Bellefonte, Pa., October 17, 1890.

To CORRESPONDENTS.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Mr. M. H. GUSE, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for Gregg township.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—Potatoes are selling in some parts of the county for 60 cents a bushel.

—Mrs. Michael Frank, of Millheim, and Mrs. Michael Fye, of Aaronsburg, are 80-year-old Penns Valley twins.

—The Philipsburg Ledger claims that a turnip left at its office some days ago measures 21 inches in circumference.

—Rev. W. H. Hayden, of Bellefonte, has been nominated for congress in this district by a conference of the Prohibition party.

—Of the $22,000 expense caused by the Lyeomung judicial contest, $15,000 will have to be paid by the county and $7,000 by the State.

—The money for the improvement of the Bellefonte Academy building has been all subscribed, and the work of improvement will soon begin.

—Miss Lizzie May Cole, of Loveville, and Mr. Harry McCormick, of Sinking Valley, were married at the bride's home on Thursday, Oct. 9th.

—Mrs. Catherine Snyder, mother of Jonathan Snyder, of Loganton, recently celebrated her 93rd birthday. She is recognized as the oldest woman in Clinton county.

—Diphtheria prevails in Flemington, Clinton county, and the local physicians advise the use of disinfectants by the people generally to prevent the spread of the disease.

—The committee that went to York to examine the steam fire engine proposed to be purchased for the Logan Hose company, report it to be a good engine but rather heavy.

—Centre Hall will pay a bill of $85 for police service rendered during the Grangers' fair. Last year it was $10, but these expenses must be expected to increase as the fair increases.

—The new kiln which McCalmont & Co. have completed as an addition to their old kilns, is constructed on new principles, and will be able to produce about 300 bushels per day.

—To supply arc lights for the streets of Bellefonte, as offered by the Electric Light Company, it will be necessary to increase the power and machinery of the plant. It is said that another engine and two more dynamos will be needed.

—Last week Dr. Andrews, of Philipsburg, and Dr. Bailey, of Clearfield, performed a successful operation in removing a large and unsightly tumor from the neck of Mrs. Miles B. Beers, of the former place, greatly to the relief of that lady.

—The farmers and other inhabitants of Penns Valley were pleased with Governor Pattison, who passed through their region last Friday and stopped and talked at several points. They recognized in him an honest man. The vote in that section will show what they think of him.

—T. P. Rynder, who is paraded as the Labor candidate for Governor, thinks there is a good chance to elect a Republican congressman and State Senator in this district. Why should a Union Labor candidate take such interest in the election of Republican officers?

—A petition from sixty-two persons living at State College, asking for the organization of a church at that place, was presented to Huntingdon Presbytery last week and granted, and Rev. Dr. Hamill, Dr. Laurie and Elder James Harris appointed to organize a church if the way is clear.

—Word reached this city today that William McCalmont, the demented young man who was wandering in the woods most of last week, has left his home again. This time he eluded the watchfulness of his parents and other relatives by jumping from a second story window.—Lock Haven Express of Monday.

—It appears that Gen. Hastings is to be here to speak for Delamater one of these nights. Hastings' heart isn't in it at all, but as he has an ambition to be Governor four years hence, after Pattison gets through, he has to keep up appearances with his party. How it must turn his stomach to be thus obliged to support the desecrated little chump from Crawford county.—Lock Haven Democrat.

—Mr. William F. Tipton, of Howard, this county, a young man engaged for the last three years as traveling salesman for G. R. Danenhower & Son, of Philadelphia, died in Danville on Thursday last week. He was but twenty years old and was the youngest son and child of the late N. S. Tipton, of Howard borough. He had been taken down with "the gripe" last winter, followed by an attack of pneumonia, from which he never fully recovered.

THE DELAMATER MEETING.—Quay's candidate in his visit to Bellefonte last Tuesday evening had the advantage of Governor Pattison in his visit the week before, in having a fine night, and the party managers did their utmost in drumming up a crowd, consequently there was something of a gathering, but the crowd failed to be as large as the one that greeted the Democratic candidate. The attendance was chiefly from town, there being but few from the surrounding country.

The Delamater caravan arrived here from Tyrone a little before 8 o'clock, it being behind time. Four bands were on hand to boot a welcome, and a sort of straggling procession having been formed, the representative of Quayism and the Standard Oil interest was put in a carriage with Daniel H. Hastings and escorted to the court house, with considerable shouting and a great deal of red light fireworks.

