Mr. M. H. Geiss, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for Gregg township.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

The finest pants, lowest prices, at Union Clothing store.

The family of Governor Beaver are occupying their residence in this place where they will spend the summer months.

George Jamison, who moved from Gregg township, this county, to Virginia, some fifteen years ago, recently died in that State.

Mrs. Woodward, of this county, had a sixty pound tumor removed from her body sometime since, and is getting along all right.

John B. Linn, esq., of this place, has been selected to deliver next year's Alumni address of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster.

A steer and a heifer belonging to a Mr. Houser were killed by lightning on the mountain north-west of Centre Hall during a recent thunder storm.

Some days ago, in Phillipsburg, a freight train blocked a crossing longer than the time allowed. The engineer was arrested and fined in consequence.

Renovo has a plague of squirrels, and the News says the town is infested with them. They catch the pigeons and birds and gnaw the bark off the trees.

Miss Leah McKean, daughter of John McKean, of Marsh Creek, died of typhoid fever, on Saturday, at the house of George Williams, Jr., in the 18th year of her age.

A calf that weighed 125 pounds at its birth, which was born last week on the farm of Mr. Frederick Decker, near Lemont, this county, was properly considered a prodigy.

Mr. S. D. Ray has completed his survey preparatory to the numbering of the houses that will be necessary to make the free mail delivery in Bellefonte the success it is intended to be.

Prof. John W. Heston of State College passed through Bellefonte on Saturday evening, on his way home from Seattle, Washington, where he had been for some weeks.

Quite a number of priests from a distance took part in the Forty Hours Devotion which began in the Catholic church of this place last Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

Ambrose Kunes, a young man of Eggleville, aged 22, while working in the woods at Castello, was killed some days ago by being struck by a tree that was sliding down the mountain.

The Clinton county tobacco raisers have planted their tobacco this season with a patent planter which puts the plants into the ground at the rate of forty thousand per day.

A young brother of Mr. John Traford, of this place, aged about 10 years, fell into the river at Williamsport last Friday, while playing along the bank with other children, and was drowned.

The Phillipsburg Ledger wants the Pennsylvania railroad to erect a decent depot building at that place. It says the size of the town and the business done there entitle them to this consideration.

The landlords about town complain of the almost total failure of business at their bars on Tuesday and Wednesday last. It is not to be wondered at. The Hastings club was at Harrisburg during those days.

The Lock Haven base ball club No. 2 want to play the "Annie Rooney" club of Bellefonte, and have made an offer to go up there if the "Annie Rooney" club will pay their car fare up and back, says the Lock Haven Democrat.

James W. Clark, of Lock Haven, has his eye on the Associate Judgeship of Clinton county. At one time Mr. Clark was a printer boy, and if that indicates anything particular his chance may be considered good.—Sugar Valley Journal.

Preliminaries have been arranged for the formation of a Young Men's Christian Association in Lock Haven. We are pleased to see that the Clinton county capital is becoming christianized. It has long been a neglected field of missionary effort.

Speaking of the crops of the surrounding country, the Lock Haven Express says: The hay will be immense and the grain crops are first class. The wet weather has caused the oats to rust on the lower leaves, but all the crops promise an extraordinary yield.

The Centre county agricultural society held a meeting last Saturday evening and elected delegates to the State college to represent the society at Pennsylvania State College this week and to assist in electing trustees or the college during the ensuing year.

MINERS ORGANIZING.—The Wage-Earners Journal says: Great activity is apparent all along the Beech Creek R. R., and in the Osceola district among the miners in organizing local unions formed, or are being arranged for, at Montana, Baltic Nos. 1 and 2, Munson's, Morgan, Mapleton, Logan, Summer-ville and Loch Lomond. Campbell's branch is getting into line, as are also the remaining banks in the Osceola district.

