The reason of a cow giving bloody milk is some injury to the udder, generally from bruising or being chased by boys or dogs. The udder, when full of milk, is bruised by the legs or coming in contact with brush or briars, by being bitten by dogs, parties throwing stones and injuring the udder. In fact is the result of an injury of some kind. It generally yields readily to treatment. Keep the animal quiet in a stable or small pasture for a few days

A Wonderful Lake.

The greatest wonder in the State of Iowa, and perhaps in any State, is what is called the "Walled Lake," in Wright County, twelve miles north of the Dubuque and Pacific Railway, and 150 miles west of Dubuque City. This lake, says a writer in the Burlington Hawkeye, is from two to three feet higher than the earth's surface. In some places the wall is ten feet high, fifteen feet wide on top. The stones used in construction vary in weight from three tons down to 100 pounds. There is an abundances of ones in Wright County, but surrounding the lake to the extent of five or ten miles there are none. No one can form an idea as to the means employed to bring them to the spot or who constructed it. Around the entire lake is a belt of woodland one-half mile in width, composed of oak. With this exception the country is a rolling prairie. The trees must have been planted there at the time of the building of the wall. In the spring of the year 1856 there was a great storm, and the ice on the lake broke the wall in several places, and the farmers in the vicinity were compelled to repair the damages to prevent inundation. The lake occupies a grand surface of 2,800 acres, with a depth of water as great as twenty-five feet. The water is clear and cool and the soil sandy and loamy. It is singular that no one has been able to ascertain where the water comes from or where it goes, yet it is always clear and fresh.
