Mr. M. H. GIBBS, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for GREGG ownership.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—Charles Gummo, of Julian, has been granted an increase of pension.

—Assistant Bishop Rulison, of the Central Pennsylvania Episcopal Diocese, is visiting the Episcopal churches in this section.

—The Centre Club consisting of about fifty members have fitted up comfortable rooms in Crider's Exchange building.

—An Elk county man is talking about going into that fragrant industry, the manufacturing of phosphate, in Lock Haven. Whew!

—We are glad to learn that Miss Ella Levy, a popular teacher of this place, is recovering from a dangerous attack of typhoid fever.

—John S. Morrison, a prominent citizen of Tyrone, who was connected with some of its leading enterprises, died in that place last week.

—Two Lock Haven hunters captured two coons in Nittany Valley last Saturday night. They saw six others which they were unable to get.

—Mr. Joshua Sykes, of Benzinger, saw wild strawberry plants in blossom near his residence last week. Are we to have the mild weather of last winter repeated?

—Don't forget the Madame Fry concert in the Court House on Saturday evening. It is said to be a great company that will give a great musical treat.

—A Buffalo Run valley man notices Bellefonte sportsmen that hereafter when they go out after wild game not to fill his hogs full of shot, or there will be trouble.

—The venerable Ex-Judge Dieffenbach, who spent some time recently in Lock Haven, is about to return to Philadelphia, and many of his friends are calling on him to bid him goodbye.

—Burglars have been operating in Lock Haven, visiting last Saturday night the residences of M. McArney, Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Rankin, entering two of them and stealing articles of value.

—Mr. Dave Crotty, a well known character in this place, noted for his fine physical development, is reported to be lying dangerously ill in the Altoona hospital to which he was taken some months ago.

—Mrs. Catherine M. Dale, wife of Mr. C. Dale, died at Pleasant Gap last Friday, in her 54th year, after an illness that had continued for some time. Interment took place in Pleasant Gap Lutheran cemetery on Monday.

—It is reported that Manager Garman has arranged for the return of the Marie Greenwood Opera Company some time in January. They proved themselves to be so good that a crowded house will greet their return.

—Barney McCue, who killed John Deeter near Nuncy dam about 16 years ago in a drunken brawl, is still living, fat and hearty, in the penitentiary at Philadelphia, the death sentence having been commuted to imprisonment for life.

—At the annual meeting of the survivors of the celebrated Bucktail Regiment, at Wellsboro last week, Gen. Hartshorne, of Clearfield, was elected President; Col. Niles, of Tioga, Vice President; Orderly Rauch, Secretary, and Col. E. A. Irvin, Treasurer.

—Our little neighbor, the Daily News, was so tickled with the result of its pumpkin contest that it has started a prize guessing match. It offers several nice prizes to the persons guessing nearest the gubernatorial majority in this county this fall.

—In the Daily News' contest for the big pumpkin between different members of town council, voted for as the most popular, the prize went to W. H. Crisman, he having received 847 votes. The pumpkin weighs something less than a hundred pounds.

—Miss Lizzie, the fair and accomplished daughter of Mr. William Shortlidge has perfected her knowledge of type-writing at a school in Philadelphia and will hereafter act in the capacity of stenographer and type-writer in the office of McCalmont & Co's agricultural store.

—There wasn't much business done at council meeting last Monday evening. The street committee reported the sewer fixed at the alley near Munson's residence, and the Finance committee was instructed to request Mr. Humes to have the floor of the hose house put in condition for the reception of the new steamer. The Daily News big pumpkin was then presented to the most popular council by W. I. Swope, esq.

THE ODD FELLOWS AT PHILIPSBURG.

—Wednesday of last week was a great day in Phillipsburg, this county; for the Odd Fellows' fraternity. It was the occasion of the dedication of the fine new hall of Magnolia Lodge, in the ceremonies and exercises connected with which the lodges in this part of the State were invited to participate, an invitation to which many of them responded with that fraternal spirit for which that order is distinguished.

Great preparations had been made by both the Odd Fellows of Phillipsburg and the citizens generally who always display much public spirit and hospitality on such occasions. The town was profusely decorated and everything put in the most attractive order for the reception and entertainment of the visitors. Dinners were provided for between 800 and 900 people at Brinton, Duncann & Barnes hall, this essential feature of the occasion being admirably managed by a committee of ladies consisting of Mrs. R. A. Kinsloe, J. M. George, Sol. Smith, John Stine, H. O. Hoffer, Matthew Elder, S. Cross, W. W. Andrews and Bertha Smidt.

