

FREE DELIVERY.—The arrangements for the establishment of the free mail delivery system in Bellefonte, which will commence on the 1st of July, are progressing. There will be thirty-seven mail boxes, in which mail matter can be deposited. Most of them have been received by postmaster Fiedler, and some of them have already put up. They will be located at the following points:

At the First National Bank corner, W. F. Reynolds & Co's Bank corner, in front of Governor Curtin's residence, Centre County Bank corner, corner of Thomas and High streets, at Railroad depot, corner of Thomas and Lamb streets, Collins' furnace, Coleville, Glass Works, Nailworks, corner of the Pike and Curtin streets, Spring and Curtin, Allegheny and Curtin, East Curtin street, East Linn street, corner of Linn and Ridge, Linn and Allegheny, Linn and Spring, Howard and Spring, Lamb and Penn, Howard and Allegheny, Spring and Bishop, Allegheny and Bishop, Bishop and Lewistown pike, Bishop and Ridge, Penn and Logan, Spring and Logan, High and Penn High and Ridge, South Logan street, Centre Iron Company's office, corner of Willowbank and Reynolds's avenue, Bush's addition, Water street near Water Works, and in corridor of Court House.

There will be four routes served by John C. Bair, Thomas R. Benner, John A. Wagner and James J. Bayard. They will be attired in the regular letter-carrier's uniform of gray, with caps properly numbered according to the routes they shall serve.

Pine Grove Mentions. Mrs. Dockenay, of Altoona, is the guest of Mrs. Mary Boffert.

Mrs. George Harper is under medical treatment at Philadelphia.

The machinery at Tow Hill ore works is undergoing repairs, and will soon be ready to resume operations by the Tyrone Mining Company.

G. W. McWilliams's new barn was raised on Wednesday, which adds another plume to his carpenter W. B. Ward's hat as a barn architect.

Mrs. Stone Walker is in feeble health caused by an inward tumor. Her attending physician advises her going to the city for treatment.

Ex-Sheriff Walker spent a day recently viewing his broad acres located along the rippling waters of the branch, with a view of making improvements.

A spirited and closely contested base ball game was played last Saturday by the Gatesburg and Pine Grove clubs. After a number of skunks on both sides, on the ninth inning the game was tied; on the next inning the visiting club, very reluctantly too, threw up the bat.

We will not attempt to show the impropriety of the conduct of one of our town dogs, who has been under medical treatment for a year, but who thought himself sufficiently strong to get up out of his bed to view the merry-go-round from a prominent position in the back alley.

The festival under the auspices of the temperance ladies last Saturday evening, was largely attended, and as the weather was all that could have been desired, it added much to the sociability of the occasion, although the plug-ugly parade was not what was expected. We believe the proceeds of the festival amounted to about sixty-five dollars.

Mr. J. G. Heberling, known as an old timer, has been, for the last quarter of a century, with the exception of one year, engaged in the furniture business in this town. Mr. Minto was, whatever he found to do in his line, do it well. He is succeeded by his son J. Benton, and William Smith. Both are young men of mechanical ingenuity, and there is no reason why they should not meet with success. The firm name will be Heberling & Smith, and they can be found at the old stand on Main street.

Last Sunday evening was children's day in the Presbyterian church in this place. At 7:30 o'clock the church filled up, many visitors being within the gates to witness the exercises, which consisted of declamations, concert reading and music. They were conducted by Superintendent J. B. Mitchell. Rev. George Elliott delivered the address in his usual eloquent style, in which he received not only the attention of the children but of the entire audience, taking for his subject "Make it plain."

Books, Magazines, &c. The July number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine departs from its usual make-up and devotes itself largely to fiction, travel and sports. A new southern writer, Robert Yules Toombs of Georgia, comes to the front with one of the most spirited sketches of southern life yet published. Julian Hawthorn presents a curious study of the Boston girl, asking of her in his title-page "Was it Typical?" Eleanor Sherman Thackeray, a daughter of Gen. W. T. Sherman, appears for the first time in the literary world in a discussion of Three Great Philadelphia Training Schools; and Mrs. Roger M. Pryor considers the construction of American Society in an interesting way. "Front Fishing in Lake Edward, and the actual experience of 'Trapping a Grizzly'" will interest the hunter who proposes to roam the mountain ridges during the summer. Author Sherburne Hardy, one of the most distinguished graduates of the Military Academy and the author of "Passé Boss," which recited last year such favorable criticism in all English speaking countries, will start this month for Japan with the intention of preparing for the Cosmopolitan some articles on the military forces of the country, to be completely illustrated by photo-graphs and sketches.

Reduced Rates for the Fourth of July on the Pennsylvania Railroad. In pursuance of its usual liberal policy the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will this year sell excursion tickets for the Fourth of July holidays between all stations on its lines at reduced rates. The tickets will be sold on July 23d and 4th, valid to return until July 7th, 1890. This reduction in rates does not apply to tickets sold between New York and Philadelphia, nor New York or Philadelphia and Baltimore and Washington. By the use of these tickets one can make a very pleasant holiday trip at a small cost.

The Bellefonte Public Schools.

Report of Principal D. M. Lieb to the Board of Education.

BELLEFONTE, PA. JUNE 19, 1890.

To the Board of Education, Bellefonte District.

