He has also repapered, repainted and otherwise improved it, and has fitted up a large and tasty parlor and reception room on the first floor. WM. PARKER, Proprietor, Philadelphia, Pa.
CENTRAL HOTEL,
MILLSBURG, PA.
A. A. KOHLER, Proprietor.
This new and commodious Hotel, located opposite the depot, Millsburg, Centre county, has been entirely refitted, repapered and repainted throughout, and is now second to none in the county in the character of accommodations offered the public. Its table is supplied with the best market affords, its bar contains the purest and choicest liquors, its stable has attentive hosts, and every convenience and comfort is extended to its guests. Through travelers on the railroad will find this an excellent place to lunch or procure a meal, as all trains stop there about 25 minutes. 24 24

THE CUMMINGS HOUSE

Having assumed the proprietorship of this finely located and well known hotel, I desire to inform the public that while it will have no bar, and be run strictly as a temperance hotel, it will furnish to its patrons all the comforts, conveniences and hospitalities offered by others. Its table will not be surpassed by any. Its rooms are large and comfortable. Its stabling is the best in town, and its prices to transient guests and regular boarders will be very reasonable.
The citizens of the town will find in the basement of my hotel a
at which all kinds of meat can be purchased at the very lowest rates.
I earnestly solicit a share of the public patronage.

Medical.

WEAK AND WEARY.

In early summer the warmer weather is especially weakening and enervating, and that tired feeling prevails everywhere. The great benefit which people at this season derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, and purifies the blood.

JUST THE MEDICINE.

"For nine years I was in a state of constant suffering, scarcely able at any time to walk about the house, and part of the time unable to be out of bed. The physician said I had a fibroid tumor. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and its good effect was soon apparent. I began to improve in health, and continued taking the medicine till now I feel perfectly well and can walk six or seven miles a day without feeling tired. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women and anyone who has had blood." JESSIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Pennsylvania.

A BOY'S BELIEF.

It isn't much fun a living
If grandpa says what's true,
That this is the jolliest time o' life
That I'm passing through.
I'm 'fraid he can't remember,
It's been so awful long;
I'm sure if he could recollect
He'd know that he was wrong.
Did he ever have, I wonder,
A sister just like mine,
Who'd take his skates, or break his kite,
Or tangle up his wire?
Did he ever enjoy the kindling,
Or fetch in coal and wood,
Or offer to turn the winder?
Or if he did he was awful good!
In summer its "weed the garden;"
In winter its "shovel the snow;"
For there isn't a single season
But has its work, you know,
And then, when a fellow's tired,
And hopes he may just sit still,
It's bring me a pair of water skis,
From the spring at the foot of the hill."
How can grandpa remember
A fellow's grief or joy?
Tween you and me, I don't believe
He ever was a boy.
Is this the jolliest time o' life?
Believe it I never can!
Nor that it's as nice to be a boy
As a real grown-up man.

Household Hints.

