TO THE PUBLIC. In consequence of the similarity of the names of the Parker and Potter Hotels, the proprietor of the Parker House has changed the name of his hotel to COAL EXCHANGE HOTEL. He has also repapered, repainted and otherwise improved it, and has fitted up a large and tasty parlor and reception room on the first floor. WM. PARKER, 33 17 Philipsburg, Pa.

CENTRAL HOTEL.

MILSBURG, PA. A. A. KOHLMEIER, Proprietor. This new and commodious Hotel, located opposite the depot, Milsburg, Centre county, has been entirely refitted, refurnished and replenished throughout, and is now second to none in the county in the character of accommodations offered the public. Its table is supplied with the best the market affords, its bar contains the purest and choicest liquors, its stable has attentive hostlers, and every convenience and comfort is extended to its guests. Through travelers on the railroad will find this an excellent place to lunch or procure a meal, as all trains stop there about 25 minutes. 24 24

CUMMINGS HOUSE.

BELLEFONTE, PA. Having assumed the proprietorship of this fine located and well known hotel, I desire to inform the public that while it will have no bar, and will be run strictly as a patronage hotel, it will furnish to its patrons all the comforts, conveniences and hospilities offered by others. Its table will not be surpassed by any. Its rooms are large and comfortable. Its stabling is the best in town, and its prices to transient guests and regular boarders will be very reasonable. The citizens of the town will find in the basement of my hotel a FIRST-CLASS MEAT MARKET at which all kinds of Meat can be purchased at the very lowest rates. I earnestly solicit a share of the public patronage. GOTLEIB HAAG, 35 13

Medical.

SCROFULA

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has been a remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or groin, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, have yielded to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system. All who suffer from scrofula should certainly give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial.

THE WORST TYPE.

"My son was afflicted with the worst type of scrofula, and on the recommendation of my druggist I gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla. Today he is sound and well, notwithstanding it was said there was not enough medicine in Illinois to effect a cure." J. CHRISTIAN, Illinois, Ill.

ABSCESS ON THE NECK

"My daughter had an abscess on the neck for five or six years, being all the time under care of physicians without any perceptible relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla was then recommended to me for her, and it has entirely cured her." S. THOMPSON, Hazlewood, Pittsburg, Pa.

N. B. If you decide, from what you have heard or read, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy anything else instead.

Record of a Good Man.

The stainless private life of Robert E. Pattison commends him to all men. His public record constitutes, in itself, a platform upon which all political parties might safely stand. At the polls he has never been defeated.

In 1877 Mr. Pattison was elected Controller of Republican Philadelphia by a majority of 1,902. In 1880 he was re-elected Controller of Republican Philadelphia by a majority of 13,593. When Garfield had a majority of 20,883. Thereby being elected to the office of Governor of Pennsylvania by a plurality of 40,470. In 1882 he was elected Governor of Republican Pennsylvania by a plurality of 40,202.

As a result of Mr. Pattison's election to the office of Controller of Philadelphia to the whole of that department was changed. The records of the office were thrown open to the public scrutiny, and all accounts were given a thorough overhauling. Systematic inquiries were made that exposed the robbery of the City Treasury through bogus jury lists. The outdoor receipts of the almshouse guardians for the years 1875 to 1879, amounting to $26,398.61, had disappeared from the public books, were traced up and returned to the Treasury. In conjunction with a committee of eminent citizens he made a thorough exposure of the thefts in the almshouse, amounting to $570,000. He called attention to abuses in the payment of mandamus and to deficiencies in the Register of Wills office. His examination of tax accounts revealed a discrepancy of $119,000 between the statement of taxes paid into the Treasury and the amount reported to the Controller. He secured the enforcement of the ordinance providing for the payment into the Treasury of poll taxes that had previously been pocketed by tax office employees. He also secured a change in the rate of interest on city warrants, saving $100,000 per annum to the tax-payers. During his administration as Controller the city refunded its debt and established its finances upon the pay-as-you-go basis. For the first time in its history Philadelphia had a Controller who controlled.

