THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

Ladies will be interested by reading the Cash Bazar's advertisement.

When people want a good paper they invariably send for the WATCHMAN.

A great many people took advantage of the excursion to Washington, D. C. yesterday morning.

We regret to learn of the continued illness of editor Joe W. Furey, of the Lock Haven Democrat.

Don't forget the horse show, Monday and Tuesday evenings, and send all of the little ones to the Tuesday matinee.

A number of Veterans went through on Monday morning on their way to the State G. A. R. encampment, at Pittsburg.

One week from this Friday evening a "Grimes Cellar Door" company with a lot of funny comedians and pretty women will be here.

On Tuesday night, of last week, thieves carried the safe, in the ticket office at Hyndman, Bedford county, out of the building and blew it open, for $31.

At a meeting, of the line officers of the 5th Regiment, held in Altoona, on last Thursday evening Col. Theodore Burchfield was elected to succeed himself as Colonel of the 5th.

Dr. Thompson, of Martha Furnace has purchased the drug store recently owned by the late C. W. Koplinger. Mr. Johnson, lately with J. Zeller & Son, will have charge of the prescription department.

Last night James Schofield elucidated to the people of Zion and community on the "Agriculture in Europe." The hall was full and everyone seemed tickled with the way in which James handled the somewhat weighty theme.

A Phillipsburg dog distinguished itself last week by eating up the stock, in marbles, of a party of youngsters who were playing on the streets. It is said that the poor canine soon regretted it and the marbles came rolling forth in abundance.

Cooper K. Dare came up from Philadelphia, Monday, to attend his aunt's, Mrs. Armor's funeral. Cooper has not been in Bellefonte for six years and he has changed so in appearance that many of his old friends scarcely recognized him.

Harry Green and Frank Luckenbach came over from Phillipsburg to spend Sunday and Washington's birthday at their homes in this place. John Fryberger came along with them and delighted his old time friends here with his genial companionship.

Col. James P. Coburn, as affable and pleasant as ever, was a visitor on Wednesday morning. He reported many deaths in the lower end of the county during the past winter, but we were pleased to hear him say sickness is decreasing down there.

Prof. Bristol's horses are acknowledged as being the best trained equines in the world. The troop will be here next Monday and Tuesday evenings, with a Tuesday matinee. A full band and orchestra and thirty horses make a wonderful attraction.

Mrs. Lydia Wagner, wife of Robt. Wagner, died on Saturday evening, 13th, at 7 o'clock, at the home of her son, R. W. Wagner, at Mt. Eagles in this county. She was 81 years old and was a member of the Disciple church. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 11 o'clock.

On Monday morning, at four o'clock, the light of life glimmered and went out of the body of Mary Wolf, the second daughter of Mr. Joseph Wolf, of Pine street. After a short illness with Grip her fond parents and loving sister were called to the bedside of the dying. Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Wm. Zeller has been lying at the point of death for the past few days and up to the time of our going to press no change in her condition has been noticed. While attending the funeral of Mrs. Armor, on Tuesday, she took a fainting spell from which she has not rallied. Very little hopes for her recovery are entertained.

Emanuel Sunday, one of the staunch farmers of Ferguson township, was in town on Monday and had his paper marked up for another year. Mr. Sunday had driven all the way down from Ponna. Furnace and intended returning the same afternoon. It sounded strange to hear him say that he was driving and it recalled the fact that in years gone by Bellefonte was the market for all of that region, but its trade has since drifted into Tyrone.

Dr. E. W. Hale.—The death of Dr. E. W. Hale, which occurred early Saturday morning, in Mentone, France, though partially expected was a shock to the many Bellefonte friends.

About six weeks ago a cablegram informed Mr. C. T. Gerberich, his partner in this place, that his health was failing rapidly and that death was but a matter of a short time. Immediately Mr. and Mrs. John Mull, of Phillipsburg, left for Mentone and were with Mrs. Hale and daughter when the doctor passed away.

Ever since the death of Col. Harry Hale, the only son of the deceased, his health had been poor and finally a heavy cold settled upon his lungs resulting in consumption. A trip south followed and for a time relief came, but ere long the fatal germs began to take a stronger hold on the patient, and after a summer at his home in Bellefonte, he decided to go to Southern France. Mrs. Hale, Ella and the nurse accompanied him and when they arrived at Mentone very encouraging reports were heard of the doctor's condition. It was but the rally before the final dissolution.

