

Democratic Watchman

Friday Morning, February 7, 1890.

To CORRESPONDENTS.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Mr. M. H. GIBB, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for Gregg township.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—Capt. Jones, proprietor of the Tyrona Herald, has been appointed postmaster at Tyrona.

—The Sugar Valley Journal says that Mrs. Ann Kasner, widow of Samuel Kasner, deceased, has received nine hundred dollars back pension.

—John Markle, a bright boy of 14, son of Elias Markle of Hubbersburg, died on Thursday last, after an illness of but a couple of days, from the grippe.

—Jacob Hartman will come along to Bellefonte with the Lycoming county gallows and will superintend its erection preparatory to the execution of Seely Hopkins.

—John Children, recently deceased in Gregg township, was buried in Cross church cemetery George's valley. His death came from an old dropsical affection.

—Quite a number of the farmers of this county have taken advantage of the mild winter by doing their plowing and some of them are ready either to sow oats or plant corn.

—Governor Curtin has recovered from an attack of the grip at Philadelphia. He and ex-Governor Warmouth, of Louisiana, were down at the same time at the Stratford hotel.

—Mr. J. Clear, one of Rush township's reliable citizens, performed the duties of a grand juror last week. He will read the WATCHMAN the coming year, and have the satisfaction of knowing it is paid for.

—It is reported that a vein of good coal has been opened on the land of Samuel Spangler, near Tylersville, Sugar Valley. Experts speak well of its quality and a shaft has been sunk to the depth of about fifty feet.

—Mrs. Martha J. Scott, after suffering from disease for the past seventeen years, recently died at Tyrona. She was born at Rock Forge, this county, in 1836, and was the daughter of Mrs. A. Miller, formerly of Bellefonte.

—By the robbery of the store of George Hess at Beech Creek Thursday morning of last week the thieves secured $200 in money. The front door was pried open and entrance into the safe was effected by means of blasting it with powder.

—J. A. Fiedler, Bellefonte's new postmaster, took charge of the office last Saturday. Wilbur Harris, who, although a Republican, was retained as assistant under the Democratic administration of Dr. Dobbins, resigned his position when Fiedler took the office.

—R. M. Magee, Esq., who ran up from Philadelphia to represent a client's interest in a case before court, this week, accompanied by Col. Thomas Jefferson Smull, one of Clinton county's most radical Republicans, were welcome callers at the WATCHMAN office on Monday evening.

—It's a long face that ice men and lumbermen in this section have been wearing since Sunday last. The failure of the ground hog to see his shadow on the 2nd has left the impression that neither ice, snow nor winter need be looked for, and those whose business depends so much on good winter weather to make ice, and plenty of snow on which to get their lumber out of the woods, are not a little depressed.

—The annual conference of the Methodists of Central Pennsylvania, to which Centre county belongs, will assemble in Carlisle on the 19th of March. This conference is said to be the largest of the one hundred and twenty conferences of the great Methodist church, embracing in territory the larger portion of Central and Southern Pennsylvania, divided into five Presiding Elder districts, Altoona, Harrisburg, Danville, Williamsport and Juniata. Its ministry numbers two hundred and thirty-one, among whom are some of the ablest and most efficient of the church.

—On Saturday last Dr. Jas. H. Dobbins, who has so acceptably filled the position of Postmaster at this place during the past four years, handed over the keys to his successor, Mr. Fiedler, who immediately assumed the duties of the place. During the time that Dr. Dobbins had charge of that office there is none, we believe, but will say that he was a conscientious, faithful and obliging official, careful that the public was accommodated, as well as that the best interests of the government were served. He retires, as do his clerks who were intelligent, obliging and competent, with the respect of the entire community, and the best wishes of all who had official business with him. We only hope that the new administration of that office may be as satisfactory, as fair and as unpartisan as the outgoing.

RAILROAD ELECTION.—The annual meeting of the Bellefonte & Eastern Railway, the proposed line which is to traverse through Sugar Valley, was held in the office of the Wilkesbarre & Western R'y, in the Girard building, Philadelphia, on the 13th ult. The following officers were elected: F. W. Kennedy, president; directors, F. W. Kennedy, W. C. DeArmond, L. Newcomb, J. H. Gendall, A. O. Granger, R. C. Bellville, R. A. Stark, S. B. Morgan, J. I. Higbee, all of Philadelphia, except Messrs Higbee and Morgan, of Watson-town, who will represent the local interest.

