

Democratic Watchman

Bellefonte, Pa., December 19, 1890

To Correspondents.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—As I contemplate a change in my business, by the 1st of March, I now offer my entire stock of clothing and gents furnishing goods regardless of cost. This is no humbug, but a straight offer.
SIMON LOEB,

THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY.

—W. E. Gray, esq., has presented to the Board of Pardons petitions numerously signed for the pardon of Pieta Weaver.

—Mrs. Thomas Merriman died at Hannah Furnace on Thursday of last week and was buried on Friday afternoon.

—The schools of Bellefonte commenced their holiday vacation last Saturday, which will continue until the 5th of January.

—John Lehr, jr., of Philipsburg, went out last week the first time in his life for deer, and killed a big buck and wounded another.

—The Jury Commissioners have completed the work of filling the jury wheel for next year and have drawn the jury for January court.

—This has been an unusually good year for deer, more than the usual number having been killed in the season which closed on the 15th inst.

—If you don't dance you can enjoy yourself by going and looking on at the grand Masquerade Ball of the Logan Hose Company on New Year's Eve.

—Masters Ed. Haupt and Harry Gerberick succeeded in killing a large red fox on Monday last. This makes the third that Ed. has had a hand in killing, this season.

—It is reported that there is a prospect of the establishment of a large paper mill at Unionville, the material for making the pulp to be supplied by the woods of the neighborhood.

—Ex-Gov. Curtin was taken with a chill while in New York and became quite ill, requiring his being brought home in a special Pullman car on Thursday evening of last week.

—Officer Gares had quite a time identifying a prisoner whom he locked up on Tuesday. The man was effecting with spiritual excellence and required the services of a brass buttoned escort.

—James D. Laying, general manager of the West Shore railroad of New York, a part of the Vanderbilt system, has been appointed general manager of the Beech Creek railroad, vice General George J. Magee, resigned.

—It is greatly to the credit of Register John Rupp that he always refuses to accept the regulation fee for certifying to the applications for pensions from all old soldiers or their widows. "They need it more than I," is what he always says.

—The only business done by the borough council on Monday evening was the signing of the new contract with the Electric Light Company for the new arc lights which will be up and ready for use in the beginning of January.

—Judge Orvis was one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs in the big ejectment suit of Daniel Shepp and others which was tried in Pottsville last week. Among the attorneys for the defendants was Hon. S. P. Wolverton, of Sunbury.

—The Centre Hall Reporter says: B. K. Jamison, the well-known Philadelphia banker who failed last week, at one time drove stage through here, on the Bellefonte and Lewistown line, perhaps 30 or 40 years back, and is known to some of our people.

—A hunting party consisting of John and Wm. F. Parker, J. C. and W. W. Barnhart and John Zimmerman returned some days ago from a hunt in the Alleghenies, bringing with them eight deer, one of which weighed 200 pounds. J. C. Barnhart shot three of the eight.

—A Musical Convention and Concert which promises to be one of the most entertaining and delightful ones held in the county this season, is now being arranged for in the Lutheran church at Snyderstown (near Nittany Hall) for January 19 to 23, under the supervision of Prof. J. A. Weaver of Pine Grove.

—The Philadelphia Record Almanac for 1891, a copy of which is furnished to every subscriber of that excellent and reliable paper, has already reached us. It is brim full of just such information as will be of interest and use to the general reader and valuable for reference on any subject it treats of. It is not only good in matter but is neat in makeup and typographic appearance, and on the whole is a credit to the great paper that sends it out.

THE FIRST TEACHERS' INSTITUTE IN CENTRE COUNTY.—Mr. Orrin Noble, in the Lock Haven Democrat, says that the first Teachers' Institute in this part of the State was held at Mehanicsville, now Mt. Eagle, Centre Co., about the 20th of December, 1853, having Prof. William G. Waring, a thoroughly educated Englishman, as its principal instructor, Mr. Noble acting as President. It was probably at his suggestion that the latter was chosen president of this first institution in central Pennsylvania, if not the first in the State. The teachers of Harris township had a year or more previous to this time met in council, but this session at Mt. Eagle was recognized as the first session of the Centre County Teachers' Institute. Soon after this, the first session of the Clinton County Teacher's Institute was held at Salona. They were the outgrowth or result of the zeal and earnestness of the teachers of those days. These yearly meetings were well attended by the people in the immediate vicinity, more especially by those who felt an interest in good schools.

