A VALENTINE.

"The said, on this auspicious day,
The birds choose their mates,
And upward far they wing their mates,
Nor fear unhappy fates.
And why should they so happy wing
Their joyous flights above,
And to each other sweetly sing
Their madrigals of love,
And why do I not sing them, too,
In chorus loud and long?
O love, my love, my love for you
I'll tell you now in song.
Thine image dear, fair sweetheart mine,
Is given on my heart,
Accept the love that is all mine,
Then we will never part.
And, like the birds, our songs will soar
In trills of fullest bliss;
What darling, can we wish for more
Than rapture such as this?"
—Margaret Douglas.

Running a Paper Under Difficulty.

The Troubles of an Editor Who Was Controlled by a Board of Directors.

A certain newspaper not over a thousand miles from Detroit was once owned and operated by a syndicate of lawyers, business men and politicians. About half of the board of directors at first wanted the fun and honor of running the paper. So whenever one of them fancied he had an idea in his head he would run up to the office and interview the managing editor.

Director No. 1's idea was that the editor and reporters were loafing most of the time, because they were not in the building every minute of the day like his own mill hands.
"Do you give your whole time to the paper?" he asked one day of the managing editor.
"Oh, no," said the editor. "I take seven or eight hours for sleep, and an hour or so for meals, a quarter of an hour for dressing in the morning, five minutes undressing at night. I don't shave, so there's five or ten minutes saved there, but I black my own boots, that takes time. Then there's the time going to and coming from the office. Sometimes I lie awake an hour or two at night thinking out some scheme for the paper. That ought to offset the time I take for meals. It seems to me, though as if I gave all the rest of my time to the paper."
"Humph! You ought to write more for it! Three columns a day at least."
"I saw the gas burning here as late as 12 o'clock one night. The gas bills are something frightful," said Director No. 2 when he called.

"Yes; well, you see this is a morning paper, and it gets pretty dark by midnight, and along until the paper goes to press the compositors—those are the men who set the types, you know—they can't read every body's copy in the dark, and so whenever they come across a piece of copy they are not familiar with we have to light the gas for them. Probably when you came by the office that night they had just struck a piece of that kind of copy."
"Oh, of course, if it is necessary, we can't object to it, but I burn any more than you actually need."
Director No. 3 remarked:

"I don't altogether like what you copy from other papers. I don't think it very interesting. Now, I've taken the Observer for many years, and there's a lot of interesting reading matter in that. When I get through with it hadn't I better send the paper down to you and you can copy things out of it? I have kept a file of it for years, so I wouldn't like to have it cut."
"Oh, yes, send it along. I won't cut anything out of it."
Another director came in one day and remarked:

"That's a fine article you've got on the editorial page this morning! Gets me in a nice mess! Why, the man's one of my best friends and he'll lay for me."
"Who wrote it?"
"Well, Jackson is a fool. He's no more judgment than a sheep. We ought to get rid of him."
In order to appease Mr. Director, the editor a few days afterward had another article prepared carefully, taking back what had been said and making a veiled apology for it.

In came Director No. 5.
"You've made an awful mistake; you ought to stick to what you said last week. That was with a right. I hit the nail on the head, went right to the spot. Now you've gone and taken water on it. You ought to consult Jackson about these things. His judgment on such matters is excellent."
By this time the editor began to think how his name would look at the bottom of a resignation.—Exchange.

The Only One.

Are You Going West This Spring?

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad is "the only one" running solid vestibule electric lighted and steam heated trains between Chicago, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Winona, St. Paul and Minneapolis, making the best connection at Council Bluffs and Omaha with all lines for all points in Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and California; at St. Paul, with all lines for all points in the Northwest and Puget Sound.

It now operates over six thousand miles of thoroughly equipped road, in Illinois, Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, South and North Dakota.

