(Concluded from 4th page.) DEFEATED BUT NOT ROUTED

Although beaten by unfair means, yet not daunted or discouraged, we, with increased courage and energy, framed what was thought an improvment on the origi-

When the bill reached the House it was passed by an almost unanimous yote; when it reached the Senate it was referred to the judiciary committee, of which Mr. Delamater Martz, John Fisher, Samuel F. Ishler, Edward was a member, and Delamater then and Riley. there pledged himself personally to Bro. Tacket, republican member of the House, Senator Brown and Master Rhone, that Tate, R. B. Fry, Jacob Rhone, D. W. Miller. he would see that this bill was passed, and that he would use all his personal influence and efforts to this end. Did he keep his promise? This bill was dead in the committee for a long time, and Senator Brown, in order to resurrect it, made a motion to discharge the committee, which was seconed by Senator Henninger, of Lehigh county.

When the vote was taken to discharge said committee, which requires a 1/3 vote of the Senate, Delamater not only against the bill, but had the bare-faced son. audacity to make a speech in opposition, Parvin-Lew W.Strunk, George B.MeClintic, and his single solitary treacherous vote defeated the farmers' qualization Tax Bill. For the further particulars I will kindly refer you to Ex-Senator Emery, from whom you will hear new develop ments of a startling character.

Now, my good Republican friends of Pennsylvania, this man Delamater is certainly not the nominee of the conservative people of Pennsylvania, but, on the contrary, represents the Standard Oil Company and other gigantic corpora-

Gen. Hastings, the true exponent of the Republican party, was beaten out of what honorably belonged to him by rotten Quayism. I am no politician and am not so classed among my friends at home. My object is to benefit myself and my brother farmers, to help as far as in my power lies, to right the wrong. I stand by a certainty, as against an uncertainty. I uphold Ex-Gov. Pattison because he has upheld and is today upholding our cause regardless of party. This is not an issue of Democracy against Republicanism. It is an issue of right against wrong; and it makes me feel proud to be able to speak to such an enlightened audience as is represented here to-day, and am confident that some of you will carry away good tidings which will bring forth good fruit.

I have been interested in Grange work for the past four years, have been State Deputy for the last two, I have been instrumental in organizing a dozen new Granges and have more than doubled the membership of Lehigh, Berks and Northampton counties, and find that a straight forward frank expression will always merit good will at least.

THURSDAY.

All morning the trains kept pouring gay parties into the Park, and, what with those who came by rail and those who drove, there must have been twelve thousand people on the grounds by noon. Every one was happy except the poor country lass who got sick in the "razzle dazzle" machine. At 10 a.m. addresses were delivered by Col. J. H. Brigham, of Ohio, Master of the National Grange, and Senator Brown, of ral implements; James Schofield, sad-York county, State Lecturer. In the af- dlery and harness; S. A. McQuistion ternoon the Hon. Mortimer Whitehead, & Co., buggies, carriages; Montgomeof New Jersey, spoke to a large assemblage of people. Towards the middle of the afternoon visitors to the Park making money. began to leave, but many remained for the interesting entertainment that was given in the evening by the music and literary talent of the camp. The pyrotechnic display under the direction of John Sourbeck was exceedingly fine, and it alone was well worth staying to see. Thursday was the big day at the picnic and had it not looked so much like rain in the morning the crowd would have been much larger. The picnic will continue over to-day, Friday, though most of the exhibitors intend breaking up to-day in order that they can get home before Sunday.

18th annual one, has been, up to the many changes and passed through an ex time we go to press, an unprecedented perience which I never expect to cross my success. There have been more exhibitors, more tenters and more picnickers the Prop., I was, with the paper and before than this organization has ever had be- starting for home, ordered it sent me through fore. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16-. Senator Quay is being put in a bad position by nal bill.

Meyer, A. D. Katherman, L. Neff, Philip ed speakers from Washington to fill support of the State and like its the demands made on him from various campaign engagements. The bad standing in which Senator Quay finds him-self in the estimation of his fellow Senators and the leading Republicans in Washington makes it extremely difficult for him to comply with these requests. The Republican management of the State campaign in Pennsylvania is so associated with corruption and bribery that the self-respecting party leaders here do not care to be too closelo allied with the enterprise of electing Delamater or to engage in what is expected to be a vindication of Quay.

This fact was forcibly illustrated in connection with the attempt to secure prominent speakers at the opening of the Delamater campaign in Pittsburg last Saturday. Naturally it was deample time to spend in the Maine campaign, occupying days in going and returning, but they suddenly discovered that when Mr. Quay presented his request they could not spare time for even so much as a day to go to Pitts

The unsatisfactory result of the Sena tor's attempt caused the local managers to send a committee here for the purpose of securing the attendance of the speakers whose presence was desired. This likewise failed. Reed, Mc-Kinley, Sherman, Lodge, and McComas pleaded business. In the emergency the vicious and tainted blatherskite Ingalls, was secured as the star for the engagement. The Kansas Senator loses no opportunity of making a public speech, and if it should happen that it be in a bad or notorious cause, the more ready he is to lift up his voice. It was particularly fitting that Inga lls should be the leading figure in the opening of the Delamater campaign. When he came from the State of Kansas to the Senate his title to the seat was clouded with bribery and corruption of members of the legislature which elected him. The Committee which investigated these charges found them to be true, but allowed him to take them to be true, but allowed him to take his seat on the ground that not enough members had been bribed to change the result. One of the members who signed this report was the late John A. Logan. No better champion of Delamater, the briber, could have been selected than Briber Ingalls.

The foregoing recalls the fact that address, Chairman Andrews himself has made a record which particularly fits him for association with Quay and Delamater. association with Quay and Denmacer.
Two years ago the Republican managers put in his hands $50,000 for use in the State of Tennessee. He went into that State with a great deal of bluster, but on election day the Democrats had the usual majority, and the indications were that the money had not been applied to the purpose intended. This suspicion has strongly corroborated by the fact that Chairman Andrews, who was a poor bankrupt, suddenly assumed a position of affluence.

Delamater, Quay's candidate for gov-ernor, is also charged with corruption and forgery by members of his own par-ty. He has made feeble attempts to deny them, but he cannot dodge the truth. fusing to vote for them. B. R. W.

last Saturday. Naturally it was desired to have a distinguished party come from Washington, and a year ago it would have been but a matter of simple request from Senator Quay to have accomplished it. In the past twelve months, however, the exposures of Quay's past have had a telling effect, and his party associates do not care to publicly appear as endorsing his record. No effort ever made by the Senator in Washington was more earnest than his attempt last week to have Sherman, Reed, McKinley, Lodge and McComas to attend the Pittsburg meeting.
