NOBODY ELSE.

Two little hands, so careful and brisk,
Putting the tea things away,
While mother is resting awhile in her chair,
For she has been busy all day.
And the dear little fingers are working for love
Although they are tender and wee;
"Fil do it so nicely," she said to herself—
"There's nobody else, you see."

Two little feet just scampered up stairs, For daddy will quickly be here; And his skoes must be ready and warm by the fire
That is bearning so bright and so clear.
Then she must climb on a chair to keep watch,
"He cannot come in without me,
When mother is tired, I open the door—
There's nobody else, you see.'.

Two little arms round daddy's dear neck,

And a soft downy cheek 'gainst his own,
For out of the nest, so cosy and bright,
The little one's mother has flown.
She brushes the tear drops as she thinks,
"Now he has no one but me,
I mustn't give way; that would make him so sad—

And there's nobody else, you see."

Two little tears on the pillow, just shed,
Dropped from the two pretty eyes;
Two little arms stretching out in the dark,
Two little faint sobbing cries.

"Daddy forgot I was always waked up
When he whispered good-night to me.
O mother, come back just to kiss me in bed—
There's noboy else, you see."

Little true heart, if mother can look
Out from her home in the skies,
She will not pass on to her haven of rest
While the tears fill her little ones eyes.
If God has shed sorrow around us just now,
Yet His sunshine is ever to be;
And he is the comfort for every one's painis the comfort for every one's pain-There's nobody else, you see. -May Hodges

The dog seized the hawk by the right wing in his teeth, and broke it.

Instantly the hawk showed fight. It bit the dog about the eyes and nose, scratched him severely all over the body, and finally drove him off whimpering with his tale between his legs. Lukens took a club and killed the hawk. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip of its wings. ---One fact is worth a column of

It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

-What is a cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in a perspiration, &c. The important point is this, that a cold in the head is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition for catarrh is essently a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh.
