Bellefonte, Pa., June 26, 1891.

Timber Wealth of West Virginia.

You are making a great ado about the forest you are trying to save from the onslaughts of the lumbermen...

The symptoms begin in spring and early summer. They resemble the symptoms of malaria very closely. It is a profligate source of paralysis, sunstroke, apoplexy, insanity, hysteria and insomnia...

They are not very rigid as to court formalities down on the Rattlesnake Loop in Arizona...

My most embarrassing experience, repeated the young lady thoughtfully, was connected with a pickle. I was a guest at a dinner in Washington...

One of the curious effects of the unworked cold water in Europe during the past winter was observed in Anstran Moravia, where the inhabitants are said to be very fond of their horses and humanely inclined toward them...

The farmers, therefore, procured quantities of goggles and spectacles with black, blue or green glass, which they tied over their horses' eyes whenever they went out...

A market day in Moravia during the prevalence of the great snow is said to have been a funny sight. Scores of horses dragging wagons through the snow in the streets, or else improvised sleds and sledges were seen in the streets, and nearly every horse had on a pair of blue or green spectacles...

It is stated that among the records in the Tower of London, a document was found according to which a man was hanged in the time of Edward I. for no other crime than having been caught burning coal.

Sam Jones on Evangelists.

Evangelists, male or female, decent and indecent, pious and penurious, along with tent meetings, meetings for "men only," with their advocates pro and con, seem to be agitating the great American mind.

I have traveled much and kept up with the "times and seasons" somewhat, and feel free to say that the church with the ordinary means of grace is not reaching the case. If, after constant treatment at the hands of the old family physician, the patient grows worse, had we better stick to him though the patient dies, or change physicians and try an expert—not of a different school of medicine, but one who is skillful in diagnosis and an expert in practice?

The only question is, does the patient improve? If not, what then? Is there an expert available? Shall we use him? Common sense controls us in all other matters: why not use a little of the same uncommon articles in religious matters?

I don't care what you call the expert—evangelist, revivalist, ecclesiastical tramp, or what not, the fact that so many pastors need and call for him is proof of the proposition that the ordinary means do not reach the case.

Some talk of stopping the whole evangelist business, but they must get in the forefront of the procession before they can stop it. I am sure that the old polky crowd I hear talking against evangelists can never catch up with us, much less get ahead.

Hints for Young Ladies.

Do be natural; a poor diamond is better than a good imitation.

Do be reticent; the world at large has no interest in your private affairs.

Do try to be sensible; it is not a particular sign of superiority to talk like a fool.

Do observe; the faculty of observation well cultivated makes practical men and women.

Do avoid causes of irritation in your family circle; reflect that home is the place in which to be agreeable.

Do, sometimes at least, allow your mother to know better than you do; she was educated before you were born.

Do be ready in time for church; if you do not respect yourself sufficiently to be punctual, respect the feelings of others.

Do be truthful; do avoid exaggeration; if you mean a mile say a mile, if you mean one, say one, not a dozen.

Do be contented; "martyrs" are detestable; a cheerful, happy spirit is infectious, you can carry it about with you like a sunny atmosphere.

Do try to be accurate, not only for your own sake, but for the sake of your sex; the incapacity of the female mind for accuracy is a standard argument against the equality of the sexes.

Do avoid whispering; it is as bad as giggling; both are to be condemned; there is no excuse for either one of them. If you have anything to say, say it; if you have not, hold your tongue altogether; silence is golden.

Do cultivate the habit of listening to others; it will make you an invaluable member of society, to say nothing of the advantages it will be to you when you marry; every man likes to talk about himself, a good listener makes a delightful wife.—Fashion Bazar.

A Pickle That Was Not Eaten. "My most embarrassing experience," repeated the young lady thoughtfully, "was connected with a pickle. I was a guest at a dinner in Washington. It was not a very formal affair—merely formal enough for the gentlemen present to wear evening dress. There was a dish of dainty pickles near me, and I took one—a baby cucumber. It was about big enough for two bites, and I tried to cut it with my fork, when suddenly it launched itself like a skyrocket across the table and struck the immaculate shirt bosom of a very particular well-dressed, fairly in the middle."

"I don't quite know how it happened so fortunately, but conversation had been going on so briskly that no one saw the man who had taken me into dinner saw who was the author of the accident. I never blush, a fact, I trust, not to be set down seriously to my discredit—and I managed to go out and take about an hour ago, but I showed him I had three slices, and he said, 'Well, next time, then, and walked out.'"

"The thunder you say!" roared his Honor. "However, be sure to be in town next week to see the dog fight and some of you must remind the Sheriff to shoot him on sight. The docket is just jammed full of horse-stealing cases, and there is no time to waste over a measly homicider. Next case."

Horses in Spectacles. One of the curious effects of the unworked cold water in Europe during the past winter was observed in Anstran Moravia, where the inhabitants are said to be very fond of their horses and humanely inclined toward them. For many weeks the ground in Moravia was covered with a thick coating of snow. As this was unusual, and the people found that their own eyes were unpleasantly affected by the intense whiteness of the snow, it occurred to them that their horses must be affected in the same way, and needed protection for their eyes.

The farmers, therefore, procured quantities of goggles and spectacles with black, blue or green glass, which they tied over their horses' eyes whenever they went out.

A market day in Moravia during the prevalence of the great snow is said to have been a funny sight. Scores of horses dragging wagons through the snow in the streets, or else improvised sleds and sledges were seen in the streets, and nearly every horse had on a pair of blue or green spectacles.

The white horses were especially comical, and if they possessed a sense of the ridiculous, as some horses are thought to do, perhaps they wished that they were black or chestnut, for on colored horses the glasses were not so conspicuous.

It is stated that among the records in the Tower of London, a document was found according to which a man was hanged in the time of Edward I. for no other crime than having been caught burning coal.

Saddlery.

SCHOFIELD'S NEW HARNESS HOUSE.

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive saleroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be neatly displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 12x74 feet and the store 2x20 added makes the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

GRANDEST DISPLAYS OF

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for which you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to take the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (2) houses of this city and county would not work for us, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assertion that none of them can say, "I CAN'T GET IT." This is the whole story.

The following are kept constantly on hand. 50 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $8.00 to $15.00 and upwards. LARGE STOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS per set $25.00 and upwards. 300 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $3.00 each, over 1000 worth HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE.

$400 worth of Fly Nets sold cheap from 15c to $1.00 each. Horse Brushes, Curry Combs, Sponges, Chamois, RIDING SADDLES, LADY SIDERADDLES, Harness Soap, Knee Drawers, etc., at low prices. Saddlery-hardware always on hand for sale. Harness Leather as low as 25c per pound. We keep everything to be found in a FIRST CLASS HARNESS STORE—no changing over 20 years in the same room. No two shops in the same town to catch trade—NO SELLING OUT for the want of trade or prices. Four harness-makers at steady work this winter. This is our idea of a trade—no labor when other houses discharged their hands, they soon found work with us.