Centre county can truthfully claim to have led the way in the matter of interest in public education. Prof. Waring and his associates in Penn's Valley, and the Bakers and their associates at Howard in the Bald Eagle Valley, were the first to make their mark, first to make teaching a profession and the first to importune the Legislature for the school law of 1854. The interest widened until teachers from these localities were in constant demand elsewhere. Teachers from Howard were in demand in Lock Haven as early as 1848.

In the earlier part of the year 1855 Prof. A. M. Browne and Ira C. Mitchell, Esq., taught a one term Normal School at Howard, with a teachers' department, and in a separate department a model school. While Mr. Mitchell was away on his wedding tour Mr. Noble acted as first assistant in this early Normal School. Dr. Gibson, a highly educated gentleman of more than ordinary ability, was the first Superintendent of Centre county. He resided at Jacksonville, only two miles from Howard, and frequently visited this embryonic Normal School. From the foregoing it is evident that Centre county took the lead in education at an early day. If her schools are not now the best of any in the State, outside the large cities, it is the fault of those who have failed to act well their part since the above dates.

A PROGRESSIVE FIRM.—The Bellefonte Fuel and Supply Company have rented a new office in the Hale building opposite the Court House, in this place. Messrs. Thos. A. Shoemaker and Jos. S. Montgomery, whose partnership forms the Company, have been working incessantly for the last two years to give the people of this community a complete supply depot, and we are glad to say that they have succeeded remarkably. Connected with the Centre Coal Company and being the representatives of the celebrated Acme Oil Co., they have surrounded themselves with exhaustible sources from which to supply their customers with the best stock at the lowest possible figures. Their yards are admirably located for farmers who come in with teams, being removed from the railroad and well adapted for feeding. They deal only in the best. No supplies are purchased from them that are misrepresented. The Company is building up an extensive wholesale business in the coal which is mined from their own mines near Snow Shoe. It is seldom that one sees two young men build up such a business in so short a time and we are proud to say that Bellefonte possesses them.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.—The farmers of Centre county will have the benefit of two Institutes in the near future. One will be held in the Methodist church at Howard, on Friday and Saturday Jan. 16th and 17th. The other will be held in Academy Hall, at Pine Grove Mills, on Jan. 19th and 20th. These gatherings for instruction in higher agricultural methods are of recent inception in this community, but the ones that have thus far been held have proved of such benefit to our farmers that the two about to be held are looked forward to with much expectation. Representatives of the State Board of Agriculture, State Grange, State College Faculty, State Horticultural Society, and the Centre County Agricultural Society, will be present and enter into the discussion of the questions which will be under consideration. For the success of these Institutes our people should attend and lend their efforts to the work.

CLOSE OF THE SEASON.—The time for shooting quails and hunting deer came to a close last Monday, 15th; that is, the law of the Commonwealth makes it a lineable offence to kill deer and quails after that date, though rabbits, squirrels and turkeys (wild) and pheasants may be hunted until Jan. 1.

—A strong band and orchestra accompanies the Peck and Furman's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., which will play here on Tuesday night, Dec. 23rd. Two Topsy's, two Marks the Lawyers and thirty good actors.

—A four-horse team drawing a large engine boiler, stalled on the railroad crossing, on High street, on Thursday morning. The depth of the snow banks made it impossible for them to pull through.

—Among all the attractions at the Institute this week none were more appreciated, if prolonged applause counts for anything, than the clarinet solos rendered on Wednesday afternoon by our barber friend, R. A. Beck. The way he played "America," and the cheers he got for it, were simply wonderful.

