Mr. M. H. Grew, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the Watchman for Gregg township.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—50,000 pounds of wool wanted—
Lyon & Co. 23 14

—Mr. Will Furst, son of Judge Furst, will be one of this year's graduates at Princeton.

—At the races at Houtzdale last Saturday the first prize, $300, was won by Maud Douglass, a Tyrore horse.

—A handsome house that is being erected on East Linn street for Irvin Hagerman is approaching completion.

—An effort is being made to establish a Bellefonte bicycle club. Charley Noll is at the head of the movement.

—Work at the mill is temporarily suspended by a breakdown, which is being repaired as speedily as possible.

—Theodore Steele and family of this place have found a new location in Tyrore to which they moved last week.

—In the case of Rishel vs. Tressler, before Esq. Foster, on a charge of trespass, judgment was given to the plaintiff in the sum of $23.

—A pension has been granted to James Swires, of Milesburg, and the pension of David Harshberger, of Hubersburg, has been increased.

—The Phillipsburg papers speak in high terms of the Decoration Day address delivered in that place by D. F. Fortney, Esq., of Bellefonte.

—Mr. John I. Potter returned on Tuesday from a western trip which lasted several weeks and extended as far toward the setting sun as Minnesota and Nebraska.

—Professor and Mrs. D. O. Etters entertained the class of '90, Bellefonte High School, at their residence on Bishop street, Saturday evening. An enjoyable time was passed by all present.

—The roof is being put on Garman's new opera house. The building is making remarkable progress considering the unfavorable weather that prevailed much of the time since its commencement.

—The Howard postoffice under its new postmaster has been furnished with the modern improved post office fixtures, general delivery, letter boxes, stamp window, &c. It is located in a large and commodious room.

—The Lock Haven Express reports the falling of an aerolite on the farm of Judge Mayer a short distance below that place. It says that a chip broken from the aerolite had a resemblance to iron ore and was quite heavy.

—With the advent of hot weather, dusty streets and the necessity for sprinkling lawns and gardens, the demands on the water works always increase, and consequently it now takes seventeen hours pumping to put up the supply of water required.

—The Westport correspondent of the Renovo News says: Samuel Werts, one of the oldest river pilots on the waters, made the best time to Marietta with a timber raft on record, last week, having made the trip and return in four days. Who can beat it?

—Among the awards given at the High School commencement was a special one of a copy of Bryant's works, to Miss Mable Woodring by an admiring friend in recognition of the credit she deserved for completing her course of studies under adverse circumstances.

—Helen Dauvray Ward, the separated wife of Ward, the Bellefonte baseball celebrity, has gone to California for a six weeks' stay at Oakland, when her new play, Whirlwind, will be read to her, and she will then go to Europe, returning in time to produce the play on September 1st.

—The remains of Patrick Dillon, the unfortunate foreman of the Collins limestone quarry, who was killed last Friday, were buried in the Catholic cemetery at this place last Monday morning. They were followed to the grave by a large procession of his friends and fellow workmen.

—Last Friday morning about 2 p. m., a building on the farm of Daniel Lesh near Zion took fire and was destroyed with its contents which consisted of a threshing machine, clover huller, water tank and other articles. It is supposed to have been set on fire. Loss about $1600, half covered by insurance.

—Mr. Adolph Loeb has moved with his family to Addison, West Virginia. He was for a number of years one of the leading business men of Bellefonte, but his health broke down several years ago, which eventually compelled him to withdraw from business. We hope that his health may be restored in his new location.

A TERRIBLE QUARRY ACCIDENT.

A terrible accident occurred at the limestone quarry connected with the Collins furnace, last Friday resulting in the immediate killing of Patrick Dillon, the foreman of the quarry. A number of blasts were exploded about noon, and on this occasion, at that time of day, the blasts were set off as usual. The men employed retired some distance to avoid the effects of the explosion, and Mr. Dillon occupied his customary place under a clump of trees which he had always found a safe retreat. When one of the blasts went off a large stone about the size of a half bushel measure, was seen to rise high in the air. In descending it took the direction of the spot where Dillon was standing, and passing through the branches of the trees, struck him on the head, completely cutting away the left side of his head and face. His death was instantaneous. He was an excellent workman and had been foreman of the quarry for some years. Several years ago he was nearly killed by an accident in the same quarry. He was about 40 years of age and was unmarried.

MEMORIAL DAY.—The ceremony of decorating the soldiers' graves was observed with the usual impressiveness in Bellefonte last Friday. In the performance of this duty our citizens never fail to pay their tribute to the departed heroes in a manner suitable to the valorous services of those who died in defence of the Union.

