Friday Morning, May 2, 1890.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Mr. M. H. GIBBS, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for Grogg ownership.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

Centre Hall money lenders have $35,000 out at interest.

The pension of Christopher Eltenberger, of Port Matilda, has been increased.

Parties near Tusseyville have purchased a Norman stallion, from Nebraska, for $2700.

Geo. Ulrich has received the appointment of census enumerator for Millheim borough.

J. C. Raudenbush, of Laurelton, who committed suicide last week, had his life insured for $15,000.

The wheat fields of Centre county never looked better at this time of the year than they do this spring.

A camp of the P. O. S. of A. was formed at Howard last Friday night, numbering about 30 members.

Treasurer Cyrus Goss has moved his family into the house on Spring street recently vacated by Geo. O. Boal.

John Eckenroth, son of Charles Eckenroth, of this place, died at Galitz on Saturday, aged about 23 years, and was buried in Bellefonte on Monday.

Miss Fanny Twitmyer, of this place, has accepted a position as one of the instructors of the Kindergarten department of the Millersville State Normal School.

Dr. W. E. Hall, of Renovo, brother of the late Senator John G. Hall, of Ridgway, died at Fort Monroe, Va., last Friday morning, on his way home from Florida.

Rev. Henry C. Baskerville, of Princeton, N. Y., will preach in the Presbyterian church at Center Hill, Sunday, May 4th, at 10:30 a. m., and at Center Hall in the evening.

W. H. Dale, nephew of Clement Dale and Al. Dale, esq., of this place, who is now finishing his course at the Selinsgrove Lutheran Seminary, is likely to be called by the Lutheran congregation at Philipsburg.

Last Monday afternoon Mr. Michael Daugherty and Miss Sophia McGill, both of this place, were married in the Catholic church. Mr. Joseph Fox was groomsmen and Mrs. John Carney, bridesmaid.

Samuel Parker, of Philipsburg, the other day performed a successful operation on a chicken that had overloaded her digestive apparatus with corn. He cut open the craw, took out the corn and then sewed it up again. The chicken is doing well.

A party of venturesome young ladies from DuBois propose to start from that place on May 1st and walk to Renovo, a distance of 73 miles. This is a novel undertaking, and requires considerable courage, but the young ladies claim to possess it.

The box factory at Millmont, on the Bellefonte and Lewisburg railroad, was destroyed by fire some days ago, involving a loss of about $7000 to its owners, Smith & Cauley, on which there was an insurance of $3500. It is likely that it will be rebuilt.

The recent sudden death of Mr. Wm. Armstrong, of Potters' Mills, occurred at Lemont while on a visit to his son, the landlord at that place. When he arrived at Lemont he was apparently in good health, but he was soon after taken with a stroke of paralysis which terminated fatally. He was over 80 years of age.

The jury appointed by the Huntingdon county court, and consisting of Centre county men, to assess damages sustained by ex-Sheriff Thomas K. Henderson at Union Furnace, by the taking of his lands for straightening the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, have awarded him $3,000, which is $12,000 less than he claimed.

Those who engage in illegal fishing should bear in mind that by the Act of Assembly of May 22, 1889, all kinds of net and seine fishing, including out-lines, are prohibited under a penalty of $100, or three months imprisonment, or both, with the forfeiture of boats, nets and all appliances. The only legal way of taking game fish is by hook, line and rod, except eels, which may be caught otherwise.

In regard to the workman who we mentioned as having fallen off the dump at the Centre furnace, this place, and fractured his skull, the Altoona Mirror says: A Hungarian was brought to this city and removed to the hospital for treatment to his head and spinal column which he injured at Bellefontesome days ago, by falling off a structure twenty-two feet high. He seems to be in a very distressed condition but relief will be given as soon as possible.

A BIG BLOW ABOUT BASEBALL.—It is about settled, says the Democrat, that Lock Haven is to have a first class baseball club, as almost enough money has been already secured for that purpose, and it is supposed that the balance of the amount needed will be raised to-day. Baseball grounds have been secured on the avenue above Hipple's planing mill and work on them will be commenced at once. As soon as the Lock Haven club gets fully started and has had a little practice, the Williamsport, Renovo, Bellefonte, and clubs from other towns, can come here and learn how to play baseball, while having the spots knocked off of them in every game. Do you hear, you baseball fellows all around everywhere?