—On Wednesday last the employees of the suspended Centre Iron Co., of this place, were paid two weeks of their back wages. They expect to be paid in full, for the remaining two weeks work, in a short time. The men are all very much in need of the money, but it is only a question of a few days now until they get payment in full.

—While Mr. Monroe Arnor was loading his wagon, near Gerberick, Hale & Co's Mill, on Tuesday morning last, he made a mis-step and fell off the rear end of it. He unfortunately struck his head on a large rock, rendering him unconscious. For a time it was thought that his skull had been fractured, and his condition is deemed critical yet. We hope for his speedy recovery.

—The following are the marriage licenses granted by Register Rupp since last publication: John E. Imel and Amanda Jane Cain, both of Bellefonte; Samuel Butler and Eliza McClosky, both of Curtin twp.; J. E. Koon, of Pleasant Gap, and Laura L. Gross, of Linden Hall; Clyde E. Thomas, of Harris twp. and Alice R. Zettle, of College twp.; Cyrus M. Johnson, of State College, and Marion Miller, of Pine Grove; A. C. Eisenhuth, of Coburn, and Annie M. Haines, of Woodward.

—T. C. Kinzing, a prominent business man of Lock Haven, and President of the First National Bank of that place, died at his home last Monday, aged 72 years. He was born in Philadelphia, February 7, 1818. When quite young his parents removed to Columbia county, where he was educated and started in business. In 1840 he went to Lock Haven, continuing his commercial pursuits. In 1864 he became president of the First National Bank, of that city, its present prosperity being in great part due to his careful and sagacious management. He had various other business interests. He was a large stockholder in the gas works of the town, and was the secretary and treasurer of the Lock Haven boot and shoe manufacturing company.

THE BEECH CREEK TRANSFER.—We have already referred to the arrangement by which the Beech Creek Railroad is reported to have been turned over to the Vanderbilt interest. The following from the Philadelphia Inquirer of the 11th inst., gives further particulars: General George J. Magee, who built the Beech Creek road and has been its general manager from the beginning, has resigned, and J. D. Laynie, general manager of the West Shore road, has been appointed to succeed him. General Magee's retirement is said to be due to a change in the ownership of the Beech Creek road. The Vanderbilts, who bought up the holdings of the minority stockholders in the road, are understood to have transferred their stock to the New York Central Company, and it is desired that the property be brought directly under the management of that corporation. General Magee still retains the presidency of the Fall Brook Coal company, in which the Vanderbilts are largely interested.

The Vanderbilts have purchased about 15,000 acres of bituminous coal land on Chest creek, in the northwest corner of Cambria county, and the Beech Creek road is to be extended thirty miles to reach it. This tract is the only undeveloped coal territory of consequence east of the Allegheny Mountains. It will afford a considerable amount of traffic for the railroad, which will turn it over either to the Fall Brook Company or the Reading. This extension will be made next year.

The purpose of the change in management, however, is believed to be related to the recent acquisition of a charter for a road to connect the Beech Creek with the Lake Shore at Oil City. The construction of ninety miles of track will close the gap and form a new route from Chicago to Philadelphia. For through all rail freight this route would be of great advantage, as it would be 905 miles long as against 1,023 by the present route via Lyons and the New York Central. Moreover, the Central is always crowded with business and would prefer the Philadelphia business done over another line of which it holds all the stock. The Central will not lose any revenue because of a reduction in the distance since the Reading which is its Philadelphia connection, gets an "arbitrary" for its services and the Central gets all the rest. Of course the Reading's coal business which is done over the docks at Buffalo will not be changed. It is reported that the Oil City extension will not be finished for two years.

WHERE IS SHE?—Frederick Hommer, of this city, is desirous to ascertain the whereabouts of his daughter, whose maiden name was Lizzie Hommer, and who is said to have been married at Renovo about ten years ago. The lady is supposed to be in this section somewhere, and her father is anxious to know where, as there is a fortune that will be her's upon his demise. Address, Frederick Hommer, Lock Haven, Pa. Exchanges please copy.—Lock Haven Democrat.