The floral preparations were commenced early in Friday morning by special detachments of Gregg Post and the W. R. C., who constructed a monument of flowers consisting of a handsomely arranged base with a floral column as a superstructure. It was a beautiful design and displayed the excellent taste of those who made it. This charming aggregation of floral beauty furnished a prominent feature in the ceremonies at the cemetery.

The parade was formed at 2 o'clock p. m. in the Diamond, the line being made up of Bellefonte Band, Company B, Gregg Post, Pleasant Gap Band, Undine Hose company, Zion Band and Logan Hose company. This procession was preceded by a carriage containing the orator of the day, Comrade W. W. Brown, ex-Governor Curtin and Dr. Fairlaub, and was followed by the vehicle bearing the column of flowers. The line of march was over the course previously published, terminating at the Union cemetery where a hollow square was formed on the north side of that burial enclosure. Four special graves were decorated by comrades Irvin, Miller, Rankin and Green, the choir singing "tread lightly o'er their graves." Then the general decoration of the graves of the soldiers in the cemetery was proceeded with in the usual manner. When this was completed the comrades were called together by the sound of the bugle to hear the oration of W. W. Brown, esq., of Bradford, Pa., which was a very well delivered, interesting and patriotic discourse. The oration was followed by a volley fired in salute of the heroic dead, after which the column was reformed and marched out of the cemetery, thus completing another annual tribute to the brave men who defended the flag in the hour of its deadliest peril.

DECORATION DAY AT PHILIPSBURG.

The people of Philipsburg showed their grateful remembrance of the soldiers sleeping in their cemeteries by impressive ceremonies last Friday, in which the surviving soldiers, citizens, civic societies and fire companies participated. A number of little children, bearing beautiful garlands of evergreens and flowers, formed an interesting feature of the demonstration. There were many visitors from neighboring towns and villages who came by train and vehicle to join in the exercises of the day. The people on this patriotic occasion were favored with an unusually excellent address delivered by D. F. Fortney, Esq., of Bellefonte, which contained many forcible and telling points, one of which we extract, as follows, because it contains several particularly striking truths and differs from the ordinary Decoration Day gush:

There are men in the Congress of the United States who, if we are to judge from what they say, think the war is yet not over, who would tear open all the horrible wounds of the war and destroy the peace of the Union. They are not patriots; they are partisans. Thank God they are not many. As party lines disappear, party walls fall down and the hearts of the people blend into unity, into love, into patriotism at the graves of our fallen heroes, so in our legislative halls should our representatives act.

There is no better time, nor place more appropriate than this, at the graves of our fallen comrades, to demand more patriotism and less partisanship of our public servants. It is for us to demand that we shall be more patriotically dealt with and not knocked about like a foot ball in the halls of legislation and political conventions. If we need pensions we should have them, but they should come honestly, and because they were earned by faithful, heroic service on the field, in the camp, or for suffering untold horrors in prisons, and not on the promises of any party, which, for our votes, is ready at least to promise, if not perform, everything.

It will be to your interest to read the Cash Bazaar's new advertisement in to-day's issue.

—On the afternoon of Decoration Day the drum corps of the 5th Regiment, P. N. G., arrived on the train from Altoona and spent the evening in this place, giving our citizens specimens of their admirable performance with the life and drum. The corps consists of fifteen performers, commanded by Drum Major Calvert. They put up at the Brockerhoff House and left for Altoona on Saturday morning.

—Speaking of the memorial address at Lock Haven, last Friday, the Democrat says: In the evening John G. Love, Esq., of Bellefonte, delivered the annual address in the Court House. It was a fine effort and highly appropriate to the occasion. Mr. Love is an able and eloquent speaker and his address was greatly appreciated. The audience was not as large as it should have been considering the excellence of the entertainment offered.

—In the Philadelphia Press teachers' contest, Miss Grant, Sunbury, leads with 8,833 votes; Miss Davis, Philadelphia, has 8,107; Miss Theilmann, Wilmington, Del., 7,707; Miss Bishop, Williamsport, 6,248. The first prize is a trip to Europe, the expense of which will be paid by the Press. Why isn't an effort made to get the European tour for one of Bellefonte's lady teachers?

—The Bellefonte School Board was organized on Monday evening for the ensuing year by the election of D. F. Fortney, Esq., President, W. B. Rankin, Secretary, and John P. Harris Treasurer. The second Tuesday night of each month was fixed as the regular meeting night. The Pennsylvania School Journal was ordered for the ensuing year, and then the board adjourned to Cade's where John P. Harris set up the ice cream and other innocuous refreshments.

