THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—One week from Sunday will be St. Valentine's day.

—The "Midnight Alarm" next Friday night. Don't miss it.

—The Ground hog didn't see his shadow, on Tuesday, so soft weather may be expected.

—Mrs. D. H. Hastings and daughter Helen left for Philadelphia Thursday morning.

—A portrait of ex-Governor Beaver has been hung in the reception room of the executive department, at Harrisburg.

—The WATCHMAN office is the place to have your sale bills printed. We are getting out daisies this spring and cheap too.

—Misses Rosa Baum and Clara Anderson, two employees of this office, have just returned from a trip to New York and Philadelphia.

—Next Friday night Bellefonte theatre goers will have an opportunity of seeing "the Midnight Alarm" played. The company carries a regular fire engine.

—Attorney Wm. Bryson, of Philadelphia, is rejoicing over the advent of a young son. Mrs. Bryson will be remembered as Miss Lucie Schroeder of this place.

—On Thursday, March 3rd, W. P. Duncan, receiver of the defunct Phillipsburg Banking Co., will pay the first dividend to its creditors. The rate has not yet been made known.

—In our last week's issue we stated that Mr. Boyd Cowher had purchased the McEntire tract in Fillmore. We were mistaken, the property has not been sold and is still for sale.

—Mr. Bursley, the new General Secretary for the Y. M. C. A., arrived from Watertown, N. Y., with his wife, on Wednesday night, and was given a reception in the association rooms.

—This Friday evening, February 5th, W. Casey Calder will lecture on "Burma" to the students and residents of State College. The receipts are for the benefit of the Athletic association.

—Rev. T. P. Orner, presiding elder of this district, will hold regular quarterly meeting in the United Brethren church, corner High and Thomas streets, on Sunday next, February 7th.

—Mr. Archy Hutchison, of Warriorsmark, and well known in this county, is in an extremely precarious condition. Having received two strokes of paralysis, the last one on Monday night, it is feared that he cannot recover.

—The spring building boom for Bellefonte is beginning to take shape and by way of a starter Moyer Lyon is beginning a large brick stable on the vacant lot at the rear of his store building which will be 60x50ft and will be occupied by Abe Baum as his livery.

—An accident which resulted in a very serious injury to a Finlander occurred at McCalman & Co's lime kiln's on Tuesday afternoon. A premature explosion hurled a large rock on his leg mashing it horribly. He was taken to the hospital, at Altoona, on the 5-20 train.

—R. M. Magee, Esq., and son Forest, came up from Philadelphia, on Friday morning, and stayed over night in town, Saturday afternoon they went down to Rebersburg to visit relatives. Forest will remain in the country for several weeks, but Mr. Magee returned to the Quaker city on Monday.

—It is now attorney Newton Spangler, for on Tuesday he was admitted to practice in the courts of Centre county. Mr. Spangler was a student in Orvis, Bower & Orvis office and is said to be a bright and intelligent young man. We wish him success and would state that there is lots of room at the top. Especially at this bar.

—On Friday evening, Feb. 12th, the ball of "the 400" will be held in the Armory, at the State College. The full college orchestra of sixteen pieces will furnish the music and the boys anticipate having a good time. One or two of the most prominent members of the society have been ostracised, but it is not feared that their absence will in any way mar the success of the event.

—The large bank barn on the Behres farm up Buffalo Run, together with nearly all of its contents, was totally destroyed by fire, on Friday night last. Flames were discovered issuing from the building, by a neighbor, but before she could arouse the sleeping inmates of the house the fire had gained such head way that nothing could be saved. Nine horses, six cows, a number of young cattle and a large amount of grain were all consumed. The fire was of a diary origin, as tracks were found leading out over the field. The barn was insured.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES AT MILLHEIM AND BOALSBURG.—The Institute was held at Millheim on Monday and Tuesday of this week and upon motion of Dr. J. F. Hunter, Mr. Christ Alexander was chosen president and W. C. Duck, secretary. The session was regularly opened by singing and in the absence of W. F. Smith, who was to have delivered the address of welcome, W. K. Alexander, in a few well chosen and pleasant words bade welcome to the speakers, and farmers present, to the hospitality of the people of Millheim, which was responded to by John A. Grundy, of the State board.