Piano keys should be cleaned with a sponge or a soft rag dipped in alcohol. To keep kid shoes soft and free from cracks rub into them once a week a little castor oil or pure glycerine. A teaspoonful of salt put into the oil fount of a lamp will, it is said, make the flame much more brilliant. A rent in a dress should be darned with ravelin's of the material. If neatly done and properly pressed the darn will never be noticed. An ordinary cold should never be neglected. It may wear away, and then again it may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption. Fresh meat should never be left wrapped up in paper, because paper is a great absorbent, and will soon extract all the juices from the meat. A large palette knife will be found an invaluable addition to the kitchen utensils. The blade is so flexible that it can be put to thousand uses. Nickel plated articles can be cleaned with a paste made of ammonia and whiting. Cover the article to be cleaned with the paste, and rub with a soft cloth until bright. There is no better way of cleaning jewelry than to wash it in a cup of warm water, to which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been added. An old tooth brush or nail brush is the best thing to wash it with. A good perfume for closets and drawers, and one that will help keep the clothes away, is made of one ounce of cedar, rubbed in and cloves, pulverized together. Put the powder between cotton and tie in a bag. Vegetable or fruit sandwiches are recommended as new delicacies for picnics. The newest dainty sandwich is made of nasturtium leaf sprinkled with a little salt, and set between two round slices of biscuit and butter. Chemists say that potatoes should always be boiled in their jackets, as there are various elements detrimental to the wholesomeness of the vegetable that are absorbed by the skin, and that potatoes that are peeled before boiling retain some of these elements. One of the many cures for earache is to mix well together ten drops of laudanum, one-half grain sulphate of morphia and one-half ounce of glycerine. A piece of cotton well saturated with this mixture should be inserted in the ear and renewed every fifteen minutes till the pain ceases. The digestibility of vegetables depends in a great measure on the amount of starch they contain. To free this element and have it thoroughly incorporated with the other elements in the vegetable a great amount of heat is necessary. Hence it is that all vegetables should be put down to cook in boiling water. Mothers and nurses will find the following curative powder very valuable when the baby is colic: Drop on half an ounce of lump sugar five grains of oil of aniseed and two of peppermint. Put the sugar in a mortar, add a dram of magnesia and reduce to a fine powder. A small quantity of this mixed with a little water will give almost instant relief.

A NATURAL BRIDGE HIGHER THAN

"OLD SUPERSTITION."—Natural Bridge, on Pine Creek, in the northern part of Gila County, Arizona, spans the creek at about 200 feet, and the walls of the canyon on rise above it on either side 700 or 800 feet, and on one side form a perpendicular precipice. The bridge is of a lime foundation, and the inside of the great arch, which is 290 feet across, is worn by the water as smooth as though chiselled by the skillful hand of a stonemason. The arch at the top is nearly, if not quite, 400 feet in width, 1000 feet in length across the canyon, and at the thinnest part only six feet through. At the centre of the arch is a hole large enough to admit the body of a man, although which one can look down into the crystal pool of water 200 feet below. Mouth cancers and cigar-smoking have been closely associated in the public mind since Gen. Grant's death, but a prominent Cincinnati physician, in a recent conversation upon the subject said: "The only cases of cancer of the tongue that I ever saw were of persons who never smoked. The majority of them were women, and the half dozen men who were afflicted were not confirmed smokers at all. I don't believe that smoking even in the most indirect way causes cancer of the tongue. In Gen. Grant's case the public believed his disease was due to excessive smoking, but few physicians share that view."

—An ingenious statistician has made the interesting calculation that the women of the United States use enough paint on their faces every year to paint 37,000 houses.

Cleanly Savages.

Many of Them Think a Daily Bath is Really a Necessity.

Cleanliness is a virtue which is not supposed to be practiced to any large extent among uncivilized people. It is a fact, however, that some savage tribes are cleanly in their habits, and in this respect are far superior to many people who live in civilized lands. In scores of African tribes the daily bath is regarded as a necessity of life, and the first duty of the morning is to bathe in the river or little stream that flows near the native village. Many Africans, also, never think of eating without washing their hands and faces after the meal. This habit is widely practiced and has been observed not only among such advanced people as the Waganja, but also among less promising tribes on the Congo.

It may surprise some people to learn that the use of tooth-brushes is known in all parts of Africa. The African is noted for his fine white teeth, but he does not keep them white without an effort. The tooth brush used by the native African consists of a short stick of fibrous wood, which is chewed until the fibres at the end resemble bristles. The natives spend considerable time rubbing the end of the little stick over their teeth. Mr. Ashe says that the Wauyanwezi, who have splendid teeth, seldom have the brushes out of their mouths. We would think it very hard lines were we compelled to keep clean without soap. But many Africans have their soap, too, which, though it is soft and rather dirty in appearance, answers the purpose very well. The Waganda, for instance, places ashes in plain water, and folds up in the form of a funnel. Water is poured in and is caught as it lies in another vessel. Then fat is added to the lye and the whole mixture is boiled down. The process is almost exactly the same as that used by our farmers in the manufacture of soft soap. There is little doubt that it was introduced into equatorial Africa from Egypt and the Soudan.

