Medical.

GOOD AS GOLD.

So enthusiastic are thousands of people over the benefits derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, that they can hardly find words to express their confidence in gratitude for this medicine. "Worth its weight in gold" is a favorite expression of these warm friends.

If you are in need of a good medicine to purify your blood, build up your strength, cure dyspepsia, or create an appetite, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

STAPLE AS WHEAT.

"Once tried Hood's Sarsaparilla always remains a friend in the household. It is as staple as wheat and good as gold."

HASKIN & TOWN, Ithaca, N. Y.

"I am happy to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla entirely cured me of catarrh, with which I had been troubled many years. I am never without this medicine, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. G. R. Ginn, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

PERFECT HEALTH.

"My daughter has been very ill with eczema. By reading about Hood's Sarsaparilla I was induced to try this medicine, and was wonderfully surprised by its effects. When she had taken half a bottle she was like another child, and when the bottle was all gone, she was entirely cured and in perfect health. I will never again be without a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house, as I consider it worth its weight in gold." D. F. KAVANACH, 15 Danie Street, Albany, N. Y.

Fashion Fancies.

The fashionable winter colors are black, heliotrope, silver and iron gray, myrtle green, mordore and blue royal.

Among the inportations are black velvet sailor hats, with a Prince of Wales cluster of black ostrich plumes set up in front.

Very large cravats covering the whole breast are latest novelties, and are seen in crepe lisse, tulle and dotted or square foulard or surah.

A demand for gros grain is again springing up, and the trade and public want it of a good quality that will give satisfaction in the way of wear, appearance and price.

A white silk nightshirt has colored sailor collar and cuffs, or is trimmed in front and below the lace frill with light blue. The sleeves, except for the sailor style, are loose and wide.

In colors the blue shades, chiefly dull blues and grayish blues, are given the preference. Light ground plaids are also favorites. Flame ground will be fashionable. Stripes will later on take a decided lead.

Laces are again very fashionable, and will be largely used as garnitures for society dresses during the coming winter. This refers mostly to Irish laces, which will have the preference in white, Honiton and Limerick.

Gros-grain ribbon having satin edges will still remain in favor, especially if of an excellent quality and handsome appearance, whether of black or colors.

Satin and gros-grain ribbons will be fancy work, and double-faced satin reserved in appearance.

New silk cord passementeries in russet brown, ruby, heliotrope and plum color, with veinings of gold are extremely effective and rich, and galloons and delicate applique bands and ornaments of very fine chenille intermixed with gold or silver threads, are restored to favor.

For the ultra-fashionable world little is yet seen, and if anything is being prepared it is not yet shown, as manufacturers are afraid of frightening fickle fashion away from a style if it is mentioned six months before it is worn; what has already been shown is nothing but a variation or an improvement on existing fashions.

Jet again asserts itself, and among the novel examples are enormous butterflies of cut and riveted jet, their wings studded with turquoise stones set in glittering steel. These bandeaux of the bonnet's crown, and bandeaux of the same style are on the brim. Nothing but a pair of narrow velvet strings is necessary to complete this insect bonnet.

Latest novelties are tulle veils with or without borders, and with black spots. Fancy feathers are coming forward for hat garnitures; also birds, feather panaches and jet ornaments, the shapes being mostly in diadem. Many round velvet hats are seen; velvet ribbons with satin back, very small ribbed faille ribbons and satin ribbons faille back are used.

Household Hints.

A tablespoonful of soda added to the water in which ironware is washed will facilitate the cleaning.

A cracking hinge can be cured by the use of a black-lead pencil of the softest number, the point rubbed into all the crevices of the hinge.

Keep large squares of thick pasteboard hung conveniently to slip under pots, kettles, stewdishes and spiders whenever you set them down.

To extinguish the flame, should the oil in a kerosene lamp accidentally take fire, throw over a woolen blanket, a rug, a piece of carpet, shawl or any other wollen fabric at hand.

Jewelry can be made to look like new by washing with ammonia and water or alcohol, then rub, drying and polishing with prepared chalk applied with flannel or chamois skin.

If, before grinding the morning's coffee, the berries are heated for four or five minutes, or until they take on a darker shade of brown, the flavor of the coffee will be much improved.

Always mix starch in cold water until free from lumps; pour on boiling water stirring well until of the proper consistency; boil ten minutes, add a little lard, butter or shavings of spermaceti, or prepared gum arabic; then cool.

For washing red table linen, use tepid water with a little powdered borax, which sets the color. Wash the linen separately and quickly in weak soda. Rinse the tepid water containing a little boiled starch. Hang in the shade and iron when nearly dry.

The Benefit of Sticking to One's Rights.

The most pugnacious 'Stick-to-rights', though he certainly does give the public a great deal of trouble, is, upon the whole, a useful person. He makes other people very careful to observe the rights of other people. Indeed, our soft friends themselves could not get on at all but for the aid of those who will not be imposed upon. Yet it is 'stick-to-rights' who is called a hard man, an unfeeling savage, an incarnation of selfishness; while his soft neighbor is supposed to be the most amiable of men.

