

Mr. Cleveland's Triumph.
The Verdict of Last Week Vindicated
His Tariff Reform Message of 1887.

Philadelphia Times.
The one man above all others who has reason to feel proud and gratified at the result of the November election is that brave and modest American who formulated for the popular comprehension the doctrine of tariff reform, which the country has at last so enthusiastically accepted. The verdict of Tuesday is the triumph of President Cleveland's epoch-making message.

He knew well what he was doing when that message was delivered. He knew how it would startle not only the timorous and time-serving politicians, even of his own party, but the great mass of the people whom these same politicians had so long misled, so kept in ignorance of the rudiments of political economy, that they could not at once receive the truth. But he knew also that the time had come when the truth must be told and the education of the people begun, and at whatever cost to himself he would not shrink from his duty.

His part, hesitating for a time, came up manfully to his standard, and a majority of the whole people voted on his side. But the power of entrenched monopoly was still too strong, and ignorance and prejudice could not be overcome in a single campaign. The election was lost by fraud and bribery, and then the monopolists assumed that they had a new lease of power and the day of reckoning would never come.
They did not understand that the people had been awakened and had learned to think for themselves.

The education begun in the presidential campaign was continued by the debates in congress. Every newspaper in the country took up the discussion. It was carried on in the homes, in the shops wherever two or three met together. For the first time the true relations of a tariff to taxation and the cost of living, as well as to commerce and industry, were perceived and critically examined. And when the dominant party persisted in its despotic course, and went further than ever had been proposed before in the imposition of taxes on the masses for the aggrandizement of the favored classes, the people arose and struck it to the earth.

Butterworth's Wise Move.

He Saw the Danger and Slid Out in the Nick of Time.

CHICAGO, November 8.—Benjamin Butterworth, who declined a renomination for congress from his district in Cincinnati, expressed himself to-day upon the result of the election. "In my opinion," said he, "no man could have made a successful race for the Presidency of the United States standing upon the issue of the McKinley bill and I think the high tariff path the rockiest one to travel for public office at the present time. The people of this country are in such a state that not even the most prosperous class will stand the addition of another feather's weight of tax. It was the most unwise policy any party could pursue to take the stand of favoring an increase in the tariff when it is and has been apparent a reduction is what has been needed and wanted.

"I think I saw what was coming, at least my actions show that I pursued a wise course, and other Republicans knew only too well the inevitable consequence of the McKinley bill's adoption. I received a letter from a Minnesota Congressman this morning which read: 'How terrible was the slaughter! You saw the trouble and slid out, but I stayed like a lamb and was butchered beautifully. The McKinley bill and the Farmer's Alliance were too much for me.'
"I do not think that the action of Speaker Reed antagonized public feeling to the extent newspapers make out, and nearly everyone knows that the Democratic gains were made because the mass of Republican are becoming more and more disgusted with high tariff teachings. Now that the prophet has spoken and a lesson been taught I have no doubt that proper adjustment will immediately follow."

Hog Cholera in Ohio.

Farmers Charged With Rushing Diseased Animals to Market.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—The State board of agriculture is greatly excited by the prevalence of hog cholera in the central counties of the State and the action of large hog raisers in rushing their animals to market. Large droves are reported to have started within the last week to the Eastern markets, not a few of which are suspected of having been infected. The disease seems to be unusually severe this year, and where it has appeared herds of several hundred have been swept away to a single animal in a week. Under these circumstances the farmers do not seem to feel bound, by the ordinary sense of propiety, but rush their hogs to the market as soon as they suspect they have been exposed to the disease. It is thought quarantine should be placed against Central Ohio hogs.

A Missing 82-Year-Old Woman Found.

EBENSBURG, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Rosen-bamer, the old lady who was lost in the woods near here, was found Sunday.
When discovered she was lying down and unconscious. Stimulants were administered and she soon revived. Shortly after she was given some food, the first she had partaken since Thursday at noon. On account of her extreme age, 82 years, and the terrible exposure endured, it is extremely doubtful if she can long survive. In her wandering through the dense forest she had nearly all of her clothing torn off, and the wonder is that she ever survived to tell of her frightful experiences.

A Great American Magazine.
The Success of "The Century" and its Plans for 1890.

The Century Magazine is now so well-known that to tell of its past success seems almost an old story. The N. Y.
Tribune has said that it and its companion, St. Nicholas for Young Folks, issued by the same house, "are read by every one in thirty of the country's population,"—and large editions of both are sent beyond the seas. It is an interesting fact that a few years ago it was found that seven thousand copies of The Century went to Scotland,—quite a respectable edition itself. The question in England is no longer "Who reads an American book?" but "Who does not see the American magazines?"