The court house was well filled, but was not overflowing. There wasn't enough to make two meetings, as on the occasion of the Pattison demonstrations. Chairman Brown occupied the chair and brought the meeting to order by calling General Hastings to preside over it. Hastings put on a very confident air and announced that from that very moment the Republicans would cease to act on the defensive and would push the fight. The enemy would be forced to the wall and Delamater elected by an immense majority. He indulged in big talk about acting in the aggressive for the balance of the fight, which must have been encouraging to poor Delamater who all summer has been dodging through the State trying to avoid the issue and keeping out of the way of the shot that have been poured into him principally by members of his own party. It no doubt would be a relief to him if he could be the attacking party, but unfortunately for him his situation won't admit of it.

Upon being called on the stand by the stentorian voice of "our Dan," Quay's little representative got up and made his bow to the audience. He said that the enthusiastic reception accorded him filled his heart with emotion, and then went on to tell what a good Republican and worthy man he was. He had come to discuss the true issues of the campaign, and to prove how earnest was his desire to get at those issues he started in on the tariff question. He enlarged upon the blessings which protection was conferring upon the working men, claimed that most of the things worth living for were produced by the tariff; declared that the price of clothing was reduced instead of increased by a good, stiff monopoly tariff such as Reed and McKinley had given the country, and gave his hearers the usual tariff hash that is furnished at Republican meetings.

His intelligent hearers howled over this and took it to be the leading issue of the campaign. They didn't seem to care about hearing of the disgrace inflicted upon the State by having a corrupt and disreputable leader select a Governor who would suit his dishonest purposes; of the degradation to which personal bossism has reduced the politics and the government of the State; of the disregard that has been shown for the constitution in the regulation and restraint of corporate power; of the favoritism that has been extended to corporations and monopolies by our legislatures, and their indifference to the rights and interests of the farmers and working people; of the tax policy which has discriminated against the lands of the agriculturists and the residences of the home-holders in order that corporate wealth might escape its share of the burden. Quay's little man, as he stood up before that sympathetic audience, didn't consider that these were State issues, nor did they seem to look at them in that light, either. It would have been embarrassing for him to discuss them. Therefore he stuck principally to the tariff and threshed the straw of the monopolists.

There was little else than tariff talk in Delamater's speech on the "true issues" on the campaign. He tried, however, to practice his usual deception on the tax question, claiming that he had favored equalization of taxes, although the record shows that he had deceived the grangers on that question, and he indulged in a half promise of what he would do to remove the burden which is now principally borne by the farmers and owners of real estate. Worthy Master Rhone, and the granger committee who were with him at Harrisburg two years ago, can tell how Delamater treated the tax equalization bill which they had in charge. After promising to support it he helped to defeat it for the benefit of the corporations and supporter in the Legislature.

The Quay candidate wound up his speech by assailing his opponent, Gov. Pattison, showing bad taste, which had an unfavorable effect upon every fair and decent man that heard him. His shirking the real issues was evidence that he was afraid of them.

Delamater was followed by Stewart, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, who is trying to make capital out of his few months service in the army at the heel of the war. One would have supposed from his speech that he had been in command of the Union forces at Appomattox when Lee laid down his arms. He, like the man at the head of the ticket, also avoided the issues in the campaign in which the people are most concerned, and spread himself chiefly on the soldier question.

The next speech was made by a Mr. Beeber, who pompously announced that he "represented the business men of Philadelphia," and the speech making was wound up by a young man from Chester whose speech was principally directed toward booming Hastings for the next campaign.

The joke of the evening was in Hastings sending Col. James P. Coburn, and Col. B. F. Eshleman to the outside of the Court House to address "acres of Republicans" who couldn't get into the buildings, but when they got out to orate to this multitude they found nobody there but the Zion Band and a few boys.

—On Tuesday James Milliken returned home from a visit to the Black Hills, Dakota. Mr. Milliken has been a great traveler, his itinerary having included foreign, as well as American regions.

—A charter was issued Thursday, Oct. 9, to the Morrison & Cass Paper Company, of Tyrone, capital $500,000. The directors of the new corporation are John S. Morrison and Richard Beaton, of Tyrone; Joseph K. Cass and Oliver L. Etnier, of Pittsburgh; and Samuel Irvin, of Allegheny City. J. G. Anderson, of Pittsburgh, is Treasurer. The corporation takes the place of the firm of Morrison & Cass in the ownership and management of their large paper warehouse at Pittsburgh.

—The following in reference to the whereabouts and business of a former Centre county boy, which we get from the National Druggist, will be read with interest by his many acquaintances hereabouts: W. F. McBride, formerly of Lawrence, Kan., and an old friend of the National Druggist, has removed to Pueblo, Col., where he has opened, at No. 104 North Union Avenue, a beautiful establishment which he has named "the Riverside Pharmacy." The building and everything in the shop, fixtures, drugs etc., are bright and new. The stock was purchased of Meyer Brothers Drug Company, Kansas City, and is a very complete one. Altogether, the Riverside outshines anything hitherto seen in Pueblo.

