KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

BELVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, 1890.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL, Gt. Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly,
WM. A. CURLE.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL, Gt. Gents—In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horseman about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness blood spavin or Thornapple, but I all told me there was no cure for it, he became almost useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land.

Respectfully yours,
EUGENE DEWITT.

Prices $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietor.

Seasonable Advice.

A Short Extract from a Lecture by S. B. Hartman.

Are you thinking of getting a spring medicine? Do you feel those old symptoms which are so apt to come every spring and remind you that you need something to purify your blood or cleanse your system or tone up your digestion and appetite? Now, if there was ever a time in your life when you needed to use good judgment it is right here and now. To begin with, you will see, after a moment's reflection, that no medicine could be made that would be the proper remedy for all cases of spring affections. It is, certainly, a matter of considerable moment to you which of the many sarsaparillas, tonics and blood purifiers you need for your particular case. You will carefully observe the following directions which will never be disappointed in finding a prompt relief.

If your symptoms are general weakness, roaring in the head, slight faintness, brown specks moving before the eyes, twitching of the eyelids, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation and shortness of breath, a worn-out, tired feeling from morning till night; if any or all of this group of symptoms describe your case, Pe-ru-na is the spring medicine you need. There is no other medicine that will so quickly and permanently relieve you. If you have had La Grippe during the past winter and have not fully recovered your natural health and strength, Pe-ru-na is precisely what you ought to get at once. It will surely cure you in a short time.

Should your symptoms be dizziness, coated tongue, sour stomach, bloating after meals, constipation, biliousness, pain in the back, scant-colored urine, heavy, drowsy feelings, then the remedy that will never fail to cure you is Man-a-lin. All of the above symptoms disappear as surely, when taking Man-a-lin, as a white frost before a June sun. Man-a-lin gently quickens the functions of liver, bowels and kidneys, and cleanses the system of all impurities.

It, however, your symptoms are eruptions on the skin, salt rheum, pains in the joints (worse at night), chronic rheumatism, boils, scrofula, blood-poison of any kind, or any other manifestation of impure blood, the proper remedy for you to get is La-cu-pi-a. There is, positively, no use wasting your time taking other blood medicines for La-cu-pi-a can be relied on as a quick, sure and positive cure in all blood diseases.

The above advice is exactly as it fell from the lips of one of the most renowned practitioners and lecturers of medicine in this country, Dr. S. B. Hartman. If you think of getting a spring medicine you had better profit by the many years of experience and extensive observation of this celebrated authority. A pamphlet of lectures by Dr. Hartman on spring diseases, their cause and cure, sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Company of Columbus, Ohio.

A fine-looking old lady got into a Thirteenth street car yesterday, clasping three huge flower-pots in her arms. The plants were rose bushes, and one of them bore a beautiful red flower. The conductor kindly held one of the plants while the old lady opened a pocket-book and paid her fare. Then he handed back the plant, and the woman clasped it to her again. A mild-looking gentleman, about 60 years old, who had been sitting just opposite, created a decided sensation by stepping up to the old lady, complimenting her on being possessed of so fine a plant, and deftly plucking the rose and placing it in the lapel of his coat. Then he kissed the tips of his fingers to the species of old lady, and before her rage and amazement could break out in words, the gay fellow had left the car. The conductor smiled when the situation dawned upon him, and for this indiscretion made himself the target for a tongue-lashing that lasted over ten squares.

Mexican Oranges.

A Mexican orange is considered the most delicious specimen of that fruit obtainable, even exceeding the best Floridians or Navels in flavor. The Mexican orange, or Navel, is smaller than the one grown in Florida, and the skin is not so thick and dry, the juice being sweeter and more plentiful. The fruit is not grown in quantities in Northern Mexico, though the State of Sonora produces some fine oranges in small quantities. This is grown, however, near the coast as in California. Guaymas being the principal orange market of Sonora. The city of Guaymas is located near the mouth of the Gulf of California, about 500 miles south of the Arizona line. The Pacific steamers touch at Guaymas on their tri-weekly trips from San Francisco to Central America, and the ports of the Mexican coast.

Kansas City Star.

Philadelpia locomotives go all over the world and set the standard of excellence for such engines. They may be found drawing trains across the plains of Australia, over the Andes in South America, and in every part of the United States and Mexico, and recently the Baldwin Locomotive Works have turned out some mogul engines for use on the mountain railroads of Japan. They are powerful machines, and will pull loads up grades of 132 feet to the mile. Wherever American and English engines have been tested in countries of recent settlement, or where railroads have been lately introduced, the preference has been given to the American engine.

WANTED.—A good appet'ite. You can have it easy enough by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It tones the digestion and cures sick headache.

It is said that in Paris, France, twice as many crimes are committed by persons between the ages of fifteen and twenty as by those between twenty and forty.