THEIR FIRST ASSEMBLY.—The Senior Class of the Pennsylvania State College Inaugurates Dancing at that Institution with a Grand Assembly at the New Armory.—After having for a long time denied the privilege of dancing to the students, the trustees of the College, at their last meeting in January, reconsidered the matter and upon petition of the senior class granted it the right to direct three hops a year at the college, one of which to be given each term. Owing to the uncompleted condition of the armory it was found impossible to give the first assembly at any time during last term, so it was postponed and the dance of last Friday night was the fulfillment of the students' hopes that had been growing for several years.

The new armory, the building in which the assembly was given, is a white sandstone and brick structure, 160 by 60 feet, and a more desirable place for a dance can not be found. To the right, upon entering, was the ladies' reception rooms in which everything was most conveniently arranged. The gentlemen left their hats and coats in Lieut. Wolf's, the commandant's, office where everything was taken care of except "J. I. T.'s hat with a little buckle on the side."

Upon entering the drill room the appearance was striking. Without any pretense of decorations, except a few navy blue and white bows—college colors—by which the traveling rings were artistically drawn together, it presented a sight which is rarely seen in this vicinity. Painted in shrimp pink, olive and buff, with the roof trusses in pale blue, and a floor which was waxed until it reflected the brilliant rays of the hundred or more electric lights, the hall certainly looked handsome. The patronesses, Mrs. Geo. W. Atherton, Mrs. Jas. Y. McKee, Mrs. G. C. Pond, Miss H. A. McElwain, Mrs. Wm. Buckhout, Mrs. L. E. Reber, Mrs. S. A. Wolf, Mrs. J. J. Jackson, Mrs. J. S. Mitchell and Mrs. Jno. A. Heston, received in their most graceful manner and exerted every effort to make the occasion one long to be remembered by both students and guests.

Dancing was commenced soon after eight and continued with but one intermission until one. The music furnished by Stopper & Fiske's orchestra, of Williamsport, consisting of ten pieces, under the direction of Prof. Steubgen, was "divine," according to the lady dancers, and "of a very superior order," according to several critics who attended for the sole purpose of hearing it. The acoustic properties of the hall could not be better, as the dreamy strains of "auf weider seben" were distinctly heard in every part of it.

At one time there were one hundred and fifty couples dancing the lancers, and as they all shassayed in the last figure they presented a view to the spectators in the gallery which is seldom equalled for gayety and splendor.

With the first warning of "lights" the people began to realize that the time for departure was near, and when the strains of the last waltz floated over the hall every body seemed to breathe a sigh of regret that the end of such an enjoyable event had come so soon.

Among the guests from a distance were Miss Allen, Paterson, N. J.; Miss Jessie Hilton, Washington, D. C.; Miss Calloway, Baltimore; Miss Catherine Gossler, Columbia, Pa.; Miss May Hess, Lock Haven; Misses Hoover and Barnes, Philipsburg; Miss Kapp, Altoona; Miss Peggy Petriken and Joseph Rhoades, Huntingdon; Mrs. Dr. Smith, Misses Maude Patterson and Effie Hamilton, Messrs. Horace and Lewis Blair, Charley Witter, Gerald Hoover and Charley Morris, Tyrone; Misses Snyder, Pomeroy and Leyden, Beech Creek; Capt. C. W. Roberts, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Gussie Roberts and Miss McFarland, West Chester. Many Bellefonte society people were up in a special train over the B. B. R. and B. C. R. R.

If the assembly of Friday night was a criterion of what their future ones will be, we are of the opinion that the college boys will have to put an addition to the armory so that their friends can be accommodated. However this may be, the assembly was an honor to the institution, a credit to the class of '90, and an event whose success is due largely to Harry Leyden, Fred Bryan, Will P. Brew, Jas. C. Meek and Phil Gossler, the class committee.

The game that was to come off on Wednesday between the Altoona and State College baseball clubs on the grounds of the latter, was cancelled.

Mrs. Patrick Dooly died on East High street on Tuesday evening at the great age of 95 years, and was buried from the Catholic church on Thursday morning.