A SCHOOL SAVING BANK.—On the reopening of the public schools after the holidays, Prof. Weber intends inaugurating a public school penny saving bank, which is a good idea. It will be conducted on regular banking system and each depositor will be furnished with a bank book. The Williamsport schools have such an institution, which is a grand success, and Prof. Weber will visit Williamsport during his absence to acquaint himself thoroughly with the system.—Philipsburg Ledger.

A SUFFICIENT EXPLANATION.—These are the days of Republican national and State administrations, of a Republican congress, and of an increased monopoly tariff, which perhaps explains the following from the Bellefonte News: "There is now great despondency among the employees of the Centre Iron Company. Not only are they out of employment, but they got no pay for their last month's work, and then the great uncertainty of when they may start up is good reason for feeling despondent. Some think the works may start up some time next month, but the chance of their doing so is not very great. It is really too bad that such a valuable plant should lay idle."

REMARKABLE SPAN OF HORSES.—The most remarkable span of horses in Clinton county is owned by Commissioner H. B. Kleckner. These horses were twin colts, jet black and look exactly alike. They are now past twenty-six years of age and have worked on the farm since they were three years old.

Mr. Kleckner at one time refused $1,200 for them. Every year up to the present they have done their full share of work on the farm. During the winter season they are allowed to stand in the barn stable, without even having the harness on. Something remarkable about this team is that when in the pasture field they are never seen more than twenty feet distance from each other.—Lock Haven Democrat.

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES.—The exercises at the Bellefonte High School preceding the Holiday vacation were interesting and instructive. Orations by some of the brightest scholars was interspersed with skillfully rendered music. D. F. Fortney, Esq., delivered an address in which he spoke highly of the good attendance of the High school scholars thus far this season, averaging about 97 per cent. J. C. Meyer, Esq., after a fitting address presented Prof. Johnston with a large lamp, Prof. Lieb with illustrated histories of Palestine and England, and Prof. Wolf with a handsome port folio, in behalf of the scholars. There were a number of greatly interested visitors present.

A GOOD PLACE FOR GAME.—They appear to have a hunter's paradise over in Huntingdon county, judging from the following in the Huntingdon Local News: During the deer season, which began on the 1st of October last and closed on the 15th inst., there have been killed in Diamond Valley, this county, the unprecedented number of sixty-nine deer and two bears. The first bear was shot some weeks ago by Martin Thomas, of Tyrone, and weighed 210 pounds; the last bear was shot a week ago by McClain Lingenfelter, of Union Furnace, and weighed 170 pounds. During the past week eighteen or twenty deer have been shot in that region, which is claimed to be one of the best game sections in the State, and it would seem from the record this season that it is entitled to the claim.

LOST IN THE WOODS.—One week ago Tuesday Newton Graham and two companions went on a hunting expedition in the mountains north of Clearfield. The two friends missed Graham whilst in the thickets of the wilds, and called and shot their guns but all in vain, they receiving no answer. They kept up this calling for several hours, when they reluctantly repaired to their homes thinking he had preceded them, but they did not find him. No real alarm was felt until Tuesday, as it was thought he had gone to visit friends in a nearby town. On Wednesday morning at an early hour one hundred and fifty armed men started in search of the missing young man. Many of them were his intimate friends and they were determined to find him dead or alive. The young man is very likely in a very perilous position. The great forest does not contain a footpath or road. It is feared that if he is still in the wilderness he will not be found alive, as the cold during the past week has been quite severe.

—The ever popular Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Opera House on Tuesday night, Dec. 23rd.

—Mr. Richards, of Julian Furnace, is in town seeking monetary aid of his friends, to enable him to send his son to a hospital in Philadelphia. About a year since the lad was suffering from typhoid fever, which left such a bad effect in his system that he is now a cripple, but with the medical skill and attention to be obtained at the hospital it is hoped that strength to his legs might be restored. Mr. Richards has been rendered poor by the drain upon his limited resources for medical treatment during the past year.—Philipsburg Journal.

