Medical.

GOOD AS GOLD.

So enthusiastic are thousands of people over the benefits derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, that they can hardly find words to express their confidence in gratitude for this medicine. "Worth its weight in gold" is a favorite expression of these warm friends. If you are in need of a good medicine to purify your blood, build up your strength, cure dyspepsia, or create an appetite, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

STAPLE AS WHEAT.

"Once tried Hood's Sarsaparilla always remains a friend in the household. It is staple as wheat and good as gold." HARRY & TOWN, Ithaca, N. Y.

PERFECT HEALTH.

"My daughter has been very ill with eczema. By reading about Hood's Sarsaparilla I was induced to try this medicine, and was wonderfully surprised by its effects. When she had taken half a bottle she was like another child, and when the bottle was all gone, she was entirely cured and in perfect health. I will never again be without a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house, as I consider it worth its weight in gold." D. F. KAVANAGH, 15 Danie street, Albany, N. Y.

A Northern Man Surprised.

A Fredericksburg (Va.) paper tells a story at the expense of a Northern gentleman who was inspecting horses in a stable there with a view of purchasing; He undertook to try one of them, but as he was not familiar with either the horse or the mode of saddling and bridling him, was about to forego the pleasure of a horseback ride, when one of the local beauties came to the rescue and in a moment showed the Northerner what a true Southern girl was capable of doing. Entering the stable, she removed the halter, adjusted the bridle, led the animal out of the stable, and throwing the saddle on his back, buckled the girth and ordered the blushing Northerner to mount while she held the stirrup for him. He was stunned, but enjoyed the ride immensely, doubtless surprised that a woman so fair could be so handy.

Man's Best Friend.

First and foremost, woman is man's best friend: Because she is his mother. Second, because she is his wife. Because she is patient with him in illness, endures his fretfulness and 'mothers' him. Because she will stick to him through good and evil report, and always believe in him, if she loves him. Because without her he would be rude, rough and ungodly. Because she teaches him the value of gentleness, of kindly thought and of consideration. Because she can with him endure pain quietly and meet joy gladly. Because on her breast he can shed tears of repentance, and he is never reminded of them afterward. Because, when he is behaving like a fretful boy—and we all do, you know, at times, with no reason in the world for it—woman's soft word, touch or glance will make him ashamed of himself, as he ought to be. Because when her as an incentive he would grow lazy; there would be no good work done, there would be no noble books written, there would be no beautiful pictures painted, there would be no divine strains of melody. Because she has made for us a beautiful world, in which we should be proud to live and contented to die. Because—and this is the best reason of all—when the world has reached an unenviable state of wickedness the blessed task of bringing it a Saviour for all mankind was given to a woman, which was God's way of setting his seal of approval on her who is mother, wife, daughter and sweetheart, and therefore, man's best friend. -Ladies Home Journal.

American Gentlemen.

A British Tourist Pays a Compliment to Their Inherent Politeness. An English tourist was stopping at one of the Kansas City hotels last week, and in a chance conversation with a Times reporter spoke of the seeming inherent politeness of the American gentlemen. "As a class," he said, "they were the most polite men he had met with in any quarter of the globe. Wherever his travels took him he could always tell an American by his affable manner. It seemed," he said, "as though every one was born a courtier, and nowhere was it more noticeable than in the cities of the Old World. In London the Americans could be selected in any public hall or gallery, for they always took their hats off, no matter what room they entered, or if it was too uncomfortable to remove headgear, it needed but the presence of a lady to cause the hats to be immediately lifted. It was quite the contrary with the Britishers, they never uncovered their heads except under extraordinary circumstances. "I was going down the street in this city but the other day," continued the stranger, "when I saw a lady drop her purse. It had hardly reached the sidewalk before a little street Arab grabbed it, touched the lady's arm, and with hat in hand, said, 'Lady, here's your pocket-book.' It is not only to the opposite sex that this politeness extends, but it is refreshing to observe the courtesy with which they greet each other. The Americans are the greatest handshakers in the world. Then I noticed they touch their hats to each other when passing on the street. This certainly is a courteous, hospitable nation."

The Benefit of Athletics.

"Do you believe in athletics?" was asked of a well-known business man who was found practicing with the dumb-bells at the back of the store the other day. "Certainly I do," he promptly replied. "Think it helps your health?" "I know it does, and it has saved my bacon once or twice." "Please relate." "Well, a couple years ago I took twenty-four lessons in boxing and worked up a big muscle and lots of sand. I was going home one night, soon after graduating, when a man jumped out at me from an alley. In a minute he was nowhere." "Hit him hard, eh?" "No, I didn't hit him at all." "Trip him up and fall on him?" "No." "Don't kick him?" "No." "Well, what did you do?" "Outran him! But for my athletic exercises I couldn't have done it." -Detroit Free Press.

He Ordered $2,000 Worth.