—Last Friday afternoon in Huntingdon, Harry Johnston, aged 23, was fatally stabbed by John Couch, aged 21, in a quarrel about a keg of beer. Couch is now in jail to await trial for his bloody offense. It may be considered remarkable that such an occurrence should have happened in a town where liquor licenses have been denied in order to preserve the morals of the people. May be if these young men could have taken their beer by the glass in a well regulated saloon they would not have had occasion to quarrel over a keg of the stuff.

—About 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning the slumber of the people of Bellefonte was disturbed by the cry of fire, the hoarse roar of the steam signal and the clangor of the fire-alarm bell. There was noise enough for a first class conflagration. It proved to be a fire that had broken out in the second story of Potter's restaurant and confectionery store near the northeast corner of the Diamond. The firemen got it suppressed, but not until the upper part of the building was burned and the lower part damaged by water. The loss was about $500.

—George M. Peck, of Lock Haven formerly of Bellefonte, died on Thursday morning of last week, in the former place, of consumption, after confinement to his bed for ten weeks, and after a period of between two and three years of bad health. He was 73 years old and leaves a wife and two sons and a daughter. During the war of the rebellion Mr. Peck was a member of Co. D, 45th regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, and had the misfortune to be captured and imprisoned by the enemy in some of their worst prisons, notably Salisbury, Libby and Andersonville, for nine months, serving about three months in each one.

—The Hospital Commissioners, Hon. J. J. Spearman of Sharon; Hon. Jas. P. Coburn, of Aaronsburg; Hon. David Cameron of Wellsboro; Hon. Samuel H. French, of Pittsburg; Hon. H. D. Tate, of Bedford; accompanied by state architect John Windrum, of Philadelphia, and Mr. J. Reid of Curwensville, visited Philipsburg last week for the purpose of inspecting the Miners' State Hospital, which is almost completed. The distinguished visitors were much pleased with the progress of the work on the Hospital, and pronounced it well done, which is a compliment to the contractors, Hoover, Hughes & Co., and their efficient superintendent, Mr. Chas. Kemp.

—Mr. C. K. Syber, of this county, is justly celebrated as one of the most expert marksmen in this country, if not in the world, and it is said that when Forepaugh's circus was here he met his old and intimate friend, Capt. Bogardus, who has an engagement with Forepaugh, and an arrangement was made by which the two famous marksmen will, at some time in the future, form a combination and travel together, giving exhibitions of their skill. Mr. Syber defeated Capt. Bogardus in a pigeon shooting match at Milton some years ago, and the Captain acknowledges him to be one of the most remarkable experts with the shot gun that this or any other country has ever produced.

IMPORTANT INVENTION BY A CENTRE COUNTY MAN.—An electrical coal digger, the invention of Peter Arp, of Centre county, is in successful operation at Jackson's mine at Powelton. The plant consists, first of a seven-horse power automatic engine. To the engine is belted a seven-horse power generator. From the generator the wires are run through the mine to the coal cutter located about a mile from the mouth. This machine is operated by a very small motor, which is built in the machine.

The machine consists of an iron frame 24 inches high, 8 feet 6 inches long and 36 inches wide. Below are nine auger shaped drills, similar to those now used in mining. Between each drill is a steel cutter bar, which cuts all the coal left between the holes drilled by the augers. Under and hanging to the cutter bars are several rows of scrapers which hang loosely and pull all the coal back as fast as it is cut or drilled, thus keeping it out of the way and making the opening clear. All the coal taken out is coarse and none is wasted.

The height of the cut is about four inches. The machine can make two cuts 3 feet wide and 5 feet deep in 5 minutes, as it is easily handled, and only needs to be shoved along the breast by the aid of a couple of bars. It can be taken anywhere in any mine, and is easily handled on a truck supplied with rollers and a windlass. It weighs nearly 1,200 pounds. The machine can be raised or lowered to cut any part of the vein, sulphur, bony slate, or other hard substances.

The inventor claims that by the use of this machine the most dangerous part of the miners' work will be found unnecessary; that accidents resulting from falls of coal will be almost impossible; that its adoption and use will operate to the benefit of, and not to the detriment of miners, in that more coal will be taken out in a given length of time; that it will be taken out in much better shape; that little, if any, skill is necessary to operate the machine, and that its use must tend to elevate the avocation of the miner.