The parade was one of the largest and finest ever seen in that section of the State, including 32 Odd Fellow lodges, besides other organizations, numbering in all 1400 and 1500 in line. The lodges were from Great Island, Tremont, Bald Eagle, Blanchard, Oseola, Clearfield, Mingle, McIntire, Bethesda, Boalsburg, Allmanville, Karthaus, Bellwood, Coalport, Houtzdale, Snow Shoe, Half Moon, Mapleton, Lumen, Port Matilda, Allport, Bellefonte and other places, and in addition there were organizations of the Knights of Pythias, United American Mechanics, Patriotic Sons of America, Knights of the Golden Eagle, Royal Arcanum and free companies. In the line there were bands from Bellwood, Huntingdon, Bellefonte, Milesburg, Clearfield, Phillipsburg, Kylertown, and several drum corps. The procession was headed by carriages occupied by the officers of the Grand Lodge and the Chief Burgess of the town.

The ceremonies of dedication commenced in the new hall a few minutes after three p. m., and were conducted by Grand Master Chas. D. Freeman and Post Grand Sire James B. Nicholson, both of Philadelphia. In the evening Post Grand Sire Nicholson delivered an interesting and eloquent address in the Opera House which was listened to by a large and attentive audience. This was followed by a banquet of the most sumptuous character at the Potter House. In all respects it was a great day for Phillipsburg and for the Odd Fellows.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO A YOUNG BOY.—While Edward Riggles, of Howard, this county, was out hunting squirrels near that place on Saturday last, he was unfortunately killed by accidental discharge of his gun. In making an effort to dislodge a squirrel, which he had shot from a young sapling, it appears that he used the butt of his gun to jar the tree, by which foolish act the gun was discharged, the load entering his abdomen. Dr. Mothersbaugh, of Beech Creek, was summoned, but the unfortunate lad died before his arrival. He was a son of Mr. George Riggles and was a little over fourteen years of age. When found by Mr. Frank Brown and several other men who were working near, he was praying and told them to tell his brothers and sisters not to worry, for he said "by tomorrow I will be in heaven." It was a very sad accident and should teach parents not to leave such young boys go out with a gun. The funeral took place on Monday at Howard.

A QUEER ROOSTER FIGHT.—The Lock Haven Democrat tells the following tale which furnishes an interesting mixture of love, jealousy and bananas: "We are told of an individual who has been paying attention to two women and on Saturday night started out courting. As he entered the door of the one on Grove street with a big bag of bananas in his hand for the purpose of treating her, the other, and for the time being deserted one, who had followed her beloved, entered with him. The result was a scene of a very lively nature, for the latter female grabbed the bag of bananas and commenced to clout her rival over the head with it. The result was a regular squabble, which one of the spectators said looked like a "rooster fight," but we don't see how it could have looked like that either, considering that both the participants were only a couple of old hens."

A FUNNY PLACE FOR A DEPOSIT.—Dr. T. J. Kean, veterinary surgeon, on Saturday extracted from the shoulder of a horse belonging to S. W. Caldwell, of the Irvin House, a ten-cent piece of the coinage of 1857. The only way in which the presence of the dime in the horse's shoulder has been accounted for is on the theory that it may have been placed there for pop-wowing purposes.

—A mountaineer who attended the State street market yesterday says that pheasants and wild turkeys are fairly plenty this season.—Harrisburg Patriot.

—The town of Butler is said to be suffering from a fearful epidemic of profane swearing, and the preachers are making the evil the subject of sermons. Sermons on that subject might not be out of place in Bellefonte where the disease is more sporadic than epidemic.

—A careful survey of the country exchanges convinces us that the season of snakes stories is past, and that the fish yarns are all in. But there remains to be recounted the wonderful exploits of the turkey hunter, and the number of partridges shot to make a sportsman's holiday.—Ex.

—Typhoid fever was the cause of the death of Mrs. Ada McClintock, wife of Howard McClintock, who died in this place last week, at the age of about 30 years, leaving a husband and one child. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church. Her remains were taken to Mill Hall for interment.

—Wild turkey shooting began on Wednesday, and reports say that the woods are full of them. It will be a good season generally for game, owing to the mild winter. An old sportsman who never misses great sport during the open season, says that after a mild winter game is always plentiful.—Phillipsburg Journal.

—George Bush was in Philadelphia the other day and is thus spoken of by the Times: "George T. Bush, the Bellefonte citizen whose name covers the front of a famous hotel up that way, was in town yesterday. Mr. Bush's share in political commodities this year is small."—We can't see why the Times should rate George so lightly as a politician.