"The Institute was then addressed by Mr. Edge, who stated how the institutes were supported by appropriation made by the legislature to the State Board of Agriculture, that one meeting was held in Harrisburg to comply with the purpose of the law, and as many more meetings as the appropriation would permit were held in the different counties of the Commonwealth, for the benefit of the farmers. Adjournment until 1:30 p. m.

Institute called to order at 1:30 p. m. Question box opened. Many interesting and instructive questions were asked and answered by different members. A soprano solo entitled, "The Old Fashioned Home," was finely rendered by Mrs. Dr. Harter, of Millheim. W. A. Buckhout, Professor of Botany and Horticulture of State College, delivered a very fine address on "Forestry and the Farmer" in which he proved conclusively that if the present system of cutting any of our forests continued it was only a matter of short time until all our valuable tracts would be used up; that he thought it would pay farmers well to pay attention to cultivation of trees.

Prof. Buckhout was followed by Col. J. P. Coburn, of Aaronburg, in a very able address, showing the honorable and commendable side of farm life, that by careful management farming could be made pay as well, or nearly so as any of the other honorable avocations of life. Mr. Edge, of the State Board of Agriculture, explained how the farmers could tell the different brands of phosphates; how to utilize the same and how the its use had saved large sums of money annually for the farmers of the State. Adjourned to 2 p. m.

MONDAY 7 P. M.
Before opening the Institute the Millheim Cornet Band rendered some of its best selections.

The institute then resumed business by asking and answering a few questions, after which Mr. J. A. Grundy, of Union county, discussed in plain and unequivocal language the topics, "The Outlook for the American Farmer." A. C. Sisson, of La Plume, Lackawanna county, entertained the audience by singing a song entitled "Oh to be a Farmer's Boy."

This was followed by an address by Prof. Hamilton, of State College, on "Object of Education." He showed by statistics that the State was spending $76,000,000 total, for education of the youth. That education without good moral character was more injury than good. As Prof. Buckhout and Hamilton, Mr. J. A. Grundy and Mr. Edge, were leaving on the morning train, a vote of thanks was tendered them for the efficient service rendered during their short stay among us.

A song entitled "The Old Pumpkin," a parody on the Old Oaken Bucket, was sung by A. C. Sisson to the delight and amusement of all present. Adjourned to 10 a. m. Tuesday Feb. 2.

TUESDAY MORNING SESSION.
Institute called to order at 10 a. m. Singing by the choir, "America." Prayer by Rev. Finkbinder. A few questions were answered after which the subject "Small Fruits from Planting to Eating" was discussed by A. C. Sisson, showing how the cultivation of strawberries, raspberries and blackberries could be made very profitable. As the discussion of this topic was quite lengthy on motion of W. K. Alexander the session adjourned until

1 O'CLOCK P. M.
Institute renewed with an address by the Hon. N. B. Critchfield, of Tionesta Pa., on "Stock Feeding." He showed that he had given the subject close study, and that by a careful selection of stock and care in attention, and regularity in feeding, the feeding of cattle would pay the farmer well for his grain and labor.

This was followed by a lesson in "Bread Making" by Mrs. Emma Ewing, lecturer on cooking at Chataqua. She said it looked very much as if the farmer would have to tend his stock and then come to the house and make bread to feed the children, for so many mothers and daughters seem to care so little whether they made good bread or not. She showed by actual demonstration how to prepare and knead good dough and explained in what condition to have the oven in order to bake good bread.

On motion a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Emory for the entertaining and instructive lesson she gave.

Prof. Neff, of Millheim, grammar school, addressed the Institute on the different soils of Penns Valley and Brush Valley, and the geological formations of South side of the county. His address was entertaining and highly instructive. Adjourned to meet at 7 p. m.

Institute called to order and after a recitation by Mac Linn, in his usual comic and entertaining style, Mr. Samuel R. Downing of Chester county, addressed the Institute on "Little Things in Farming" which showed very clearly the importance of attending to the little things if we expect the good results not only in farming but in all avocations and business transactions of life.