R. D. CUMMINGS DEAD.—Many of the readers of the WATCHMAN will be sorry to learn of the death of R. D. Cummings, at Philadelphia, on Tuesday, the 27th ult. By the older citizens of the county he will be remembered as being at one time one of the best known citizens, hotel keepers and stage-line owners in this section of the State. Away back in the fifties he was proprietor of the old Pennsylvania House in this place, and ran stage coaches to Tyrore, Lock Haven, Lewisport and other points. He erected and managed for some time the hotel at Port Matilda, and was the builder and for years the proprietor of the Cummings House in this place. Some twenty or more years ago, he took charge of the Eagle Hotel on North 3d st., Philadelphia, and after the successful management of it for three or four years, he became proprietor of the well known Merchant's Hotel, on 4th street. This was his last hotel venture and after running it successfully for several years he retired. For the past ten years his health had been gradually breaking down, and during the past four years he was a terrible sufferer. All through life he was one of the most hospitable of men, faithful in his friendship, kind, big-hearted and liberal. He leaves a widow and three daughters, Mrs. C. D. Keller, Mrs. W. H. Hacker and Mrs. Geo. Grim. The funeral took place on Saturday, his remains being brought to Williamsport and interred by the side of his first wife.

BOROUGH AFFAIRS.—At the council meeting on Monday evening two communications were read, one recommending that hitching posts be painted white so that they could be more easily seen at night, and the other advising an increase of the policemen's pay. Neither of them was acted upon.

In the matter of opening the cross street from Bishop to High, which was brought to the attention of the council at its last meeting, the records show it to be a legally opened street and the borough is responsible for its condition.

The nuisance on the McCafferty property was reported to have been abated. The borough was reported to be in debt to the treasurer to the amount of $5,470.88. Complaint was entered against the sewer running from Allegheny street to the gas works. Mr. James Harris asked council to extend a 3 inch water pipe from High street down Water to his driveway, and Samuel Shaffer requested the privilege of extending the water to his stables below the lime-kilns. These requests were referred to the appropriate committees.

An ordinance repealing the ordinance taxing opera houses was reported and passed. Borough solicitor, Clement Dale, esq., rendered an opinion in the matter of laying pavements, that all pavements should be laid according to the natural grade of the street as it at present exists. Other minor matters relating to the laying of pavements and crossings were attended to.

FREE DELIVERY.—The chief of the free mail delivery department was here from Washington on Monday, to make arrangements for the free delivery in Bellefonte, and it is the intention to have it in operation by the first of July.

FIRE AT LEMONT.—The grain elevator and coal shed of Mr. John I. Thompson was destroyed by fire last Tuesday night. The structures were completely destroyed, leaving nothing but a large pile of burning coal. The origin of the fire, which broke out at about 12 o'clock, is not known. The loss will be about $4000, on which there is an insurance of $1,820.

THAT METEOR.—The so-called meteor that lodged on the farm of Judge Mayer, just below the city limits, turns out to be a large piece of iron. It is said that the iron was thrown by a blast at the city quarry a few days ago on to the farm. The quarry is located on the south side of Bald Eagle creek, quite a distance from the farm, and the work of blasting stone for street purposes has been in progress for several weeks.—Lock Haven Express.

THE LOG CROP.—The Williamsport G. & B. of Saturday says: Reports from up the river are to the effect that there has been an almost perfect sweep of logs to the booms. There is less timber back than is usual for this time of year and the banks are virtually clean. This is gratifying, as it will insure a steady season's sawing, without any waiting for any floods to bring in the back logs. There are probably 230,000,000 feet in this city and at Lock Haven.

FOUND AT LAST.—Mr. James M. Rosensteel, a former well-known and highly respected citizen of Philipsburg, having been identified with the Moshannon tannery in this place previous to Mr. J. B. Childs' administration, was a victim of the flood disaster at Johnstown one year ago, and after a most diligent search by friends and relatives for his body, all hope of ever finding it was finally abandoned. On Memorial Day, while the thoughts of the people reverted to the Decoration Day occasion of one year ago as having been the last on earth for thousands of Johnstown's citizens, the body of Mr. Rosensteel was found, which naturally added a more vivid reminder of the flood. The discovery of the body will be a source of comfort to Mr. Rosensteel's many friends.—Philipsburg Journal.

DEATH OF EX-JUDGE DIVINS.—In the death of Hon. John Divins of Hubersburg, which occurred at his home in that place on Saturday last, Walker township loses one of its best known and most respected citizens. Mr. Divins had been invalid for several years, having suffered from partial paralysis of the body, which disabled him from attending to any business, or enjoying any of the pleasures of an active healthy life. In 1876 he was elected one of the Associate Judges of the county and for five years performed the duties of that office creditably to himself and satisfactorily to the people of the county. In politics he was a Democrat, and in religion a Presbyterian. Socially he was one of the cleverest of men, being hospitable under all circumstances, and charitable to a fault. His funeral, which took place on Monday, was very largely attended, and many were the good words that were said of him, and many a kind act recalled, as they laid his body in its last resting place in the cemetery near where he had lived the greater part of his life.