—Read the Cash Bazaar's advertisement of holiday goods.

—The late falls of snow have made sleighing quite good, but it requires more than snow to give you solid comfort while you are out. It takes a good comfortable sleigh to make your enjoyment complete, and the place to get such sleighs is at McQuiston & Co's. They have a line of beauties, including the celebrated "old comfort" sleighs. Call and see them.

—"Cabinets" at Moore's gallery for $1. This does not mean inferior work. It means the very best.

AN UNSEASONABLE SNAKE.—On Thursday of last week Mr. W. H. Rupert, living in the vicinity of Blanchard, killed a garter snake almost three feet long. The ground at the time was covered with snow, and the snake was seemingly as lively crawling over the top of the snow as it would have been in a blistering August sun.

—The finest and largest line of Foreign and Domestic woens for suitings and overcoats ever shown by us. Full assortment of Ready Made clothing Hats, Caps, and Furnishing Goods. MONTGOMERY & CO. Tailors.

—The Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., which will play the work upon which Harriet Beecher Stowe immortalized herself, here on Tuesday evening, Dec. 23rd, is the best Company on the road that plays Uncle Tom's Cabin. If you have never seen the dramatization of the book which did more to hasten the freedom of the slaves than any other force that acted at the time, you should go and see it. If you have read Uncle Tom's Cabin go and see its pathos and mirth portrayed by an excellent Company.

—The 21st Annual Masquerade Ball of the Logan Hose Co., will be held in Bush's Arcade hall on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31st. The Logan boys are working hard to make this the most successful one of the many nice dances they have already given. The proceeds will be devoted to helping pay for the new Steam Fire Engine. If you are asked to purchase a ticket do so. It's for a worthy cause.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.—We have made arrangements with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," which will enable all our subscribers to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address (enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) to Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO., ENOSBURGH FALLS, VT. This book is now recognized as standard authority upon all diseases of the horse, as its phenomenal sale attests, over four million copies having been sold in the past ten years, a sale never before reached by any publication in the same period of time. We feel confident that our patrons will appreciate the work, and be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity to obtaining a valuable book.

It is necessary to mention this paper in sending for the "Treatise." This offer will remain open for only a short time. 35 49 6t

FINE ENGRAVING.—If you want fine engraved visiting cards, wedding invitations, at-home cards, reception invitations, etc., the WATCHMAN office is the place to get them. Sole agent for this district of the celebrated Dreka Engraving House, of Philadelphia. Fine engraved stationery of every description. Crests, coats of arms, monograms and initials in embossed colors or steel. Prices low. Workmanship unequalled, styles the latest.

Pine Grove Mentions. Mrs. John Dennis has just passed her ninety-ninth birthday yet quite well and active. One of our great Democratic farmers, Frank Bowersox, will offer his extensive stock and farm implements for sale, the best of everything. Mine host, J. A. Dacker, proprietor of the St. Elmo Hotel, is sparing no pains in making liberal provisions for the comfort of the traveling public, especially during the holidays. Join and Milo, oldest sons of ex-Commissioner H. C. Campbell, of Fairbrook, are now enrolled at Poughkeepsie Commercial College where we trust they will graduate with highest honors.

—Jacob Kepner, esq., editor and proprietor of the Forest County Democrat, spent a week at his farm here. But on account of a severe form of iritis in his eyes he again returned to Philipsburg for treatment. Our young friend, Luther Sunday, one day last week while sleighing, his horse took fright, oversetting the sleigh by which Mr. S. was considerably hurt but managed to gather himself from his perilous situation and was gotten home. The sleigh however will need repairs as well as the horse which was considerably hurt.

The musical convention is now in progress in the Lutheran church under that skilled convention leader, Prof. Weaver, with a class of 120 singers, including three organs, over which Miss Annie Fortney, Miss Linnie Krebs and Elsie Houtsman preside, in addition to a number of cornet and violin players which constitute an orchestra rarely heard in a country village.

