LOST 6 CHILDREN BUT SAVED THE SEVENTH.

By the Aid of Hood's Sarsaparilla—Read What Mr. Hilbert of Lawrence, Says.

"Ten years ago our child was born. Having lost six children we were really anxious as to the health of this one. What was our dismay and sorrow to find that she was apparently doomed to the same fate as the others. She seemed to have little strength as a baby, and did not improve as she grew older. When about 2 1/2 years old she began to have

FAINTING FITS, dropped wherever she happened to be. At these times she would turn black and appeared at the point of death. Doctors told us she was in a very bad way from heart trouble. Nothing that we gave her did any good until in utter desperation, we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She gradually began to improve, the fainting fits became less and less frequent, and finally ceased entirely. Her general health improved, until at the end of a year, having taken seven bottles, we stopped giving it to her. At this time she was 4 years old, and although anxious lest the troubles might return, we ceased to use it. She is now 10 years old and is as healthy and rugged as a child as you will find anywhere and has never shown any indication of a return of the heart difficulty. During the past 6 years perhaps she has taken 3 bottles in all, we only giving it to her irregularly at times when she has complained of feeling tired in the spring and early summer. We feel that we owe a great deal to Hood's Sarsaparilla and cannot say too much in favor of it. It has also done me great good for dyspepsia and has cured my wife of sick headache." Ewan Hilbert, hair dresser, 183 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. BELLEVILLE, Pa., Nov. 27, 1890. Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO. Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame. Yours truly, WM. A. CURL.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1890. Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vt. Gents—In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became almost useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvement immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Prices $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 35-48-ly

Both STAGGERED.—"The consumption of intoxicating liquor in this country staggers me," exclaimed a temperance orator from the platform. "Me, too, gurgled a man at the rear of the hall trying to hold himself up by the plastering."

The present heir to the Austrian throne, Archduke Francis, is reputed as having equalled the late Prince Rudolph in his dissipated life; but, fortunately, he has toned down a bit since the death of his cousin.

In the two years and six months that Mr. Proctor has been a member of Harrison's Cabinet he has been on duty just about three hundred days. For this brief period of work the secretary has drawn $20,000.

Mr. Wanamaker says that 7, 900,000,000 pieces of mail matter are distributed by the postal cars every year. Over 8000 pieces of mail matter are deposited every minute.

Democratic Watchman.

Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 18, 1891. Knew His Wife.

His Observation by Proxy Through the Knothole of His Back Yard Fence.

He was about five feet tall, had light hair and looked meek. He was making strenuous and unsuccessful efforts to reach a knothole in a high board fence on the outskirts of East New York. A tall man was passing, and the small man gazed up at him, plucked him timidly by the coat and said: "Hate to trouble you, sir, but would you mind doing me a favor?"

"Not at all; would be happy to." The small man took him by the arm and led him over the fence.

"You see," said he, "I promised my wife I'd be home four hours ago and beat a carpet, and—well, I just want you to stand on that rock, look through that knothole up there, and tell me what is going on inside."

The tall man looked rather surprised but complied, while the other leaned up against the fence to await developments.

"What do you see?" asked the meek man presently. "Why, I see a woman!"

"Sh! Not so loud! Tall woman, with auburn hair, red face and wart on her cheek?" "That's her."

"Beating a carpet, isn't she?" "Yes."

"Looks warm?" "I should say so."

"Kinder excited, too, isn't she?" "Well, yes."

"I'll just get her skirt up around her knees, and her sleeves rolled up to her shoulders?" "Exactly."

"Has she got on a black bonnet with a white feather stuck hind side before and tied underneath the chin in a double hard knot?" "That's just the way she's dressed."

"What's she using, a carpet beater or a broom?" "Lord! She's worse than I thought."

Just then came from the other side a crack, a rip and a snort. The fence shook, and the tall man almost tumbled from his post.

"Ge whiz!" said the other, trembling "but she's got 'em bad this time. Did she smile when she hit that whack, stranger?"

"Smile! She sniggered."

"That's all right. Much obliged to you, sir. That will do. I guess I won't go in yet. Good day, sir."—New York Sun.

She Introduced Herself.

A round-faced, thrifty looking German woman presented one of Uncle Sam's checks at the cashier's window in the sub-treasury in Wall street, and placing an old fashioned leather pocketbook on the little glass shelf waited complacently for her money.

The cashier's assistant looked at the check and at the woman, and in a business like way said: "You will have to bring somebody to identify you."

"Yah, das ist mine," said the woman, with a genial smile.

"But I don't know you," said the young man, persuasively. "Can you not bring some one to identify you?"

"Yah, das ist mine," repeated the woman, serenely.

"You don't understand," said the cashier's representative. "This check is made out payable to Wilhelmina Heckschausen. I am not acquainted with you, and I cannot pay you until you bring somebody to identify you—I mean, to introduce you."

"Ach! introduction? O excuse me, I forgot that. Mister Cashier, I was Wilhelmina Heckschausen. Now, you please, give me dat money."

The woman was so obviously honest and the amount of the check was so small that the cashier paid it without further question.

ENCOURAGING HER.—"Don't you think my bean very handsome?" "I do, dear. And I congratulate you."

"Ah! there's many a slip, you know, and I sometimes fear that somebody will take him away from me."

"Don't trouble yourself about that, dear. The lonely men always get the handsome women, you know, and the rule works the same the other way."

Says a San Francisco special to the N. Y. Tribune: The death of Dona Bandine at Los Angeles removes one of the last survivors of a distinguished native California family. Dana wrote so graphic a description in his "Two Years Before the Mast." She also entertained Fremont and Sherman and Commodore Stockton.