A committee on resolutions having been appointed reported the same to the Institute and were unanimously adopted as follows:

WHEREAS, We recognize in these farmers institutes an educational feature worthy of commendation to all lovers of education and of financial and social improvement. Therefore

Resolved, That it is the sense of the body that a similar institute held at this place would be hailed with universal joy and approval.

Resolved, That we endorse the University extension plan recently adopted by the Trustees and Faculty of the State Agricultural College for a more general extension of agricultural knowledge.

Resolved, That the thanks of this institute, be tendered the speakers for having attended its sessions, and for their wholesome instruction and advice and that we suggest that all parties interested will endeavor to profit by the same.

Resolved, That we extend thanks to the citizens of Millheim and vicinity for their attendance their entertainment and their interest manifested in the meeting, also to the choir and Mr. Sisson for the excellent music rendered.

Mac Sisson then related his trip West, going by way of Binghamton and Buffalo, N. Y., Toronto, Canada, North to the Canadian Pacific R. R. thence to Puget Sound, Washington. This was quite lengthy, but entertaining and instructive, showing that the old gentleman although advanced in years, keeps his eyes and ears open when he travels, and stores away all useful information for future use. The sessions of the institute were all well attended. The large and commodious hall was crowded Monday evening, Tuesday afternoon and evening. Strange notwithstanding the inclement weather of Tuesday that the Farmers and others were very much interested in all that transpired. Many of our people were prevented from going by reason of the grip, but we believe that these meetings have such a grip on our people that another would be gladly welcomed amongst us.

THE INSTITUTE AT BOALSBURG.

The Agricultural Institute held, in the M. E. church, at Boalsburg, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture was one of much interest; judging from the very large attendance at every session, the influences from it will be of lasting benefit not only to the farmers but to all the various callings of the country. The entire exercises were interspersed with excellent music by a well trained choir under leadership of Prof. W. H. Myers in connection with this the floral display was magnificent and moved every body's soul. The taste of this committee is certainly worthy of commendation. The audience was rapped to order by chairman of Committee of Arrangements Samuel F. Ishler at 10-30 o'clock. The mantle of honor fell on Hon. W. A. Murray, who very promptly took the chair and in a breezy little speech outlined the object of the meeting, regretting very much to state the illness of Hon. J. A. Woodward, who had made his best endeavor to make this meeting a success. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. A. A. Black and the address of welcome by Rev. W. A. Trostle, who in well couched sentences of welcome extended a warm greeting to farmers and all interested, showing in a true light the oldest and most reliable vocations in the world and on which depends so much the prosperity of all other vocations. Every body he invited to join in these enjoyable and profitable meetings and shared the hospitality, of Boalsburg. The response, in behalf of the State board of agriculture, was made by Representative Hon. N. B. Critchfield, of Somerset county, that land of milk and molasses. His Honor after a brief apology for his embarrassment and youthful appearance, in a full measure showed the farmer's isolation in early years and stated the object of the meeting, as being to create more interest in practical farming and that he did not want to be considered an encyclopedia but earnestly desired to be benefitted and help his fellowmen in the matter of educational farming. Here the melodious strains of music burst forth in "when I was a boy on the old plantation swinging in a grape vine swing" and then came the election of officers. For vice president of the meeting Saml. F. Ishler and Secretary William McFarland, after which the program was altered to as strictly as possible more especially to the order of dinner.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.
At 1-30 sharp, chairman Murry's gavel fell and the assembly was called to order and for the first time the question box examined. In it was found the question "Lice and how to destroy them?" ans. by Representative Critchfield was a denunciation of white hebebor, land and kerosene oil.

"The destruction of the Canada thistle" was taken part in by Messrs Downing Critchfield, McCracken, Dale and Daniel Grove, all agreed that constant cutting was the only and surest destruction of the pest.