—Wednesday evening of last week a large barn belonging to Mr. Adam Mayer, situated near Chester Hill, took fire and burned to the ground, with all its contents, consisting of a lot of hay and straw belonging to Mr. Mayer, and a horse, buggy, wagon and a lot of machines belonging to a sewing machine agent named Thompson. The fire occurred about 10 o'clock, and as everybody about the neighborhood was in Philipsburg attending the Pattison meeting, the flames had everything their own way. Mr. Mayer thinks the fire was the work of an incendiary, and has an idea who the offender was. There was a small insurance on the barn, but none on the contents.

—We clip the following from the Elk Democrat, of Oct. 9th, about the marriage of a young lady who was at one time one of the reigning belles of our town:

On Thursday morning last the wedding of Miss Kate Jeanette Schnell, of Ridgeway, and Mr. Frank H. X. Schnell, of Cleveland, Ohio, took place at St. Leo's church. The handsome edifice was beautifully decorated with evergreen and plants. A rustic gate of cedar placed midway up the aisle, was opened to admit the bridal party by little Miss Taylor and Master Austin McClain, who looked too cunning as pages.

The bride wore an elegant costume of grey silk, and looked charming as she walked up the aisle leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Jos. Schnell, of Binghamton, N. Y. His daughter, Miss Kate Helen, presided then, wearing pink silk and a Gainsborough hat covered with pink feathers. Mr. Ed. McClain attended the groom as best man, and stood by him nobly during the few moments he waited in the chancel to receive his bride. Miss Mame Schoening played the wedding march from Lohengrin most effectively, as the bridal party entered, and at the offertory of the Nuptial Mass, Mrs. Jos. Schnell, of Binghamton, N. Y., sang Cherubini's "Ave Maria." Messrs. Harley and Hadly acted gracefully as ushers.

At the conclusion of the religious ceremonies, the newly married couple held a small reception at the residence of the bride's sisters, and a dainty breakfast was served. Elegant gifts from New York, Washington, Bradford, Binghamton, Bellefonte, Pueblo and other places, including Ridgeway, attested the high esteem entertained for the bride and groom.

Telegrams of congratulation were received from Gen. D. H. Hastings, of Bellefonte, Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins, of Bradford, and other friends during the wedding festivities. The happy couple left for the west on the noon train, amid a shower of rice, old slippers and hearty good wishes.

RETIREMENT OF AN OLD AND FAITHFUL PASTOR.—At a meeting of Huntingdon Presbytery in Tyrone last week, Rev. Robert Hamill, D. D., asked to be relieved of the pastoral charge of the Spring Creek church with which he has been connected for forty-five years. In requesting to be retired the veteran pastor said:

"In pursuance of a purpose formed some six months ago I come to ask permission to surrender to the Presbytery the charge with which I was invited by this Presbytery nearly forty-five years ago. In doing so I have felt that it would not be improper to give you the following statement: In the month of October, 1845, I was induced by my venerated preceptor, Dr. Archibald Alexander, and by Dr. McKinney, one of my predecessors in my pastorate, to visit the churches of Sinking Creek and Spring Creek, then a united church. Spending ten days among the people, I preached my first sermon in Spring Creek church, November 9, 1845. Subsequently I was unanimously called to become pastor of these churches. Declining to accept their calls, I returned to the field some months after and was ordained and installed their pastor May 8, 1846. For twenty-nine years I served these two churches. In April, 1875, I was called by my whole time by Sinking Creek. I have retained this relation for sixteen years. During my pastorate in this field there have been admitted into the communion of the church over 1,000 members; 700 have been baptized; have attended 700 funerals; have made 9,000 pastoral visits; have traveled over 50,000 miles, either on horseback or in a buggy; have preached 6,000 sermons. There has been contributed by my people for support and spread of the gospel over $100,000. Fifteen young men have gone into the ministry from my charge. Many and varied have been the experiences of these years; some sad, many joyous. The generation that greeted me when I first became their pastor has passed away. Only two of those who were then members remain. The present board of elders were all ordained during the time of my pastorate, and the present membership all received into the church save two. The church has always been loyal to their pastor. I am proposing the surrendering of many ties, but the path of duty to me is clear and the desire has been arrived at carefully and prayerfully."

