Mrs. Samuel Musser, of near Penn Hall, departed this life on Monday evening about eight o'clock. Deceased had been ill for nearly a year when the summons came to call her to join her husband who died suddenly several months ago. Funeral services were held on Thursday morning.

Next Monday morning the Graysdale mines, on the Buffalo Run road, will be put in operation for the winter. The mines have been leased by S. A. Brew and J. N. Woolan, of this place, and it is their intention of running them to their full capacity. Workmen are getting things in readiness for the resumption of work.

IT WAS CRESSWELL.—Last week we published an account of the arrest of a young man, supposed to be the defendant in Houtzdale bank robbery, at Toledo, Ohio. It has since turned out to be the man who is wanted and on Tuesday he was taken back to his old home to answer charges of embezzling $60,000 from the Houtzheims. Cashier Wm. B. Hamilton is now serving a five years sentence in the western penitentiary for complicity in the affair, but Cresswell had been fortunate enough to keep himself hid until last week when a letter from his sweet heart got into the wrong hands and revealed his hiding place. He had been out of money and was doing odd jobs along the wharves in Toledo. A marked contrast to the gay life he led while in Houtzdale.

Pine Grove Mentions.

Forty-four bushels of choice apples were picked from one tree in J. F. Krebs' orchard. Miss Lula Stover, one of Bellefonte's accomplished young ladies, is the guest of Miss Irene Krebs. The life of Miss Ella Martz is disparaged of by her friends, her body and limbs being swollen almost beyond recognition. Mrs. Wm. Martz is also on the invalid list, having had her collar bone broken by a fall, while attempting to herd some obstinate calves.

Our post office shelves are exhibited some choice apples in which Samuel Bailey is ahead. Six apples weighing seven pounds, of the Ohio pound apple variety.

Mrs. Postmaster Heberling has returned to the bosom of her husband after her yearly outing, besides supplying the family with bushels of fruit, of which she is an expert gatherer. The oldest lady of our township, grand mother Hannah Glenn, is suffering with bowel trouble. Whilst the oldest man Samuel Hess, in his ninety third year, is busily engaged making step ladders to gather, as he says, the most abundant apple crop in his time.

Our young friend Russel Port, who for the last year has suffered with rheumatic troubles causing a wry neck, coupled with spinal trouble, started for Philadelphia, on Wednesday last, with a view of entering the Jefferson Medical Hospital to have a surgical operation performed. His many friends and associates extend all the sympathy possible and hope he will return safe and well. The death of W. E. Kustaborder, a former Centre county, occurred at his home in Wilson county, Kansas, on the 1st inst., at ten o'clock, p. m., of heart failure. Aged 68 years, one month and seventeen days. He had been in feeble health for several years but was bedfast only a few days before his demise. He was born in Northampton county, this State, but spent fifty years in this immediate neighborhood, where he was known as a man of simple habits and of truth and honesty from principle, and always advocated justice between man and man. In his demise his affliction and almost blind wife and large family of children and Mrs. Conrad Fry and George and Thomas Kustaborder of this community mourn the loss of a husband and father and brother. With his family we regret his death and thus remember another old citizen exists but in memory.

To Miss Sue Campbell we are specially indebted for the following reminiscences of members of Co. E, 4th P. Vol. of which we had the honor of being a member.

Mrs. Margaret Borland Bell.

The recent removal from our valley of this lady of nearly four-score years (77) seems a suitable time to gather items of her history. Mrs. Bell belongs to one of the oldest families of the Glades, a lovely plain located in Ferguson township, Centre county, Pa., in the head of Spruce Creek valley. Here her grandfather, Borland settled when the yell of the red man still echoed through the forests. Bearing an humble dwelling, by the slope of Tussey mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Borland secured a home—and their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren romped under the same great forest trees and strolled along the cool, dashing mountain stream which so generously emptied its waters into the log trough by the dwelling house. Their son Archibald, the father of Mrs. Bell, was but a lad helping his father in his clearings, when the thirteen colonies became an independent nation.

The Borlands came to this valley from the bounds of one of the Old Order Brethren churches in the south eastern part of the State. From the pioneers to the present time they have been identified with the religious growth of the valley, mainly in connection with the Spruce Creek Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Bell's parents, and her grandparents, all live in the private burial ground near the ancestral dwelling. In 1835 Miss Margaret Borland, at the age of twenty-one, was married to George Bell, of Millin county, Pa., Rev. S. Hill, of Spruce Creek, officiating. Three years later Mrs. Bell took the ancestral farm and here were their eight children born.