Mr. Critchfield read a well prepared paper on the "Care of Farm horses." On this subject the gentleman is evidently well informed both from theory and practice and, gave many practical suggestions, from the gay colt to the family horse. He especially urged the use of the old fashioned hack and trough in preference to mangers, where so much dust accumulates and causes various diseases to which the most favorite beast of man is heir. At this juncture the exercises were varied somewhat by the absence of Prof. Barnard and Dr. Armsby took the floor to announce to the gathering of farmers, the short winter course, carried on at State College for the benefit of farmers boys, who should avail themselves of the grand opportunity of acquiring better knowledge of agriculture in their leisure winter hours. Then Mr. Sisson favored the audience with a favorite song entitled the "Sword of Bunker Hill" After which he gave a most interesting sketch and outlined, from a map suspended on the wall, the Geographical description of his trip west last season starting at his home, Binghamton, via the Canada and Pacific R. R. to the Pacific and return. From the fact that Mr. Sisson is a whole camping meeting himself, in his humorous good style he gave a very interesting lecture on the scenery, general views and customs along the route through that northern country noted for its glaciers deppugged canons and the lofty peaks of the Rockies.

Supper being announced adjournment to reassemble at 7 o'clock.

PATTISON APPEARS.

Those who neglected to return early failed to find a seat as a message was at hand stating the expected presence of Governor Bob. In consequence the standing room was at a premium and the aisles, doors and windows were full and many failed to get in at all.

Mr. B. F. Brown representative of Victor Grange, 159, P. of H. read a very able essay entitled "Many in One," and in a clear distinct voice citing the social and friendly relations now existing through the medium of the grange and that the home of a farmer could be made one of attraction and comfort.

The question box being examined the "potato rot" was very meagerly discussed. Mr. Sisson's idea was to plant no late varieties and that all early varieties require good soil. "What benefits are the merchants to the farmer?" "Indispensable!"—Answered by Mr. Critchfield. "What value is the grange to the merchant?" answered by Mr. Downing who said that each depended very largely upon the other. "How can farmers get better prices?" To which Mr. Critchfield responded that they should raise better products and find better markets. Just then the stately form of his excellency Gov. Pattison was noticed elbowing his way, through the throng, amid prolonged applause. When order was restored the Gov. was introduced by the chairman to the crowd which had cheered itself hoarse. He expressed his delight at being able to be present and address the audience and exchange every-day practical questions with one of the oldest and most honored societies. Space will not permit us to tell of the many practical things he said which if put into use by the agricultural masses would result not only in financial success, but would make farming a vocation in which the young people would take delight, and thus be the means of keeping them away from cities and on the farm, on which so largely depends the future success of this great nation. He gave statistics showing that the production and sale of wheat and corn, alone this year, amounts to six million dollars. He also dwelt on the almost thread bare road question and its solution. Citing instances of cost of sixty millions of dollars, and in as much as the taxpayers were a unit for lower taxes, and the only way was to submit to taxation and the roads would be made. The public school question was touched and its defects shown. He urged the continuance of the present tax rate and the expenditure of the appropriation for the advancement of the millions of children, and with a few happy day expressions he closed. After prolonged applause, everybody was eager to grasp him by the hand to receive his cheerful greeting. He was then in charge of Mr. McFarland whose hospitality the Governor shared.

NEARING THE CLOSE.

Thursday a. m., at 10 o'clock "little things in farming" as well as big things was the theme of a very instructive discourse. The question box was emptied and their was a grist of most interesting ones to which very satisfactory answers were given. Most of the morning session was taken up with the subject of education and the different speakers were highly entertaining.

Dinner was the sole cause of adjournment and when one o'clock came there was a full house to hear Mrs. Ewing of Chataqua, lecture on cooking which was listened to with much interest.

"Small fruits from planting to eating" by Mr. A. C. Sisson, in his usual happy vein was a subject in which he is entirely at home, and his audience was delighted with his talk.

THE INSTITUTE CLOSES.

The 7 p. m. session and the last one was greeted with a full house. For the last time the question box was emptied and some choice renditions of music were listened to. "Novelties at Fairs" by Mr. Downing, with funny as well as practical illustrations was an interesting and enjoyable dissertation. The last speaker was Prof. Hamilton, of State College, on "the object of an Education" which was instructive and interesting and highly appreciated, showing why a good education is necessary for farmer's sons and daughters, in order that they may be more successful in the business of farming and to enable them to fill more exalted positions in life. The hour of closing having arrived the audience was favored with choir music. The thanks of the committee was then tendered to the choir as well as to all others who by their aid and presence made the Institute the first one of the kind held in Boalsburg, a grand success.