SCHOOL HOUSE IMPROVEMENT.—The Phillipsburg Ledger of Saturday says: H. D. Yergler, one of Bellefonte's School Directors, accompanied by Wm. Bradley, a first class builder, came over from the county seat, Thursday, to inspect our School building. Some improvements are to be made in the Bellefonte Stone School House, and knowing that Phillipsburg's school property is second to none in the State, they very naturally wished to see it before making their proposed alterations.

A STRIKE MAY BE THE CONSEQUENCE.—The miners and mine laborers throughout the Phillipsburg region have issued a circular setting forth a new set of prices and requesting the operators, or their representatives, to meet them in conference in the parlors of the Lloyd House at 11 o'clock on Friday morning, June 27th, to consider the revised scale and also to come to some understanding regarding the same. It is said that the scale contains some demands that will not be acceded to by the operators and it is feared a strike may be precipitated.

THE SULPHUR SPRINGS FOUND.—All excursionists to Loganton, who go over to get good meals and have a cool and pleasant time during the hot weather, will be rejoiced to know that the celebrated sulphur springs, once so popular, but which had been totally lost ever since the big flood of June 1st, 1889, has of late been rediscovered, and now sends out its sulphuric water as usual. The sulphur spring has always been one of the Loganton attractions to visitors and those who have so much missed it will feel relieved to know that they again can indulge in its peculiar waters as of yore.—Lock Haven Democrat.

FIRE IN BRUSH VALLEY.—The farm residence, summer house, wood shed and pigsty of George Wolford, in Brush Valley, in the east end of Miles township, were recently destroyed by fire with most all of their contents. Mr. W. and his two sons were both absent and there was nobody around except the women and children, who were compelled to stand by and see their home destroyed, unable to do anything. The pigsty that was burned contained twenty-four hogs, which were destroyed by the flames. The implement shed was burned, but the implements were saved. The fire started in the wood shed, it is thought from coals dropped from a shovel in the hands of Mrs. Wolford, who was trying to burn caterpillars. Mr. Wolford returned about the time the barn had taken fire, but that building was saved after a hole had been burned through the roof.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY LEIDY.—The Tyrone Herald, of the 20th inst., contained the following obituary notice: Yesterday evening at a quarter before nine o'clock, at the residence of her son, Rev. Leidy, all that was mortal of Mrs. Mary Leidy, passed away. During the winter she took a severe spell of grip and it is thought she never fully recovered from the effects of it. About one week ago she took worse and was confined to her bed, gradually losing her strength until the end of her earthly sufferings came last night.

The deceased was born at Spring Mills, Center Co., in 1813, and was therefore seventy-seven years of age when she died. She was a consistent member of the M. E. church for fifty five years.

There are four children left to mourn the loss of an affectionate and tender mother: Mrs. G. H. McConnell and Mrs. R. F. Sass, of St. Louis; James Leidy of Galesburg, Ill., and Rev. Leidy of this place. Some of the old residents of Centre county, near Bellefonte, will remember the deceased and family, and it is requested of the Bellefonte papers please to copy.

Funeral services will be held at the house this evening at half past five o'clock, conducted by Rev. George Guyer, and on Fast Line this evening the remains will be taken to St. Louis, and on Sunday they will be buried beside her husband, who preceded her to the eternal shore about one year and a half ago.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a strong Republican of Illinois, to one of his relatives in this county: "I can tell you the West is getting very tired of a protective tariff. I wish there could be an election this fall; the West is ripe for it now."—Lock Haven Democrat.

The Union Clothing store has reduced their goods to remarkably low figures.

Miss Ivy M. Bonbreak, of Iowa, Misses Tempie and Mollie Hall, of Howard, and Mr. John P. De Haas, of the same place, were names that appeared on the register of the Mountain House at Snow Shoe last week. They were out on a pleasure trip viewing the beauties of nature among the mountains, and they also took in the curiosities in Mr. John Uzzle's park which consist of some fine deer and beautiful spotted fawns. The Misses Hall are doing all they can to make Miss Bonbreak's visit as pleasant as possible at the Hill Farm where the host and hostess are as agreeable as the daughters. Messrs. W. S. Hutchison, J. M. Gibson, J. W. Gibson and wife, Miss Lizzie Beezer and Mr. A. M. Mott, of Bellefonte, were also registered at the Mountain House.

