Hotels.

TO THE PUBLIC. In consequence of the similarity of the names of the Parker and Potter Hotels, the proprietor of the Parker House has changed the name of his hotel to—

COAL EXCHANGE HOTEL.— He has also repapered, repainted and otherwise improved it, and has fitted up a large and tasty parlor and reception room on the first floor. WM. PARKER, 33 17 Philadelphia, Pa.

CENTRAL HOTEL, MILESBURG, PA. A. A. KOLBECKER, Proprietor.

This new and commodious Hotel, located opposite the depot, Milesburg, Centre county, has been entirely refitted, furnished and replenished throughout, and is now second none in the county in the character of accommodations offered the public. Its table is supplied with the best and most select affords, its bar contains the purest and choicest liquors, its stable has attentive hostlers, and every convenience and comfort is extended its guests.

Through travelers on the railroad will find this an excellent place to lunch or procure a meal, as all trains stop there about 25 minutes. 24 24

THE CUMMINGS HOUSE.— BELLEFONTE, PA. Having assumed the proprietorship of this finely located and well known hotel, I desire to inform the public that while it will have no bar, and be run strictly as a temperance hotel, it will furnish to its patrons all the comforts, conveniences and hospitalities offered by others. Its table will not be surpassed by any. Its rooms are large and comfortable. Its stabling is the best in town, and its prices to transient guests and regular boarders will be very reasonable.

The citizens of the town will find in the basement of my hotel a

FIRST-CLASS MEAT MARKET at which all kinds of Meat can be purchased at the very lowest rates. I earnestly solicit a share of the public patronage. GOTTLEIB HAAG, 33 13

Harpers' Publications.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE FOR 1890. (o)—ILLUSTRATED.—(o)

A new Shakespeare—the Shakespeare of Edwin A. Abbey—will be presented in Harper's Magazine for 1890, with comments by Andrew Lang. Harper's Magazine has no more special arrangements with Alphonse Daudet, the greatest of living French novelists, for the exclusive publication, in serial form, of a humorous story, to be entitled "The Colonists of Tarascon; or the Last Adventures of the Famous Tartarin." The story will be translated by Henry James, and illustrated by Rossi and Myrback.

W. D. Howells will contribute a novelette in three parts, and Lafcadio Hearn a novelette in two parts, entitled "Yonina," handsomely illustrated.

In illustrated papers, touching subjects of current interest, and in its short stories, poems and timely articles, the Magazine will maintain its well-known standard.

HARPER'S BAZAR FOR 1890 (o)—ILLUSTRATED.—(o)

Harper's Bazar is a journal for the home. Giving the latest information with regard to the Fashions, its numerous illustrations, fashion-plates, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared in making its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its clever short stories, parlor plays, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is as famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. During 1890 Olive Thorne Miller, Christine Terhune Merriek, and Mary Lowe Dickinson will respectively furnish a series of papers on "The Daughter at Home," "Three Meals a Day," and "The Woman of the Period." The serial novels will be written by Walter Besant and F. W. Robinson.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE FOR 1890. (o)—AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.—(o)

The Eleventh Volume of Harper's Young People, which begins with the Number for November, 1889, presents an attractive programme. It will offer to its readers at least four serials of the usual length, and others in two or three parts, namely, "The Red Mustang," by William O. Stoddard; "Phil and the Baby," by Lucy C. Lillis; "Prince Tommy," by John Russell Coryell; and "Mother's Way," by Margaret E. Sangster, two short serials by Eljalmar Hjorth Boyesen. Two series of Fairy Tales will attract the attention of lovers of the wonder world, namely, the quaint tales told by Howard Pyle, and so admirably illustrated by him, and another series in a different vein by Frank M. Blecknell. There will be short stories by W. D. Howells, Thomas Nelson Page, Mary E. Wilkin, Nora Perry, Harriet Prescott Spofford, David Ker, Hezekiah Butterworth, Sophie Sweet, Richard Malcolm Young, etc.

A subscription to Harper's Young People secures a juvenile library. There is useful knowledge, also plenty of amusement.—Boston Advertiser.

WINTER APPLES.

What cheer is there that is half so good, In the snowy waste of a winter night, As a dancing fire of hickory wood, And an easy chair in its mellow light, And a pearmain apple, ruddy and sleek, Or a jenneting with a freckled cheek?