One of the amusing incidents of the week occurred on Wednesday night when the 'keen and ubiquitous' reporter of the Gazette stuck in the mud in a Boalsburg street and a block and tackle had to be secured before his feet could be pulled out.

Hon. W. K. Alexander, of Millheim, was in attendance at the Boalsburg session and responded to questions in his usual versatile way.

The WATCHMAN's special correspondents have endeavored to give their readers a full and careful account of the two Institutes and their efforts will undoubtedly be fully appreciated.

To-day and to-morrow the citizens of Howard and vicinity are being entertained and receiving instruction, a full account of which will appear in next week's issue.

—Marie Hubert Frohman, in "the Witch," will open the Academy of Music, at Tyrone, next Monday night. She will be remembered as a Christmas eve attraction at Garman's opera house and exceptionally fine one too.

—A neat paper weight, presented to us by Jos. L. Montgomery, representative of the Acme Oil Co. for this district, now holds the chaos of clippings and squibs on our desk. It is unique as well as ornamental and quite in accord with the energy and push of this great concern.

—A very peculiar effect was produced by the following announcement contained in the advertisement of a country fair "Among other attractive features of this great fair there will be highly amusing donkey races and pig races. Competition in these two contests open to citizens of the county only!"

—The 5th Pa. Cav. Regt. Association will hold their next Reunion and banquet, on Feb. 22nd, at Cav. Post 35, G. A. R. Hall, Broad and Vine streets Philadelphia, Pa. The committees are making great preparation to have this meeting exceed any that ever was given by the association. There is nothing slow about the 5th boys, and it is altogether probable that a number of the old Vets. from this section will go down.

—Gen. D. H. Hastings entertained Hon. Thomas V. Cooper, Collector of the Port, of Phila., Col. Lambert, of the Phila. Press and Hon. John Woodside at his handsome Allegheny street home, during Sunday. The gentleman arrived on Saturday evening and met a number of Bellefonte's most prominent citizens at a dinner given in their honor by the General. 'Tis seldom that Bellefonte is honored by so many distinguished gentlemen, at one time, and their advent attracted considerable attention.

A DREADFUL SCOURGE.—The family of William Luce, of Farmers' Mills, has been entirely obliterated by that dread disease diphtheria and no one remains but a sad and broken hearted mother. Week before last the father and two daughter were stricken and died within a few days of each other, and scarce had the sound of the sexton's spade died away ere the last child was cold in death's embrace. It was said to be a malignant form of diphtheria and the physicians are making every effort to keep it from spreading.

INSANITY CURED.—Some weeks ago we made mention of the taking of John Schuchman, an insane German, from Phillipsburg to the hospital in Philadelphia, where and operation was to be performed. On last Wednesday the physicians at the hospital undertook and successfully performed one of the most delicate operations known to the science of surgery. Some years ago he was hurt on the head and a piece of the skull was removed. A cyst formed over the opening and it was this sac, which kept continually growing and pressing on the brain, which caused insanity. The doctors opened the cyst and took out its fluid contents; carefully closing and cleansing it. It is said that the operation will relieve him for several years at least and it is looked upon by the profession as a wonderful performance.

COUNCIL MET AND ADJOURNED.—THAT'S ALL.—At the regular meeting of Council, on Monday evening, that body distinguished itself by transacting all the business before them in a very few minutes. No committees were ready to report and, upon request of A. S. Garman, the annual appropriation for 1891 was voted to the Undine Hose Co. The Borough Treasurer rendered his statement showing an indebtedness of $60,576.15. Bills aggregating $510.64 were approved and the meeting adjourned.

—A special train over the Bellefonte Central brought Governor Pattison from State College yesterday afternoon and he was met by ex-Jov. Beaver with whom he remained all night. He will leave this morning at 9-32 for the Institute at Howard. A reception was given at the Brockerhoff House last night and many of our citizens attended to shake hands with the Governor. Governors Curtin, Beaver and Pattison made a handsome receiving trio.

—Suits made to order $18.00-19.00-20.00.

—Overcoats made to order $18.00-19.00-20.00.

—Pantaloon made to order $5.00-6.00-7.00.