As Governor, Mr. Pattison showed fidelity to the oath of office which he had taken "to support, obey and defend" the Constitution. He reinvigorated the faith of the people in that instrument, which is the charter of our liberties, and secured any of the States. He took the position that the Constitution, which had been adopted by a majority of 153,000 in 1873, must be enforced. He insisted that the organic law must not be violated through railroad discriminations or by consolidation of competing and allied lines of railroads, and secured the passage of a law providing that the large cash surplus in the State Treasury must be invested in United States and State bonds, and not deposited without interest with private banks and individuals. When the Sinking Fund Commission refused to invest the public money as directed by the act, proceedings to be instituted against them to compel obedience to the law. He improved the States finances in many ways. He made a systematic reduction of all kinds of expenditures in the ordinary affairs of the government, saving a quarter of a million of dollars during the first year of his administration. He cut down the extravagant salaries of public officers, and figure commensurate with the labor performed. He substituted salaries for fees. He subjected the accounts of public institutions to a close scrutiny. He stopped the waste of public money in worthless printing, and put an end to that system of advertising which forced the State to pay for the cost of advertising proposals that the total value of the article so advertised. His administration closed with a net reduction of more than five million dollars in the State debt. He labored earnestly with the Legislature to obtain ballot reform, and to bring about an equalization of the burdens of taxation. He took an active part in abolishing needless and costly offices, such as that of Recorder of Philadelphia, a place that was created to provide an annual income of $40,000 for Mr. Quay. He also secured the abolition of the offices of Sealers of Weights and Measures, and he vetoed the bill creating additional and useless Magistrates for Philadelphia, and secured to obtain uniformity, simplicity and convenience to tax-payers by the abolition of the offices of Mercantile Appraisers. He tried to bring about a repeal of the Street Railway Act of 1868, and thereby restore to Philadelphia that control of all its highways to which every municipality is entitled. He organized the condition of the Soldiers' Orphan Schools, and broke up the syndicate that had pinched poor children to provide spoils for human sharks. He suggested the establishment of a Soldier's Home at Erie, and as President of the commission that organized the institution he dedicated it on February 22, 1886. He participated in the creation of a commission to revise the code of laws relating to the mining of anthracite and bituminous coals. When he assumed office he found that there were 700 corporations on the books of the State Department that had not paid a dollar in taxes to the State in many years. He gave all of them the alternative of bearing their share of the burden of taxation or surrendering their franchise. He also found that Pennsylvania had become notorious as a place where divorces could be easily and quickly obtained. He urged legislation providing not only for a more rigid and less expeditious divorce law, but also tending to prevent hasty and ill-assorted marriages. Under the Pattison administration the standard of the Pardon Board was elevated above the suspicious influences that had directed the action of the preceding Board. Out of 268 cases tried by the Pardon Board only 51 were recommended for Executive clemency. Governor Pattison's greatest work consisted in his courageous use of the veto power. In passing upon bills

Ballot Reformers at Lewisburg.

LEWISBURG, Oct. 17.—A Pattison club has been founded here with a membership of 150. A number of the members were formerly Republicans. The meeting last night was addressed by Claude Langford, of West Virginia. The following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That the right to cast a free and secret ballot should be at once secured to every voter in this state, and we favor the calling of a constitutional convention for the purpose of adopting the Australian method of ballot reform; that the failure of the Republican state chairman to accede to the request of the chairman of the Democratic party to the end that the headings of the state and county tickets might be printed in the same type, proves the attitude of that party on this important question."

Vinco Tobacco.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 29, 1890. Fellow Citizens of Pennsylvania:—We, the undersigned, as citizens of this commonwealth, address you, our fellow citizens, and invite your thoughtful attention to the extraordinary circumstances under which we are to choose at the approaching State election our chief magistrate. If government of the people be by the people and for the people, instead of by and for the bosses and rings, we must now throw off the yoke by them imposed, and stand together, superior to sect and party, in the exercise of the high prerogative of freemen. We distinctly repudiate the doctrine that "the decently earned golden rule have no place in American politics." Unscrupulous political leaders in the strife for party power appeal to the straggling elements of our country and our country's safety lie in successful appeal to the best. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Let us, therefore, exalt fidelity to righteous law, and to our country and Commonwealth, above all party ties and claims, and "go forward in the way of the right as God shall give us to see the right." It is certain that the choice of a chief magistrate lies between the gentleman and the politician. We submit that no National issue or test of party strength is involved. The supreme practical question is, which of these gentlemen is most available and best fitted to serve the Commonwealth in the office of Governor. Are not these things to you, as they are to us, manifest? 1. That one of the candidates is named at the dictation of a notorious political boss aided by the ring which serves him, and whose unsavory reputation and unscrupulous rule have wearied all and will inevitably disgrace those who longer continue in his following; while the other is the free choice of the people within the parties, which named them. Is it not, therefore, a choice between the rule of the bosses and of the people? 2. The leader who imposes his will upon his fellow stands before the country accused by reputable public journals and upon the floor of the House of Representatives in Congress, of grave offenses against public morality. No denial or satisfactory explanation is offered, but then we are asked to repeat at the polls the unfounded declaration of confidence in him contained in the platform on which his candidate stands. Can we afford to do this with sufficient regard to truth and morality? 3. It is largely through the treachery of our fellow citizens that his mandating of these same men and his mandating of these same elements that the party machinery has in times past been prostituted to base and unworthy ends. We have now grave reasons to fear another such prostitution in a systematic attempt to transfer the granting of Lignor Licenses from the Courts to Excise Commissioners. These questions of great public interest involved in this campaign demand our most careful consideration. Should we not unite to rebuke, at the polls, the immoralities and bossism which have usurped control in political life? We shall be glad to know the views and purposes of our fellow citizens that we may act rightly, wisely and unitedly in these matters. ROBT. C. MATLOCK, D. W. N. McVICKAR, D. D. A. J. KYNETT, D. D. L.