Wm. Gearheart, son of Blake Gearhart, of near Phillipsburg, was seriously hurt last Friday morning by the running away of a team. He was unloading a car of household goods at the Beech Creek station, his team standing alongside the car, when an engine ran up into the yard. The horses became frightened and started to run. Young Gearhart endeavored to hold them, but one of the lines broke. He jumped to the ground and seized the horses by the bits, but they knocked him down and trampled on him breaking his ribs and injuring his spine. He was carried to his home where he was pronounced to be in a critical condition.

Our friend McQuision has recently made a great improvement to his property, including the old brick mansion on West High street, and the frame dwelling adjoining, on the corner. The brick, which is one of the most substantial structures in the town, has been painted and pencilled, giving it the fresh appearance of a new building and it has also been improved by an enlargement of the windows and other exterior alterations. A fresh coat of paint has also made the frame building look like a new structure. Mac deserves credit for keeping up with the improvements of the town.

Reuben Holt, of Graham township, who is but 37 years of age and his wife 35, is telling a friend at our elbow that his family consists of twelve children; six boys and six girls, and that fourteen plates are set daily for his family. This is a pretty good showing for a couple so young in years. A round dozen of children so nicely divided as the Holt family ought to produce much happiness.—Clearfield Journal.

Arrangements have been made at Millheim and vicinity to entertain about seventy of the "freshair" children, sent from the city for a summer's outing. Aronsburg and Rebersburg will also entertain a lot of them, and it is believed that several car loads of these children will be unloaded at Coburn station to be distributed among the hospitable people of that neighborhood.

Last Saturday morning a procession of some twenty-seven horses and carts made quite a parade on our streets coming in from the direction Pleasant Gap. They were the animals and vehicles, with their drivers, returning from Mr. Thomas Collins' railroad job in Schuylkill county, which he has completed.

The Clearfield County Teachers' Institute has already been fixed for the week commencing with December 15th, and Supt. Youngman has engaged some strong lecture talent, among them being Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, who is among the finest platform speakers of the country.

Mrs. Mary White Gamble, widow of the late James M. Gamble, Esq., of Williamsport, was married last week to Mr. William Emery, lumberman, of the firm of Emery, Reber & Co. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. M. Studdford, D. D., at the bride's residence.

Messrs. Geo. B. Wright and A. S. Wright returned to their home in New York city last Monday. Their friends at Unionville certainly showed them a grand time during their few weeks sojourn.

Five pure blood Cotswold sheep, one buck, two ewes and two lambs, purchased in Washington county, were brought to this place some days ago by Dr. H. K. Hoy and Isaac Houpt. They are intended for breeding purposes.

The excursion rate from Bellefonte Pa. is $7.35, and regular train connecting with the special composed of Pullman Parlor Cars and Day Coaches leaves at 9.32 a. m.

The Newton Hamilton camping-meeting grounds will reopen for occupancy on Wednesday July 31st, and the camping will begin August 12 and will continue until 22nd.

The great reduction of prices at the Union Clothing store will benefit a good many people.