A CORRECTION.—In the WATCHMAN of last week a notice was given of the proceedings of the County Grange meeting at Oak Hall, the week previous. In referring to the report of the Patron's Fire Insurance Company, as made to that meeting, and as copied from one of our town exchanges, we stated that the average cost of insurance for the past 13 years per $1,000, was $142. In place of $142 it should have read $1.42 (one dollar and forty two cents.) A very considerable difference, as will be observed.

THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD.—Those of our readers who want a truthful, well written and reliable History of the Johnstown Flood, have an opportunity presented them, now that a full and graphic account of it has been written by Rev. D. J. Beal, a Presbyterian minister of that place. Mr. Beal was present, and was one of the eye witnesses of the terrible disaster. He writes just what happened, and describes it in a plain, forcible manner. The book is very neatly printed, contains numerous illustrations, and covers 418 pages. It is sold only by subscription, and our old friend, Edward Kreamer, Esq., formerly of Boalsburg, but a resident of Johnstown at the time of the flood, will canvass Centre county for its sale. We wish him the most unbounded success.

GRANGE MATTERS.—Logan Grange has purchased a lot near the Pleasant Gap station on L. & L. R. R., upon which they propose to build a hall immediately, preparations having already commenced for the work. Several more Granges are talking of building soon. The Grange is booming in Centre county. Progress Grange at Centre Hall is receiving applications for membership at every meeting. It has on its roll of membership the best families of the township. The first week in February has been appointed by the Master of the State and National Grange as Grange week. Forty Granges were organized in Pennsylvania during last year. This already promises to surpass last year, as nearly half that number have already been organized. Last week alone there were four new Granges organized in Pennsylvania; one in Nelson township, Tioga county, one in Cranberry township, Butler county, one in Rostrevor township, Westmoreland county, and one in Hanick township, Susquehanna county.

THE GRANGERS AND THE PROPOSED NEW ROAD LAWS.—Last week we published a series of resolutions passed by the Centre County Grange, protesting against certain ideas of improving our roads, and declaring that all legislation on this subject should be left to the people of the county, to regulate and do as to them seems best. That our roads need improving is a fact so palpable that he would be deemed a fool who would deny it. That thousands upon thousands of dollars are wasted annually in each county in the State, under our present road system, is equally true, and that some change in our present road laws, intended to secure better highways, is sure to come, is another undoubted fact. Facing these facts, the duty we and we should think the interest of the grangers, representing, as they aim to, the agricultural interests of the State, would be to devise and recommend some scheme, method or law that would secure the end sought, in place of simply "where-asing" and "resolving" against those already suggested.

We presume that every person who has given this matter any thought, or has made any suggestions as to the amendment of our road laws, has done so with but one object in view, the securing of the best roads possible for the least amount of money. Some may have ideas far above what the actual needs of the people are, and suggest such roads and methods of making, as would be entirely too expensive in districts lying distant from the centers of travel, or thinly populated, but because they do so, is no reason why the movement to secure better roads should be cried down, or all other suggestions declared impracticable. Indiscriminate opposition to any movement is an easy matter. It won't make roads, however, nor will it save the large amounts of money annually thrown away for this purpose, under our present system.

In place of contenting themselves with "resolving" against this, that or the other method, let our granger friends, representing the farmers of the State, upon whose shoulders the burdens of road-taxes fall, give this matter serious thought and suggest some more effective and economical way of accomplishing the end sought than those against which they resolve so earnestly, and we shall all be satisfied.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shortridge are at present in Media attending the funeral of Mrs. Swithin Shortridge.

—His honor, Judge Riley, recently suffered from the unwelcome attentions of the grippe, but he is all right again.

—Mr. C.K. Essington of Milesburg died at his home in that place on Wednesday afternoon, aged 63 years.

—Major Austin Curtin has resigned his position in the Huntingdon Reformatory and will return to Bellefonte.

—John I. Rankin Esq., Deputy Sixth Auditor of the P. O. Dept., has been elected President of the Pennsylvania Republican Club in Washington.

—Mrs. Mary A. Sankey, widow of John Sankey formerly of Milheim, died at her residence on Howard street, this place on Wednesday last, aged 78 years.

—Phillipsburg has organized a Board of Trade with the following officers; President, W. F. Duncan; Vice President, W. E. Landon; Treasurer, Edward Tyson; Secretary, A. Lehman.