Doctor Elias W. Hale was born in Milford county, this state, in June, 1824. His father Elias W. Hale, a Connecticut lawyer, was then practicing in the courts of that county, but young Elias preferring medicine to law, took up the study of the former with Dr. J. B. Ard. For a number of years he practiced in Lewistown and in 1864 he came to this place and has been an influential citizen ever since. In 1874 he became interested, with Wm P. Duncan in the large flouring mill, at the foot of Race street, and has ever since been recognized as one of our sturdiest business men. Mr. Duncan retired from the firm and was succeeded by C. T. Gerberich who has most successfully managed the business for years.

Deceased was twice married: His first wife having been a Miss Stealie, of the Kishacoquillas valley, the present Mrs. Hale was a daughter of the late Reuben Valentine. He was prominently connected with the Masonic fraternities in the state and county. Having owned several fine farms he always took a decided interest in agriculture and invariably lent a hand to its advancement. Dr. Hale owned several valuable properties in this place and was considered one of our wealthiest citizens.

His remains will be brought to Lewistown for burial.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY WITH US.

The one hundred and sixtieth anniversary of Washington's birth was celebrated, in Bellefonte, in a quiet though appropriate way. The day dawned cloudy and threatening, but by noon the sun was shining brightly and the streets were crowded with pedestrians. Many blue coats were seen intermingled with fashionably dressed young women and men. The first zephyrs of an early spring, wafted down from the mountain, seemed to put a cheery bloom into the cheeks of the gay throng and maiden vied with maiden in the pleasantness of their manner.

The only event of interest during the day was a friendly contest between the Logan Steamer company and the undine hose company in which the boys tried hard to drown each other. In the evening the High school scholars gave a very interesting entertainment in the opera house, for the benefit of Gregg Post. A crowded house listened to their performance for charity's sake and right well was it pleased. Among the especially creditable performances were the recitations of "Money Musk" by Miss Lula Hoy, the "Dying Soldier" by Chas. T. Noll and a dialect story, by Miss Gussie Stover. The Bellefonte orchestra furnished the music.

The bric-a-brac reception, Tuesday evening, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms was in number of presences and presents almost a failure. It was certainly not encouraging to Mr. Barsley, the new secretary, who had gone to a great deal of trouble to brighten up so as to be enjoyable to the few who accepted the hospitality of the association, and possibly had it been more generally known that a careful and conscientious janitor had moved into the building the good people of Bellefonte would have been more liberal with their surplus pictures, furniture and bric-a-brac. Two hundred and more men and boys visited the rooms on Monday, and could they all be kept interested in Y. M. C. A. work evangelists and temperance reformers would not be needed for our next generation.

NOTICE:—Persons desiring to aid in the increase of edible fish in the waters of the State, can, by applying to the Pennsylvania Fish Protective Association, 1020 Arch Street, Philadelphia, obtain placards containing information as to close seasons of the different varieties of fish, and other information pertaining to the same: also blank applications for procuring Trout fry, free, from the Pennsylvania Fish Commissioners, will be supplied by the Association upon application.

The Tyrone Academy of music gave its first "fake" on Tuesday night, when Frank I. Fraine and a miserable company played "The Boy Ranger."

Two paroled boys from the Huntingdon reformatory, recently hired to Charley Nau, the Tyrone restauranter, bade Charley and his establishment, good bye the other day and left for parts unknown.

A "kid" riot excited the good people of Bishop street, on Wednesday night. The Cheap Side youngsters, bent upon exterminating the uptown boys, made things lively at the corner of Algeheny and Bishop streets, until the stalwart form of chief Gares threw their forces into confusion.

The New Jersey Democrats did not forget their manners when ex-Governor Beaver was stopping in Trenton on Tuesday last. They unanimously passed a resolution extending to him the privilege of the floor of the House of Representatives from which he watched the process of law making in Jersey for several hours.

Dr. S. F. Lytle and wife, of Phillipsburg, passed through town, on Monday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lytle, relict of the late Griffith Lytle, of Boalsburg. Deceased was seventy-five years of age and had been a life long member of the Presbyterian church. Five sons and two daughters mourn her death.

Miss Mary Bradley, of North Spring street, has accepted the position as organist and choir mistress to the Episcopal church, of Bradford. If she brings it to the same degree of perfection which her Bellefonte choir has attained she will more than delight her new congregation. Mrs. Benton will succeed Miss Bradley in the choir here.

Mrs. Mary Hastings, an aged lady living at 117 North Spring street, met with an accident, on Tuesday morning, which might easily have proven fatal. While going down the cellar stairs she tripped and falling to the bottom cut several ugly gashes in her head. Drs. Hibler and Seibert were called and stitched up the cuts. For one so greatly advanced in years, being in her 78th year, her escape, without further injury, was miraculous.