LUTHERAN CHILDREN'S DAY.—The Lutherans of Bellefonte had their Children's Day last Sunday morning, the exercises coming off in the apartment used by the congregation for divine services above the Centre County Bank. The room was decorated with the usual wreaths and flowers that so well become such an occasion and purpose. Clement Dale, esq., superintendent of the Sunday School, and Rev. E. E. Hoshour, conducted the services, which commenced with the children marching in and taking their seats on the platform, passing through gates held open by William Reber and Helen Crissman, who were the gatekeepers. The ladder scene included a ladder, wreathed with flowers, brought in by Harry Smith and Jessie Underwood and inclined against a verdant bank and then a band of girls, in pairs, marched up the aisle bearing rounds for the ladder upon each of which a motto was inscribed, such as Grace, Self Denial, Patience, Purity, Meekness, Courage, Truth, &c. The girls were Blanche Underwood and Lizzie Dewitt, Lizzie Murray and Louisa Christ, Stella Gault and Julia Bidwell, Eva Crissman and Blanche Smith, Maggie Underwood and Ida Thomas, Mary Musser and Lizzie Faxon, Jennie Showers and Gertie Scott, Bella Garbrick and Florence Wian. As each handed her floral design to John Kline, esq., she spoke an appropriate sentiment. This was followed by music in chorus by the children, responsive readings by the Superintendent and school, and recitations by Blanche Smith, Helen Crissman, Lizzie DeWitt and Blanche Underwood. More music an address by the pastor and the benediction closed these interesting exercises.

THE EFFECTS OF FOOLING WITH POWDER.—Yesterday afternoon at the Bloom quarry in Allison township, between this city and Flemington, Irvin Bloom and Edward Cursel were blasting. The hole was drilled and ready, when it was discovered that a portion of the powder was damp and apparently useless. Bloom threw this aside, saying to Landis Welsh, "you may have that." Welsh, who is a young man of 19, thought he would experiment a little and touched a match to it, when it exploded, communicating the flame to a three pound bag of dry powder along-side of Bloom and also igniting the dry powder that had been placed in the hole. Bloom was badly burned all over, his shirt and pants being burned almost off, and Cursel was severely burned on one side. Both ran and threw themselves into a mud puddle near by to extinguish the flames. The bottom of this happened to be full of sharp stones, by which Cursel's arm was nastily cut and scratched. Bloom was also severely lacerated by the stones. Both were conveyed to Flemington, where Dr. Hall attended to their injuries and made them as comfortable as possible.—Lock Haven Democrat of Friday.

A DANGEROUS RUNAWAY.—A very serious accident, which might have proved fatal to the one person concerned, occurred at Lemont station on Monday afternoon. Owing to the increased traffic to the College, S. S. Grieb found it necessary to use four horses in his stage, instead of the double team usually driven, with the following result: George Garbrick, the old driver, had backed up to the railroad crossing in the customary way, when the Lewisburg freight train pulled up on the siding immediately in the rear of the team. The engine stopped and began to exhaust, the noise of which frightened the team and they started. George ran and grabbed the lines of the leaders and the rein of one of the tongue horses, but he pulled unevenly and the leaders swung around, knocking him down and tramping the bill. The team then ran down the hill, and had it not been for a spring wagon with which they collided, they would have gone right into the front of Chas. Everett's drug store.

The driver was badly cut about the head and body, and it will be some time before he will be able to get about again. The hack was not damaged to any considerable extent, but the spring wagon was completely demolished.

Messrs. Wellington Van Reed, Benjamin C. Dry and Cyrus T. Fox, of the Berks county agricultural society, who attended the annual meeting of delegates of the Pennsylvania State College, and participated in the election of Trustees, stopped in Bellefonte on Wednesday night, and were guests at the Bush House. Mr. Van Reed is a prominent business man of the city of Reading, and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner this year. Dr. Dry resides at Lyon's Station, and represented Berks county in the Legislature for several terms. Mr. Fox is a well known newspaper man, and has been editor of the Reading Times for many years. These gentlemen, we are glad to say, were highly pleased with the condition in which they found the college and its management.

