

Democratic Watchman

Bellefonte, Pa., November 7, 1890.

To CORRESPONDENTS.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Mr. M. H. Guise, of Penn Hall, is the duly authorized agent of the WATCHMAN for George ownership.

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—Our Bishop street friend "Bill Lyons is rejoicing over the advent of a little son.

—Ex-Senator Peale, of Lock Haven, was confined to his bed by sickness, but is now able to be about again.

—Don't forget the Y. M. C. A. Supper Saturday evening at their rooms.

—Mr. W. H. Wilkinson and family have moved into their handsome new house on Allegheny street.

—Robert Cole is the architect for the new Academy buildings and David Bartley has the contract for the work.

—The coal deposits in the neighborhood of Houtzdale have been enlarged by the discovery of another coal vein 4 1/2 thick.

—J. H. Reifnyder, esq., of Millheim, recently sold 600 acres of timber land to Nathan Hagline, of Brush Valley.

—George Lose, of Rote Sugar Valley, aged 81 years, in three days recently cut and hewed 700 feet of timber into railroad timber.

—The Lotus Glee Club, of Harvard will sing under the auspices of the Star Course, in the Court House on Tuesday evening Nov. 11th.

—Go to the Y. M. C. A. Rooms Saturday evening and enjoy the society of the young ladies and secure for yourself an elegant supper.

—The old white horse which draws the Euka Grocery Co's wagon fainted on last Saturday. The meanness of two daisies who had scarlet fever in their heads is said to have been the cause.

—W. B. Hamilton, of Houtzdale, is a lucky man. A few months since he invested in an oil well speculation in W. Va., and the well proved a 'gusher.' In consequence Mr. Hamilton's interest is worth $50,000.

—While W. H. Brown, a student at State College, was out of his room the other evening it took fire and was completely gutted. Fortunately the fire was discovered before it spread to any other rooms.

—Thursday night of last week Mr. George Johnstonbaugh, father of Prof. Johnstonbaugh, of the Bellefonte High school, died at his home at Hecla Furnace, at the age of 81 years, his death having been the result of debility incident to old age. His remains were interred at Baulsburg on Sunday.

—The Lock Haven Express has it reported that the Beech Creek railroad will be extended shortly from Beech Creek to Bellefonte. There is also a rumor that the railroad in Nittany Valley is to be extended eastward from Bellefonte as far as Snyderstown, a short distance west of Lamar.

—Bad Clearfield boys break the glass of the antiquated postoffice boxes and then fill the boxes with "old soldier" tobacco quids and cigar 'snigs,' to the annoyance and disgust of the worthy postmaster who threatens all sorts of vengeance if he "ketches" the kids at their nefarious tricks.

—The Ladies' auxiliary who had charge of the public dinner in Brinton, Duncan & Barnes' Hall, on the day of the dedication of the Odd Fellows' Temple, at Phillipsburg, have every reason to feel proud of the result of their industry. The total receipts were $577.62 and the expenses $28.71, leaving a clear balance of $548.91.

—The success that has attended the effort of the Huppert Manufacturing Company has exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine of the promoters of the overall factory, who having commenced on a comparatively small scale, have now been compelled again to secure more commodious premises.—Phillipsburg Journal.

—Mr. Thomas Nolan, a former Centre county boy, who now holds an important position in an important office at Washington, visited friends in our city during the last week. Mr. Nolan used to work at the printing trade here many years ago. He is the same genial gentleman as of old.

—On the 18th of last July, Samuel Williams started a letter from Tyrone postoffice to make a journey around the world. It was first sent to San Francisco where it was forwarded to Hong Kong; China, from which place it was sent to London and from London to New York, arriving in Tyrone Thursday morning of last week, thus journeying the circumference of the globe in 103 days. The postmark of these four large cities are on the envelope, so that it is certain it made the long trip. Had it not been held in certain places until time to forward it, the time would have been much less.

IS IT A MURDER?—Yesterday morning as Western Express was running near Union Furnace, a small station a short distance east of Tyrone, the engineer, who was looking out of the cab window, saw the body of a man lying alongside the track. Supposing he had struck the man the train was stopped and he was put on board and brought to Altoona, the ambulance summoned and the man, who proved to be an Italian known as "No. 68," and employed by Brown, the contractor, who has a grading contract below Tyrone, was removed to the hospital, where he died at 4.45, about twenty minutes after his arrival.

