

Medicinal.

CREATES AN APPETITE.

There is nothing for which we recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla with greater confidence than for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache and other troubles of dyspeptic nature. In the most natural way this medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one feel "real hungry." Ladies in delicate health, or very dainty and particular at meals, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish and satisfaction. Try it.

DYSPEPSIA.

"I suffered a great while with dyspepsia and tried a good many remedies. A friend urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I have now taken two bottles. It has entirely cured me of dyspepsia, and a scrofulous affection has also entirely disappeared. I can hardly find words to express my high appreciation of Hood's Sarsaparilla." ALLEN H. MELHOLM, City Hotel, Lancaster, Pa.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH.

"For three years I suffered with dyspepsia, growing so bad that I was at one time completely broken down in health. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla on trial, and seeing that it was doing me good, continued with it. After taking six bottles I gained strength and appetite and was restored to my former health." JOHN E. RUSSELL, Clerk at Commercial Hotel, Brookville, Pa.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL, BELLEVILLE, Pa., Nov. 27, 1890. Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure that it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced using your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame. Yours truly, WM. A. CURLE.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

Enosburgh Falls, Vt. Gents—In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became almost useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Warm Weather Don'ts.

Don't you suppose that you can cool off the atmosphere by transforming your stomach into a refrigerator. When you consider how small your stomach is in comparison with the atmosphere, you must see the inutility of the undertaking.

Don't lay too much stress on the fan. It is a question whether or not the exertion required to vibrate the fan does not heat the blood more than the breeze produced by the fan cools it. Especially when you are at the theater or other places of public assembly, don't use a fan unless you have a spite against the person immediately in front of you, and you are moved to present him or her with what is commonly called a stiff neck.

Don't throw open the window when you enter the steam car in a heated condition unless you are anxious to help the practice of some physician, deserving or otherwise, or unless you have a feeling that the person in the seat behind is peculiarly sensitive to drafts.

Hans Gives Money Now.

I have the jolliest German butcher, and he has a heart as big as an ox's. But he cannot for the life of him help keeping an eye on the main chance.

Standing in his shop one day not long ago I saw a Sister of Charity, accompanied by the usual charity girl, come to the door and look nuttely in.

Hans said not a word, but putting his hand in the cash drawer he drew out a piece of money and gave it to her. She thanked him and moved away.

"Hello!" said I, "I thought that you always gave meat to the sisters."

"Oh, he, oh haw!" laughed Hans in his jolly way. "So I yest did so, mein friend, but I dono so no more. It is cheaper to give money now, to'n'd you see? Das meat was vat you kell high—20."

And the way that Hans winked was enough to give Faith, Hope and Charity three stitches in their sides if they had been present.

WORTH KNOWING.—Among the finest cars ever placed in railroad service in this country are the Royal Blue Line cars now in use on the New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington line running over the Baltimore and Ohio, Philadelphia and Reading, and New Jersey Central Railways. The coaches are as handsome as the ordinary parlor car, and are fitted with a spacious smoking room. The coaches were built for the different companies by the Pullman Palace Car Company, and the entire train of baggage, combination and parlor cars are fitted with the Pullman anti-telescoping platforms, Allen paper wheels and the safety Car Heating and Lighting Company's standard system of steam heating.

These are improvements, which are appreciated even by the lay traveler in the general way of increased comfort in riding, the vestibule attachment doing away with the lateral motion of the train and the heavy springs making the movement an easy, gliding one. The interiors of the coaches are moreover everything they should be to please the eye, being finished in mahogany, with plush trimmings and window curtains, and other decorations harmonizing. Each coach has also a toilet room supplied with every convenience.

The speed at which these trains are run is in keeping with their high grade of construction, the journey between New York and Washington on two of them being made in five hours.

The remarkable part of the service is that only the regular fare is charged, so that one has all the conveniences and comfort of traveling in a style that ordinarily costs something additional. It is a startling illustration of the advancement in railroading in the last few years and combines the highest essentials of progressive railroad management—the best that can be offered at the lowest possible rate.