—The dancing entertainment given by the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity of the State College last Friday evening was as successful as it was delightful. A number of invited guests went up from Bellefonte and represent it to have been a fine affair.

—There will be great scrambling among the local Republican place-hunters for the job of census enumerators in the different boroughs and townships. We observe that W. P. Krape, of Spring Mills, is anxious to do that work in Gregg township.

—The directors of the Juniata Valley Camp Meeting Association at a meeting held at Huntingdon on Thursday decided to sink an artesian well on the camp meeting grounds at once, and also that the next camp meeting should open August 12th, 1890, to continue ten days.

—Dr. Thomas W. Meckley, a well known Jersey Shore physician, died Sunday morning at 9.15 o'clock, of tuberculosis, aged about fifty years. He had been ill for some time past, but it was only recently that his sickness became serious. He leaves a wife and three children.

—The Pittsburg Post of last Saturday contained what purported to be pictures of outgoing Postmaster Larkins and of incoming Postmaster McKean. Had either of these gentlemen as pictured by the Post artist, been in this section when poor Clara Price was murdered, Andrews would never have been suspected for the commission of the crime.

—Up to this time the Commissioners have made no arrangement about the scaffold from which Hopkins is to hang. The report that they have ordered one from Lycoming county, and the other report that Mr. Samuel Gault, had the contract to erect one, are premature. They will finally determine this matter to-day, (Friday).

—The many friends of Mr. C. W. Lambert, of near Roopsburg, will be glad to learn that there are bright prospects of his recovery, sufficient at least to enable him to be about again. Since the amputation of his foot, from the effects of which his physician had but little hope of his rallying, he has steadily improved, and is now able to sit up and hope to be about on crutches in a few weeks. Mr. Lambert is quite an old man. There is scarcely any one about this place or in the neighborhood in which he lives, for whom he has not, during some part of his life, done a kind act. There is an opportunity now to repay this. Mr. Lambert is poor. His long illness has eaten up the little he has saved, and any contribution that the charitably disposed may see fit to send him, whether money, clothing or food, will be thankfully accepted.

—The remains of Geo. W. Givin son-in-law of our fellow townsmen Geo. B. Weaver Esq. were brought to this place for interment on Wednesday last. Mr. Givin was a victim of the grippe. Some weeks since he had an attack of this disease and had partially recovered when the death of a sister at Huntingdon, called him to that place. A relapse, and death from pneumonia was the result. Mr. Givin was an exceedingly robust man. He was a successful lumber merchant in the Quaker city and leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss and wonder at the inscrutable ways of Providence.

GRANGE MEETING.—A special meeting of the Centre county Grange will be held in the hall of Prospect Grange, at Centre Hall, on Tuesday, February 11th, at 10 a. m. to consider matters relating to the purchase or lease of permanent picnic grounds for that organization.

LOW RATES TO WASHINGTON VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The Pennsylvania Railroad's special excursions to Washington on February 13th, March 6th, April 3d, and April 24th present an extraordinary opportunity for a delightful visit to the capital of the nation. The capital with all its interesting features is most attractive in winter and spring, and that is also the season when our people can command the greatest period of leisure.

The limits of the tickets are generous enough to make the visit thorough, not only taking in Washington, but Baltimore, Mt. Vernon, Richmond, and Petersburg. Round trip tickets will be sold from Pittsburg to Washington at $9.00, valid for ten days, and admitting of a stop-over in Baltimore in either direction. The rate from other stations in the western portion of the State will be proportionately low. Special train of parlor cars and day coaches will leave Pittsburg at 8.00 A. M., stopping at principal stations and connecting from branch lines. The tickets will also be good on the night trains leaving Pittsburg on dates mentioned.

Round-trip tickets to Mt. Vernon, Richmond, and Petersburg may be purchased in Washington at reduced rates. The round-trip rate from Bellefonte is $7.25 and the leaving time of the train is 10.25 A. M.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE CITIZEN.—In the death of Mr. John Bing, of Unionville, Bald Eagle Valley, loses one of its best and best known citizens. Suddenly and without warning, while reading a newspaper on Saturday morning last, this most estimable citizen passed away. He had neither been ill nor complained of feeling unwell. No one had any idea but he was enjoying the best of health, and his terribly sudden taking off was a shock to the community that it will not soon recover from.