A russet apple is fair to view, With a tawny tint like an autumn leaf, The warmth of a ripened corn-field's hue, Or a golden hint of a forest's shade; And the wholesome breath of the finished year Is held in the wine-sap's blooming sphere.

They bring you a thought of the orchard trees In Lloysey April and leafy June, And the sleepy droning of bumble-bees, In the laxy light of an afternoon, And the fragrant cover and bobolinks, Tiger-lilies and garden pink.

If you've somewhere left with its gable wide, A farm-house set in an orchard odd, You'll see it all in the winter-tide, As a sight of a pupil's green and gold, Or a pearmain apple, ruddy and sleek, Or a jenneting with a freckled cheek.

—St. Nicholas for November.

"De Colored Done Pass."

Why the Colored Man Insists Upon Voting Against the Whites.

The Richmond (Va.) correspondent of the New York Sun had an interview before the late election with an old-time negro upon the situation. He darkly, as a sign of a pupil's green and gold, or a pearmain apple, ruddy and sleek, or a jenneting with a freckled cheek.

"What makes the colored man insist on voting every time against the whites among whom he has been raised, and who employ him?" was asked.

"But why is it?" was the hesitating answer.

"But why? You get your living from the whites. You go to them for aid when you are sick. They treat you kindly. Why is it you will vote against the white man every time?"

"Dat ain't no point fo' us to 'spite 'bout,' was the answer.

"You can't tell me nothin' 'bout white folks, I was raised by white folks, I was a doan't never have nothin' to do with a other kind. No white man ain't had no call to complain o' me. I doan't have no use fo' po' white people."

"Well, why is it? The man who owned you, the man who employs you, the doctor who comes to see you, are all against Mahone, and yet you vote for him."

"I ain't say I gwine vote fo' him."

"Well, why do you vote every time against the white people, whether it be for Mahone or for the ticket you always vote?"

"I vote dat way case de word done pass dat way. Dat all I know. Dey tell me dat."

"Who tells you?"

"Ev'body say hit. De word done pass to vote dat way, an' dat how come de black men vote dat way?"

"Who told you such a thing? Where did dat word pass from?"

"We can't 'spite 'bout dat,' was the suspicious reply. "White man an' black can't 'spite 'bout dat. De word done pass, dat all I know. De people up dar say de culled man got ter do hit."

"Up where? What people?"

"Oh, go long. You know de word done pass from Washington dat de nigger got ter do hit."

No other explanation could be got from him, he hurried away, evidently uneasy at having said this much. But his answer gave an inkling of how superstition holds the negro race. They have an idea of some mysterious power at Washington, which directs the black race and whose mandates are not to be questioned.

If He Were a Woman.

John Habberton.

If I were a woman: I would trust my appearance more to Dame Nature than to the dressmaker, for I see that healthy women attract more attention than exquisitely-dressed invalids.

I would regard my health as my fortune, to be respected accordingly by others as well as myself.

I would spend a great deal of time out of doors, even if I couldn't do it except by wedding in my own garden.

I would read and study as much as my father, husband, brother or son; so as never to be regarded as "only a woman."

I would never treat a man of doubtful moral character as any better than a woman of the same sort. I know how men regard women who "make allowances" for men whose lives are not what they should be.

I would never regard a mere admirer as a possible husband, nor accept admiration as a substitute for love. I have seen thousands of dogs as much admired as women.

I would "cut" my own acquaintance when I talked sense to men but trivialities to me.

To dream of a ponderous whale, Erect on the tip of his tail, Is the sign of a storm (if the weather is warm).

Unless it should happen to fail, Dreams don't amount too much anyhow. Some signs, however, are infallible. If you are constipated, with no appetite, tortured with sick headache and bilious symptoms, these signs indicate that you need Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. They will cure you. All druggists.

Waiting for Angels.

He was a solemn-visaged, gray-poled, slow-pacing son of sorrow. His features were stolidly set, and there was not a glint of hope in his pale face. Disappointment and discouragement were written there. He was a Second Adventist who had for the sixth time awaited for the Lord's coming in vain. The excitement of his hope had driven him almost to distraction, and the reaction had driven him almost to the grave.