As the different generations of Borlands never considered the five miles from the "meeting house" a sufficient excuse for absence from services—even though their feet, or a horse on which three were placed, furnished their only locomotion—so Mr. and Mrs. Bell, following a good example, regularly took their family to church.

In 1852, at the age of thirty-eight, Mr. Bell was called to leave his wife—just his own age—and eight children, the youngest just seven months old. There could be no better tribute to his memory than that given by his pastor Rev. D. L. Hughes, who announcing his death to the congregation said, "He was a good man—he prayed in his family and in public." When the dark cloud of grief was hovering over our fair land of Mrs. Bell's sons entered the army. On September 2, 1861, whole families of our valley met at the "Pines" to see the flower of our young men starting for the seat of war. Among these were Mrs. Bell's eldest son John, and her third son William—the latter but eighteen.

Their Regiment, 4th Pa. Vol. being engaged in the Maryland battles of September 1862. John fell at South Mountain, September 14th. Three days later T. B. Williams, of this valley, fell at Antietam. That staunch patriot of the Glades, John Bailey, with Col. B. Ayers, at once visited the battle fields, disinterred the remains of these young soldiers, brought them to their old homes, and the widow saw the casket of her son laid by the grave of his father in the Spruce Creek graveyard.

Her second son, Montgomery, belonged to the 14th Regiment, Col. Beaver. News came that he was ill in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Adam Rankin, of fragrant memory, hastened with the widowed mother to the Washington hospital only to find that this second son had been interred two days before their arrival. They brought his remains and laid them beside his brother.

Willie shared all the wanderings of the 45th Regt. The longings and prayers of mother and sisters followed him at Fort Royal, in Virginia, Maryland, at Vicksburg, Jackson and Knoxville, and all through the bloody weeks of the closing Virginia campaign. Honorably discharged at the close of the war we next find his mother and sisters nursing him in a hospital in the city of New York. He was laid to rest beside his soldier brothers less than two years from the close of the war.

Mrs. Bell's second daughter, Nannie, became the wife of Rev. J. M. Goheen, Missionary to India. Her earnest spirit deeply impressed the dark browed natives, but her Heavenly father took her to Himself after two years missionary work. So cheerfully did she walk through the valley of death as to cause a high born English lady to cry, "I would give worlds for the faith of Mrs. Goheen."

Her third daughter, Margaret, while teaching the school of the South, became the wife of G. M. Brown, M. D., of Marysville, Tenn. Her youngest daughter, Addie, we laid beside her brothers in Spruce Creek cemetery on February 19, 1891. Wearsome days and nights were appointed unto Addie. Entirely confined to her chair for more than three months previous to her falling asleep—her sufferings often painful to witness—God kept her in perfect peace of mind. Very early in life she had experienced that the blood of Jesus had taken away God's wrath and joyful entry was before her. Calmly entering into all the details of her funeral she hoped the day would permit her mother to follow her to the grave. "I'll try to follow you Addie," replied her mother. Through showers and mists the aged mother went to the grave.

Three days after the funeral Mrs. Bell and her daughter, Amanda, went to reside with Mrs. Dr. G. M. Brown at Harrisburg, Pa. The benedictions of many old friends follow them to their new home. Mrs. Bell leaves in her native valley her sister Mrs. G. W. Reynolds, also, her only remaining son, Newton. Newton, as a lad of sixteen, showed his patriotism by going with the militia to defend the frontier of the State—thus at one time Mrs. Bell's four sons were in the army.

Did Not Want Disorder.

LONDON, October 18.—John Dillon, member of parliament for East Mayo, in a speech at Dungarvan yesterday, explained that he and his colleagues were absent from Parnell's funeral in order to prevent unseemly disorder. He charged that his opponents hired men, whom they paid with drink, to publicly call him a "murderer." He regretted that such advice had debarred him from the funeral of the great and illustrious leader whom he loved more than those loudest in their professions of grief and who, in spite of the events of the past year, would hand down his name to be remembered in remote generations of Irishmen. He denounced those who are making on a fresh grave a platform of infamous gospel, perpetual hostility and national dissension. He hopes that the bitter attacks upon Parnell's memory, such as had been printed by the Irish Catholic, which were unchristian, unchristian and a disgrace to Irish journalism, would not be repeated. The latter remark created a sensation.