California trout, the fry of which were put in Spring creek three years ago, have been caught at this place, this spring, twelve inches long. They are a peculiarly and beautifully marked fish.

Col. J. L. Spangler is making extensive repairs on the old Hale mansion on Allegheny street, which he recently purchased and where he and Mrs. Spangler will soon install their Lares and Penates.

Miss Dot Johnston, a young colored lady, of Lock Haven, and Mr. James Fry, a young colored gentleman, of the same place, simultaneously disappeared, the other day, and there is a suspicion that it was a case of elopement with the object of getting married.

Another weather prophet has appeared upon the scene. This time he is Randall T. Malin, of Ridgway township, Elk county, and is said to be 88 years of age, straight as an arrow and spry as a kitten. He foretold to a day the late cyclones in the South and West, and also the recent forest fires. He is indeed a wonderful old man and to listen to him is quite a treat. So says the Elk County Democrat.

The remains of the late Dr. W. E. Hall were buried on Sunday in Fairview cemetery, at Renovo, the funeral being largely attended. The body was first taken to Trinity church on Third street, Renovo, where the burial service of the Episcopal church was said over it, after which it was conveyed to the special train in waiting. Notwithstanding the rain, not less than 500 people were in attendance.

Among the many visitors to town this week, who came, some to attend Court because they had to, others to look on because they wanted to, and still others in whose bonnets the official bee is beginning to buzz, was W. Gayler Morrison, esq., of Philipsburg, who, if indications do not belie him, can properly be placed in the latter class. Mr. Morrison, we understand, is seriously considering the propriety of again becoming a candidate for Recorder.

The farmer is advised to keep his eye on the "stump man" who goes around the country buying up walnut or other stumps at the rate of one dollar apiece, but when he comes to pay for them finds that he has nothing less than a $10 bill. This he hands to the farmer and receives $9 in change, if only one stump has been purchased. Then he skedaddles as fast as possible and gets out of reach. When the farmer attempts to pass the $10 bill he finds that it is counterfeit.

In mentioning the coal development of the Philipsburg region, the Ledger, of that place, says: The grading of the railroad from old Loch Lomond, on the Morrisdale branch of the T. & C. R. R., to Cold Stream Dam, is almost completed. The dumps and tipples are nearly ready, and when the track is laid, another coal operation will be adding its output to the stream of coal that is pouring over the mountain to Tyrone every day.

C. C. Seeley, Esq., the popular, well awake editor of the Jersey Shore Herald, found time on Friday last to run up to Bellefonte to see how the place has grown since he used to stomp his toes and get stone bruises on his heels when a bare-footed boy, running our streets. We are sorry we were not at home when Mr. S. called, but are glad to learn from the papers that he got home safely, and has concluded to become a candidate for the Legislature, a position he is eminently qualified to fill and which the Democracy of western Lycoming could not do better than tender him unanimously.

In view of the fact that the Fifth Pennsylvania Reserves will have a reunion in Columbia, Lancaster county, on the 14th of May, at which Governor Curtin is to be present, the Independent of that borough recalls the incident of Curtin's promise that "the bones of every soldier from this State, who died in the service, should be brought home and be buried in Pennsylvania soil, and the widow and orphans of every Pennsylvania soldier should be cared for and educated by the State. This promise was redeemed to the letter. In no national cemetery in the South is there a known Pennsylvania soldier's grave, and in the case of the soldier's widows and soldier's orphans Pennsylvania has led every other State. It was also Governor Curtin's boast that no soldier's letter to him, however unimportant, was unanswered."

THE LAIRDVILLE MYSTERY.—It is learned from Lairdsville to-day, says the Williamsport Republican of Monday, that several detectives have visited the scene of last week's fire with a view to obtaining a clue to the possible murderer of old man Crouse, who was at first thought to have burned to death. The opinion grows that he was the victim of foul play and the fact that his brother has offered a reward of $1,000 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the murderer may result in the discovery of something startling within the next few days.

Suspicion is at present directed toward a man who has been a resident of Lairdsville for about a year, and who left the place early on the morning of the fire, and while there may be nothing in the fact that he left town so suddenly and returned in the evening, many are of the belief that his going away at that time was for the purpose of secreting money which he secured after murdering Hiram Crouse and firing the building.

