fell from the pavement down into the school yard alighting upon a pile of stones and receiving some very ugly cuts and bruises about the head and limbs. Her cries were heard by Charley Noll and Jas. Cooke who procured a rocking chair and, placing her in it, carried her to her home. Dr. Harris was called in and an examination made, but no bones were found to have been broken.

Mrs. Lingle is seventy-seven years old and such a fall was a very serious thing, however we are pleased to learn that she is getting along nicely and will soon be about as usual. This should be a warning to the school board to fix the fence up down along there as it is an exceedingly dangerous place. Especially at the time of the evening when this accident occurred, as then the electric light is not on and there is nothing to keep pedestrians from falling over the embankment, which ranges from four to ten feet in heighth.

To Visit California and Mexico via Pennsylvania Railroad.

No new feature ever inaugurated by the Pennsylvania railroad company attracted such universal comment and attention as the series of tours run early this year to the far Pacific Coast, and now that another series is announced for 1892, not only covering the Pacific own bill. Coast but an individual tour to Mexico, the land of the Aztec, is further illustration of the wonderful growth of the personally conducted systems of traveling and the progressive move of this world-famed railroad. Each tour will be limited to a certain number of passengers, who will travel in a Pullman vestibule train, furnished with the luxurious appointments of the richest home, with ladies' maid, stenographer and typewriter, library, bath and bar-ber, and smoking and library rooms, and an observation car-in truth an exact reproduction of the famous Pennsylvania Limited. The first tour leaves New York January 13th, and speeds directly to the Pacific Coast via St. Louis, Kansas City, Las Vegas and Santa Fe. The second tour, the Mexican, leaves February 10th, running direct to the City of Mexico via Cincinnati, Mammoth Cave, Birmingham, Montgomery and New Orleans, with incidental stops en route. The third, February 24th, runs directly to New Orleans, via Cincinnati and Mammoth Cave, and thence, after the Mardi Gras festivities, to the Pacific coast, The fourth and fifth, both through Califorfornia tours, will leave March 24th and April 20th, respectively,

The inauguration of this service last year was the theme for universal comment, and the warmest credentials of praise bear testimony to the high hatching place for bogus claims and standard and perfection of every detail promoting the comfort and enjoyment | them for personal or political use.

before the committee by Republican ex-Attorney General Palmer, while another railroad company was represented by Republican ex-Attorney General Kirkpatrick. It is not true as declared by Messrs. Rhone and Thomas that I argued against tax equalization. Before I appeared before the commi tee I frankly declared to my client that my investigations had satisfied me that the owners of real estate, especially the tarmers, were bearing more than their share of the burdens of taxation and that as compared with real estate owners, the corporations were paying too little: that I had confirmed this opinion by statistics collected by myself and that I must so state in any plea I might make for the amendment of the Taggart bill. Before the committee I emphasized these views. I gave my reasons for believing that the tax equalization demanded by the farmers was just and ought to be conceded. When my argument was interrupted by a representative asking whether I thought that corporations were paying their fair share of taxation, I answered that in my judgment, as compared with farmers, they were not. I outlined the principles of a bill, which, if adopted, would have given to the tarmers, and to all people of Pennsylvania, tax equalization. When I had concluded my argument I was congratulated on my views by the true tax reformers on the committee; I mean by those members of the committee who stood for tax equalization even after professional Farmer Taggart had bowed to the order of the bosses and deserted his

Tax equalization was defeated, not because I argued for the amendment of the Taggart bill, but because the Republican bosses applied the whip and by an almost strictly party vote set it aside. The charge of these men that I opposed tax equalization is contradicted and refuted by every private and public utterance I have every made on the subject.

I say to Mr. Thomas that if he will print in the next issue of the Farmers' Friend my entire, ungarbled argument before the Senate or House committee I will be glad to pay for such insertion at the usual advertising rates.

It is also charged that I am a corporation lawyer. I happen in my own county to be the local counsel for the few railroads that pass through it. I try their cases there as do the lawyers in other counties. I endeavor in these cases to give them honest compensation, as I do to any other client I may have. They have never asked more, and I assume they never will. The Auditor General's office has charge of the settlement of accounts against corporations. I desire now to give notice to all corporations that if I am chosen to that office I will expect every one of them to make prompt settlement and payment of all taxes, but at the same time I assure them that the office shall not be used as the suits devised for levying tribute upon

A Properly Dressed Man.

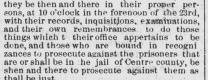

According to the best fashion papers the well dressed man of to-day wears a three, or four buttoned, cutaway sack coat, single breasted vest, buttoned slightly higher than they have been worn during the summer and trousers of medium width. In colors, the different shades of brown are selling fastest, though very fashionable people are wearing many light fabrics.

Hats are large in shape, and lower in the crown than they have been for some time, with rather wide, slightly curling brims. Black and brown being the most popular colors for both business and dress.

In scarfs : delicate shades of blue and brown are very much worn, but, for those who can wear them, the brilliant reds add great beauty when worn with the popular wood brown suitings. The large puffs, ascots and four in hands are popular, though English bows are much worn by those who profess to be leaders.

In collars the self rolling medium heighth styles are proper while cuffs are linked, with square corners.

The above is a complete description of what you should wear if you care to be in style, and why not be dressed properly when it costs just as little. Go to M. Fauble's Rochester Clothing House and you can get all of these articles for the wonderfully small sum of $14,00. Amazing ain't it? True nevertheless !
