Medical.

WEAK AND WEARY.

In early summer the warmer weather is especially weakening and enervating, and that tired feeling prevails everywhere. The great benefit which people derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla is proven that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, and purifies the blood. JUST THE MEDICINE. "For nine years I was in a state of constant suffering, scarcely able at any time to walk about the house, and part of the time unable to get out of bed. The physicians said I had a fibroid tumor. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and its good effect was soon apparent. I began to improve in health, and continued taking the medicine till now I feel perfectly well and can walk six or seven miles a day without feeling tired. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women and anyone who has had blood." JENNIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Pennsylvania.

A Very Big Straw.

Two Pittsburg drummers took a straw vote on line No. 2 on the Allegheny Valley railroad on Thursday, July 3. The result was: Pattison, 49; Delamater, 22. In the 49 votes for Pattison there were 19 Republicans and 4 Republicans refused to declare themselves. Each was asked his politics and the most emphatic Pattison men were the Republicans. The eleven appears to be working.

Dictionary Study.

I made a practice of marking with a colored pencil such words in my dictionary as, from lack of a full knowledge of their meaning, I am obliged to look up. I do this by placing a mark something like an inverted caret at the top of the column in which the word appears and another adjoining the word itself. I find this plan helpful in fixing new in the sense of my unfamiliarity with them—as well as their meanings, in my mind, for in turning leaves I make it a point to look at such as are marked, giving those already mastered the merest glance, but pausing to read the definitions of the others.

Tomatoes Fifty Years Ago.

George Peters, of Conestoga, Lancaster county, is spending a few days with his son, Frank, at Locust Grove, Chester county. Although 78 years of age he is helping his son harvest. Mr. Peters remarked to a reporter: "I remember well when tomatoes came around. The people planted them in their gardens for ornaments only. They called them Jerusalem apples. After awhile people began eating them. It was fifty years ago that I first saw people eating them. Every one was timid at the start, (some believing them to be poisonous) but it isn't so now when one gets a big, solid red one."—West Chester Local News.

Washington Not a Prohibitionist.

Kate Field has made the important discovery from the archives that George Washington not only drank intoxicating liquor himself, but drew up an agreement with his gardener, Philip Baler, arranging for occasional bursts of intemperance on the part of the able gardener, who seems to have been a favorite with Washington. She says: "Washington doubtless valued Baler and wanted to keep him sober. With this aim in view, the agreement allowed Baler a 'drum in the morning and a drink of grog at dinner and at noon.' Then Washington promised to give Baler $4 at Christmas with which to be drunk four days and four nights; $2 at Easter to effect the same purpose; and $2 at Whitsuntide to be drunk two days."

Some Despised But Savory Foods.

The learned professor who, once lecturing on entomology, took up in his finger and thumb a grasshopper and chewed it down with a relish, and told his students that any one swallowing the glutinous mass of the oyster had no right to look askance at his singular choice of diet, might benefit humanity could he show also that though one may open one's mouth one may not turn up one's nose at a snail as well. The snail has been an article of food for many years in certain regions, served, as Hans Christian Andersen's snail boasted, on silver dishes; but, perhaps owing to our profuse abundance of rich food, they are found nearly all over the globe, it is a pity that any hostility to them as an article of diet should not be overcome.—Argonaut.

DELICACY OF MINT SCALES.—The fine gold weighing scales made in Philadelphia and intended for the mint at New Orleans a few years ago are marvels of mechanical invention and expert workmanship. The largest of the two pair has capacity of 10,000 ounces, tray, or about 696 pounds avoirdupois, and when loaded to its full weighing capacity will indicate the variation of the one-thousandth of an ounce. The other and smaller pair are intended for lighter work. All its bearings are of the agate, which have been ground with remarkable precision. This instrument is believed to be the most delicate in the world. It will give the precise weight of a human hair, and is susceptible to the slightest atmospheric changes.

