

Medicinal.

CREATES AN APPETITE. There is nothing for which we recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla with greater confidence than for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache and other troubles of dyspeptic nature.

DYSPEPSIA.

"I suffered a great while with dyspepsia and tried a good many remedies. A friend urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I have now taken two bottles. It has entirely cured me of dyspepsia, and a serfalous affection has also entirely disappeared. I can hardly find words to express my high appreciation of Hood's Sarsaparilla."

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH.

"For three years I suffered with dyspepsia, growing so bad that I was at one time completely broken down in health. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla on trial, and seeing that it was doing me good, continued with it. After taking six bottles I gained strength and appetite and was restored to my former health."

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

DR. B. J. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. Gents—Would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure that it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

WM. A. CURL.

DR. B. J. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. Gents—In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horse was sent here (see above) to Veterinary Surgeon here pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became almost useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvement immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land.

Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Prices $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

She Uncoiled the Serpent.

Greensboro Record.

Last year a monster snake was seen in the neighborhood of Donnell's mill, in this county, and its length was variously estimated by several parties who saw it, at from eight to fifteen feet. An attempt was made to kill it, but it went into a thicket on the banks of the creek. Nothing more was seen of this monster snake until last Friday, when Miss Ida L. Robinson saw a cow, the property of Mr. Abner Schofield, down and struggling, and went to see what was the matter. Imagine her surprise to see, coiled around the neck of the cow, an immense snake some four inches in diameter and at least ten feet in length. The cow was being choked to death, and the brave girl took hold of the snake with both hands, and being a strong girl, she with great difficulty got it loose, or perhaps frightened it until it uncoiled itself and ran into the thicket. After awhile the cow, with aid from the lady, got upon its feet and was driven home.

The snake was of a brown color and showed no signs of striking or biting, as is common to all our native snakes, hence it is believed to be an anaconda, which has made its escape from some menagerie.

Mr. Edward Starr saw this or a similar snake last spring near George Donnell's old mill, about six miles north of Greensboro, Monroe township, and said it was at least ten feet long.

A Tame Butterfly.

That such long lived butterflies as tortoiseshells and peacocks can be tamed I can myself testify, writes A. H. Waters, and an account of one of the former I kept alive one winter when I was a boy, and in delicate health, will be found in a little pamphlet I have published on "The Mental Endowment of the Lower Animals." I had it alive for many months, and it did not become torpid in the cold weather as I kept it in a vivarium in the house. I was accustomed to letting it out every day and feeding it with sugared water from the tip of my finger, and it would often fly on my finger if I held it out when it had no sugar on, evidently knowing where to look for it. That insects can be tamed I have convinced myself by experiments extending over several years. I have kept the large ground beetle (carabi) in confinement and as they are comparatively long-lived, have easily succeeded in taming them. They would eat a piece of scraped meat from off a stick, and would come to the stick even if it had no meat, plainly expecting to find some.

—Mr. Peter Henderson tells of an asparagus grower near Atlanta whose crop gave for three successive years a net profit of $1,500 per acre; and as instancing departures from old methods, cites the case of a farmer residing near Rochester, "who half a dozen years ago timidly made the attempt of growing a hill acre on his fifty acres farm in vegetable production for a village market. His venture was so satisfactory that he gradually increased his area, so that he now uses thirty of his fifty acres mostly for the Rochester market. The net profit from the cabbage garden last year was $6,000, or a little over $200 per acre, and it was not a very good year for cabbage at that."

—The railroad companies are educating the industrial world to temperance. They employ 689,912 persons. Of 600 of these corporations, which control the freight and passenger traffic of the country, no less than 337 prohibit the use of intoxicating liquors by their employees. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers uses its influence in a similar direction. "When ever a member of the order is known to be dissipated," says Mr. Arthur, long the head of the organization, "we not only expel or suspend him, but notify his employers," and during the last year 375 members were expelled for this cause.

—The richest widow in America is Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts, of New York city. She is still young; at least, not old; and is a handsome woman, with fine dark blue eyes and golden hair. She has a very beautiful home on Fifth avenue, which is filled with rare paintings, antique furniture and bric-a-brac, all selected with the most careful and appreciative taste. Mrs. Roberts was a New England girl, Miss Suzanne Endicott, and had a thorough New England training in all household arts. She is quite capable of going into the kitchen and cooking a sumptuous dinner, without assistance. She has one child, a boy of twelve.

AN ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.—"Well Prisoner," said the prison chaplain to the convict, whose time was nearly up: "I hope your punishment has done you good." "Yes, sir, it has," returned the prisoner. "It has put me in bully trim to go back to town and knock thunder out of the witnesses who convicted me."

HIGHLY UNNATURAL.—Walker—I had a most unnatural dream last night, Fadman. I dreamt Binks borrowed five dollars of me for a week. Fadman—Unnatural! Why, that's Binks all over. Walker—Yes, but I went on dreaming. I dreamt that Binks paid it back to me at the end of the week!

PLENTY OF EXPERIENCE.—Chappie, Your friend Cholly talks of setting out for the North Pole very soon. Athaw—Has he any experience as an Arctic explorer? Chappie—Well, he has been courting a Boston girl all winter.

A COMPLIMENT TO HER SKILL.—Ebel—I never play on the piano, except to my friends. Maud—I should think you'd find it most pleasant to play for your enemies. You would then taste the sweets of revenge.

The Bug and the Elephant.

A Bug went to the Lion, who had been made King of a certain district, and with a great show of indignation and Outraged Innocence Demanded that the Elephant be summoned to stand trial. When the Behemoth was brought before the Tribunal the Bug said:

"O King, I charge the Elephant with obstinately standing in such a Position as to exclude my sunlight, and I pray that he be punished."

