They Eloped on a Raft.

A Lumberman Steals His Bride From Her Father.

A lumberman dressed in woodsman style came hurriedly into the union de-pot. Leaning on his arm was a pretty girl about eighteen years old. Her panting breath and flery cheeks gave evidence of her excitement, which was seemingly made more intense by their would git tired, and have to do sumthing them was and thing worseling, while I know a follow the first. He seemed to be on guard, and kept his eyes turned toward the rear ranks. He said nothing until his for the east. A few minutes afterward an older man, with an air of business, elbowed his way through the elbowed his way through the crowd and confronted the woodsman. ments it seemed that a fight would take place. Kindly advice from a bystander saved them from the officers, however, and the two walked off together. Later in the day the older man appeared at the depot and bought a ticket to Brady's Bend, on the Allegheny Valley railroad. He was approached by a reporter and readily consented to tell the story.

His name was Andrew Myers. The girl who had been carried off by the uncouth woodsman was a daughter of Myers. They had eloped from her father's lumber raft. The daring act took place near Brady's Bend, and was the crowning act of a romance made exciting by a determined lover, an irate father and a faithful girl, whose respect for her father's wishes had hitherto prevented a clandestine marriage.

FATHER AND LOVER FIGHT. The trio live on the Clarion river near Clarington. They are all well known in the lumber country. The younger man's name is Frank Snyder. He is prosperous in the woods, and is considered a good business man, but he is rough in his way, and for that reason was not considered by Myers fit to be his daughter's lover. Miss Myers thought differently, however, and for a year insisted on receiving the attentions of Snyder. Nevertheless she refused to elope with her lover, and would only answer "wait." The rafting season on the Clarion river commenced. Both Myers and Snyder had timber to run to market, and were constantly thrown in each other's way at the river bank. When the rafts were nearly ready to be started they accidently commenced talking about Miss Myers. Kindly expressions led to insinuations, and then a war of words, which was quickly followed by a blow from Myers. A moment more and both were rolling in the mud. They were soon separated, but not until Snyder had made a vow to get the girl. Myers heard the words and became equally determined that his enemy should never be his son-in-law.

A few hours more and both were to A few hours more and both were to start down the river. Myers was afraid to leave his daughter behind, and giving as an excuse the statement that he ing as an excuse the statement that he cook for the men, he wanted her to cook for the men, he brought her on the raft and gave her quarters in the rough shanty which is trequently built on large flats. Snyder frequently built on large flats. Snyder saw the object of Myers' move, and when the latter pulled out with his raft Snyder quickly followed with his own.

PAPA COMES TOO LATE. Both rafts arrived at Brady's Bend shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday night. Myers pulled in to tie up for the night and when about to land Snyder's raft came up. He was acting as pilot himself, and, seeing Miss Myers standing on the river edge of her father's raft, he ordered his men to pull in such a way that his own raft ran close to that of Myers. When at the nearest point he jumped from his oar, grabbed the young girl, and, as he leaped back, yelled at his men to pull into the current. It was a daring act, but Snyder had been victorious, and found no trouble in persuading Miss Myers to give her consent to their marriage when the opportunity came. He knew Myers would follow, however, and to make sure their escape he determined to run at night. They arrived at Sharpsburg next morning. Meantime Myers had come to Pittsburg, and was waiting at Herr's but walk around and look for chaps of Island for Snyder and his game. But your build. When he finds one he Island for Snyder and his game. But they didn't come. They guessed what he would do, and left him down the river while they went to Union depot on a cable car. Myers heard of this trick about 7:30 and went to intercept it, but he was too late. The woodsman he met at Union depot explained the occurrence leading to the flight, and told Mr. Myers that they were going to Camden, N. J., to get married. Mr. Myers was still angry when seen at the Home hotel. He confessed that Snyder was a suitable man for any sensible girl, and his chief grievance seemed to be that his daughter should go on a bridal tour with a man whose wedding outfit would startle civilization. Nevertheless he admitted that Snyder had better clothes at home, and his last remark was that if Snyder had made much money lately he would forgive him .--Pittsburg Cor. Oil City Derrick.

Girls, from a Boy's View.

An Essay That Siamps Its Author as of Child of Genius.

Girls is grate on making believe. She will make believe a doll is a live baby She will make believe she is orful sweet on another girl or a feller if they come to see her, and when they are gone she will say, "Horrid old thing!"

If yer don't do what a girl- tells yer, she says your horrid. I drather be horrid than be soft. If you do what a girl tells you, you will do all sorts of foolish

Girls olways gits their joggerfry lessons better than a feller, but if they are going anywhere they don't know their way a bit, and they are sure to git lost. If a girl don't feel like doing a thing you can't make her, no matter whether she had orter or not. If she won't, she won't, and she will git out of it some-

The Price of Free Sugar.

The McKinley bill has done for sugar what the agitation of Cobden did for the poor man's loaf in England. And the party whose leader declared in the campaign that he "despised cheapness" is now glorying in cheap sugar. Free sugar is well, but the American people know the fearful price they are called upon to pay for it. The law which abolished the tax on raw sugar raised the taxes in every other tariff schedule an advance of 43 1-3 per cent. As part of the cost of free sugar the duty on beef, mutton and pork was raised 100 per cent; on building stone 100 per cent; on ingrain carpets more than 50 per cent.; on woolen clothing over 50 per cent.; on flannels the same; on glassware and lamp chimneys 50 per per cent.; on handkerchiefs nearly per cent.; on tin plates 120 per cent. And so on through the list—higher

Playing a Terror.

Among the passengers who landed in Detroit from a western train the other morning was a young man wearing a cowboy hat, a bearskin overcoat, the claw of a grizzly bear as a breastpin and other outward tokens of being a terror from the far west. As he hung around to make some inquiries Officer Dutton queried of him:

"Three of 'em." "Going to stop over?"

"Yes, for a few hours. I've heard a good deal about Detroit and want to see

ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the gustom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 16x74 feet and the store 29x60 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are int-rested in now. Profits will take care of themselves.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (!) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assection that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.

The following are kept constantly on hand. 0 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $8.00 to $15.00 and upwards, LARGE 0 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, pieces in $8.00 to $15.00 and upwards, LARGE STOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS per set$25.00 and upwards, 500 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $5.00 each, over $100.00 worth of HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE,