—The swearing of blood brotherhood in Africa is a peculiar function of much solemnity and responsibility in the relationship it institutes. An incision is made above the fifth rib, on the right side, and coffee berries are soaked in the blood and exchanged and eaten by the persons making the vow, which binds them steadfast throughout life, and to give assistance in time of danger.

—Mrs. Page, of Ingersoll, Tex., gave birth to four children the other day that weighed respectively, six, five, four and four and one-half pounds. Mrs. Page had previously presented her husband with three pairs of twins. She is a patron saint of the census takers.

Invested a Dollar and Realized a Million.

Brown and his friend Perkins were talking about investments. "Once I invested $1000 in real estate," said Perkins, "and doubled it in less than six months. That was the best investment I ever made. Pretty good wasn't it?" "I've done better than that," said Brown. "Two years ago I was told by all my friends that I was going into consumption, and I thought they were right about it. I had a dry, hacking cough, no appetite, my sleep came by fits and starts, and seemed to do me no good, and often there was a dull, heavy pain in my chest. I kept growing weaker and weaker, and at last night-sweats set in. I thought it was all up with me then. I had consulted two doctors and taken quarts of their medicine, and received no benefit from it. One day I happened to read something about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I made up my mind to give it a trial, but I didn't expect it would help me. I invested a dollar in a bottle of it, and it helped me from the first dose. It helped me and it cured me, and when I compare my present good health with the miserable health of two years ago I think I am safe in saying that my investment was a much better one than yours. You can't reckon on less by any measure dollars and cents; if you could I should say that I had realized at least a million from my $1.00 investment." The "Golden Medical Discovery" is guaranteed to benefit or cure in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be refunded.

—Mrs. Kendal, the English actress, gives this receipt for preserving the shining luxuriance of the hair: She takes half a pint of pure glycerine which she puts in a quart bottle, and to this she adds six ounces of lime water shaking the two together vigorously. When they were properly churned the lime water turns the glycerine into a soft, white cream. Upon going to bed she rubs a little of this with her finger tips into the roots of her hair, giving it a vigorous brushing that distributes the preparation from roots to tips. She does this once a week, and so keeps her hair soft, silken and lustrous. This is the only preparation used by Mrs. Kendal, who, though forty-five in years, has the shining hair of a girl of eighteen.

CURRENT PICKLES.—An excellent relish to be eaten with meats. Pick and stew ripe currants in just as little water as will cook them. Barely scald them, that the fruit may not be broken. Carefully boil, for half a gallon of currants, one pint of pure cider vinegar, three fourths of a pint of granulated sugar, one-half teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and ginger. When cold, strain and pour over the currants.

—To say that I am pleased with the Mellin's Food is not to speak the entire truth. I am delighted with the way my little patients take it, and with the complete manner in which it fulfills indications as a food for invalids," writes a physician.

PINEAPPLE PIE.—Pare, remove the eyes, and grate one large pineapple; measure, and to each pint allow three quarters of a pound of sugar, a quarter of a pound of butter, five eggs and a half pint of cream. Beat the butter, sugar and yolks of the eggs together until light; add gradually the cream, the grated pineapple and the whites of the eggs beaten to a froth. Line two pie-tins with puff-paste, fill them with this mixture, and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Set away to harden, and serve with soft custard.—Mrs. Row.

—A widow in Miller county, Mo., who lives on a farm, gave another woman $15 to secure her a husband. The man was secured and warranted all right in every respect, but the next morning after the marriage he hooked his bride, stole the $50 she had saved up, and in the night silently stole away to No Man's Land.

—A General on his return from the wars showed his family a regimental flag, all tattered and torn and riddled with bullets, which he had captured from the enemy with his own hands. On the following morning the trophy was to be presented to the General commander-in-chief. When he came to look at the flag, his industrious housekeeper brought it to him with a smile of proud satisfaction and said, "What a job I've had, but I managed it; I sat up all night and mended that old flag, and now it looks nearly as good as new."

—Of all the thousand enemies that lie ambushed along the journey of human life there is not one who does not shrink and cower before a clear intellect, a potent will and an honest intent.

—A new idea in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a li- quid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.