Speaking of the funeral of the late Mrs. John A. Wolf, last Sunday, at Phillipsburg, the Journal of that place says:

The beautiful casket was literally buried in handsome emblems presented by personal friends and organizations with which the deceased had been identified, among them being a cross and an' chor, of most exquisite flowers, by her loving children, John, Charlie and Bessie; a cross, Mrs. Hirlinger, a pillow; Mrs. Nolan, Snow Shoe; a pillow; Sheridan Circle; wreath, Fannie Smith; a cross and bouquet of pansies and forget-me-nots, Y. W. C. T. U.; bouquet of roses, Mrs. Derringer; cut flowers, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. William Hale and Miss Carrie Munson. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Wright, of Milesburg.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Last Sunday afternoon the Episcopal church of this place was filled with people to witness the services especially intended for the Sunday school children. The procession that moved from the Sunday school room into the church was headed by the choir singing a processional hymn, the scholars following, each carrying a bouquet or a letter made of flowers. In the chancel there was a laurel arch surmounted by a floral cross, and during the ceremonies the letters carried by the scholars were placed on the arch, producing the words, "The Children's King," which furnished the text for Rev. J. O. Davis, the subject for some excellent remarks. The services ended with prayer and music.

In the death of Samuel Goss, of this township, which occurred at his home on the 25th inst., at the age of 69 years, the township loses one of its most respected citizens and many are the acts of kindness now recalled. He was a blacksmith by trade, and served as a soldier of the late war. Since then he was engaged in agricultural pursuits. In politics he was a quiet Republican and in religion a Lutheran. His wife, formerly Maria Harper, and two children, Mrs. N. J. Bell and Wm. H. Goss, survive him. The remains were interred in the Gatesburg cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of friends and neighbors.

The funeral of Thomas G. Archey took place from the home of his brother, John Archey, on the 25th inst. His remains were interred by the side of his parents in the cemetery at this place. Mr. Archey was formerly well known in this county for a number of years. The last few years of his life were spent in parts of the West, but he returned about a year ago in poor health and no doubt was seeking for employment when the fatal blow came, he having been fatally hurt in the Altoona R. R. yards, from the effects of which he died in the hospital at that place, aged 40 years, on the 24th inst. He was a member of the Presbyterian church of this place and a Democrat in whom was no guile. He was the oldest son of John Archey. A number of brothers and sisters and a bright little boy mourn his loss.

Post master Fiedler has made his quarters more commodious by moving the letter boxes more to the front. This has been required by the extra room that will be needed in the rear for the free delivery business.

Rev. J. A. Bright, of Kansas, a former Centre countyman, will deliver a lecture at Zion on Saturday evening next, subject, "Sixty days in Europe and what I saw there." Rev. Bright is a fine talker and we expect a crowded house, and rich treat to our neighbors down at Zion. Admission free.

On Monday John Linn, Esq., of this place, received two letters from California, one from Pasadena and the other from San Rafael, both mailed on the 18th inst., it taking them but four days to cross the continent to this point. Who says that we do not live in a fast age?

EPISCOPAL CONVOCATION IN BELLEFONTE.—The Arch-Deaconry of the Episcopal church in Centre and adjoining counties will convene in regular session in the Episcopal church in Bellefonte on Monday evening, June 30th, 1890, to continue in session until Thursday morning, July 3rd. Rev. J. J. Foley, Arch Deacon, of Williamsport, will be the presiding officer.

A SEVERE THUNDER STORM.—The thunderstorm at the State College on Sunday evening last was one of the severest that has passed over that region for some time. During its passage lightning struck the house of Mrs. Robison, shattering the chimney and throwing the griddles off the stove. Fortunately no one was injured. During the same storm one of the best cows of Charley Snyder, of Ferguson township, was struck and killed.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN A. WOLF.—The Phillipsburg papers record the death of Mrs. J. A. Wolf, after an illness of about six weeks duration. Before her marriage she was Catharine Knox Glenn, who was born at Buffalo Run, this county, and was aged 62 years at the time of her death. Her parents were George and Ann Glenn, and her brothers, David and Charles Glenn, are both well known in this county. She was married in 1839 to Maj. Jno. A. Wolf, who was then in business at Snow Shoe, where they lived until ten years ago, when Maj. Wolf became a member of the mercantile firm of Gray, Wolf & Co., of Phillipsburg, and the family moved to that place. She was the mother of four children, three of whom are living.
