Hotels.

TO THE PUBLIC. In consequence of the similarity of the names of the Parker and Potter Hotels, the proprietor of the Parker House has changed the name of his hotel to COAL EXCHANGE HOTEL. He has also repaired, repainted and otherwise improved it, and has fitted up a large and tasty parlor and reception room on the first floor. WM. PARKER, Philipsburg, Pa. 33 17

CENTRAL HOTEL, MILESBURG, PA.

A. A. KOHLBECKER, Proprietor.

This new and commodious Hotel, located opposite the depot, Milesburg, Centre county, has been entirely refitted, furnished and replenished throughout, and is now second to none in the county in the character of accommodations offered to the public. Its table is supplied with the best market affairs, its bar contains the purest and choicest liquors, its stable has attentive hostlers, and every convenience and comfort is extended to its guests. Through travelers on the railroad will find this an excellent place to lunch or procure a meal, as all trains stop there about 25 minutes. 24 24

THE CUMMINGS HOUSE, BELLEFONTE, PA.

Having assumed the proprietorship of this finely located and well known hotel, I desire to inform the public that what will have no bar, and be run strictly as a temperance hotel, it will furnish to its patrons all the comforts, conveniences and hospitalities offered by others. Its table will not be surpassed by any. Its rooms are large and comfortable. Its stabling is the best in town, and its prices to transient guests and regular boarders will be very reasonable. The citizens of the town will find in the basement of my hotel a FIRST-CLASS MEAT MARKET at which all kinds of Meat can be purchased at the very lowest rates. I earnestly solicit a share of the public patronage. GOTLEIB HAAG, 33 13

Medical.

MARCH 30-APRIL-30 MAY-30

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves the aid of a reliable medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to purify and enrich the blood, to create a good appetite and to overcome that tired feeling. It increases in popularity every year for it is the ideal spring medicine.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA "Every spring for years I have made it a practice to take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities. That languid feeling, sometimes called 'spring fever,' will never visit the system that has been properly cared for by this never-failing remedy." W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor Agricultural Epitome, Indianapolis, Ind.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE "I have taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and consider it the best blood medicine I have ever taken. It builds me up, makes me sleep better, gives me a good appetite and improves my health generally." Mrs. A. P. LEONARD, Portland, Me.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass. 100 DOSES ONE DOLLAR

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER.

CURES ALL DISEASES. The claim to cure all diseases may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet giving the history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear.

—MANY housewives prefer to do their own marketing, not trusting the buying of their food to their servants. This is where ladies do go to market it would be a good plan to have a regular dress made for the occasion. For summer wear a neat founced or French sateen; for winter a quiet gray cloth or flannel suit. If one chances to brush against a greasy stall or come in contact with moist vegetables such materials will not be ruined, and with impunity. And then, too, it shows better taste to wear something quiet and unobtrusive on such occasions. Our sense of proprieties is constantly being shocked by meeting ladies (at least they have money and position, but I doubt if they are real Simon-Pure ladies) on marketing expeditions decked with diamonds, earrings, pins, etc. Perhaps they delight in dazzling the eyes of the butcher, fish-monger or vegetable man! Still we do not admire such taste. A plain quiet dress, appropriate to the occasion, will not conceal the fact that one is a lady—that is, if she is one.

—It is dangerous to tamper with irritating liquids and exciting snuffs. Use Ely's Cream Balm, which is safe and pleasant, and is easily applied. It cures the worst cases of catarrh of the head and hay fever, giving relief from the first application. Price 50 cents.

Church Etiquette.

It has recently been rumored, perhaps without foundation, that an eminent Brooklyn divine has adopted, or intends to adopt, a chorister's robe for his women choir, in other words, that they will wear during the service a specially designed attire. It has already been remarked that this is a very High-Church practice, and doubtless there will be disapproval of this innovation in some quarters.