DISGUSTED WITH FALSE PROPHECIES. "I'll never try again," he said plaintively, with a long-drawn sigh. "I began it in 1843. I was sure I was going heavenward then. In 1844 they said the world was coming to an end at Darby, and I went down there so as to be on hand. I tried it again in '59, up in New Hampshire, at a camp meeting, and the next time was in the Centennial year. Mother Shipton's prophecy that 'the world to an end would come in 1881.' I believed to be gospel truth. But though I began with New Year's day and watched and waited for fifty-two weeks, the end was as far off as ever. I had about given the whole thing up when the preachers began to tell of October 25, 1889. I thought it would all be true until Saturday morning came. Then I got mad and swore I'd turn heathen. I have been spoiled so many times that I made up my mind I would stand it no longer.

HEATHENS MUST FIRST BE SAVED. "I've been reading Ezekiel and from what he says in the forty-seventh chapter I guess the end won't be for more'n 2000 years yet. There's another place where the good book says the gospel must be preached to all the world before judgement day. Well, I reckon there be millions of poor heathen critters who haven't had a chance to be preached to. That means the world ain't a gone't to be by our ages yet. So I'm not a botherin' my head. I don't care a snap what the preachers in Philadelphia should yell to me to-morrow that Gabe was flappin' his wings over 'my hen roost. I wouldn't take the trouble to look out of my window.—Philadelphia Record.

BLOOD WILL TELL.—There is no question about it—blood will tell—especially if it be an impure blood. Blisters, eruptions, pimples and boils are all symptoms of an impure blood, due to the improper action of the liver. When this important organ fails to properly perform its function of purifying and cleansing the blood, impurities are carried to all parts of the system, and the symptoms above referred to are merely evidences of the struggle of Nature to throw off the poisonous germs. Unless her warning be heeded in time, serious results are certain to follow, culminating in liver or kidney disorder, or even in consumption. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will prevent and cure these diseases, by restoring the liver to a healthy condition.

The Squar' Was Left. The boy had been down to New York city on an errand for a neighbor, and when he returned home his father observed: "Well, I suppose you had an awful time down there?"

"Yes, I did."

"Saw heaps of folks?"

"Sixthers and slathers of 'em, father."

"Any one stop you and ask how I was?"

"N—m, father."

"They didn't! Didn't stop you and ask if you were Squar' Henderson's son Bill, and if the Squar' was as deep in law and politics as ever?"

"No."

"Then they must be a set of blamed fools down there, and you was the biggest fool of all for staying three hell days to gawp around! You got up mighty airy to-morrow morning and go into that tater-patch!"—New York Sun.

The torturing disease neuralgia is instantly relieved and rapidly cured by Salvation Oil.

Rev. Wm. H. Chapman, pastor of M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C., writes us: Having had an opportunity to test the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family." For cough and whooping cough it is a sure cure.

"What's the matter, Eddie?" "Willie Thomas has gone and moved out of this street, hoo, hoo." "Well, don't cry, there are plenty of other little boys in the neighborhood to play with." "Yes, Ma, b-t-h-e's the o-n-l-y one I could l-i-c-k."

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by expelling impurity from the blood, which is the cause of the complaint. Give it a trial.

Medical.

CATARRH Is a complaint which affects nearly everybody, more or less. It originates in a cold, or succession of colds, combined with impure blood. Disagreeable flow from the nose, tickling in the throat, offensive breath, pain over and between the eyes, ringing and bursting noises in the ears are the more common symptoms. Catarrh being a constitutional disease cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strikes directly at the cause by removing all impurities from the blood, building up the diseased tissues and giving healthy tone to the whole system. "I have suffered with catarrh in my head for years, and paid out hundreds of dollars for medicines, have here before only received temporary relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me so much that my catarrh is almost cured, the weakness of my body is all gone, my appetite is good in fact, I feel like another person. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I have ever taken, and the only one that has done me any permanent good." Mrs. A. W. WILSON, Providence, R. I. "Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

N. B. If you have decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

IMPORTANT—If you cannot read this print distinctly by lamp or daylight in the evening, at a distance of ten inches, your eyesight is failing, no matter what your age, and your eyes need help. Your sight can be improved and preserved if properly corrected. It is a wrong idea that spectacles should be dispensed with as long as possible. If they assist the vision use them. There is no danger of seeing too well, so long as the print is not magnified; it should look natural size, but plain and distinct.