Mr. Bing was in his 71st year at the time of his death. He was born near Centre Furnace and passed the greater portion of his life within the limits of this county. 1848 he moved to Unionville where he resided until his death. In 1859 he succeeded his father as Postmaster at that place and filled the position until the Lincoln administration appointed his successor. In 1879 he was elected county commissioner on the Democratic ticket and served for three years with great credit to himself and his party. He was appointed Postmaster at Unionville by President Cleveland, shortly after his election, and served until a short time after the Harrison administration came into power. These places of public trust he filled conscientiously, faithfully, and to the entire satisfaction of the public. He was a man of honest purposes, upright in all his dealings, frank and straight forward in all his acts, and one who commanded the esteem and respect of all who knew him. His funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Tuesday, his remains being buried in the cemetery near his home.

COURT PROCEEDINGS FOR THE SECOND WEEK.—The Court proceedings for the second week of the present term, outside of closing up the Andrews trial, a full account of which is given elsewhere, amounted to but little. On taking the chair on Wednesday morning, his Honor Judge FURST, whose health is never robust, seemed completely broken down, after the long strain and fearful responsibilities of the murder trial. Ex-Judge Orvis, who had been seriously ill the greater part of last summer, was unable on account of physical disability to go on with other cases, and several of the other attorneys interested in civil suits on the list for trial being indisposed, it was considered the proper thing to do, to adjourn the Court for the week. Before doing so, some of the minor business of that body, such as making motions, acknowledging sheriff's deeds &c. was attended to.

W. H. Young, who pleaded guilty to concealing in his mouth $20 belonging to a Hungarian, with the purpose of keeping it, was sentenced to one year and fifteen days in the Western Penitentiary. Wm. Beck, convicted of assault and battery on George Campbell, of Milesburg, was fined $10 and cost of prosecution.

A special term of court was arranged for the third and fourth weeks of March, at which time the cases listed for trial at this term, and which failed to be reached together with some special cases, will be taken up.

After announcing that the Court would convene again on Saturday, to hear motions and arguments, and to pass sentence on Andrews and the puddlers found guilty of riot, that body adjourned.

—We are sorry to learn that Dr. Hale is seriously ill at his home in this place.

—Esquire D. C. Grove of Marion township, who has been housed for the past two months, with typhoid fever, is able to be about again.

THE GRAND JURY DOES NOT FAVOR SPENDING MONEY ON THE COURT HOUSE.—The following is the report of the Grand Jury at the recent term of Court:

To the Honorable, the Judges of the Court of Sessions of the Peace in and for Centre county:

The grand inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring for Centre county in all matters relating to the same, do respectfully report: That they have acted upon 19 bills of indictment of which fifteen were found true bills and four ignored.

We beg to further report that we have visited and inspected the County buildings and found the jail and yard in excellent condition, but recommend the removal of the shed roof at back door in yard which may assist prisoners in making an escape.

Realizing the want of room to accommodate the crowd in attendance at the present term of court (which is unusual) and, were it not for the depressed condition of the tax payers of the county and its treasury, would recommend the building of an addition to the front of the court house. I. S. FRANK, Foreman, January 31st, 1890.

The "Swamp Fox" of Georgia.

Turning over a page of his private memorandum book, "Bill" Jones, the detective said: "Here is the case that gave me my 'What is it?'"

"In 1868 a safe was blown open in Macon and about $11,000 was taken out. The case was put into my hands, and I followed the man into the swamps near where Lumber City now is. I found him there working at the mill, and got work, too. In a short time he and I were quite friends, and were sleeping together. He had a habit of leaving the bed before daybreak every morning, and I began to follow him. It was slow work and required several weeks. One morning I'd go a certain distance, and then back, and the next morning a little further. Finally I went to the end of his rope. I followed him into the heart of the swamp and saw him take a package from a stump. He handled it a while and then put it back. I guessed what it was, and I guessed well. That night I went to the stump and pulled out the package, and found over $10,000 in it. That night we went to bed together, but about midnight I got up and securing an officer for whom I sent, went to that stump. The next morning he came at the usual hour, and as he sprang upon him and he was ours." "What became of him?" "He got twenty years and I got $2,500."

Died.

ALEXANDER.—At midnight of the 2nd. inst after a long illness Lydia R. only and beloved daughter of W. K. and Sarah Alexander, aged 13 years, 1 month and 29 days.