"How is this?" asked the King of the Elephant.

"I am very sorry, O Sovereign, but it was at the end of the Path and I could go no further."

"But I ordered him to go back wards, protested the Bug.

"At what hour of the day was this?" asked the King.

"At high noon, Most Worthy," replied the Bug.

"And it was a hot day?"

"One hundred and two degrees in the shade, O King."

"And the Elephant stood between you and the Fierce Sun?"

"He did, O High and Noble, and he paid no attention to my protestations."

"I see. My Decision is that the Elephant should have Respected your Rights, but did not; and he is sentenced to pay a Fine of ten cash."

"Good! That's Bully, Old Justice, and no Discount!" chuckled the Bug. "And on the other hand," continued the King, "I find that the Elephant was Magnanimous Enough to stand between you and a Sun which Might have Prostrated you if not caused your Demise, and my Decision is that you pay him twenty cash for his Praiseworthy Action. Call the next case on the Docket!"

MORAL: Elephants have rights as well as Bugs.—Detroit Free Press.

Just a Dozen Appeals to Our girls. Do be tidy; tidiness is necessary to ladyhood. Do be natural; a poor diamond is better than a good imitation. Do try to be accurate. Do observe; the faculty of observation, well cultivated, makes practical men and women. Do try to be sensible; it is not a particular sign of superiority to talk like a fool. Do be ready in time for church. Do avoid causes of irritation in your family circle; reflect that home is the place in which to be agreeable. Do be reticent; the world at large has no interest in your private affairs. Do cultivate the habit of listening to others. Do be contented; "martyrs" are detestable; a cheerful, happy spirit is infectious; you can carry it about with you like a sunny atmosphere. Do be truthful; do avoid exaggeration; if you mean a mile say a mile, not a mile and a half; if you mean one, say one, and not a dozen. Do, sometimes at least, allow your mother to know better than you do; she was educated before you were born.

Figs and Thistles. We all hate the truth that hits us between the eyes. You can't shut the devil up, but you can shut him out. The moment guilty humility undertakes to carry a flag it kills itself. The man who tries to avoid mountains will have a very crooked road. Never put yourself in the power of a man who will kick a dog for fun. When a man is well satisfied with himself God is disappointed in him. Keep a close eye on the man whose wife is afraid to ask him for money. If you want to live long don't try to live more than one day at a time. The man who controls himself will also control a great many other people. God has nowhere promised to feed the man who will not take his coat off. Education doesn't make the man. It brings out the gold that God put in him.

—A few months ago a big ensilage convention was held at Cleveland, Ohio, to talk over the best way to make and preserve the fodder, and compare notes on silo building. The wooden silo in some of its forms, was voted the favorite. The evidence seemed conclusive that the wooden silo was nearest frost proof, kept its contents in the best state of preservation and if properly built and painted, (when built by itself) with some good wood preservative, it would last for years. The silo, with lathed and plastered interior, was also largely endorsed, while those who had the double boarded silos painted were good enough. Not a man voted for stone or concrete silos, although several who had such were present.

—Jason Brown, second son of the old abolitionist whose "soul is marching on," recently came East from California, where he had lived for the past six years, and is visiting at York, Pa., not very far from Harper's Ferry. He is now 68 years old, and lectures a good deal on temperance.

—President Benitez of Guatemala, has not been an important ruler, and if the present trouble force him out of his country he will not go penniless. Besides $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 which he has lately realized on his property, he has a matter of $20,000,000 in the Bank of England.

FLOORING CHOLLE.—"What would you do if you were a man?" asked Mr. De Sappy. "I'd work as hard as I know how for the good of my country. What would you do if you were a man, Mr. De Sappy?"

—Love's Young Dream.—Sweet Girl—Papa, Mr. Porchop proposed to me last night, and I told him I would marry him if you were willing. "Father—Send him about his business. Sweet Girl—He hasn't any."

THOSE ILL-NATURED PEOPLE.—Clara (haughtily)—I went to the theater every night last week and had a different escort each time. Rival Belle (vindictively)—You should be more cautious, my dear. "Cautious?" "Yes, my dear. Ill-natured people all over town are saying you can't get the same man to go with you twice."

HE WAS RIGHT.—"Have you any photographs of your children, Mr. Peck?" asked a friend of the Hon. Alpheus Peck. "I should say I had," answered Mr. Peck. "I've about a bushel of them." "Why, Alpheus!" exclaimed his wife. "Well, haven't we? Haven't we photographs of all four of them, and don't four pecks make a bushel?"

—The King of Siam celebrated the 148th anniversary of one of his elephants the other day, and the animal was as coltish as some of the herd only 15 years old. This is the oldest elephant with any authentic record of his age, and the only signs of decay appear in his ears. He can't flop them quite so briskly as of yore.

A LIFE OF MISERY

FROM SKIN DISEASE. SUFFERINGS GREAT, USED CUTICURA. INSTANT RELIEF AND SPEEDY CURE.

I was severely afflicted with prurigo, which was not only annoying, but of misery. So after receiving your book, I read carefully a trial. Purchased one set of CUTICURAS. After a few days' use I received great relief. I can announce the Cuticura Remedies the best skin medicine yet known to me. I would willingly recommend them to all who are afflicted with skin disease. For the one year of misery I suffered with prurigo is beyond my knowledge to express it. A thousand thanks would not pay the debtors Remedies the cure they gave me. I can freely say, all who are in misery with any skin disease, give the Cuticura Remedies a trial, and I feel satisfied to say you will be happy.