That the enterprise of the several railroad companies concerned is appreciated by the traveling public is evidenced by the immense and constantly increasing patronage this service already enjoys.

TO CAN CORN, PEAS, AND BEANS.—Husk and remove every particle of silk from the corn; then cut from the cob, being careful not to cut too near the cob; scrape out the milk; pack the corn in glass jars; you can use the small end of a potato masher, pressing it in very firmly, and be sure the cans are full to the brim; screw the cover on as tight as you can; put a thin layer of hay, or straw, or old rags in the bottom of a boiler, put the cans in it and cover with cold water and put on the range and boil three hours; let them cool in the water; take them out and tighten and set in a cool, dry, dark place. The cans must not touch each other when boiling; put cloths between them to keep them from touching. To can peas, fill the cans full, shaking them well down; fill the can to overflowing with cold water, and proceed as with the corn. Beans are cut up and canned in the same manner.

HOW TO COOL THE ROOM OF A FEVERISH PATIENT.—One of the most useful hints for sick room attendance is very seldom known outside of a hospital ward, and even not there in many cases. The hint is how to obtain a cool cloth without the use of ice. Every one knows that in fevers or weakness a cold cloth on the forehead or face or base of the brain is one of the most comforting things in the world. In the tropical hospital, and where ice is scarce, all that is necessary is to wet a linen cloth, wave it to and fro in the air, fold it and place it on the patient. Have another cloth ready, wave it to and fro before applying it. These cloths have a more grateful and lasting coolness than those made so by the burning cold produced by ice.

FRAGILE.—Maud—The men of the present day seem to be very fragile. Jack—Why do you say so? Maud—Because they seldom fall in love without getting broke.

Nine Rules for Bathers.

Avoid bathing within two hours after a meal.

Avoid bathing when exhausted by fatigue or from any other cause.

Avoid bathing when the body is cooling after perspiration.

Avoid bathing altogether in the open air after having been a short time in the water it causes a sense of chilliness and numbness of the hands and feet.

Bathe when the body is warm, provided no time is lost in getting into the water.

Avoid chilling the body by sitting or standing undressed on the banks or in boats after having been in the water.

Don't remain too long in the water; leave the water immediately if there is the slightest feeling of chilliness.

The vigorous and strong may bathe early in the morning on an empty stomach. The young and those who are weak would better bathe two or three hours after a meal—the best time for such is from two three hours after breakfast.

Those who are subject to attacks of giddiness or faintness, and those who suffer from palpitation and other sense of discomfort at the heart, should not bathe.—Ladies Home Journal.

A "Queen" Preacher.

Rev. Mr. Hagamore, to whose memory a slab has been placed in the church at Catshere, Leicestershire, England, was "a little queer." It seems that the reverend gentleman died in January, 1886, leaving all his railroad property, valued at $3,500, to a railroad porter.

This queer old preacher kept one servant of each sex, who he locked up every night. His last employment of an evening was to go the rounds of his premises, let loose the dogs and fire off his gun. He lost his life in a circus manner. Starting out to let out his servants the dogs fawned about him and threw him into a pond of water. The servants heard his cries, but being locked up could not render assistance, so the old man was drowned.

When the inventory of his property was taken he was found to be the owner of 80 gowns, 100 pairs of trousers, 100 pairs of boots, 400 pairs of shoes, 80 wigs (although he had plenty of natural hair), 50 dogs, 96 wagons and cars, 30 wheelbarrows, 249 razors, 80 plows, 50 saddles and 222 pickaxes and shovels. He surely was "a little queer."

FORCE OF HABIT.—A lady who wished to weigh her baby two months old, but who had no scales at hand suitable for the purpose, took the child to a neighboring butcher shop. The butcher put the baby in his spring scales, looked at the dial, and remarked: "With the bones and all, mum, it's fourteen pounds and a half. Shall I—"

"How dare you make such a suggestion," screamed the woman, as she snatched her baby and rushed out of the shop.