A writer in the Ladies' World says she has never seen a High-Church woman, but must indorse this movement as eminently sensible. Let any woman of any sect look at the matter fairly, in the following light, and the writer thinks she will be convinced of the wisdom of this contemplated change.

Imagine a choir of young women seated in their places, perhaps in full view of the congregation, the majority of them dressed according to the latest fashions. Every woman knows what hats are now almost universally worn. Think for a moment, of a dozen or twenty Treherne hats rising and bowing in unison, to say nothing of their side-wise motions, and fancy the flutter of plumes, the glitter of jet and steel and gold ornaments that change to a modest chorister's robe would be an unwise one.

In a number of churches in England a chorister's robe has been adopted for the women choirs, and although the movement met with opposition was directed more to the putting of the women choirs, than to the putting of the men's choirs, than against robing them. No one will dispute the charm that attaches to the white robing of the boys' and men's choirs, nor will there be a question as to its fitness.

Such being the case, the writer can see no reason against attire for girls and women choristers in sedate, suggestive robes, especially when they occupy prominent and special sittings.

The writer would favor a still more aggressive movement, looking to the adoption of a church costume of a quiet and refined character, entirely devoid of elaborate ornamentation; in a word, a dress that would not suggest display. The large, round hats of the period, with its plumes and fanciful decorations, is not appropriate for church wear. The same may be said of profusely beaded mantles of every description, glittering jewelry and other ornaments, for these attract attention, and distract the thoughts of many who might otherwise be devout, or perhaps try to be. Not the least objection to the large hats in the manner in which they obstruct the view of the preacher and annoy him by their many movements.

The writer has often wondered what must be the effect of the movement of several hundred heads and scores of many-colored fans on the nerves of a perhaps sensitive organized preacher, when the least objection to the large hats in the manner in which they obstruct the view of the preacher and annoy him by their many movements.

Work Thought Over a Century Old.

Captain Jack Haynes, the engineer in charge of the elevator engine at the Fagan building, is 102 years old. As he stood in front of the structure the other morning no one would have placed his age at over 65 years, and there would even have been some misgivings as to his being quite that venerable. Nevertheless, it was in 1787 that this engineer came into this world, his birthplace being Tennessee. Like nearly all Tennesseans, the centenarian is a six-footer, chews tobacco, and loves a good story. He is active, healthy, spare in figure and only slightly bent with his wonderful weight of years, and possesses the eyesight of a frontiersman.

—Gladstone is 80 years old, but his mind and body are in as fine a condition when he was only three-score. His voice is still clear and ringing, and he is never thrown off his guard. He is tall, slim and bony, has been all his life fond of healthy, out of door exercises, and to this attributes his vigorous old age.

ALL THINGS NEW.

Old sorrows that sit at the heart's sealed gate, Like sentinels deep and sad, While out in the night damp, weary and late The king with a gift divinely great, Is waiting to make us glad.

Old fears that hang like a hanging cloud Over a sunless day, Old burdens that keep the spirit bowed, Old wrongs that rankle and clamor loud, Shall pass like a dream away.

In the world without and the world within He maketh the old things new, The touch of sorrow, the stain of sin, Shall flee from the gate when the King comes in, From the chill night's damp and dew.

On earth new blossoms spring, The old life lost in the life divine, 'Tis will be mine, my will be thine, Is the song which the new hearts sing. Washington Post.

Strict Economy.

Sciences growing about economy, and in these days of varied manufactures, and perfect facilities for carrying them on, there is very little waste material in any branch of trade. The Sunday Call in describing the slaughter of cattle at Newark, N. J., says that no part of a steer is lost save its dying breath. Nothing is wasted from the tip of the tongue to the brush on the end of the tail. The blood is caught and sold to make albumen for sugar refineries or other manufacturers, or to form a cheap substitute for the high rubber and other plastic material used in the manufacture of buttons. When the meat is dressed the contents of the stomach is dried and baled as manure and the stomach itself is prepared as tripe.