Determined to Die.

Death Has No Terrors When the Heart is Breaking.
Detroit Free Press.
The balloonist at the exposition had a call yesterday from a young man wearing a linen duster and having his trousers tucked into his boots. He wanted to take the balloon man's place and make an ascension. "In the profesh?" was asked. "Ever go up?" "Never." "Perform on the bar?" "No." "Know anything about the parachute?" "No." "Well, what do you expect to do?" "Go up about a mile and then let go and fall kerching!" "And be smashed into a pulp." "That's just it. I reckon there wouldn't be enough left for me to grease a wagon." "I can't see your object." "Well, I've got two. In the first place the old man wouldn't give me the $200 to come here, and in the next place my gal Sarah has given me the shake. We arrived and is now over in the bog department with a chap who can buy two bushels of peanuts where I can't go 10 cents worth of gum-drops." "Well?" "Well, it would spite Sarah and scare her half to death, and the old man will be put to $25 expense to gather me up and get me home. Say, lemme go." "Couldn't think of it." "Do me a favor." "Not to day." "Hain't you got no feelin's?" "Not in this line." "Well, I'll have to try somethin' else, I s'pose, but I had all this planned out. Well, the man who does the burning of Pompey? Mebbe I kin arrange to be hit kerplaf by a volcano, while Sarah looks on from a 25-cent reserved seat on the grand stand."

TOMATO FIGS.

Allow to six pounds of tomatoes three pounds of granulated sugar. Select those that are quite ripe, small and smooth. Scald and remove the skins. Place a layer of the tomatoes in the bottom of a porcelain-lined kettle, then cover with the sugar, and place them over a moderate fire. Stew very gently until the sugar appears to have thoroughly penetrated the tomatoes. Lift them carefully, one at a time, with a spoon, spread them on dishes and dry in the sun, sprinkling with granulated sugar several times while drying. When perfectly dry pack in jars with a layer of sugar.—Table Talk.

AN EARLY RISER.

"Pat, you must be an early riser. I always find you at work the first thing in the morning." "Indade, and Oiam sorr. It's a family trait O do be thinkin'." "Then your father is an early riser, too, eh?" "Me feyther, is it? Faix and he rises so early if he'd got to be a little later he'd mate himself gettin' up in the mornin'."

WANTED PROOF.

Tommy (down in the street)—Oh, pa, put your head out of the window a minute. Pa (putting his head out of the window) What is it, Tom my. Tommy—Nothing, except I have got a bet with Johnny Jones that your bald place is bigger than his pa's bald place.

Wants a Pardon.

Williamsport Sun.
Ed. C. Loveland, the Lock Haven young man who is serving a term in the penitentiary for causing the death of a young lady of that city, has grown tired of looking through the bars, and wants a pardon. His victim's sufferings and death do not worry the fellow much, it seems. It is doubtful if the Board of Pardons will favorably consider the application, as Loveland got no more than he deserved.

"A roaring farce," is the term we often hear applied to the modern trial-by-jury. The trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, by a jury of thousands of women afflicted with "female complaints," has been no farce, for it has established the fact that this remedy is a specific for all chronic weaknesses peculiar to the sex. The only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

TOMATO BUTTER.

Scald twenty pounds of ripe tomatoes, and remove the skins, put them in a porcelain-lined kettle with four pounds of apples pared, cored and quartered; stand over a moderate fire to cook slowly for one hour, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking, then add eight pounds of sugar, the juice of four lemons and one tablespoonful of powdered ginger. Cook and stir to the consistency of marmalade. Put in tumblers or jars. When cold, tie up as directed.—Table Talk.