A committee was appointed to consider Dr. Hamill's application to be retired from the active duties of his pastorate, and made the following report: Whereas the Rev. Robert Hamill, D. D., requested the dissolution of the pastoral relation existing between himself and the church of Spring Creek, and whereas, said church was unwilling to have the relation dissolved, but requested that their pastor should be relieved of the active duties of the pastoral office and be continued as their pastor Emeritus, to which Dr. Hamill having consented, the request of the church was cordially granted.

THE LECTURE COURSE.—The "Star Course" will open in November and promises to furnish the finest array of talent ever brought before the Bellefonte public. It will comprise three concerts and two lectures, one of which will be given by Russel H. Conwell, so favorably known to all. The celebrated Lotus Glee Club of Boston, who have been associated with Madame Adeline Patti, and have been filling the largest concert halls of England to overflowing nightly, are one of the attractions, and they alone will be well worth the price of the course ticket, as their voices have been trained together daily, for hours, for the past five years, and are pronounced by those who hear them, perfect in harmony and enunciation. The tickets for the full course are so low that all can afford to enjoy it, being only $2.00. The object, of course, is not money making, but to provide a class of entertainments elevating and enjoyable to both old and young, and, as such, the ladies deserve a liberal and cheerful patronage. The Madame Fry Co. is not in the course, but all who heard this charming company a few years ago will doubtless gladly hail their return, and show their appreciation of it by their presence on Oct. 25th. Tickets 50cts.

The following are some of the many flattering notices of the press: From the Review (Via) Daily Times. Those of orificities who failed to attend the concert last night missed a rich treat, and one that is seldom afforded us. Not that Racine does not have the best of the amusements that are on the road, but in this case Madame Fry's Company happened to be the best of the best. We have not had so enjoyable an evening in a long time, and this was the feeling of those present, and was evinced by their rapturous applause and frequent encores. It is one of those rare combinations sometimes seen, that newspaper advertising cannot fairly cover. They advertise themselves by their work. Madame Fry and her three daughters, Eugenie, Lulu and Alta, have a good, friendly, wholesome look. They have good heads and faces; one feels as if they would like to know them, and enjoy their society. From the opening to the closing they commanded the close attention of their audience. They are correct, pleasing singers, and musicians of great merit.

From the Gettysburg (Pa.) Truth. The concert given by Madame Fry and daughters in the Opera House last evening was attended by a large and select audience, and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable musical treats that has ever been the good fortune of our people to listen to.

—Ex-Representative Himelrich, of Lewisburg, spent a few hours in Bellefonte on Thursday last on his return from a business trip to Pittsburg.

—Be sure to go and see "the World," on Monday evening next, $10,000 worth of scenery and the most dazzling effects ever produced on a Bellefonte stage.

REMOVAL.—On and after the 1st of Nov., 1890, any one wishing the services of Dr. W. S. Glenn will find him at his office, in his residence, at State College, instead of at Snyder's Drug Store.

—The Odd Fellows Lodge of this place, accompanied by the Bellefonte Band, went to Philipsburg on Wednesday to take part in dedicating the new hall of Magnolia Lodge, of that place, which came off on that day.

—John F. Meginness is said to be writing away at the history of "Frances Slocum, the lost sister of Wyoming," which is to be ready for the press about the 1st of December. Mr. M. will, we hope, realize a goodly sum for his labor. The book will be worth reading.

—Last Tuesday morning an interesting wedding came off in the Catholic church in the marriage of Miss Flora Rolley, of Milesburg, and Mr. Emil McArde, of Ishpeming, Michigan, Father McArde performing the ceremony. They left for the western home of the groom on Wednesday afternoon.

—Mr. Jos. Fish, an old and well known resident of Spring township, died after a lingering illness on Wednesday last. Mr. Fish was unfortunate enough to be a township charge, and his remains were decently and respectfully interred on Friday morning, under the supervision of Mr. Jos. Rosst the kind hearted and popular overseer of that township.

—The impressive services of confirmation were performed in St. John's Catholic church, of this place, last Sunday morning, by Bishop McGovern, about a hundred children having been brought into the church by the ceremonial of the laying on of hands. The Bishop was formerly pastor of St. John's, and many who were not members of the church went to hear his sermon on the occasion.

—John M. Ward, Bellefonte's star ball player, and his team of "wonders" from Brooklyn, played with our team, here on Monday last. The game was close and some good plays were made but it did not create much interest. John Mitchell, late of the Minneapolis team, pitched for Bellefonte and did very well indeed. At the end of the game the score stood 5 to 3 in favor of the visitors.