The hide goes to the tanner, the head is skinned and denuded of flesh for the sausage maker, the horns go to the comb maker, who knocks out the pith and sells it to the glue manufacturer, who is ever ready to take all the refuse from any part of the steer. The horny covering of the hoofs are almost as useful as the horns for making buttons and similar articles, and the feet can be used for oil and glue.

The shin bones make the finest of bone handles, and all the rest of the bony structure, which the butcher is unable to sell with the meat, finds its way eventually to the manufacturer of bone fertilizer and bone black.

A few of the tails are utilized, in cold weather, in the manufacture of oxtail soup, but usually the tail goes with the hide, and becomes spoiled for tannery. Every scrap of the animal's skin, even the pate, as the skin of the head is called, is used, in one way or another, and the refuse of the tanneries becomes an important part of the income of those establishments.

Harrison Means Mischief.

Postmaster General Wainmaker is busy appointing negro postmasters at the South, wherever such appointments are likely to create bitter feeling and a sense of humiliation. He has made negro postmasters recently, some worthless and incompetent, in a number of thriving Southern towns and cities. He does this to stir up the people, and not in the interests of efficient administration. Rather the reverse. We have yet to hear of the President or the postmaster general appointing a negro postmaster at the North, and Harrison was elected by negro votes in New York and Indiana. In connection with Dudley's blocks of five they saved the party.

A Wonderful Cow.

Some years ago John Williamson, of Bedford township, Bedford county, bought a young cow in Cumberland Valley township. When she was two years old she gave birth to two calves. Mr. Williamson then sold her to John Henderson, who owned her for several years. She produced twins when she was 3 years old and again at the age of 4. When she was 5 she had three calves at a birth, and a year later had twins the fourth time. Charles Burgoon, of Bedford township, then became the owner of the animal, and last Friday night she presented him with triplets. This wonderful cow has had fourteen calves and will not be 8 years old until next summer.

CONNECTICUT CAKE.

Beat to a cream half a pound of butter. Then beat two eggs very light and add them to a quart of milk. Mix in the butter and stir in sufficient yellow Indian meal to make a batter about as thick as for muffins. Bake it in a buttered pan for an hour and a half or two hours, according to its thickness. Send it to table hot and eat it with butter.

SPONGE PUDDING.

One egg, one cupful of sugar, a small piece of butter, one half cupful of water or sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and flour enough to make a good batter. Bake in a long pan in quick oven.

SOUR MILK BISCUITS.

One quart of flour, two cupfuls of sour milk, two level teaspoonfuls of soda and two large tablespoonfuls of lard. Mix with the hand as bread dough, only not so stiff. Roll out about an inch thick, cut and bake in moderate oven.

Cider in cooking is of great value.

For boiling a ham and basting a roast (the an-bent way of cooking it.) There is scarcely a boiled or stewed fish you can name, for which wine is set down as necessary in its preparation for the table, but it is as good, or even better, by using cider.

—Pontiac, the famous Indian chief, during the war which he waged against the English in 1762 issued promissory notes or bills of credit, written upon birch bark, to purchase supplies for his warriors, and such was this chief's reputation for integrity that the French readily received these bills, which were subsequently all redeemed, in the latter respect being unlike the Continental bills of credit.

—Now, give attention to the purification of your blood, for at no season is the body so susceptible to the benefits to be derived from a good medicine, as in March, April and May. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the people's favorite spring medicine. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, curing scrofula, salt rheum etc., regulating the kidneys and liver, repairing the nerve tissues, strengthening and invigorating the whole body, as well as checking the progress of acute and chronic disease, and restoring the afflicted parts to a natural, healthy condition. If you have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla for your 'spring medicine,' do so this season.

—A French savant calculated the time required for a journey around the earth, and has obtained the following results: A man walking day and night, without resting, would take 428 days, an express train, 40 days; sound at a medium temperature 22½ hours; a cannon ball, 21½ hours; light, a little over one-tenth of a second; and electricity, passing over a copper wire, a little under one tenth of a second.