A few years ago The Century about doubled its circulation with the famous War Papers, by General Grant and others, adding many more readers later with the Lincoln History and Kennan's thrilling articles on the Siberian Exile System. One great feature of 1891 is to be "THE GOLD HUNTERS OF CALIFORNIA" describing that remarkable movement to the gold fields in '49, in a series of richly illustrated articles written by survivors, including the narratives of men who went to California by the different routes of the gold discoveries, life in the mines, the work of the vigilance committees (by the chairman of the committees), etc. etc. General Fremont's last writing was done for this series. In November appears the opening article, "The First Emigrant Train to California,"—crossing the Rockies in 1841,— by General Bidwell, a pioneer of pioneers. Thousands of American families who had some relative or friend among "the Argonauts of '49" will be interested in these papers.

MANY OTHER GOOD THINGS ARE COMING, the narrative of an American's travels through that unknown land Tibet (for 700 miles over ground never before trod by a white man); the experiences of escaping War-Prisoners; by American Newspapers described by well-known journalists; accounts of the great Indian Fights, Costar and others; personal anecdotes of Lincoln, by his private secretaries; "The Faithful Doctor," a novel by Edward Eggleston, with a wonderfully rich programme of novelties and stories by most of the leading writers, etc., etc.

It is also announced that The Century has purchased the right to print, before its appearance in France or any other country, extracts from advance sheets of the famous Talleyrand Memoirs, which have been secretly preserved for half a century—to be first given to the world through the pages of an American magazine. All Europe is anxiously awaiting the publication of this personal history of Talleyrand—greatest of intriguers and diplomats.

The November Century begins the volume, and new subscribers should commence with that issue. The subscription price ($4.00) may be remitted directly to the publisher, The Century Co., 33 East 18th St., New York, or single copies may be purchased of any news-dealer. The publishers offer to send a free sample copy—a recent back number—to any one desiring it.

Children's Literature.
What "St. Nicholas" Has Done for Boys and Girls.

Victor Hugo calls this "the woman's century," and he might have added that it was the children's century as well, for never before in the world's history has there been so much thought paid to the children—their schools, their books, their pictures; and their toys. Childhood, as we understand it, is a recent discovery.

Up to the time of the issue of the St.
Nicholas Magazine seventeen years ago literature and children's magazines were almost contradictory terms, but the new periodical started out with the idea that nothing was too good for children; the result has been a juvenile magazine gen-erine with conscientious purpose,—the greatest writer contributing to it, with the best artists and engravers helping to beautify it,—and everything turned to the key-note of youth.

It has been the special aim of St. Nicholas to supplant unhealthy literature with stories of a living and healthful interest. It will not do to take fascinating bad literature out of boys' hands, and give them in its place Mrs. Boraud and Peter Farley, or the work of writers who think that any "good-y" talk will do for children, but they must have strong, interesting reading, with the the blood and sinew of real life in it,— reading that will waken them to a closer observation of the best things about them.

In the seventeen years of its life "St.
Nicholas" has not only elevated the children, but it has also elevated the tone of contemporary children's literature as well. Many of its stories, like Mrs. Burnett's "Little Lord Fauntleroy" have become classic. It is not too much to say that almost every notable young people's story now produced in America first seeks light in the pages of that magazine.

The year 1891 will prove once more that "no household where there are children is complete without "St. Nicholas." J. T. Trowbridge, Noah Brooks, Charles Dudley Warner, and many well known writers are to contribute during this coming year. One cannot put the spirit of "St. Nicholas" into a prospectus, but the publishers are glad to send a full announcement of the features for 1891 and a single copy will be sent to the address of any person mentioning this notice. The magazine costs $3.00 a year. Address The Century Co., 33 East 17th St., New York.

paying freight for removing the same.
It will greatly benefit you to come and examine our goods and prices. If you appreciate bargains you will surely find them with us. Our stock is entirely new. No auction trash or shop-worn goods. Again we call the attention of the people and invite all to come and convince themselves that it is as we say.
Here is a chance for you which happens only once in a life time. Our loss is your gain. Secure your bargains early, as the chance will not last long.

READ THIS You can soon learn to play by using Heppes' Music Chart. It is a simple arrangement that fits on the keyboard of any Piano or Organ, and you can learn more from it in five minutes than you can from a hundred instruction books. Mailed to any address on receipt of one dollar.