—At an election by the Y. M. C. A. of this place last Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Newton S. Bailey; Vice President—Charles Rhone; Treasurer—John Walker; Secretary—Frank P. Basset; Board of Directors—D. M. Lieb, A. Lukenbach, E. S. Garman, J. C. Weaver, J. W. Gephart, W. S. Zeller, A. Lucas and Dr. J. W. Rhone. Mr. Ed. Drumel was continued as General Secretary.

A NEW STEAM FIRE ENGINE.—Upon an examination of the York steam fire engine which was offered the Logan Hose company for $900, it was decided that it was too heavy, and therefore the company declined to purchase it, but at a special meeting last Friday evening, at which an agent of the Silsby Steam Fire Engine Manufacturing Company appeared, an agreement was entered into to purchase a No. 5 Silsby engine, which is to be delivered within sixty days. One thousand dollars is to be paid upon receipt of the machine, and the balance in easy payments.

—The executors of the estate of Jacob Gray, deceased, late of Half Moon valley, offer at private sale two of the most productive and desirable farms in Centre county. They are properties located in one of the best communities in the county, have all necessary improvements to make pleasant and convenient homes, have an abundance of water, good fruit and pleasant surroundings, and in every way offer superior inducements to any one wanting to make a profitable investment in a pleasant locality.

—A staunch old Democratic lady, of Lock Haven, widow of an active Democrat of twenty years ago and former Treasurer of Clinton county, is mentioned as follows by a correspondent of the Williamsport G. of B.: "The venerable Mrs. Hitchcock, of Fairview street, although over eighty years old, takes a great interest in the political issues of the day, and is very enthusiastic on the subject of Pattison's election. Mrs. Hitchcock has been a staunch Democrat all her life, is a very remarkable reader, and is versed in the politics of the last sixty years."

—The work of repairing the Academy is now commenced and will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Not only will the academy building be repaired, but a structure will also be built to be used as the residence by Professor Hughes. These improvements have long been greatly needed and when completed will make the Bellefonte Academy as fine a private school as Central Pennsylvania can boast of. Meanwhile, during the time in which the repairs are being made the rooms over the Centre County bank will be used for the accommodation of the school.

—Mrs. Mary, wife of Mr. W. R. Brachbill, died of consumption last Friday morning at her residence on Spring street, at the age of about 26, leaving a husband and two small children to feel the loss of a devoted wife and affectionate mother. She was the daughter of Mrs. John Powers, an old citizen of this place. Her funeral took place on Monday morning, with interment in the Union cemetery after services in the Catholic church. The following persons acted as pall bearers: Messrs. Corkey Garman, Charles Shuey, Charles Cook, Harry Valentine, Henry Brockert, Edward Brown, Joseph Ceaders, Robert Gilmore. Rev. P. McArdle officiated.

KATIE RHOADES will be here next week. She has billed for the whole week, a week of comedy, and has better support than she has had in years; cheap prices will prevail every night. This company played at Wilkesbarre and this is what the News Dealer says of them: "The Katie Rhoades comedy Co. made its debut at the largest Wilkesbarre audience of the season last night at Music Hall in a manner that was both creditable and highly satisfactory. The play produced was 'The Planter's Wife,' a pleasing comedy drama. The rendition was excellent and all the parts were well taken. Miss Rhoades filled the leading role faultlessly. She has a good voice and is handsome and makes a good stage appearance. She thoroughly captivated the audience that filled the hall from pit to dome, and there were rounds of applause whenever she was on the stage. Taken all in all Miss Rhoades has a well balanced and strong support. The show gave entire satisfaction which was indicated by continuous applause. The majority of high priced companies cannot do as well as did Miss Rhoades' company."

FUNERAL OF THE LATE, EX-JUDGE LINN.—The funeral of the late Hon. Samuel Linn occurred last Saturday from his residence in Williamsport, the interment being made in Wildwood cemetery. The attendance was large, including many citizens and prominent lawyers. The officiating minister was Rev. J. W. Boal, of the Newberry Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Thomas Mitchell of the M. E. church, and Rev. Adolus Allen, of the Third Presbyterian church of Williamsport. The following members of the Lycoming county bar acted as pall bearers: H. C. Parsons, G. W. Watson, J. A. Beeber, B. S. Bentley, W. D. Crocker and C. K. Gaddes. Among the lawyers in attendance from a distance were: Ex-Governor A. G. Curtin, Hon. John B. Linn, Colonel D. S. Keller, James H. Rankin, and E. M. Blanchard, of Bellefonte; J. Merrill Linn, of Lewisburg; H. T. Harvey and Paul S. Merrill of Lock Haven.