The Daily News suggests the advisability of the towns of Lock Haven, Phillipsburg and Tyrone looking up some attraction for their 4th of July. We wouldn't advise any such a course for Bellefonte is going to have a gala day with the State P. O. S. of A. in attendance and we want all of our sister towns to come and enjoy our hospitality on the glorious fourth. We'll guarantee as good a time as we gave you last year and that will be doing very much.

GEORGE W. TATE'S DEATH.—The death of George W. Tate, which occurred at his home, on Spring street, on Friday evening last, resulted from a complication of heart, liver and kidney complaints, superinduced by an attack of grip. Deceased was born in Milford county in 1820, and came to Bellefonte when he reached his 21st year. He was the oldest contractor and builder in this section and perhaps the greatest monument that could possibly have been erected to his memory is the main building of the Pennsylvania State College, which he built. Many of Bellefonte's and Williamsport's substantial buildings were reared under his direction.

His third wife and daughter, Alice, who is lying dangerously ill with pneumonia, with three brothers and two sisters survive to mourn his death.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Houck, at the late residence of the deceased, on Tuesday, and a large concourse of friends assembled to pay a last tribute to the memory of the departed.

Mrs. Monroe Armor, who died at her home last Saturday morning, had been so seriously ill for weeks from the effects of the grip that her death was not a surprise to any one. Naturally a frail and delicate woman, the most sanguine of her friends could scarcely hope for her recovery. Mrs. Armor was Miss Mary Dare, a sister of Col. Dare who was killed during the late war. She was born in Huntingdon county; but has lived in Bellefonte since her marriage to Mr. Armor about twenty-six years ago.

Mrs. Armor was a devout Catholic—ever active in the interests of her faith. Her oldest son is studying now for the priesthood, at a school near Baltimore, and Stella, a daughter is organist at Saint John's, three other children survive her. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. Armor. Only a few months ago his aged mother died. Scarcely three weeks ago his sister, Mrs. Butts, was buried and now his dearly beloved wife, who was all that the words "a noble woman" implies.

The funeral services were held, at the Catholic church, on Tuesday morning. High Mass of Requiem was chanted at ten o'clock, and the numerous attendance there gave evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

THE BELLEFONTE CENTRAL EXTENSION.—Several weeks ago the WATCHMAN told its readers of the change of name of the Bellefonte and Buffalo Run railroad and how it was merged into the Bellefonte Central. Adding also that the line would be extended from Scrabble's station to the State College just as soon as the weather would permit.

In all probability two trains, daily, will be running between this place and State College by the 1st of May, and then residents of that thriving little village and community can make the round trip of thirty six miles for the small sum of sixty cents.

Yesterday Superintendent Shoemaker informed a WATCHMAN reporter that he had forty men at work on the extension, and if every thing was favorable trains would be running by May 1st. He said that the road might be completed some time before the date fixed. An artistic little Queen Anne station will be built on the College grounds, just below the president's house, but the sidings, etc., will all be run back along the line so as not to mar the beauty of the campus or spoil the residence portion of the village.

PROF. D. M. BRISTOL'S EDUCATED HORSES.—Next week our readers will have an opportunity to see one of the greatest shows on the road. It is not only great in the way of novelty, but it is the largest show of the kind ever transported from place to place. We allude to Prof. D. M. Bristol's Equestrianism. It consists of thirty humanely educated horses, twenty-five people, a full band and orchestra and it takes a whole train of cars to transport it. To make it the most complete show of the kind ever organized the management have invested the sum of $60,000. This mammoth concern will be placed on the stage of the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings. Matinee on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The entire performance is given by the horses, who do everything but talk. They are possessors of almost human intelligence; understanding everything said to them and obeying commands without being made to by the use of the whip or rein. All should see this novel and interesting entertainment. Those who go will be more than pleased. All children attending the matinee of these horses are given a free pony ride. Prices only 25, 35 and 50 cents.

The WATCHMAN office had a most agreeable call from Mr. John Hoy, Jr., of Marion township, and Mr. Jacob Shaffer, of Walker township, on Tuesday last. Neither of these gentlemen feel like getting along without a copy of this journal in their families. Mr. Hoy's name has been upon our list for upwards of thirty years, and he expects to live to read it for thirty years longer.

With the Grand Army.

General John P. Taylor, of Lewistown, Elected Department Commander. The Auxiliary Societies Meet.