The coroner was notified and collecting a jury viewed the remains and then was revealed a startling state of affairs.

The man's lower jaw and left leg were found to be broken and as the train would do this no suspicion was aroused, but when they discovered that his head was almost split in two as though with an ax and his throat clean cut from ear to ear, while a bloody razor was sticking from his pocket, they decided that there were good grounds for thinking the man had first been assaulted and robbed and then laid on the track.

As there were no witnesses Coroner Post dismissed the jury for the time and left on the 2 o'clock train for the scene of the supposed murder. He found the shanties of the Italians, but they were busily engaged in getting outside the contents of thirty kegs of beer and devouring strips of half cooked meat torn from the carcass of a lean old cow they had just killed, that they had no time for such trifles as supposed murders, and said they had not even noticed the absence of "No. 68," and refused to say anything about the affair.

The coroner succeeded in swearing a couple of the sober ones. He found out that the dead man and a companion had gone to Union Furnace to buy meat. One of them returned at about five o'clock, but made no report of his companion who was subsequently found along the track as already indicated.

The body was handed over to Mr. Arthur, undertaker, to be prepared for burial.—Altoona Times of Friday.

A GREAT FIND OF COAL IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY.—On last Thursday morning the explorers who were sinking the shaft with the hope of finding the much wished for 'B' vein, had their perseverance rewarded by striking the vein at the depth of 160 feet from the surface. The vein is 4 1/2 feet thick, and the quantity of the coal is pronounced by experts to be superior to the hitherto peerless Moshannon or 'C' vein. The people of Houtzdale are wild with joy, as the find settles the future of their town. And it not only settles the future of Houtzdale, but of the whole Clearfield region, as the vein, of course, at that depth, underlies the entire country. Coal men say there is no limit to its extent. It must be inexhaustible, and the thickness of the vein makes it easy to put, which will offset the expense of putting down shafts. We think, as the Daily Journal does, that it would be well, however, for our Phillipsburg people to put down a shaft here, and find out beyond a doubt whether the vein does extend to our district. About three weeks since, the Houtzdale shaft passed through the 'C' vein, which showed up very fine, of good thickness and splendid quality.—Phillipsburg Ledger.

THE STAR COURSE.—The ladies of the W. C. T. U. have now about completed arrangements for their Star Course for the season of 1890-91 and the entertainments they have engaged to bring here are of the very best. On November 11th the Lotus Glee Club will appear in the Court House. On December 8 Dr. James Hedley will deliver one of his most popular lectures. No engagement has yet been made for January but there will be later on. On February 9th that prince of good orators and Bellefonte's favorite lecturer, Russell H. Conwell, will appear and lecture on "The Jolly Earthquake." On March 10 the Nashville students will be here and close the Star Course with a musical entertainment that will be enjoyed by all. Season tickets, at $2 for the entire course, have been printed and are now on sale. The price is very low and every man in Bellefonte should buy one and thus encourage entertainments of that kind, and in addition he would then be able to hear some good and instructive lectures.

SINGULAR FATAL ACCIDENT TO A HORSE.—A valuable driving horse belonging to Mr. Gus Walters, of the Lloyd House, Phillipsburg, was killed one day last week in a most singular manner. The animal was indulging in a series of playful plunges and jumps, while tied in his stall, and at last made a leap and came down on a hitching post at the rear of his stall. The post ran into the abdomen so far that it had to be sawed off in order to release the horse, and when the post was pulled out, the entrails gushed out. Veterinary Surgeon Wooster replaced the horse's bowels and sewed up the wound, but the animal died in a few hours. He was a fine, large horse and his death is a heavy loss to Mr. Walters.

—The famous Tennessee Warblers will sing in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, November 11th. Don't fail to hear them or you will miss a treat.

—We were pleased to see our old friend, Mr. R. C. Cheeseman, in Bellefonte during the past week. He came up from Washington to vote for a lost cause, but he is such an excellent gentleman that we have to forgive his political defects and say that we were very glad to see him, indeed.

—Speaking of the result in the county the Daily News says: Centre county, we say, has great reason for feeling aggrieved, for with the downfall of Delamater went hand in hand the defeat of the entire Republican ticket. Everything has been wiped out except one commissioner and one auditor, and those couldn't be defeated, "and the funeral is to-morrow."