A Fortune in a Bustle.
Where an Old Maid of Western Pennsylvania Hid Her Savings.

PITTSBURG, April 21.—Miss Margaret Schutt, an old maid of Derry, a railroad town forty-five miles east of Pittsburg, died a week ago at the age of 65. Her entire life had been devoted to hard work, and since her father died, early in the seventies, she had been a plain domestic in the families of the neighborhood. She dressed plainly, venturing from the beaten path only in wearing a bustle. For some years she had been living with a family named Bennett, from whose house she was buried.

After the funeral Misses Jennie and Kate Bennett went to clearing up the room the old maid had occupied. Such things as were of no use they cast into the fire. When they came upon the bed-ticking bustle worn by the deceased it was promptly pitched into the flames, but was for some reason immediately pulled out again. Then it was that $20 greenback was found sticking through the seam.

Tearing open the bustle, the young women discovered a lot of bank notes and gold and silver coins of all denominations. The pile when counted made $9,000 in cold cash. It has long been a mystery what Miss Schutt did with her earnings, and this explained it. She left her money, so the money was turned over to her sister, who in turn rewarded the Misses Bennett for their discovery. The bustle will probably go down to future generations as a heirloom.

A Corner in Cats.

"You may talk about your wheat corners," said the old 4'er, "but they don't compare with the corner in cats a man got up in California in the early days. San Francisco at that period was a tumble down village of pine boards built on a marsh. The place was overrun with large, long-tailed, voracious rats which made life a burden to the inhabitants. We who lived there then weren't particularly delicate in our personal tastes, but when he came to losing toes and fingers while we slept we got right up and objected to the limit of our vocabularies. There were a few cats in the town, of course, but they were kept too busy to increase any, and their daily walks were so full of excitement that they didn't live long. Well it finally got to be a case of too bad, and cats were quoted on the bourse at $50 per ordinary cat. Experienced cats and cats with records brought higher prices. Down in the southern part of the State they had more cats than they knew what to do with. A sharp chap in Los Angeles heard about the state of affairs in 'Frisco and he goes and borrows all the money he can and then buys every cat south of Tehachapi at four for $1. Then he loads Cap Haley's Sea Bird with 'em, brings them up to our town and auctions 'em off. He gets as high as $75 apiece, and clears several thousand dollars. The cats did the business, too, and inside of six weeks there wasn't a solitary rat in San Francisco. But we had a great time afterwards getting rid of the cats."

SOMETHING NEW.—"Anything fresh or new this morning?" said a reporter to a young lady typewriter, as he lounged against the wall of a railway office.

"Yes," she replied.

"What is it?" asked the reporter, grabbing an envelope.

"That point you were leaning against so gracefully."

THAT WAS A CHICAGO ALDERMAN—Wealthy Alderman (at art rooms)—This face looks kind of familiar. Whose picture is it?

Artist—That is intended to be a representation of Poezy.

Wealthy Alderman (quite positively)—Don't know 'im.

IT SEEMED STRANGE TO HER.—Wife—You don't tell me that Professor A. has been struck dumb.

Husband—Yes, last night. And he was master of seven languages.

Wife—Is it possible? And was he struck dumb in all seven?

A REASONABLE REQUEST.—She—Would you mind making a little change in your dancing?

He—In what way?

She—You might tread on my left foot for a change. The right one has suffered enough.

CAUTION.—Mrs. Figg (writing)—Shall I send Uncle George your love?

Laura—Of course; and you had better make it up and send it. Perishable goods cannot be sent through the mail, you know.

There are more believers in astrology than the world at large has any idea of. Most of those who entertain faith in this occult science are people of intellect, learning and, not frequently culture.

AN IMPARTIAL PARENT.—He—I met your father last night for the first time.

She—How did he strike you?

"Just like the rest of the boys. He wanted $5."

THE BEST MAN.—"So you are married, old fellow?"

"Yes."

"Who was the best man at the wedding?"

"She was."

ITCHING SCALY SCALP

WITH THREATENED LOSS OF LUXURIANT HAIR, 50 INCHES LONG. CURED BY CUTICURA FOR $1.25.

Warm weather caused my head to perspire very much, causing an irritation developing into a rash, which was further irritated by my fingers-chalk, causing scabies to cover the lower back part of my head. My doctor recommended me having the hair cut short in order to more easily apply treatment, as he felt assured it would otherwise spread all over my head and probably kill the roots. As I have a very abundant head of hair, fifty inches long, I desisted much. What was prescribed in the meantime gave no help. The itching sensation was so intense, it was simply impossible to keep my nails away. I washed it each day with a silk sponge and Cuticura Soap. Then after drying well and rubbing briskly, I applied Cuticura Salve. I did not use a whole piece of Cuticura until my hair began to grow again. My scalp has been thoroughly healthy for one year, and I feel free to give your remedies a warm recommendation. FANNIE H. YAGER, 1802 Sharswood Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