GENTLEMEN:—

In referring to the records of the past school year the largest enrollment at any time is found to be 752 pupils, and the total enrollment for the year 771 pupils, divided between the sexes as follows: Boys, 382; girls, 389.

This equality of the sexes is one of the most gratifying features connected with our schools for in most places the excess of girls enrolled is very large.

Whilst several causes bring about this result the strongest factor undoubtedly is the force of paternal control. For observation has shown that where boys leave school from indifference and lack of desire to improve the advantages offered them, in such instances their character has been weakened through bad association or vicious habits, such as loafing on the streets and billiard rooms, smoking cigarettes, and reading dime novels and sensational literature, all of which could be checked by the exercise of paternal authority.

The success attending the graduating exercises of the High School is most encouraging to pupils and teachers. A pleasing feature has been the absence of presents and flowers, needless extravagance that has marred the peace of many schools and communities, and called for vigorous measures on the part of the School Board to check it. It is a question which the trustees of the schools must decide whether there is not a tendency toward needless expense in dress, and succeeding classes must decide whether the class supper is a necessary or even desirable part of the graduating programme.

The record of the classes of the High School is excellent. Beginning with the class of '87, numbering 4 members, the school has sent out seven regular classes, of which the class of '90 numbering 19 is the largest. During this period there has been a regular advance in the course of study and the qualifications of the graduates. These now number 38, of whom 28 are young men and 10 young women.

The fact that all these persons are leading useful and honorable lives is pleasing to those who taught them, but the great recompense for faithful service is found in the fact that one-third of those regularly completing the course of study, found in it such incentive as led them on to institutions of higher grade. To-day the Normal schools of Millersville and West Chester, and such Colleges as Pennsylvania State, Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall, and Princeton, and such Universities as Lehigh, and Michigan, and the U. S. Naval Academy, number boys and girls of the Bellefonte High School on the lists of their graduate or undergraduate students.

Of those who sought in a higher institution broader culture for the mind, none had better purposes than Jennie M. Shortridge, in whose death, occurring Feb. 23d, 1890, the High School Alumni met with its first loss. To her teachers and schoolmates there will ever remain the cherished memory of one fully possessed of the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is, in the sight of God, of great price.

THE GRADED SCHOOLS. The work of instruction in the graded schools went on despite the interference of unusual sickness, both of teachers and scholars, and, judged by result at examination, have not retrograded in either quantity or quality of work. Whilst considering the interference of sickness, perhaps in forecasting results we forgot that the mild weather that prevailed throughout the year compensated for the time lost by illness, in permitting greater regularity during the year.

The branch of writing in our schools enjoyed an unusual incentive in the pens, ink and practice paper furnished by the Board. And supplementary reading furnished in all the grades not only gave new interest to this useful study, but in the Third and Fourth reader grades in the historical readers there used, an easy introduction to the study of history was made, which I am sure will advance the standard of our work in this important branch.

Not the least desirable result from the readers is the hearty interest the pupils take in their lessons. To complete our venture in this line we should add, during the next year, geographical readers and natural history readers, and thus, through the reading exercises, give preparation for important studies in higher grades and also drills in reading.

For you will understand that in these readers the teacher, in addition to instruction in reading, gives incidental instructions in geography, history, and natural history, and then questions the pupil on the facts read or imparted to them, so that all the time a double purpose is fulfilled.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS. During the year of the teachers was maintained. Its results were never bad, but good—only to those who labored. The Board might add a string by requesting the County Superintendent to examine our teachers yearly and make such books as they use in these meetings the basis for examination in that particular branch. Better, perhaps, if the Board passed a resolution urging our teachers to take advantage of the Summer School of methods in Altoona in August next.

If they do so, they will return with such an incentive for self-improvement that our corps of teachers at least would nullify the statement that "Teachers, of all professional persons, are the hardest to interest in their improvement."

BUILDINGS. The new building is complete, or as nearly so as we could desire. As an attraction to the High School room a tint applied to the walls and ceiling would be proper, and at the same time the cracks in the plastering, due to the settling of the building, might be filled.

The attention of the Board is urgently called to the stone building. Built in 1869, its inside woodwork to date has been ignorant of fresh paint, and now loosened and dried out by steam heat and worn and dimmed by hard cleaning, its surface is dingy and dirty and in striking contrast to the cleanly and neatly dressed children who attend there.

In renewing the building the unsightly structure in its rear might be removed, for its not being returned as a nuisance is due rather to the forbearance of the good people living near than to the absence of a just cause.

The need of a room on the second floor of this building, adapted to some degree to the purpose of assembling the schools for entertainment or general exercises, would suggest the propriety of removing the partition between the two rear rooms, thus throwing them into one. In this room have the combined grammar schools, with two teachers, for one of whom a class room could be provided in the room on the south side of the building.

It is with great regret that the retirement of Prof. D. O. Etters and Miss Lizzi Skordridge from our corps of teachers is noted. Their record as careful, painstaking teachers is too well known to need any encomium. As teachers they possessed naturally the ability to govern, and winning the regard of their pupils fulfilled that saying of the Greek poet, "A people always loves its ruler best. When it is retired humored nor oppressed."

Finally, I desire to thank you as men for the courtesy and consideration with which you have viewed my efforts to advance the educational interests of this community, and trust that with God's blessing my labors have not been in vain. Respectfully,

D. M. LIEB, Prin. of Schools.