"If you make a sheep of yourself," said old Dr. Franklin, "the wolves will come and devour you." No man has a right to give such encouragement to wolves. Wolves are the common enemy. To overcome such wolves a man must 'show his teeth,' and, if need be, use his teeth. Then the wolves will not be apt to molest him, and the opinion will spread among beasts of prey that it is better to let alone a class of creatures who can be lame to one another, but bull-dogs to those who attack them.

CORN MEAL GEMS.—One cup granulated meal, two teaspoonfuls flour, two teaspoonfuls sugar, one heaping teaspoonful baking powder, one egg and sweet milk enough to make a thin batter; bake in gem tins in a well heated oven.

Hunting Alligators in Mexico.

Mr. Joseph Smith has arrived at Galveston, Texas, from Tampico, Mexico, in the schooner Garnet, which he had chartered to bring to that port a cargo of alligator hides. Mr. Smith was asked why he went to Mexico to hunt alligators and replied: "Alligators are becoming so scarce in parts of the United States in consequence of their skins being in such demand that many persons have engaged in alligator hunting as a means of making money. I learned that in the vicinity of Tampico there were plenty of them, and my information proved correct. The alligators had never been hunted by the Mexicans, but I soon had them at it.

"At first I shot at them, but a Mexican conceived the idea of harpooning them and carried it out so successfully that we followed that method. I was down there eighteen months, and during that time I secured hides to the amount of $50,000. It is quite exciting to take a sportsman's lamp, quietly sneak along the river bank, and find one of these monsters lying at the water's edge, harpoon him. It takes a steady and quick eye to strike him right and a strong arm to hold him after he is harpooned. I found no trouble in getting along with the Mexicans and enjoyed my stay very much."

A Sure Beautifier.

The greatest beautifier in a woman's trousseau is a fur-trimmed wrap. She may have a shock of hair that bristles like a sea urchin, a complexion like a ham, features that grow at right angles with one another, and five-cent cheese cloth for a dress, but muffled in a white or printed cloth robe, lined or quilted with pale satin, and bordered with ermine, fox or lamb, she will look well. These warm, elegant mantles that envelop the defects of a woman and her wardrobe, are planned to touch the ground in length, to fit close about the neck and waist by means of a cord and ribbon.

There is nothing handsomer in the way of material than eifel cloth—a soft, warm, woolen stuff, stamped with a leaf or flower pattern in a darker tint than the surface of the cloth. There are cinnamon, café au lait, cream and pearl, with the design in oak, seal, cameo and amber to choose from, and lined with quilted surah and trimmed in Angora lamb, the robe need not cost but $60. If the buyer is any sort of a needlewoman a saving of $30 may be made by home industry and a fifty cent pattern.

INTERESTED PEOPLE.—Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

SWEET CHEESE.—Put on a large kettle half full of fresh buttermilk, let it just come to a boil, then add as much sweet milk as there is buttermilk, stir it just enough to mix and let it again come to a boil; take immediately off, strain through linen or sieve after it has drained, work the curd while still quite warm with the hand and fingers about ten minutes; add three tablespoonfuls of butter, a little salt; make into balls and it is ready for use.

MODERN ROMANCE.—Miss Sweetlips (just after the proposal)—"Oh, Mr. Poseyboy, you don't know how glad and grateful I am."

Mr. Poseyboy (ecstatically)—"Then you really love me?"

Miss Sweetlips—"No; but your proposal brings my record up to nine this month, and wins my bet with Miss Giggletitter!"—Binghamton Republican.

A JUNEBUG'S TRIALS.—Teacher—Give me the name of some quadruped that is an animal with four legs."

Tommy—"A dog."

Teacher—"Mention another."

Tommy—"A Junebug."

Teacher—"A Junebug has six legs."

Tommy—"What's the matter with pulling off two of them?"—Texas Siftings.

"Othello's occupation's gone." He used to spend days and nights cursing the fates and the rheumatism. Now he only lies down and laughs to think how easily he was cured by Salvation Oil, 25c.

"We are to know that we are never without a pilot. When we know how to steer, and dare not hoist a sail, we can drift. The current knows the way though we do not. The ship of heaven guides itself and will not accept a wooden ruler.

—Wm. H. Vanderford, Esq., Editor of the Democratic Advocate, Westminster, Md., writes, that he has used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and knows it to be a good medicine. Buy it. Try it 25 cent.

—It is hard for a haughty man ever to forgive one who has caught him in a fault, and he knows has reason to complain of him; his resentment never subsides until he has regained the advantage he has lost, and found means to make the other do him equal wrong.

—"Finally I prevailed on my wife to use Mellin's Food, which she did; today our baby is one of the nicest and healthiest in our city. Mellin's Food is the best we have ever used, or I have ever sold." J. W. H., Newton, Kan.

KEPT THE OLD MAN BUSY.—"What is your father's output this year, Maad?" inquired the cautious young man of the manufacturer's popular daughter.

"It is, so far, fifteen nincompoops and eight duds," responded the maid; "but they didn't seem to mind it much after they struck the pavement."—Jester.

—Even the ablest, most laborious, and most useful of men cannot afford to make enemies right and left of high and low. Virulent enemies are made by sharp words more than by any other means. If you allow yourself what is doubtless to some dispositions the luxury of an unbridled tongue, you will have to pay for it. Some day the enemies you make will have their innings, and may trip you up.