THE LATE DR. HALL.—The Renovo News, speaking of the late Dr. William E. Hall, of that place, whose recent death at Fort Monroe, Va., is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, says that he was born at Milesburg, this county, in 1841. He studied medicine with Dr. Butler, at East Freedom, Blair county, and was graduated at Jefferson Medical College in 1867. Previous to this he served in the Fifty-fourth Pennsylvania regiment during the Rebellion, acting as assistant to the surgeon of regiment. In 1869 he located as a physician at St. Mary's, but later in the same year went to Renovo where he established a drug store and practiced his profession with great success. His marriage to Miss Anna Kephart took place in 1864. He was at Fort Monroe, in company with his brother, Hon. J. K. P. Hall and the latter's wife, when death overtook him. The party had spent the previous month in Florida, where he had gone for the benefit of his health, and were on their way home.

G. A. R. POST INSPECTION.—The annual inspection of Posts in the Departments of Pennsylvania, G. A. R., for 1890, will be made under the supervision of Abraham Levering, department inspector, of Philadelphia.

The following persons have been designated for district No. 31, James H. Rankin, of Post No. 95, as Assistant Inspector at Large. The following are his assistants: J. C. P. Jones, of 261 J. D. Miller, of 272; Rev. Owen Hicks, of 298; P. H. Sellers, of 419; W. C. VanValin, of 203; Geo. M. Boal, of 282; and Wm. Singer, of 302.

CHILD DROWNED.—A little five-year-old son of Harry and Sallie Bellman, of Selinsgrove, who were visiting Mrs. Bellman's mother in Millheim, was drowned in Elk creek, just a short distance from the house of his grandparents, one day last week. The little fellow strayed off and in attempting to cross the creek on a footlog fell into the water and was carried down stream. The body was recovered.

LARGE TREES.—The Renovo News says that O. W. Wolf cut a tree on Shingle Branch last Saturday that measured eight 16 foot logs, which scaled 6004 feet of lumber. He cut one last month which scaled 16 foot and one 12 foot logs, which scaled 5500 feet. Lumbermen of experience say that these are the largest trees ever cut in Pennsylvania. They are monstrous big, straight from the ground up with no forks or large branches, as such trees usually have.

Mr. Norman M. Hoover, of Little Rock, Arkansas, whose death was briefly mentioned in the WATCHMAN of last week, was the eldest son of the late Col. John T. Hoover, of this place. Mr. Hoover read law and was admitted to the bar of Bellefonte, after which he went south, locating in Little Rock some eighteen or twenty years since, and engaged in the real-estate business. The many readers of this paper who knew him personally, and admired him for his sterling worth, will join with his aged mother and brothers and sisters, who still reside here, in mourning the loss of one who had the promise of a long and useful life, and whose every act proved him to be one of God's noblemen. In speaking of his death the Little Rock Democrat says: "In the death of N. M. Hoover, which took place at his residence in East End last evening, the community loses a valuable citizen and his wife and children a kind, indulgent husband and father. The deceased had been a citizen of Little Rock for a number of years, and had been connected with George H. Meade since 1882. He was a member of Capital Lodge, A. O. U. W., and has a large circle of friends who sincerely regret his death."

The new bar room of the Bush House, at the east end of the building, will, when completed, be one of the handsomest apartments of the kind in this part of the state.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The April term of the Centre county court commenced last Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Frank McCoy was chosen as foreman of the grand jury, and Judge Furst gave the jury instructions in regard to the bill that would be brought before it concerning the Weaver murder case. The constables then made their customary returns. The trial of the criminal cases was commenced in the afternoon, as follows:

Com. vs. Peter Ashcroft.—The defendant was a landlord doing business in Philipsburg and a bill was found against him for selling liquor, some time last November, to persons of intemperate habits. The jury found him guilty and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, costs of prosecution and undergo an imprisonment of 60 days in county jail. His application for license, which had been pending, was rejected.

Com. vs. John Burket.—The defendant was from the neighborhood of Philipsburg and was charged with selling liquor without license. He is a very ignorant person and unable to speak the English language. It was proved that he had sold liquor to a number of persons he having no license to do business of that kind, and the only defence set up for him was that he was too ignorant to know that he was violating the law. This would not exonerate him, the jury finding him guilty, and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs, and undergo imprisonment in jail for three months.

