shall publish in full the able and eloquent speech of Hon. W. A. WALLACE, opening the campaign at Ebensburg a few days since. It is a fearful arraignment of the male sex, and a regular baptism of fire on the backs of the thieves and corruptors of the State. Look out for next week's WATCHMAN!

An exchange asks: "What has become of the new departure Democrats?" By reading the ninth resolution of the platform of the Centre county Democracy, at our great meeting on Thursday night of last week, it will have the question answered in a jiffy.

Readers, that we are opposed to the hanging flag of inferior and superior races, either in the elective franchise or by intermarriage, and that, in the division of parties, we are in favor of keeping the white democracy in the one and the negroes and their equals in the other.

How's that for high? There isn't much new departure about that, is there?

Democratic Watchman

"STATE RIGHTS AND FEDERAL UNION."

VOL. 16.

BELLEFONTE, PA., FRIDAY, SEPT. 8, 1871.

NO. 35

McCandless and Stanton.

Dr. STANTON, the Radical candidate for Auditor General, was hospital surgeon during the war. His business was to dress the wounds of the mangled soldiers and to minister to the sick and afflicted. That he did not do this well, we have never heard any one say; but that he did more than this, there is no living witness to testify.

How supremely ridiculous it seems, then, for the party whose candidate he is to attempt to make it appear that their Doctor was a soldier! Why, he never smelled the odor of powder nor heard the roar of a gun, except at a very great and very safe distance. The swiftly flying bullets fell spent and harmless to the ground long before reaching his quarters, and the clashing of swords is a sound, probably, that he has never heard during the whole course of his life. He was simply a country surgeon, transplanted into the army by the favoritism of his relative, who was at that time Secretary of War.

By some means or other Dr. STANTON has become the Radical candidate for State Auditor, and the people are asked to support him against one of the bravest soldiers and best generals in the army, against a man who fought right in the front for over three years, and who won the highest encomiums even from the bitterest opponents of his political views. Gen. McCANDLESS, our candidate and the opponent of STANTON, was a leading general in the gallant Pennsylvania Reserves, and left the service crowned with glory and enshrined in the hearts of his grateful countrymen.

But it was not for his services in the field that Gen. McCANDLESS was put in nomination by the Democracy as our standard bearer in this political contest. There were other and better reasons for this. His sound and unswerving Democracy, his great ability, his scholarly attainments, his integrity as a man, his eloquence and the purity of his life, made him pre-eminently the man to lead us in this, the primary contest for the Presidency, and we took him up with a glad consciousness that he would bring victory to our standard and hope to the bosoms of the people. Once more, therefore, he stands in the front of battle, carrying himself as firmly and as bravely as when amid the carnage and thunder of "glorious war."

Dr. STANTON is a man of whose ability the Radicals have but little to say. They keep telling us that he was a soldier (?), but forget to say anything about his fitness for the office to which he aspires. Of McCANDLESS, however, we can say everything. He is a man we are proud of. He is a sportsman and a scholar, as well as the best of soldiers. He is bold, vigorous, watchful. With him in the State Auditor's office, speculation, thievery and embezzlement would at once cease, and the State would be obliged to walk a chair of state consequences.

Let us, therefore, support Dr. STANTON in the support of McCANDLESS and Cooper Remondino, as goes the State of Penn.sylvania this fall so will go the Union in 1872.

Mr. J. M. McCURTIN, the deputy attorney general of this State, and the man who first discovered and brought to light the great EVANS embezzlement, has been removed from his position by Gov. GRAY. This action on the part of the Governor is very significant and has about it a suspicious odor not at all agreeable to the nostrils of honest men. If there was really a hole in the face of the EVANS monster, we are not the duty of the deputy attorney general to unearth it, is it not? And if he but did his duty in the premises, why should he be removed? Certainly, he has been but poorly rewarded by his Radical masters for his efforts to protect the interests of the people by bringing a robber to punishment.

But Mr. McCURTIN has a better reward in the consciousness that he has done his duty than he would have had in the retention of his place at the expense of his integrity. He will not be forgotten by the people, but will be pointed at as an honest man when Gray and Brewster are writhing under the contempt and scorn of the public.

That "Order."

The P. & E. railroad company assert that the order to Conductor HYMAN to wait at Westport until the arrival of the freight train, was found in the engineer's pocket. But when it is understood that this same engineer cannot read a word, the utility of such an order to such an engineer will be at once apparent. Suppose the order was not seen by Conductor HYMAN at all. Then the ignorance of engineer M. COOPER, who cannot read, was responsible for the disaster to the train. But it is now asserted that neither the conductor nor engineer ever received any such order, and that the order did not arrive at Renovo until after the train had been gone several minutes. This accounts for the exclamation of the wounded engineer, when first picked up: "It is not our fault."