BOTH ASHAMED.—Old Gotrox—Look here, to come right down to the solid truth, aren't you just a little ashamed of your old daddy? Honest, now.

Young Gotrox—Why, gov'nor, I can't say ashamed exactly, but you know you are not always good fawn, ye know.

Old Gotrox—Well, I don't blame you for being ashamed of me. Every time I look at you and think of what a job I made of your bringing up, I am ashamed of myself.

A NEW CHAPTER OF PROVERBS.—As a pink pearl in a scullion's ear, so is a fair woman without a good dress-maker.

Whoso telleth the truth concerning his neighbor is not infrequently liable to heavy damages. Better is a chop with a pear than a seven-and-sixpenny dinner with a person of no position.

What is sweeter to a sored woman than the failings of her dearest friend? —London World.

OFFERING AN INDUCEMENT.—"Where are you going this summer?" asked the steamship agent. "Don't know; guess Europe's good enough."

"Why don't you go down to Hayti? I can sell you tickets at a bargain."

"What would I do in Hayti in summer time?"

"No end of fun if you like excitement. They're going to assassinate the President and kill off half the Cabinet. It's the chance of your lifetime." —New York Recorder.

HER DRESS AND HER ESSAY.—"Your graduating dress is a perfect poem, I understand."

"Oh, it is just lovely! Why, the trimmings cost more than the dress itself."

"So I heard. By the way, what was the subject of your graduating essay?"

"The Frivolities of Fashion."

BEGINNING OF THE OLD MAN.—"Your son has been graduated?"

"Yes."

"Now the question is, will he be able to make his knowledge useful, to impart it to me?"

I guess so. He has begun to impart it to me."

A BASE JOKE.—"How's that, umpire?" asked the pitcher, as the ball flew over the fence and scattered the cackling hens in the farm-yard.

"Fowl bawl!" replied the umpire; and the enemy stole a base before the pitcher could catch his breath again.

LEATHER AMBIGUOUS.—"Am I as dear to you as ever, George?" asked the wife caressingly.

"My love," answered George, candidly, "since you took to tailor made clothes you grow dearer and dearer every day."

AMERICAN GIRL.—American girl (at Windsor Castle)—Porter, is there any chance to get a glimpse of the queen? Gentleman at the gate—I am not the porter. I am the Prince of Wales. American Girl—How lucky I am! Is your mother in?

HOT SLAW.—Cut with a kroust cutter or a very sharp knife a hard head of cabbage; if with a knife, take pains to shave very fine, salt and pepper it to taste; put a half teacup of butter (more if the cabbage is large) into a frying-pan; when hot put in the cabbage and turn it over quickly till the butter is all through the cabbage; it should not take more than a minute. Have ready a teacupful of sweet cream; put this in, stir briskly not more than another minute, then put in half a cup of good vinegar stir again and take up. It should be over a quick fire, should not be left while cooking, should be finished in three to five minutes after putting on the stove, and is best eaten at once, though very good cold.

Watchmaking—Jewelry.

F. C. RICHARD, And dealer in CLOCKS, WATCHES, JEWELRY and SILVERWARE. Special attention given to the Making and Repairing of Watches.

IMPORTANT—If you cannot read this print distinctly by lamp or gas light in the evening, at a distance of ten inches, your eyesight is falling, no matter what your age, and your eyes need help. Your sight can be improved and preserved if properly corrected. It is a wrong idea that spectacles should be dispensed with as long as possible. If they assist the vision, use them. There is no danger of seeing too well, so long as the price is not magnified. It should look natural size, but plain and distinct. Don't fail to call and have your eyes tested by the best optician in the city. They will correct and preserve the sight. For sale by F. C. RICHARD, 27 49 42 High St., opp. Arcade, Bellefonte.