Through sleeping cars between Chicago and Portland, Ore., over Northern Pacific railroad via Jamestown, Butte, Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle. If you are going West to locate or visit, you will save money by writing to JOHN R. POTTS, District Passenger Agent, Williamsport, Pa., for rates of fare, maps, time tables and information furnished free. All coupon ticket agents in the United States and Canada have tickets over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, ask for them.

Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla to effect a cure.

Interesting Odds and Ends.

Scraps Picked Up Here and There Which Contain Worlds of Information for All.

Chicago is experiencing an egg famine. The cable tolls on the Chilean spat reached about $100,000.

St. Louis has eaten 1,200,000 rabbits during the last three months.

Ammonia as a motive power is coming into use on various street car lines. Lloyd Tevis, the San Francisco banker, has amassed a fortune of $40,000,000.

At her White House levee, on Saturday, Mrs. Harrison bowed to 4000 people.

A bicycle mount is to be started between Mount Holly and Smithville, N. J.

James Runciman is said to have written his "Dream of the North Sea," which contains 70,000 words, in eight days and with one pen.

A camel of the largest size has been known to drink from thirty to fifty gallons of water, and then travel without any more for twenty days.

The largest umbrella in the world was recently made for an African king. It is 21 feet in diameter and is affixed to a staff of the same length.

Leprosy is increasing to an alarming extent in Spain. In one village there are said to be eight families, every member of which has the dread disease.

It is said that the human mouth is surely but steadily moving toward the left side of the face, owing to the tendency to chew with the teeth of the left jaw.

The latest victim of the whipping post in Delaware chewed tobacco while the Sheriff was welding the cat, and left the post with a broad grin on his face.

The population of Rome has decreased nearly 30,000 during the past four years. The hand organ industry in this country has increased perceptibly during that period.

Sir Morell Mackenzie kept sixteen servants, besides a private coach for himself and another for his wife, and spent every cent of his $60,000 yearly income.

A lump of coal weighing a ton has been sent to Denver from Rock Springs, Wyo., as an advertisement. One lump broken up there last week filled seven cars.

The total annual production of paper approximates 8,000,000,000 pounds; there being over 4,500 paper mills in existence, representing a capital of some $300,000,000.

Tourists who strike Cairo these days are in unusual luck. For forty days after the Khedive's death food is served with coffee and cigarettes to all who visit the tomb.

On January 19th the bells of Brussels rang the 700th time to celebrate the return from the Holy Land of those citizens of Brussels who had joined the first crusade under Godfrey de Bouillon.

Cotton of a red color is being grown in Georgia. Three years ago seeds were taken from two stalks of red cotton found in a cotton field, and a field subsequently planted with a view of perpetuating the variety.

It is not generally known that Governor Pattison, who although having his residence at Harrisburg now, retains his position as superintendent of the Sunday school of the Western M. E. church of Philadelphia.

A dam for irrigation is building in Colorado which will be 110 feet high and 600 long on top. The reservoir is to cover 1,200 acres and it is expected to furnish enough water to irrigate over forty thousand acres.

There is an insect found in raw sugar. Out of 72 samples of raw sugar recently examined in London, 69 contained the "sugar insect," but the examiner found no specimens of that parasite in the samples of refined sugar which he viewed.

Recently, near Riverside, Cal., a telephone wire, it is said, broke between two offices about 15 miles apart, and yet an ordinary conversation could be carried on over the wire after it was broken though the magnet bell would not ring.

The recent rise in the price of canal coal has led the English gas companies to look about for some other means of increasing the illuminating power of the gas. This has been found in Russian petroleum, from a light product of which, according to Mr. Weaver, a rich gas is now being supplied in Kensington by the local company.

Chicago the Great.

The City Itself the Greatest Exhibit at the World's Fair.

Chicago will be the main exhibit at the Columbian Exposition of 1893. No matter what the aggregation of wonders there, no matter what the Eiffel Tower-like chief exhibit may be the city itself will make the most surprising presentation. Those who go to study the world's progress will find no other result of human force so wonderful, extravagant or peculiar.