According to the best fashion papers the well dressed man of to-day wears a three, or four buttoned, cutaway sack coat, single breasted vest, buttoned slightly higher than they have been worn during the summer and trousers of medium width. In colors, the different shades of brown are selling fastest, though very fashionable people are wearing many light fabrics. Hats are large in shape, and lower in the crown than they have been for some time, with rather wide, slightly curling brims. Black and brown being the most popular colors for both business and dress. In scarfs: delicate shades of blue and brown are very much worn, but, for those who can wear them, the brilliant reds add great beauty when worn with the popular wood brown suitings. The large puffs, ascots and four in hands are popular, though English bows are much worn by those who profess to be leaders. In collars the self rolling medium height styles are proper while cuffs are linked, with square corners. The above is a complete description of what you should wear if you care to be in style, and why not be dressed properly when it costs just as little. Go to M. Fauble's Rochester Clothing House and you can get all of these articles for the wonderfully small sum of $14.00. Amazing ain't it? True nevertheless!

At all elections held under the law of this Commonwealth the polls shall be open at 7 o'clock a. m., and closed at 7 o'clock p. m.

TICKETS TO BE VOTED. The qualified electors will take notice of the following Acts of Assembly, approved in March, 1888: "An Act regulating the mode of voting at all elections in the several counties of this Commonwealth." Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the same: That the qualified voters of the several counties of this Commonwealth at all general elections, borough and special elections are hereby authorized and required to vote by ticket, printed or written, severally classified as follows: One ticket shall embrace the names of all Judges of Courts voted for, and to be labeled outside "Judiciary;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all State officers voted for and to be labeled "State;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all County officers voted for, including officers of Seniors and members of Congress if voted for, and to be labeled "County;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all borough officers voted for and to be labeled "Borough;" and each class shall be deposited in separate ballot boxes.

To the Sheriff of Centre County, Pa.: In compliance with the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly, entitled "An act to provide for a Convention to amend the Constitution, and the election of delegates thereto," approved the 1st day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety one, the duly qualified electors of this Commonwealth shall, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November next, vote for or against holding a convention to amend the Constitution, and for members of said convention, if a majority of the voters in the Commonwealth favors such convention, according to the regulations provided in the several sections of said act as hereafter set forth to wit:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November next, the duly qualified electors of this Commonwealth shall vote for or against holding a convention to amend the Constitution according to the regulations provided in the subsequent section of this act.

Section 2. That the said general election, to be held as aforesaid, a majority of the electors of this Commonwealth shall vote for or against holding a convention to amend the Constitution, and the members of said convention, if a majority of the voters in the Commonwealth favors such convention, according to the regulations provided in the several sections of said act as hereafter set forth to wit:

Section 3. At the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November next, there shall be elected by the qualified electors of the Commonwealth, delegates to a convention to revise and amend the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and the members of said convention, if a majority of the voters in the Commonwealth favors such convention, according to the regulations provided in the subsequent section of this act.

Section 4. The following regulations shall apply to the aforesaid election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November next, and to the members of the said convention, and shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of the passage of this act, to wit: First, The said election shall be held and conducted by the proper election officers of the several election districts of the Commonwealth, and shall be governed by the laws of the Commonwealth, so far as the same be applicable thereto and not inconsistent with the provisions of this act.

Second, The tickets to be voted for or against shall have the following inscriptions: "For a Constitutional Convention," and "Against a Constitutional Convention," and no other inscriptions thereon.

Third, The tickets to be voted for members at large shall have on the outside the words "Delegates at large," and on the inside the names of the candidates to be voted for not exceeding eighteen in number.

Fourth, The tickets to be voted for district members shall have on the outside the words "District delegates," and on the inside the name or names of the candidates voted for not exceeding the proper number limited as aforesaid, but any ticket that shall contain a greater number of names than the number for which the voter shall be entitled to vote shall be rejected.

Fifth, The return judges shall meet at the same place and at the same time for the election, and shall make out the returns thereof of the votes cast for delegates at large and for district delegates to be members of the said convention in the several counties of the Commonwealth, and shall follow the same form in making out their returns as prescribed for return judges in the case of an election for Governor, except that the said returns shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and shall be addressed to that officer alone.

Now, therefore, in obedience to the requirements of the Act of the General Assembly aforesaid, you are hereby required to publish this notice with your proclamation for the holding of said general election.