A MUSEUM OF ART.—A large jewelry establishment, such as Bailey, Banks & Biddles', Chestnut & 12th streets, Philadelphia, is a perfect museum of art. It is a rare one too. Some of the finest artists and sculptors that have lived gave their best efforts to the designing of jewelry. It remained, however, for the present generation to discover that a complete jewelry store should have gems of household as well as articles of personal ornamentation. This idea seems to be the one that has prompted this firm to have in stock masterpieces of European potteries, exquisite bits of sculpture in marble and bronze, in addition to beautiful examples of the gold and silversmith's art.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL CONFERENCE.—Republican conferees from Centre and Clearfield counties met in Lock Haven on Monday to nominate a candidate for State Senate. The conferees were S. M. McCormick, T. B. Reed and W. D. Harper, of Clinton; J. H. Odenkirk, J. A. Fiedler and M. F. Riddle, of Centre; W. I. Shaw, Charles E. Patton and Harry Washburn, of Clearfield.

The conference organized by electing W. I. Shaw chairman and S. M. McCormick secretary, and without balloting adjourned to meet at Tyrone on Wednesday, when they nominated A. J. Malone, of Lock Haven.

CHANGE OF RULES.—The following change has been made in the rules of the gymnasium connected with the Y. M. C. A. of this place: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 3 o'clock p. m. to 5 p. m., for ladies. Thursdays from 5 to 6 p. m., Fridays from 4 to 6 p. m., and Saturdays from 10 to 3 p. m., for boys.

The other hours of the week for young men exclusively. The experience in the gymnasium during the past months demand that such changes be made in the interest of the association.

BLOODED SHEEP.—Mr. I. S. Frain is now in Canada purchasing a car load of ewe lambs for breeding purposes. He expects to be home by Saturday, Nov. 1st, and will offer most of his flock for sale. His purchases included such well known breeds as Leicester, Cotswold, Shropshire, Oxforddowns and Southdowns. Mr. Frain lives in Marion Twp. below Jacksonville.

—Mr. Charles Bosmer died in this place last Saturday at the age of 47 years. He was an iron worker by trade, and some weeks ago while on his way to Pittsburg he was taken sick and stopped off at Bellwood, Blair county, from which place he was brought home. He grew steadily worse until his disease ended in death. He served in the Union army during the war.

—If you need anything in the glove line you can get it at Mrs. Robt. Gilmore's, S. W. Corner Allegheny and Bishops street. Her stock of centemeres includes all the latest shades.

—The very newest thing in ruchings at Mrs. Robt. Gilmore's. They are the latest.

THE LATE JUDGE LINN.—The following interesting facts connected with the life of the late Judge Linn, recently deceased in Williamsport, are given in the minutes and resolutions passed by the Centre county bar upon his death: He was born on his father's farm adjoining Bellefonte, on the 20th day of February, 1820, and was the son of Rev. James Linn, D. D., who was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte for fifty-eight years.

He was educated at the Bellefonte Academy, and in early life manifested a taste for mechanics and science, and had been led to pursue this as a calling he would have doubtless excelled. Resolute during the progress of his education, when only fifteen years old he went to the State of Ohio with his uncle, James D. Harris, then principal engineer of the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal extending from New Castle to Akron. In March, 1838, when Mr. Harris was appointed principal engineer of the North Branch division of the Pennsylvania canal, he joined the corps of engineers and continued in the work upwards of five years, and although very young, earned an enviable reputation.

He commenced reading law with the late Bond Valentine, Esq., in 1840, and after attending Judge Reed's law school at Carlisle, Pa., returned to Bellefonte and finished his course in law with the late Hon. James T. Hale, and was admitted to the bar of Centre county at January term, 1843.

He opened an office in Bellefonte and in 1847 became a partner with Hon. James T. Hale, which firm was dissolved upon the appointment of Judge Hale President Judge of the Twenty-fifth Judicial district in 1851. He was married December 1, 1847, to Miss Augusta Moore, of Carlisle, and in 1855 associated his brother-in-law, the late William P. Wilson, Esq., in practice, which continued until the Judge's election to the bench.