BROADWAY BEATEN ALL HOLLOW. There is one hour on every week day when certain streets in Chicago are so packed with people as to make Broadway look desolate and lonesome by comparison. That is the hour between half past five and half past six o'clock, when the famous tall buildings of the city vomit their inhabitants upon the pavements. Photographs of the principal corners and crossings, taken at the height of the human torrent, suggest the thought that the camera must have been turned on some little-known painting by Dore. Nobody but Dore ever conceived such pictures. To those who are in the crowds, even Chicago seems small and cramped; even her street cars running in breakneck trains, prove far too few; even her streets that connect horizon with horizon seem each night to roar at the city officials for further annexations in the morning.

MOST AMERICAN OF CITIES. Chicago is distinctly American. I know that the Chicagoans boast that theirs is the most mixed population in the country, but the makers and movers of Chicago are Americans. The streets of the city are full of strange faces of a type to which we are not used in the East—a dish-faced, soft-eyed, light-haired people. They are Scandinavians; but they are as malleable as lead, and quickly and easily follow and adopt every Americanism. In return, they ask only to be permitted to attend a host of Lutheran churches in flocks, to work hard, live temperately, save thriftily, and to pronounce every j as if it were a y. But the dominating class is that of pure and broad American type which is not controlled by New England or any other tenants, but is somewhat loosely made up of the overflow of the New England, the Middle, and the Southern States. It is as mixed and comprehensive as the West Point school of cadets. It calls its city "She-cawger." It inclines to soft hats, and only once in a great while does a visitor see a Chicagoan who has the leisure or patience to carry a cane.—Julian Ralph in Harper's for February.

I have been troubled with catarrh for ten years and have tried a number of remedies, but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochawaug, R. I.

Struggle toughens the mind, until by-and-by we do not mind the struggle. You need not toughen the body by a struggle with a cough when you have Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Cabbage (to cutter).—"What are you preparing me for—sauerkraut or fine-cut tobacco?"

A crusty old bachelor not liking the way his landlady's daughter had of appropriating his hair-oil, filled his bottle with liquid glue the day before the ball to which the girl was invited. She stayed at home.

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK.

WHEN solicited to insure in other companies remember that the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, is entitled to your first consideration since it holds the foremost place among the Life Insurance Institutions of the world, and offers superior advantages in all the features of business, together with unequal financial security.

1. It is the OLDEST active Life Insurance Company in the country.

2. It is the LARGEST Life Insurance Company in the world.

3. It is the STRONGEST financial institution in the world, its assets amounting to $150,000,000 with a surplus of $10,000,000.

4. It is the SAFEST company in which to insure, being conservative in its management and careful in the selection of its risks.

5. It is the CHEAPEST company in which to insure. It has returned in dividends to its policy holders over $93,000,000, thus reducing the actual cost of insurance to a minimum.

6. It is the BEST company in which to insure as it combines all the advantages of age, large and select membership, financial strength, absolute security, and the cheapest insurance that is possible under any contract which has a definite value to the beneficiary.

7. It has no stockholders to claim a share of the profits. Its assets and surplus all belong to the insured.

8. Its ratio of expenses to receipts is less than that of any other company. Its interest receipt alone have exceeded its expenses by $55,000,000 and its death claims by $11,000,000.

9. Its new forms of Policies containing the Distribution Survivorship principle, together with its guaranteed seven per cent. Consols combine more advantages with fewer restrictions than any other investment insurance contract ever offered. It consolidates Insurance, Endowment, Investment and annual Income in one Policy giving protection to the family and a future income to the insured, if living. A guaranteed insurance and income is provided in the policy.

10. It places no restrictions upon travel, occupation or residence after two years.

11. Being Non-Forfeitable and Incontestable it provides a legacy and not a lawsuit.

12. All claims are paid immediately upon acceptance of proofs of death.