In their great affliction, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have the heart felt sympathy of all. Lydia whose death they so deeply felt, was bright beyond her years; loving and affectionate in her disposition; sweet and tender in her intercourse with others; true and good in all her actions. Over a year ago, like a tender plant, she began to fade. Hoping to restore her to health her parents moved to Denver. A short residence there showed them the hopelessness of a climatic cure and they returned to Millheim, still hoping that the good Lord in His all-wise providence would spare their child. It was wasted otherwise and she rapidly grew worse. Too good and bright and pure and beautiful for this earth, she was taken, and all who knew and loved her, mourn.

The following lines are dedicated to W. K. Alexander and wife, in their hour of sorrow for the death of their daughter Lydia.

By THEE PASTOR, "Duo," Hicks.

Your home for years enjoyed a loan, A special gift from God; A little plant, a fragrant flower, That cheered earth's toilsome road.

There came a breeze, with poison full, In search of lowlyrets rare, Many homes it passed on wing, But death it left in yours.

Earth's "good things" into home had come, With joys of gospel light; Surrounded thus, the flower grew, Beautiful, fragrant, bright.

Cruel breeze! it kissed the bloom And rose of health from loss; Tho' watched and loved by all around, Death snatched it from your home.

The welcome that in by-gone days, Met you at the door; Of "home, sweet home," at evening time Will never greet you more.

The eyes that oft looked love in thine, Will ne'er again inspire; The sacred circle—sacredly home, With love's immortal fire.

From earth the life so loved is gone, Beyond all pain and care; Where angels live and death ne'er comes Heav'nly joys to share.

Father, Mother, sad your hearts, Cheerless, too, you both are; Mid' tears rejoice, God knoweth best, Then say—"Thy will be done."

Tho' few the years she lived on earth, Shine and shine were given; Enough of both had pierced the soul, To turn the life to heaven.

Without distrust, lean hard on God,— Thy joy, thy light, thy stay; Where death is, He'll bid thee come, And praise thro' endless day.

Obituary.

Mrs. ELLERY HARVEY. Mrs. Clarissa, wife of Ellery Harvey, died at her late residence in Centre City, Jan. 21, 1890 aged 42 years, 7 months and 13 days.

The deceased was a daughter of David Clark of Lycoming county, who she lived after her marriage until less than a year ago, when she moved with her family to a farm about two miles from Milesburg in this county. The house with its contents was burned last fall while she was on a visit to her former home. Returning she bravely shared the losses and struggles of her husband in making a new start and providing for the family. In a few weeks her life ended and the light went out of her home. She was a devoted wife, an affectionate mother and esteemed neighbor.

She never made a public profession of faith, but at the hour of departure drew near, she commited herself in hope to him who is "too wise to err and too good to be unkind."

Five tender plants are left in this domestic garden without the skillful nurture of the loving mother, who leaves them to the father's care and to the charitable consideration of friendly hands.

"My Saviour, as thou wilt; If among thorns I go, Still sometimes here and there Let a few roses grow. But thou, on earth, along The thorny path hast gone; Then lead thou me after thee; My Lord, thy will be done."

W. L. H.

The Late John F. Montgomery.

At a regular meeting of Lick Run Lodge, No. 311, I. O. O. F. of Howard, Centre county, Pa., the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God, in His infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst our friend and brother, John Fleming Montgomery, who departed this life January 24, 1890, Therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow with submission to the Divine will, it should remind us that death is abroad in the land, and sooner or later we shall all be called to give an account of the deeds done in the body.

Resolved, That our sympathy be expressed for the bereaved family, and remind them of Jesus, our Elder brother, who has promised to share our griefs and sorrows.

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our brother, our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days.

Resolved, That we cause a copy of these resolutions to be read to the bereaved family, and have a copy of same published in the leading papers of Centre Co.

A. WEBER, H. C. WILLIAMS, I. R. N. McCLOSKEY, Committee.

(PUBLISHED BY REQUEST)

MALORY—Jan 2nd, at Lemont, Pa., daughter of George and Emma Malory, aged 2 months and 7 days.

Dear Ella, we are lonely Since thou hast gone to rest, Our hearts are wrung with anguish And sorrow fills our breast.

Our home we thought so happy Is now a lonely place, It is there we miss our Ella, That dear sweet little face, We miss thee at the fireside, We see thy vacant chair, We miss thee at the table, We miss thee everywhere.

We did not ask for honor, We did not ask for wealth, We only asked that Ella Might be restored to health.

But that wish was denied us, And we are left to mourn; The little one we loved so well Is to a new life born.

Oh! our darling little girl, 'Tis hard to give thee up; But by the father's gracious will That we drink the bitter cup.