Com. vs. Maggie Spiece.—The defendant was from Philipsburg and was charged with stealing articles of clothing from her employer John Irvin, in whose family she was a domestic. She pleaded guilty and submitted to the mercy of the court.

Com. vs. W. F. Richards.—False pretense. The prosecution was brought by O. C. Marks on the charge that the defendant had obtained a team of horses from him by false representations. The evidence showed that Richards purchased the horses, giving in payment a judgment on a piece of land which he represented to be unincumbered, but which afterwards proved to have judgments on it for more than its worth. The testimony in the case was conflicting, and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, and divided the costs between the prosecutor and defendant.

Com. vs. John McKinney.—The charge against the defendant was assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons. McKinney was a scholar of one of the Philipsburg schools and some time in March Prof. Richey, Superintendent of the schools, attempted to correct him for misconduct. He testified that defendant, when about being subjected to punishment, drew a revolver, and, with the remark "Now, d—n you, I defy you to touch me," pointed it at him. McKinney, in his own defence, testified that he did not draw a revolver and did not have one, and that what the Professor mistook for a pistol was a small book, which was produced in court. Other witnesses testified that they never knew him to carry a revolver. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, but recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court.

Com. vs. John L. Croft.—The defendant is road supervisor in Boggs township, and the prosecution, brought by Benjamin Walker, charged the defendant with not keeping the public road from Snow Shoe to Snow Shoe Intersection, within the limits of Boggs township, in proper repair. After a thorough trial of the merits of the case the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs, amounting to about $100 apiece, between the prosecutor and defendant.

Com. vs. John B. Veidbeofer.—Assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery. This was the stabbing case that occurred last winter near Moshannon in which John Force received dangerous wounds. The bill was ignored and the costs put on the county.

OTHER CASES DISPOSED OF.
Commonwealth vs. Andrew Weaver. Intimidating witnesses. True bill.
Com. vs. J. E. Walker. Forcible entry and detainer. True bill. Settled and costs paid.
Com. vs. Amanda Grieb and Emma Bair. Malicious mischief. Not a true bill and prosecutor, J. E. Walker, to pay costs.

Com. vs. W. E. Landon. Assault and battery. Settled.
Com. vs. W. A. Brown. Settled.
Com. vs. W. W. Pettingill. Defendant not able to appear in court.
Com. vs. Price Swisher. Settled.
Com. vs. Cal. Miller. Settled and costs paid.

Com. vs. Morris Wrye. Settled.
Com. vs. D. J. Meyer. Assault and battery. Settled.
Com. vs. Alf. Davis. Settled, the defendant pleading guilty to the robbery of Buddinger's store at Snow Shoe.

THE WEAVER MURDER CASE.
On Thursday morning the prosecution against Fietta Weaver, charged with the murder of Andrew Weaver, sr., was commenced, the grand jury having found a true bill. The particulars of the offence, which happened in Penn township, on the 28th of last January, have been fully given in our columns. W. E. Gray, esq., assisted by John G. Love, esq., appeared for the defendant, who pleaded "not guilty" to the indictment for murder. District Attorney Meyer represented the commonwealth.

After a large number of the panel of jurors were rejected, the following jurors were chosen as competent to try the case:

Christ Haverly, Centre township; Samuel Irvin, Ferguson; D. Poulson, Howard borough; L. H. Musser, Walker; George Fink, Huston; John D. Brown; Snow Shoe township; Elmer Vaughn, Worth; John F. Schenck, Howard township; D. A. Dietrick, Walker, Wm. Brooks, Boggs; Jacob Stine, Walker; H. H. Schroyer, Bellefonte.

The examination of witnesses on the part of the prosecution was in progress when we went to press, but not sufficient to be of interest to our readers. The substance of the evidence will be given next week.

The businessmen of Lock Haven had a carnival last Tuesday evening which is described as having been a great success. It was held in the opera house, for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Union, where there was a brilliant combination of fair women and business men.

It is said that the ability of the Lock Haven ball players doesn't extend further than sock ball, but this may be a slander circulated by envious rivals.