A lot of men were playing poker at Delmonico's the other night. The party got a little hungry and ordered some sandwiches. They came, a small but appetizing plate; also the bill $14. Shortly afterward a quiet gentleman asked the waiter to pass him another sandwich. "All gone, sir?" was the reply. "The quiet gentleman beckoned to the waiter and said in a confidential way: "All gone?" "Yes, sir." "Go down stairs and order some more." "Well, many, sir?" "Well," said the gentleman, thoughtfully glancing at the bill and the empty plate, "as I am quite hungry, I should say about $2000 worth." -Brooklyn Eagle.

Germany has just celebrated the 500th anniversary of the introduction of the manufacture of paper into that country. The founder of the industry which has since proved so profitable to the Fatherland was Ulman Stromer, of Nuremberg.

Fireside Fragments.

A damp cloth dipped in common soda will brighten tinware easily. Glaze bottom crust of fruit pies with white of an egg and they will not be soggy. Horse-radish is much more irritating than spice, and if used in excess may induce a very disagreeable feeling of the stomach, lasting for several days or perhaps causing illness. Eggs boil more tender if put into cold water which is allowed to gradually reach the boiling point. Just consider what an egg is made of and you will see the philosophy of this. To remove fruit stains from linen, rub the part on each side with yellow soap, then tie up a piece of soda in the cloth, and soak well in hot water, afterwards expose the stained part to the sun and air until removed. Fruit salad: One pine-apple (cut fine), four oranges (small pieces,) three bananas (sliced,) grated coconut. In a deep glass dish, alternate layers well sugared. Just before serving cover with whipped cream. Pretty punkas or East Indian fans are converted into face screens by staining some pretty color and adding tassel fringed pompons corresponding in color. Shaded beads festoon the fans, mingled with the tassels, and the effect is barbaically beautiful. Satin and velvet ribbons cross and recross each other on the handle, ending in a large bunch of tassels at the end. When not in use, this screen makes a lovely wall ornament. There is no better or healthier drink than hot or warm boiled milk. In many houses where they pride themselves on their good coffee only cream is used in the mixture. Coffee with cream is delicious, and the lovely color it takes on as the thick yellow substance drops down into it is a joy forever, but it is, alas, indigestible. Many people who have decided that they can not take coffee would find themselves nourished and strengthened without injury by equal parts of well made, strong coffee and hot boiled milk. Many housekeepers of the present day are entirely ignorant of the appearance of their kitchens and leave the care of it in the hands of incompetent servants, who frequently neglect keeping it clean and tidy, which an occasional visit of inspection from the mistress would often obviate. Any dust or cobwebs or vile odors about the kitchen are sure to get into the food and so help to poison the human victims fed thereby, but the breath of a kitchen fire and of healthy cooking are as invigorating as anything short of an ocean breeze.

Lion Tamer Martin.

Recognized by the Beasts After an Absence of Five Years. When the celebrated animal tamer, who died lately, had retired to private life, one day he took a notion that he would visit his former large menagerie, which he had not seen for five years. It was in Bremen, and he started for that city from his country seat near Rotterdam. At four o'clock, the time for feeding he entered the menagerie. Being winter time Martin was wrapped in a cloak. He mingled with the crowd and waited until the animals would receive their food, for which they were waiting with wild impatience. While they were eating he began to cough. Suddenly the animals paused in their treat and listened, then broke into wild howls of joy and tore at the iron bars, so that many of the timid visitors fled from the menagerie. The parrots, kangaroos, pelicans and monkeys began to screech and scream, the hyenas and wolves howled—in short, it was a perfect bedlam. Then Martin stepped forward. With a movement of his hand and with his powerful voice he commanded silence, and suddenly every thing was quiet. He swung himself over the bar which separated the visitors from the animals and put his hand in the cages to fondle the animals. A mighty tigress showed more joy than any of the others. When Martin's hand glided over her magnificent fur her limbs trembled nervously; she uttered weak, tender grunts, and through the iron bars, with her rough tongue, she licked the face of her former master. When he went away she lay down without eating any more food. There was a lion named Nero who had been severely punished by him for it. The lion had an unreciprocated hatred for the animal tamer. Nero made no other motion at Martin's approach than lift his head and eye him intently. He remained in his place, lying still in the back of his cage, when Martin came near. Martin spoke to him. He did not answer and viewed Martin with apparent indifference. But, when Martin was going away, the lion, with a mighty spring, entirely unexpected, threw himself against the grating, pushed his paws through the iron bars, and with his claws tore off a part of Martin's cloak. By a quick movement Martin escaped another injury from this animal. -St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Pure Malt Whisky.

The Indians on the Montana reservations are greatly excited over the coming of another Messiah. An Indian bearing the prickly name of porcupine, now at Fort Custer, states that he recently met the Messiah at Walker's Lake. He describes him as a large man, with a tawny skin and a noble face and carriage, and says that he began talking after sunrise, and did not end his speech until after sunset. A perfect specific—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.