We are told that several minutes after Conductor HYMAN's train had left Renovo on its way to ruin and death the order arrived for it to wait there until the arrival of the Empire freight! And a fearful weight of apprehension is embodied in the terrified exclamation of the telegraph operator, when he cried out, "Great God! here's an order for Hyman's train to wait!" This tells the whole story. It was not the conductor's fault nor the engineer's, but is attributable to the neglect or tardiness of those whose business it was to have had the order at Renovo in time to stop the train.

"Let justice be done though the heavens fall," and the guilty ones be brought to punishment. Let no obloquy fall upon the name of a brave and careful conductor to indemnify the fault of his superiors. Let this engineer, McCORMICK, speak and clear the fair fame of the murdered HYMAN.

We are glad to see from JOHN HAY'S pen something else than that abominable dialect poetry with which he has been nauseating us lately. How much better the following sounds than "WOMAN'S LOVE" or "LITTLE BELLEFONTE." "WOMAN'S LOVE" is a theme on which all poets have written, but here is something a little out of the ordinary channel.

WOMAN'S LOVE

BY JOHN HAY

A student angel sitting high in glory,
Of this shall wall ring out in purgatory.
Have mercy, mighty angel, on my story,
I loved, and I died with passion at three, I fell,
Love brought me down to death and death to hell,
For God is just and I am for sin if I will.

I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me.

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

"I do not rage against his high decree,
Nor for myself do I ask that "red" shall be,
But for my love on earth, who's mourning for me."

We have every respect for the temperance people. We believe they are trying to do good. Our only objection to them is that they waste the means which, better used, would accomplish much. Now, what is the use of their running an independent ticket this fall? They will only show their weakness, because there are thousands of men that will vote the Democratic and Radical tickets this fall, who were drunk enemies of sobriety the only issue at stake in the coming election, would vote with them. At best, it is a very debatable question whether the introduction of temperance into a political campaign will help the cause any. Men have fixed political opinions, which are represented by their parties, and for the triumph of which they must fight, if they would see them successful. Therefore, it is asking a good deal to require them to abandon all these for the sake of carrying out a certain hobby ridden by a minority of the people. We say hobby, because, after all, we doubt if it is anything else, so long as it is attempted to be forced in this way. All experience teaches that it is inexpedient to legislate as to what or how much a man may eat or drink. His own good sense must be the judge of this. We esteem the Bible and moral sunbeam the most powerful dissuaders from drunkenness and debauchery. Legislation always has failed to stop it and always will. Men's appetites cannot be controlled in that way.

Our judgment is that the temperance party had better throw in its weight with the Democracy. Thus it will accomplish something by aiding the election of good and able men to responsible positions of public trust, and thus be indirectly advancing the very cause it espouses.

It is to be hoped that the engineer of the passenger train under Conductor HYMAN, on the P. & E. road, who was so badly injured in the late accident, will recover. If he does, the truth may be arrived at in regard to the real cause of the disaster. It is said that when the engineer was first picked up, he managed to articulate it is not our fault, meaning the conductor and his own. If it was not their fault, then it must have been the Company's, who lay all the blame on the conductor and engineer. At the last accounts, the better had not spoken since he gave utterance to the above remark. When he gets able to talk again he may explain some things that are now not understood.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

There is a good joke on Chairman ECKETT, of the Radical State Committee. When the EVANS defalcation came to light, the Chairman advised all the Radical papers not to say a word about it—but would kill the party. But after the Democratic papers had got hold of the matter and published it far and wide, he then thought it would be a master-stroke of policy for the Radical papers to publish it also, so as to get credit for bringing the embezzler to account. However, the Chairman was a little too late. By the time he got around with his second advice, the Democratic papers had ventilated and exposed the whole miserable scheme of plunder in such a manner that the Radical papers had no ground to stand on. So, according to ECKETT, they have not only no credit but have "killed the party." This being the case, the Democracy will bury it on the second Tuesday of October next.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

We are gratified to see that the gallant Democracy of "little Adams" have renominated ISAAC HERBERT, Esq., for the Legislature. Mr. HERBERT has served one term, and during that time proved himself a faithful, efficient and honest legislator. No one could have labored harder for the benefit of his constituents than did Mr. HERBERT. If for nothing else than his earnest, untiring efforts to secure to the people of the border counties some compensation for their losses by raids, he should be returned by a largely increased majority. The people of Adams county will find no truer or more upright representative than ISAAC HERBERT.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Fraud.