—Thursday last week a loaded coal train of thirty-six cars, through a misplaced switch, was thrown into the Hotel Brunswick at Huntingdon and landed in the yards of the Girard House and Jackson House, two hundred feet eastward. The guests in the hotels rushed pell mell into the streets in their night clothes. The loss to the Pennsylvania railroad company's rolling stock is $25,000.

—The editor of the WATCHMAN acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to the Seventh Annual Concert and ball of the P. & E Fire Brigade of Renovo, to be held in that place on Wednesday evening, November 26, for which he returns thanks, and hopes that this may be one of the most pleasant and profitable entertainments given by the brigade. It is an organization that deserves the most liberal patronage and those who can attend should.

—We learn that Joseph Harris, one of the clerks in our Post office, is about to accept a position in the Supt. of Railroad's office at Fort Wayne, Indiana. While connected with the office here Joe has rendered efficient and valuable service. Always acting the courteous and obliging young gentleman, that he is, he made friends of all with whom he had business. Post master Fiedler loses a valuable assistant and Mr. Potter, his new employer, will get one in whose abilities he can place implicit faith.

WOODWARD—LARRIMER.—Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Joseph W. Woodward to Miss Nell Larrimer, on Wednesday, November 19th, at the residence of Judge A. V. Larrimer, an uncle of the bride, No. 829 South Twenty-ninth street, Omaha. Mr. Woodward is the son of the late Mayor John V. Woodward, of Williamsport and his bride is a near relative of Dr. J. F. Larrimer, and all the parties are well known in this city. Dr. Larrimer now lives and follows his profession in Omaha.

—A rich treat is in store for our lovers of solid fun and good music on Monday next, the date set for the appearance here of "A Social Sessior" Company. This is probably the finest attraction that has yet been presented by Manager Garman and a crowded house should assemble to justify him in his endeavor to furnish his patrons with strictly first class attractions. The prices 75, 50 and 25 cents are within the reach of all. Reserved seats will be placed on sale on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and will probably be rapidly taken.

—Lovers of good music should hear the Lotus Glee Club sing. They will give one of their excellent concerts in the Court House on Tuesday evening, Sept. 11th. This is what the Boston Journal says of them:

The Lotus Glee Club, fresh from successes in London, are all artists. Their voices blend perfectly, and it is a positive pleasure to listen to the selections rendered by them. From the vocal waltz, which opened the programme, to the beautiful serenade by Abt, which was the closing number, the audience listen spell-bound. No such artistic singing has been heard for a long time from any male quartette in this city.

ALMOST A FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Monday evening last, about 7 o'clock, the large white horse of Harrison Kline became frightened out at Mr. Kline's home, throwing two people out of the buggy, and went rushing wildly down Bishop street. Mr. James Noll sprang to catch it and succeeded in getting hold of the bridle, but he was caught between the horse and the shaft. His weight slackened its speed, however, and pulled it in on to the side walk. The horse slipped and fell and Jim went down with it. At first it was thought that his skull was fractured and his leg broken, but an examination showed no bones broken except a small one at the base of the nose. A very serious internal injury was discovered, however, and for a while his life was despaired of, but now he is improving rapidly and will be able to be out soon. His escape was almost miraculous.

—Good substantial clothing for very little money at Loeb's.

A FLOOD STORY.—The Williamsport Republican tells this deluge story: "During the day of June 1, 1889, while this valley was inundated, a horse belonging to James and William Gibson, of this city, escaped from the big barn on their farm, which is located on the South side and is cultivated by W. A. Rosencrans. Diligent search was made without success. Imagine Mr. Rosencrans' surprise, a few days ago, when he received word from Columbia that the lost animal was in possession of a man near that place. Sunday afternoon after the big flood, a party of men at Highspire, along the river, espied coming down the stream some dark object on top of a big fleet of plank, and saw that the object was a horse. With difficulty the raft was towed ashore, the horse taken off on dry land, fed and cared for. It was very stiff in front as a result of its perilous voyage over the turbulent Susquehanna, but otherwise uninjured. Shortly after the horse was sold to a Safe Harbor man, who owned him up to a short time ago, when he was traded to a party near Columbia, in whose possession Mr. Rosencrans found him. The animal had been worked in a stone quarry and was broken down."