—Dr. E. W. Hale, whose health has been greatly impaired for the past year, left Bellefonte on Thursday morning in a special car, for Florida, where he will spend the winter with the hope of being physically benefited by the change of climate. We regret that there is occasion for the Doctor's leaving home for such a purpose, and regret it also for the reason that, although a life long Republican, he intended to vote for Pattison, he having declared that, if here, he would vote for the honest candidate for Governor and against Quayism even if it should be necessary to haul him to the polls to do it.

—That was a cool announcement in the Daily News, of Tuesday afternoon, headed "No Blowing of Tin Horns Tonight," on the occasion of the Delamater meeting. Five extra policemen were appointed by the Assistant Burgess to prevent Mr. Quay's candidate from being disturbed by hornblowing and other obnoxious noises, after no effort had been made to prevent an unruly gang of young Republican hoodlums from disturbing the Pattison meeting on Tuesday evening of the preceding week. But the appointment of these extra policemen was unnecessary. The Democrats themselves would have seen that Delamater was not disturbed.

DAMAGES AWARDED.—Messrs. W. F. Reeder, B. F. Shaefer, Jacob Dunkle, Andrew Gregg and James Harris, the viewers from Centre county appointed to assess the damages done the property owners on the branch railroad between Petersburg and Alexandria, have reported damages as follows: Isaac M. Neff's heirs, $1,000; W. W. Stryker, $6,500; Henry W. Swope, $4,000; Daniel G. Neff, $3,650; William and David Neff, $3,500.—Huntingdon Local News.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND NEW PENSIONS.—The new law pensions all disabled soldiers, nearly all widows, minors, and parents, and gives increase to invalid pensioners. Applications should be made at once. Mr. H. B. Conover, representing the well-known firm of Soule & Co., Attorneys of Washington, D. C., and at the Brokerhoff House, Bellefonte, Pa., from Wednesday, Oct. 23d to Monday, Oct. 27th inclusive, for the purpose of giving free advice to all claimants, who should bring their discharges and all papers relative to their case. Claimants whose claims have been rejected can have them allowed under the new law. Soldiers and heirs are requested to call as early as possible and have their claims properly presented.

—Farmers and others in Centre Co. who may feel like trying the raising of German carp, may be interested in knowing that the state fish commission is now ready to supply German carp to all who may apply to any of the commissioners. All orders may be addressed to any of the following, and will at once be filled without cost to the applicant: H. G. Ford, Philadelphia; H. C. Demuth, Lancaster; S. B. Stillwell, Scranton; L. Streuber, Erie; J. V. Long, Pittsburg, and W. L. Powell, Harrisburg.

—Life Scholarship in business or shorthand at the Williamsport Com'l. College & School of Shorthand, $25.00.

—Jake Brown, who for some time had been employed as a hostler at different hotels in Snyder and Union counties, shot himself in the head with a revolver one day last week, in front of Binghamman's hotel, in Millinburg. He had previously announced an intention of killing himself, as he found it hard to make a living. He was intoxicated when he fired the shot. The ball was found lodged in his head, and he was living at last accounts.

—Life Scholarship in business or shorthand at the Williamsport Com'l. College & School of Shorthand, $25.00.

—Judge McCrea, Republican candidate for Associate Judge in Clinton county, met with a serious accident while driving with a friend, near the mouth of Sugar run, some days ago. While going down hill their buggy was upset and the Judge's right shoulder was dislocated, his nose cut, and back and side badly bruised. His injuries, though painful were not supposed to be serious.

—Life Scholarship in business or shorthand at the Williamsport Com'l. College & School of Shorthand, $25.00.

—On the night of the Pattison meeting in this place, the passenger train on the Buffalo Run railroad on its return from taking the Buffalo Run delegation home, ran over two valuable colts belonging to Mr. —praim Glenn, which had strayed on the track near that place, and killed both of them.

—Life Scholarship in business or shorthand at the Williamsport Com'l. College & School of Shorthand, $25.00.

—A big freight wreck occurred above Poweltown last Friday afternoon. Thirty-six empty coal cars were piled on a heap fifty feet high, in a cut. The wreck delayed all trains from 2 o'clock until past midnight. Passenger connection was kept up by transferring the passengers and mail, but all freight traffic was blocked.

—The finest and largest line of Foreign and Domestic woollens for suitings and overcoats ever shown by us. Full assortment of Ready Made clothing in G Hats, Caps, and Furnishing Goods. MONTGOMERY & Co. Tailors.

—The only music we heard in Houtzdale when T. P. Rynder, a self-nominated candidate for Governor on the Union-Labor ticket backed by Quay, arrived at that place last Monday, was the music of Rynder's chin as he worked it in explanation of how his Girard House expenses were paid.—Wage-Earners' Journal.