The Dog and the Churn.

A Canine Who Was Sharp, but He Had to Perform His Task.

Forest and Stream. "Churn dog" stories are always in order. A city man who used to live on a farm, as so many city men did when they were boys, sends us this:

At home on the farm we had a number of cows, so many that churning was too heavy a task for even the men folks, so Mr. L. rigged up a dog churn, an inclined wheel, a sort of canine tread-mill.

It became the duty of Ponto, a large white mastiff, to tread that monotonous cycle, and notwithstanding the toothy bite of meat that was fastened on a lath within four inches of his nose he was not at all proud of his position and responsibility.

He made several attempts to shirk his task, and twice succeeded. He got to know when churning day came around as well as any one in the house.

On the morning of that day he would loiter about the kitchen door until he was fed, and as soon as he heard the note of preparation—the bringing of the cream pots, preparing the churn, etc.—he would put for the woods, and would not be seen again until night.

The day of churning was changed, and next morning a more crestfallen and astonished dog was never seen when he was collared and harnessed to the beam which set the dash in motion. He looked positively foolish. He did his work, but with lowered head, and in cogitation evidently.

On another occasion he tried another dodge. When they were about to put him on the wheel he ran up to his mistress, holding up one paw, affecting to be lame. She thought much of the dog and was inclined to let him off that day. The next instant he was seen charging over a high fence after a neighbor's cat.

"Well," said the old lady, "if he can go after a cat like that, he is able to churn." And he did, and never tried to shirk his work again.

Into the Heart of Alaska.

Last April Lieutenant E. J. Glave and Jack Dalton started from Seattle Washington, to explore the interior of Alaska. A letter has been received from Glave, in which he says: "We have been entirely successful with our venture of taking a pack-horse into the heart of Alaska. The attempt was considered by many quite quotic, but I am writing this from one of the most central parts of inner Alaska, from a part of the land entirely different from the snow-covered heights so popularly supposed to be the only grounds in these regions. From my present position an immense valley, thickly covered with luxuriant grasses, stretches away for miles in all directions. Alaska's inaccessibility has kept the country undeveloped, but now that we have proved that transportation by pack-horses is to prevent Alaska at once assuming an important position as a mineral-producing region? Alaska is encircled at all limits by rugged walls. When the difficult barriers are crossed, a splendid country is reached, with deep, swift streams and lakes well stocked with fish, and fine pasture and wild fruits in abundance. The winter is severe, but not so dreadful as generally supposed. With the practicability of pack-horse transportation proved, nothing should hinder an important mining return to Alaska.

THE SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. KENDALL CO., of Enosburgh Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work FREE by sending their address to B. J. KENDALL CO., (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the Horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise." 36-27-12t.

PEACH JELLY.—It is not generally known that a delicious jelly may be made from the parings of any rich peaches. Put the parings in a jar and set the jar in boiling water. Let them boil for half an hour, or until all the juice is drawn out of them. Strain and measure this juice, and allow a pound of sugar to a pint of juice. Boil the juice for twenty minutes, and then add the sugar, which has been heating in the oven, and continue the boiling for a minute or two, or until it jellies. If you are tired, as you are likely to be after preserving peaches, simply extract the juice from the parings and set in the refrigerator until the next day. It will not be injured by keeping twenty-four hours and some people think it will be improved.

Merely a Test.

The barber had adjusted the towel, patted the victim's face and proceeded with the opening scrape. It sounded like the noise of a street sweeper.

"Do de razah huh' you, sah?" the barber asked. "Hurt me? I should say so. It about killed me."

He procured another, and gave a long scrape. "How 'bout dat one?" he asked, "That hurts worse than the other."

"Still another was brought out and this time a wall announced the result. "Dat's hah's yer, too, do it?"

"You infernal rascal, of course it does. What do you mean by getting me here and tearing the face off me? Haven't you got any good razors?"

"Deed I has, boss, but I kiner 'spect dat foh or fibe ob 'em needed honin an ez yoh face seemed right tender like, I thought I'd jes' take de opportunity ter tes' 'em an make sho'."

It is stated that in India soap is regarded almost in the light of a natural curiosity, for it is rarely, if ever, to be obtained of a shopkeeper there. Of course, it is sold in the large towns; but the amount used by the natives must be very small, seeing that the total consumption of soap in India last year was only 5,000 tons. This means that the amount used by each person for the year was considerably less than one ounce.

ECCZEMA ON A LADY

STUBBORN CASE OF SKIN DISEASE COVERED HER FACE AND BODY. MANY DOCTORS BAFFLED.

MARVELLOUS AND COMPLETE CURE BY CUTICURA. SIX YEARS HAVE ELAPSED AND NO RETURN.

A lady customer of ours (Miss Fanny Atwood of Caroline Depot, N. Y.) has been cured of a stubborn case of skin disease by the use of Cuticura Remedies. She remarked that her case had baffled the skill of many well-known physicians. They unanimously pronounced it Eczema, with Rheumatism lurking in the blood. Some predicted that any treatment strong enough to cure the Eczema would surely increase the Rheumatism. She used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies. The effect was marvellous. Her case of Eczema was not only completely cured, but her Rheumatism was greatly relieved during the treatment. Six years have elapsed since the cure was performed, her Rheumatism has since never increased by the treatments, but rather diminished, and she sees no symptoms of the return of the Eczema which once so completely took possession of her face and body. Miss Atwood delights in telling of the good effects that the Cuticura treatment had upon her, and recommends the Cuticura Remedies for Eczema and all kindred ailments. Your prescriptions find ready sale; indeed Cuticura Soap is on the list by almost continuously.