DEATH OF H. M. INGRAM.—Hoops M., third son of George D. and Eliza Ingram, formerly resident on upper Dick's Run, in Union township, Centre county, Pa., died on the 31st of October, 1890, after about six days illness, caused by internal injury received from carrying shing on to a building that he was helping to put up in Phillipsburg. He became delirious in the beginning of his sufferings and remained so till within a few days of his death. Fully realizing the danger of his situation, he implored Divine aid and forgiveness, accepting Christ as his Savior. He frequently attended church and always was gentlemanly and decorous; was respected by all who knew him as shown in the large concourse of acquaintances who attended his funeral which took place yesterday, Nov. 24, from the residence of his brother Frank. His remains were buried in Messiah's church graveyard under the direction of Mr. Davis, of Julian, the writer officiating. Hoops was aged on the day of his death 39 years, 8 months and 25 days. Our sympathy and condolence are kindly accorded to his brothers and sisters in their sad and sudden bereavement, his parents both being dead for a number years. J. ZEIGLER.

A SAD DEATH.—Yesterday evening, about 4 o'clock, George, son of John Richmond, aged between seventeen and eighteen years, was killed at Baltic mine No. 1. He was caught between a car and the "rib" and crushed. He died while his friends were taking him from the place the accident occurred,—before the mouth of the drift was reached—about half an hour after he was injured. He was a very pleasant and sociable young man, and his sad death causes sadness in the hearts of all who knew him. The funeral will take place to-morrow. It is indeed sad for one in the prime of life and vigorous to be taken off so suddenly. The deceased's friends have the sympathy of the entire community in this the hour of their great trials.—Phillipsburg Journal.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is the report of the Scotia Mines school, Patton township, Centre county, Pa., for the month ending, Oct. 24th, 1890: Number of pupils on roll—male, 30, female, 37, total 67. Average attendance during month—male, 23, female, 29, total 52. Average per cent, of attendance—male 83, female 81, total 82. The pupils in attendance every day during the month were Samuel Saxton, Lydia Johnstonbaugh, Laura Powley, Alice Malone, Annie Rudy. Those missing one day were Cora Williams, George Williams, Hay Malone, James Malone, John Sellers, James Sellers, George Sigel, Nellie Gummo, Roxie Dick, Laura Dick, Alice Reeder, Jennie Sellers, Elsie Hassinger. The attendance at this school would have been considerably better had it not been on account of sickness in the town.

J. W. BLAIR, Teacher.

MAN KILLED!—WHO IS HE?—A man by the name of Anthony Hogue, who was working for A. D. Smith, of this city, on a log job at North Bend, was killed this morning about 7 o'clock by being struck on the head by a log. It appears that the deceased is not known to Mr. Smith, who desires some information in regard to his relatives, in order that he may know what disposition to make of the remains, which have been prepared for burial and will be shipped to this city for interment unless instructions are speedily received. Does anybody in Lock Haven or vicinity know who Mr. Hogue's friends are or where he lived?—Lock Haven Democrat of Monday.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—As I contemplate a change in my business, by the 1st of March, I now offer my entire stock of clothing and gents furnishing goods regardless of cost. This is no humbug, but a straight offer. SIMON LOEB, Beware of imitators. Union Clothing Co. Great sacrificing selling out sale.

ONE OF CENTRE COUNTY'S ALLEGED CURIOSITIES.—The following comes by way of Altoona: A party headed by J. W. Scott, the well-known geologist, has just returned from a trip to Rush township, Centre county, to see the famous prehistoric fortifications supposed to exist there. The excursionists report a find far beyond their expectations.

Sawyer Ridge is about a mile in length. The west side is guarded by the deep valley of Moshannon creek. The north end is flanked by the Mountain branch and the south end protected by Pine run, while the front of the fortified position looks out over a broad white oak flat. In it lies the old fortification. It was mentioned in the notes of Daniel Turner, who surveyed that country in 1793. From that date it was not known until 1866, when the old ruins were discovered by J. W. Scott while making a geological survey of the Moshannon region in Centre county.

On the north point, after wading through a wilderness of briars, the party found what is called Picket Rock. Eastward, or rather to the south, they came upon a series of ill-looking walls of rock. Searching near the centre of this immense line of fortifications, the party came to the main parapet, with its embrasures and all the fixtures that constitute a modern fortress.

In front were found altars built of stone. These were simply gigantic and equalled only by the big rocks in the main line of works: The fortress is made of Mahoning sandstone, and it must have been constructed thousands of years ago. It is a field for the archaeologists, and when its inner mysteries are brought to light, perhaps much may be added to the meager information now possessed in regard to the prehistoric races of America.