J. Danlap Tanyer brought down from the mountain another fine buck and a large goat, just on the heels of the hunting season. Jim is entitled to the belt this season. He is making an effort to equal his father, W. A. Tanyer, the champion Nimrod of this section who has killed forty-nine deer in his time. This alone should have entitled him to a better showing for the sheriff than he had at the recent county convention.

On Friday evening of last week a large number of ladies and gentlemen, composing a sleighing party, hauled up at the mansion home of J. H. Miller, esq., where every body is royally received. The evening was spent in listening to elegant music, besides indulging in a number of innocent though fascinating games which always create much merriment. During the evening all were invited to refreshments including ice cream and many toothsome viands for which Mrs. Miller is noted in preparing; also in making her guests feel quite at home by her social demeanor and cheery countenance.

Rev. J. C. Kelley delivered his farewell sermon to his congregation last Sunday morning. The church was filled to its utmost capacity by a deeply interested congregation who looked on with regret they felt at the very near departure of their highly esteemed pastor and preacher. "Finally farewell, brethren" were the words he based his remarks on. In the course of his remarks he touched every branch of his church, especially the Sunday school, the children on whom depends the future of the church, and the Ladies' Missionary Society, and the W. C. T. U. Society. The church session he urged to go forward in the work of the Master though they had no shepherd. He alluded to all who had been near and dear to him as the apple of his eye. He had knelt at their bedside in illness, he had spoken words of comfort at the graves of many, and now by the Lord's will and a hopeful spirit he was going from among his people. Though his departure is very much regretted by this community irrespective of denomination, all wish him good speed in his new field of labor at Williamsburg where a unanimous call was extended to him. Of him it can be said, he left no enemies after twenty years of service. "Finally farewell, brother."

Heels Items. Shurman Zimmerman lost one of his horses last week. Our farmers are busy harvesting their ice crop which is as clear as a crystal and eight inches thick.

Your correspondent was lately shown a heriotom of longevity: Two hundred and fifteen years ago, when Mexican dollars were plenty, a great-great Aunt of Shurman Zimmerman having a quantity of them had a half dozen teaspoons made, each dollar making one spoon. What the cost of making them I did not ascertain. After having been in use for over a century, they have been distributed around among relatives now as relics.

Newton Graham, of Clearfield Pa., brother of Alfred Graham, a lumberman of the firm of Graham & Co. of this place, went out hunting on Monday, Dec. 1st, in company with Wm. Falls, Geo. Stewart, Dean Livergood and Joseph Leonard and proceeded to their shanty situated on Crooked Run, a branch of Trout run. They all started on Tuesday morning, Dec. 2nd, with Graham and Leonard, to make a drive. About 10 o'clock Graham complained to Leonard that his boot hurt his foot and spoke as if he would go somewhere to get a pair of lumberman's gums. When he did not return to the shanty that night the other men wanted to know where Newton was. Leonard said he had gone to Clearfield to get a pair of lumberman's gums, and as he did not return to the shanty on Friday evening, when they were on their way home they made inquiry for him, but no one had seen or heard of him. The next place they went was to his brother Harry who lives in Bradford twp. and not finding him there, the alarm was given at Clearfield. Alfred receiving the word Saturday noon, on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock he started out with 32 men, to search for his brother. They scoured the mountains well, but did not find him. On Wednesday morning Mr. Graham formed another crowd of 75 men, who were conveyed to the mountains in sled loads, being old experience hunters with good dogs, and yet they were unsuccessful. On Tuesday, when he was last seen by Leonard, he was not much snow on the ground, but on Sunday there was sixteen inches, making the search almost impossible. There has been parties searching for him ever since, and up to Dec. 15 no trace of him has been found. Mr. Graham offers a reward for the recovery of his body within the next thirty days. The lost one was a single man, about thirty years of age, a hard working, honest and up right young man. The friends of Mr. Graham have the sympathy of this community in the hour of their deep trouble. Y. F. O.
