KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY

ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ByVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, 1890.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Ensburch Falls, Vt.

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly, WM. A. CURLE.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Ensburch Falls, Vt.

Gents—In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improve-ment immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up, my horse was cured and has been in the team do-ing heavy work all the season since last April showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land.

Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Prices $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

Climate and Morals.

The Influence of the Former Upon the Latter.

The world is tolerably well mapped out as to diseases. The colored charts show us where we may most probably dwell with malaria, with consumption or with general debility. We study also the adaptability of plants to different climatic conditions. But our knowledge of the relation of man to climate is still far from scientific—that is to say, of the influence of climate upon our character and conduct. To come to a detail, what for instance, do we know of the effect of climate upon veracity? There are portions of the earth's surface where the inhabitants regard truth as a luxury seldom to be indulged in; in others the mind seems rather inclined to truthfulness. Whether the difference is owing to race or climate our observations do not yet enable us to determine. There is a popular notion that the habit of prevarication goes along with warmth or with debilitating atmosphere, and that cold is a tonic, a sort of a stimulant for truthfulness. We indeed have in the phrase "the cold truth" a recognition. We say that the northern latitudes nurse the rugged virtue of veracity. It never occurs to us to expect veracity in Egypt or in any part of Africa. We should never think of saying that an inhabitant of Malta was untruthful; we should simply say that he was a Maltese. The name Levantine carries with it the same idea. The Levantine, the African, the oriental habit of untruth-ness is sometimes explained by the ami-ability of the people, their desire to say that which will be agreeable. Whereas the Englishman prides himself on his blunt honesty and on speaking the truth, especially if it is disagreeable. But plant the English man, or any man whose moral fiber is hardened by a frigid climate, in Egypt, and how long will he continue to speak the truth? How is it about the northern travelers in Africa, who never agree with each other about anything and habitually accuse each other of misrepresentation? Is this due to climate or to the contagion of a bad moral example in an atmosphere of dup-licity?

Pigeons in Journalism.

The Edinburgh evening papers have a trained service of carrier pigeons for use at race meetings, football or cricket matches, shooting competitions, etc., and in out-of-the-way districts where there is no telegraph or telephone within easy reach they are often very useful. They are housed in quarters specially erected for them on the flat roofs of the office, the dovecot including an ingen-ious trap arrangement and electric bell. When a report is desired to be sent the pigeons he leaves word the night before with the person in charge of them. This is very necessary. When they are to fly far on any particular business it is better that they should be only lightly fed in the morning. The pigeons—two or four as may be required—are caught in the morning and placed in a comfortable wicker or tin basket, like a small lunch-er basket, with compartments. The reporter when he leaves the office, car-ries the basket with him. He also pro-vides himself with a book of fine tissue paper, "flimsy," and a sheet of carbon-ized paper. "A black." He writes in report very legibly and compactly, so as to put as much on a page of "flimsy" as it will possibly hold. Then he rolls the "flimsy" neatly up and attaches it to the leg of the bird by means of an elastic band. Or he may send two pages of "flimsy," one on each leg. The pigeon being released, makes straight for home.

Shrewdly Done.

Some time ago I was trading in a vil-lage store, says a correspondent, when one of the clerks came to the junior part-ner, who chanced to be waiting on me and said: "Won't you please step to the desk a moment? Pat Flynn wants to settle his bill, and insists on having a receipt." The merchant was evidently annoyed. "Why what does he want of a receipt?" he said; "we never give one. Simply cross his account off the books; that is receipt enough." "So I told him answered the clerk, "but he is not satisfied. You had bet-ter see him." So the proprietor stepped to the desk, and after greeting Pat a "good morn-ing," said, "you wish to settle your bill, do you?" to which Pat answered in the affirmative. "Well," said the merchant, "there is no need of my giving you a receipt. See! I will cross your account off the book," and snatching the action to his word he drew his pencil diagonally across the account. "That you see is as good as a receipt." "And do you mean that settles it?" said Pat. "That settles it," said the merchant. "And you're sure you'll never be af-ter asked me for it again?" "Well, never ask you for it again," said the merchant decidedly. "Faith, then," said Pat, "and I'll be after kappin' me money in me pocket, for I haven't paid it yet." The merchant's face flushed angrily, as he retorted, "Oh, well, I can rub that out." "Faith, now, an' I thought that same," said Pat. It is needless to add that Pat obtained his receipt.

Thereby Hangs a Tale.

And so, from hour to hour, we ripe and ripen. And then, from hour to hour, we rot and rot. And thereby hangs a tale." And truly, "tis a tale of woe," of one who had Catarrh in the Head, for many years, and who really had been "rot-ting," from hour to hour, until Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy came to his notice. He used it at first with slight signs of relief, but he persisted until a permanent cure was effected, and the world was again pleasant to live in. From his awful suffering he was set free by the expenditure of a few dollars in that incomparable remedy.

A DIGNIFIED ANSWER.

A north side teacher was getting her new pupils tabulated. "What does your father do?" she asked one of the new boys. "He's a contractor," was the reply. "A railroad contractor?" "No, ma'am; a sausage contractor. He ties up the ends after another man has filled 'em."

The Great Northwest.

The States of Montana and Washing-ton are very fully described in two fol-ders issued by the Northern Pacific Rail-road, entitled "Golden Montana" and "Fruitful Washington." The folders contain good county maps of the states named, and information in reference to climate, lands, resources, and other sub-jects of interest to capitalists, business men or settlers.

Holdes of second class tickets to North Pacific Coast points, via North-ern Pacific Railroad, are allowed the privilege of stopping over at Spokane, Washington, and points west thereof, for the purpose of examining all sections of this magnificent state before locating. Northern Pacific through express trains carry free colonist sleeping cars from St. Paul and Pullman tourist sleepers (Central Line) to Montana and Pacific Coast points daily.

California tourists, and travelers to Montana and the North Pacific Coast, can purchase round trip excursion tick-ets at rates which amount to but little more than the ordinary way fare. Choice of routes is allowed on these tickets, which are good for three or six months, ac-cording to destination, and permit of stop-overs.

The elegant equipment on the North-ern Pacific Railroad; the dinner car service; the through first class sleeping cars from Chicago (via both Wisconsin Central Line and C. M. & St. P. Ry.) to Pacific Coast points, and the most magnificent scenery of seven states, are among the advantages and attractions offered to travelers by this line.

The "Wonderland" book issued by the Northern Pacific Railroad describes the country between the Great Lakes and Pacific Ocean, with maps and illustra-tions.

For any of the above publications, and rates, maps, time tables, write to any General or District Passenger Agent, or Chas. S. Fee, G. P. & T. A., N. P. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

McClellan's Way.

An incident that is narrated of Gen-eral McClellan sheds light on the question often asked: Why did his soldiers love him so dearly? The soldiers dis-like to fill their shoes with water, were trying to cross on this single log, which of course, caused an obstruction to those behind, and really put the rear of the army in danger.

Soon several officers rode up and took in the situation. There was need of more haste. One of the officers called out: "Wade right through, my men, wade right through." Some surly fellow from the ranks growled out: "Wade through yourself, and see how you like it." No sooner had he spoken than the officer dismounted and waded through the creek. It was then discovered that the officer was General George B. McClellan.

The soldiers gave him a hearty cheer plaudits to the creek and afterward the point was passed more rapidly, four abreast.

The General might have reprimand-ed the soldier—indeed, he might have had him arrested and dealt with severely but under the circumstances he did just the right thing—he went where he asked his men to go, and his men were glad to go where he did.