The trip has other interesting features. Panther Den, about two miles east from the fortress, is a place of unusual interest. Bears, panthers, wild cats and foxes occupy the den, or cave, in common. The great "natural lick" is just below the right flank of the ridge, and the ruins of the old cabin of Dan Turner, may be seen at the north end of the hill. It is adorned with wild roses and rhododendrons, planted in the wilderness by Mrs. Turner.

It requires three days to make the journey, but a fierce storm was encountered, which delayed the party considerably.

—The Phila. Press has he following to say on M. A. Scanlan, who will play here on Thursday night, Nov. 13: Mr. A. Scanlan, a young Irish comedian, appeared in an Irish drama in four acts, entitled "Neil Agrab," at this theatre yesterday afternoon, before a crowded house.

This play contains the usual amount of villainy which is successfully frustrated by "Neil," a faithful lad who is always turning up at the right time, assisted by his sweetheart, "Nora McShane." The scene in the third act, representing a mountain top, whereon a duel is fought, was picturesque, and the duel afforded amusement to the gallery.

Mr. Scanlan was funny in the title role, and sung a few songs that were applauded. Sam E. Ryan, as "Larry Kernan," a comical villain, acted his part well. H. C. Albaugh, as the other villain, was capable. Henrietta Berleur, as "Rose Delaney," acted with care and precision. Sadie Scanlan, as "Neil's Sweetheart, Nora," was clever: Oct. 7th 1890.

THE RAGE FOR COLORED GEMS.—Within the last five years there has been a gradually increasing demand for colored gems, until now there is a rage for these jewels. It began, Messrs. Bailey, Banks & Biddle, the great jewelers of Philadelphia, say, with the ruby, which was a very popular stone, and is yet the sapphire, of which there are several colors instead of one, as generally supposed, followed. Then came the emeralds, and the semi-precious stones, that is, stones which have not the hardness nor specific gravity of the precious ones. Among the former class, which are very popular, are the spinels of various colors, American and Indian tourmalines, lazulites, and others. They are effectively used, with diamonds in bracelets, rings, and in the larger articles of jewelry, such as brooches and pendants.

—Mr. Harry Hill, one of Williamsport's fine looking young gentlemen, spent Sunday with his friend Will F. Achenbach in this city.

—Read Fauble's great "ad" in this issue. Then you will know where to buy.

—A new firm has been started in our city and if you need any painting done call on Dolan and Schrom. You can find their representatives at Anderson's. Work done by them will be first class.

—A big slaughter in men's, boys' and children's overcoats at S. Loeb's.

—The Y. M. C. A. Ladies are arranging to serve an elegant supper on Saturday evening from 5 to 11 o'clock, p. m., Everything will be appointment and of the best.

—Now is the time to purchase a boy's and child's suit for a mere trifle for Loeb is determined to close his stock out quick.

—Watch for the parade of the celebrated "Black Hussar" band on Monday next and then go and see the great spectacular comedy, "A Social Session."

—Do not fail to read notice and advertisement of Simon Loeb in this week's issue.

—If you read the straightforward advertisement of the Rochester Clothing House in this week's issue and fail to realize where it is to your interest to purchase your clothing, then you cannot appreciate integrity in business.

—Quite a lively runaway occurred on High street Thursday morning. One of the teams belonging to Bunnell & Aikens took fright down at the freight depot and started for home. The wagon was hung up on a telephone pole in front of Dr. Kirk's residence and the horses ran to the stable.

—Call at Loeb's clothing store. Examine his stock and prices.

—Will F. Achenbach went east on Thursday evening. We believe his object is to lay in a supply of late novelties in gold and silver for the holiday trade.

Beware of imitators. Union Clothing Co. Great sacrificing selling out sale.

—The whole Democratic ticket elected with it the Bellefonte machine shops have been reopened where every species of machinery will be made or repaired.

—Nature mourned for Republicanism Tuesday and rejoiced with Democracy on Wednesday.

—That brilliant Irish comedian M. A. Scanlan, will appear in Garman's Opera House, in "Neil Agrab" on Thursday evening next. Go and see him.

A BEAR DRAGS A TRAP.—Lou Lodging, of Renovo, shot a bear on the mountain south of Renovo, which weighed 200 pounds. The News says: "The bear was caught by its front paws in a trap which Mr. Lodging set for the purpose of ensnaring such animals. After having been caught the bear dragged the trap a distance of three quarters of a mile, but the path taken was easily seen, and by following that bruin was found, and a shot from a rifle deprived it of life."