PITTSBURGH, February 24.—Proudly a thousand or more men, most of them wearing the blue and all the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, marched from the Seventh Avenue Hotel, this morning at 10 o'clock, to the Grand opera house. With a bright sun shining upon them, the Grand Army band playing a march, the veterans moved up Fifth avenue, halted before the decorated entrance to the opera house, passed in—thus was opened the 25th annual department encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of Pennsylvania.

When all were in, the exercises commenced promptly. Upon the stage, which was decorated with flags, were the following: Colonel F. H. Collier, Department Commander; Major J. P. Townsend, Adjutant General; S. P. Town, Chaplain; J. W. Sayers, J. V. D. C.; Thomas A. Morrison, Assistant Quartermaster; General Abraham Levering, Gen. Gobin, Past Department Commander; Gen. John P. Taylor, Commander; Major Joseph Dennison, Col. Frank Patterson, Past Department Commander; Tyson, Charles A. Suydam, Col. Chilli Hazzard, Gen. Palmer, Major E. A. Montooth, Gen. Shattuck, and many others.

Great May be the Fall Thereof.

From the Philadelphia Record. McKinley boasts that one page of his tariff cannot be repealed in ten years; and he says, with a sneer; "They started in to repeal it item by item, and there are 2500 items." This is the taunt of mere physical obstruction, which is fatuous enough to fancy that its position is so buttressed against the will of the people as to be impregnable. McKinley overlooks the fact that if the people shall find the demolition of the tariff wall by piecemeal too slow, they may rise in their might and topple the whole business over in "horizontal" fashion. Big crops at home and famine abroad cannot always be depended upon to postpone the day of reckoning.

Flour Enough to Feed an Empire.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 21.—Subscriptions of flour and corn secured by the Northwestern Miller for starving Russians have been closed and the amount of flour received was about 23,000 barrels of flour and 7500 barrels of corn meal. The corn meal was all ground by Frederick Schumacher, of Akron, Ohio. A large part of this magnificent supply of food has been sent to New York for shipment to Russia on the steamer Missouri.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church, of this place, gave quite a delightful little entertainment in the chapel last evening. A Geography Bee was the attraction, though music and refreshments added much to the success of the evening.

The following letters remained unclaimed at the Bellefonte Post Office, Feb. 24, 1892. O. W. Bishop, Mrs. William Kolner, Mrs. Clara Markie, Hugh Moore, John Morris, and Piekran Andro. When called for please say advertised. J. A. FIEDLER, P. M.

Pine Grove Mentions.

Mrs. Geo. Kustaborder is visiting relatives in and about Howard.

Another wedding is slated for the 3rd of March. Dan's fate is sealed.

Our ministerial friend, Rev. Aikens, says his boy grew an inch the first day—evidently it was the father that was several inches taller.

Mr. J. B. Miller and J. B. Krebs, accompanied by Mr. Ed Hancock, three of Bogg's township's champion teachers, were among our visitors on the 22nd inst.

Next Saturday p. m. Mr. C. H. Struble will offer his entire lot of household furniture at public sale preparatory to moving to Kansas where they expect to make their future home.

J. D. Bloom & Co., are closing out their stock of dry goods, at cost, until April 1st, when they will be succeeded by D. C. and O. B. Krebs who will soon offer their splendid stock and farm implements at public sale.

The teachers district institute will convene at the Academy Hall this Friday evening and will continue over Saturday when many sparkling, breezy speeches will be looked for and elegant music will be furnished by Prof. P. H. Meyer and choir.

The district is composed of Ferguson, College, Harris and Potter townships and Centre Hall borough.

We regret very much to learn that constable H. F. Meyers is moving his family to Alexandria, Huntingdon county, where he will engage in the butchering business. Mr. Meyers was a most trusted and efficient officer, always keeping his official business a profound secret. However much we regret his loss, both as a citizen and an officer, the WATCHMAN wishes him success in his new undertaking and trusts the deacons will roll in rapidly.

The principle topic under discussion for the past week has been the license question. Mine host J. A. Decker has been up and doing and in his far sighted way succeeded in enrolling a large number of petitions for license, which will endeavor to show the court the necessity of a licensed house at this point.

Last Sunday morning Mrs. Susannah, relict of Griffith Lytle, died at her home, aged over 80 years. Her death was due to heart disease superinduced by a prolonged attack of typhoid fever. She was an estimable old lady and had many friends in the community in which she lived and reared a family of seven sons and four daughters. The funeral services were held on Tuesday, of this week, when her body was laid to rest by the side of her husband, who preceded her some sixteen years.