Somebody has written an anonymous pamphlet entitled "Concession; or How the Lost Cause may be Regained and the Independence of the South Secured." The book purports to come from a Democratic source, and the Radicals are now circulating it as a campaign document. Of course, it is a Radical trick to make the people believe that the Democracy are in favor of the reopening of the way for the independence of the South, and all that kind of thing. But it won't take the chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee is out in a circular warning the people against the fraud, and bidding them beware of the imposture. The pamphlet was gotten up by the Radicals themselves for the above purpose, and no Democrat had anything to do with it. The following is the circular of the chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, alluded to.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—The National Democratic Executive Committee to day issued the following circular:

"This committee have had their attention called to an anonymous pamphlet entitled 'Concession; or, How the Lost Cause may be Regained and the Independence of the South Secured,' now being circulated over the States as though emanating from a Democratic source. The committee feel authorized to denounce the same as a fraud and the statements therein expressed as antagonistic to the principles and purposes of the Democratic party. Further, this committee are of the opinion that the same emanated from a Radical source, with the intention to deceive the people and prejudice them against the only party which can reform the administration of the government and bring about a return to honesty and constitutional law.
(Signed) SAMUEL J. RAYBURN, Chairman."

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Mr. EVANS, that immaculate and most noble embezzler, whose Radical bringing up made him sharp enough to transfer to his own pockets over $363,500 belonging to the State in whose employ he was, has fled to New York to escape the inconvenience of being arrested and made to disgorge. However, he has gone to a poor place for protection. The Democratic officials of that State and city are not used to working at such crimes as his, and unless he keeps himself out of the reach of the law, GOV. HOFFMAN will surrender him on GOV. GRAY'S requisition. Much as the latter may wish to hold EVANS, he is bound to keep up a show of arresting him, and hence will probably make a feeble demand on the New York Governor, HOFFMAN, for his distinguished person. The matter, however, is probably all arranged between EVANS and GRAY and they understand each other. We doubt very much if the refugee will be caught or if he be apprehended, that any thing serious will be done with him.

BE REGISTERED AND SAVE TROUBLE WHEN YOU COME TO VOTE.

The Radical journals now assert that the President is going to inquire into the particulars of the New Orleans infamy. Going to? If he is in ignorance of the particulars he cannot be a reader of the newspapers. But why play off such a part as that? It is a little too thin, to say the least. To use same journals assert that the President will punish any officer who did wrong there. As if GRAY hadn't been aware of the whole proceeding, before hand. Bah! the people have been a little too much Radical tricked to be caught by such chaff as this.

BE REGISTERED AND SAVE TROUBLE WHEN YOU COME TO VOTE.

Last week the island of St. THOMAS was visited by a terrific earthquake and hurricane, whereby many lives were lost and about six thousand persons rendered houseless and homeless. This is the delightful spot that BILLY SEWARD purchased for us when he was Secretary of State, paying something like three millions of dollars. Isn't it a nice addition to our territory and wouldn't it be a glorious place to live in? Three millions of dollars for an earthquake and a hurricane! What do you think of it, taxpayers? That was a Radical bargain.

BE REGISTERED AND SAVE TROUBLE WHEN YOU COME TO VOTE.

—Last week the island of St. THOMAS was visited by a terrific earthquake and hurricane, whereby many lives were lost and about six thousand persons rendered houseless and homeless. This is the delightful spot that BILLY SEWARD purchased for us when he was Secretary of State, paying something like three millions of dollars. Isn't it a nice addition to our territory and wouldn't it be a glorious place to live in? Three millions of dollars for an earthquake and a hurricane! What do you think of it, taxpayers? That was a Radical bargain.

BE REGISTERED AND SAVE TROUBLE WHEN YOU COME TO VOTE.

Everything.

—Fechter's throat is said to be seriously out of order.
—Emperor Wilhelm's festival at Berlin cost the city $100,000.
—A California Chinese pugilist is felicitously named Ah Hung.
—Mrs. Fair having "got religion" declares she will never shoot or kill again.
—A young man in Portland, Me., cut off two of his toes that he might wear a small boot.
—A Dubuque husband cut off his wife's hair when she was asleep, and purchased a jug of whisky with it.
—Kollogg, Iowa, has witnessed the meeting of a man and wife who had not seen each other for forty years.
—Doctor is thirteen years old, Lady Thorn sixteen, Edith Allen twenty two, and Flora Temple twenty-one.
—Nelson exhibits himself at watering places upon the invitation of landlords anxious to add to their attractions.
—Visitors at Newport, who do not know the parties, speak of James Parton and Fanny Fern as "that bouncing woman and her invalid son."
—It is that eminent geographer G. A. T. who says: "Lake Superior, the largest of the world's lakes, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell, the inventor of lithography, will be celebrated in New York on the 14th of next November.
—A young lady from Troy had Horace Greeley pointed out to her in the street, recently, and remarked, "He looks as though he might know more about farming than he does about breeding."
—The Washington Star says that Walt Whitman, a treasury clerk, recently called the poet of Democracy, has received a friendly letter from Fenimore with an invitation for a visit to Adirondack.
—Mrs. Stanton charges that women simpering passives passives hour, fat of inherited treasures, Pennsylvania lies across the Union."
—A large bull attempted to stop the Cincinnati Express, near Paterson, the other day. It is hardly necessary to add that the train went on and the bull went off.
—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth-day of Alice Seachell,