In 1857 Mr. Linn published his "A Analytical Index Reference to the Cases Adjudged in the Several Courts of Pennsylvania," a work involving an immense amount of labor, and of incalculable value to the profession in the preparation of cases. Hon. George Sharwood, afterwards Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, said of it: "To be able to ascertain almost at a glance where ever a case is cited, the extent of its authority, will make it an essential valde necesse of the practitioner; while to the student, the counsel and the judge to be thus assisted by reference to all future cases in which the principal case has been cited and relied on as an authority, commented on, explained, qualified, doubted, shaken or overruled, will so materially assist legal investigation that its importance can hardly be overestimated."

Hon. James Burnside died in office, July 1, 1859, and Hon. James Gamble, of Jersey Shore, was appointed, July 15, 1859, to fill the vacancy, and was nominated by the Democratic Judicial conferees for the full term, and the Republican county convention recommended Samuel Linn. Judge Linn, at the October election of 1859, carried Centre county by a majority of 729 votes. Judge Gamble's majorities in Clearfield and Clinton counties were 171 and 97 respectively, and Judge Linn's majority in the district, 461 votes, was remarkable evidence of his popularity in a district overwhelmingly Democratic.

As a Judge his charges to the jury were clear and explicit; his decisions were marked by general acquiescence, and his sentences were just, but he was not satisfied with himself in the position, and resigned the office in May, 1868. He then resumed the practice of law at Bellefonte in copartnership with Hon. A. O. Furst, which continued until Judge Linn's removal to Williamsport in 1869.

As an ejection lawyer he had no superior in Pennsylvania. He was one of the most eloquent of advocates; his eloquence was not of manner or action, but of thought clothed in the most beautiful and appropriate language—eloquence brightened by his wit and enlivened by his humor, of which he had an inexhaustible fund.

While a law student at Carlisle he became a member of the Presbyterian church, and after his return to Bellefonte was successively teacher and superintendent of the Sabbath school, and was elected and served as an Elder of the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte after representing it in the highest assemblies of the church.

REMOVAL.—On and after the 1st of Nov., 1890, any one wishing the services of Dr. W. S. Glenn will find him at his office, in his residence, at State College, instead of at Snyder's Drug Store.

—Mrs. Robt. Gilmore has just returned from the eastern cities with the largest and choicest stock of millinery ever brought to this place. Her goods include all the latest styles and shapes in fall hats and bonnets. Some of the hats displayed on her counters are simply exquisite, and even if you do not need anything in her line it would pay you to call and examine such a great display.

—Hine's "Hearts of New York" at the Opera House to-night.

—Read the changed advertisement of the Cash Bazar. It may be of benefit to you.

—It is said that the fire scene in the "Hearts of New York" is "a grand stage effect."

—$25 for a complete set of double heavy draught harness, at Wm. McClure's. Call and examine. High street.

—On Wednesday next, Oct. 29th, State College, popular young merchant, Mr. Phil Foster, will wed Miss Bertha Haupt of this place.

—Don't forget to see James Quinn in his part of a dandy copper, and to hear Miss Remington sing to-night at the Opera House.

—Ex-Senator John B. Beck, an old-time Democrat and politician, is in a feeble condition in Williamsport, and fears are entertained that his days are numbered.

AN OBITUARY MISTAKE.—On account of misinformation we last week published a notice of the death of David Behers, of Patton township. The name should have been Jacob Behers, who was a brother of David. He had been working all day in the corn field on Wednesday last week, and was taken at about 12 o'clock at night, while in bed, by severe cramps which terminated fatally in about an hour. He was about 61 years of age and was one of the highly respected residents and farmers of his neighborhood.

Trouble in Bucks County.
The Doylestown Intelligencer, which for years has been the recognized Republican organ of Bucks county, in one of its recent issues says: "Boss Koeler and his henchmen are sick and weary of the discouraging task put upon them by the Quay chairman's circular, sent out a few days ago, upon which was to be returned the number of dissatisfied republicans in the county. Through the western section of the county already over 200 names have been returned, and still they come! In the language of a disgusted sub-committee: 'It's all dissatisfaction. There seems to be no exception to the rule. It looks as though it would have been easier counting to have taken the names of those who profess to be satisfied. The whole business is gone—county, state and congress.'"

Delamater and the Miners.
Wage-Earners' Journal.
Delamater stated that he was in favor of the miners having better wages than they are now receiving, yet in the last session of the Legislature he voted against the Factory Inspection Bill, voted against the "Employer's Liability Bill" by which miners injured in the mines by reason of the carelessness of bosses or the parsimony of operators, they, the miners, could recover damages; voted against the Anti-Company Store Bill; voted against McCaffry's Miners' Dockage bill. It strikes us that it is the quintessence of cheek for Mr. Delamater to say, or for any one to say for him, that he—Delamater—is friendly to the miners or their interests.
